A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family. —Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

The Best Remedy

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

A consumptive looking tramp went into a Chicago restaurant several nights ago, telegraphs a New York World correspondent, and said he wanted "a square meal." He proceeded to order and rapidly devoured a plate of mutton chops, one of pork chops, two round beefsteaks, one sirloin steak, three cups of coffee, four plates of bread, three orders of fried eggs on toast, corned beef and cabbage, a dish of corned beef hash, a dish of liver and bacon, a glass of milk, four pieces of pie, ten ears of corn, cucumbers, and finished up with ham and eggs. When he was through he tried to bolt without paying, but was arrested and fined $25.

Eastern papers are noting the fact that the system of brigandage known as "tipping" has been worse than ever at the resorts this summer. In many hotels a bell-boy does not expect to move for less than 10 cents, and as you are likely to employ a different boy every time, you soon begin to dread asking for anything. The head waiter of a summer hotel was recently asked by a guest why the waiters were so slovenly and insolent. "Oh, well," was the reply, "I expect if you would lay down a $2 bill by your plate every Sunday morning as the other gentlemen do, you would soon find them all right. I understand you have only been giving 50 cents a week."

The French national debt is the largest in the world—$5,000,000,000; annual interest, $264,000,000; Thus the interest alone is nearly $60,000,000 more than the total wants of the United States government, with double population, very near. The per capita tax of the French people is $15, the largest of any people, yet borne patiently and to all external appearance willingly. The president receives a salary of $153,000 a year.

A fortnightly line of Chilean steamers is about to be established between Callao and Panama, and the Chilean republic is to pay it a yearly bounty for mail service nearly six times as great as the amount paid by the United States to all American steamship lines for carrying the mails between this country and Central and South America.

The hotel owners of Beaverton, Ont., recently decided to close shop until they were conceded their "rights." The temperance people in town then got together and opened a big hotel, and in a short time the hotels were open again.

A floating sawmill, run by a Palatka, Fla., company, is an oddity. It is eighty feet long and forty feet wide. It is used on the timber that grows out in the bayous. The most improved machinery is used.

An Atchison lady was asked what she thought would be the first thing women would do if they had the making of the laws. "Limit the number of lodge meetings," was the reply.

For cleansing and healing foul and indolent Ulcers, Sores and Abscesses and removing the bad odors arising therefrom, and for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, Darbys Prophylactic Fluid is unequalled.

The average American will be astonished to learn that the number of steamers plying on the Volga in Russia and its tributaries is greater than the number on the Mississippi; that $15,000,000 worth of products annually come down a single tributary of the Volga, namely, the Kama, a stream of which few Americans have ever heard; and, finally, that the waters of the Volga river system annually float nearly 5,000,000 tons of merchandise and furnish employment to 7,000 vessels and nearly 200,000 boatmen.

Judge (to prisoner who has just been brought into court)—What is your name? Prisoner—Billings. Judge—Where are you from, Mr. Billings? Prisoner—I refuse to state, as such information has nothing to do with the case. Judge—But we will compel you to state, sir. Prisoner—That will be a dangerous proceeding, I assure you. I shot a judge once. Judge (musingly)—The prisoner is from Kentucky.—Arkansas Traveler.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

TUESDAY.........................AUGUST 28, 1888.

IOWA is a prohibition state. Dubuque is one of its principal cities. There are forty-seven saloons in Dubuque.

SCHOOL lands which sell for $1.25 an acre are being snapped up in Clatsop and Columbia counties. This class of land is rapidly becoming scarce, and will soon be non est.

THE Cœur d'Alene Indians have agreed to leave to the Indian Bureau the question of the O. R. & N. Co.'s right of way through their reservation, and that company has filed its plat through their reservation with the interior department.

THE Chinese are getting mad enough with the British colonies in Australia to talk fight. The exclusion of the Chinese from the Australian ports is the cause of this war talk at Peking. It is less than fifty years ago that Great Britain was bombarding Chinese cities in order to force open the ports of the great Asiatic empire to trade—trade in opium, too, at that. Now it is China that thinks of fighting in order to open British ports to immigration.

Alaska Canned Salmon.

The barkentine Quickstep arrived yesterday with a large quantity of canned salmon. This is the fourth arrival with Alaska salmon this season as follows:

Arrived.	Vessel.	Cases.
July 13	Orion	4,313
July 27	Bertha	9,000
Aug. 3	Gen. Ord	3,650
Aug. 23	Quickstep	18,000
Total		34,963

From this time on the arrivals will become more frequent. Usually the bulk of the catch arrives here in October. The steamer Bertha left for Alaska on the 2d instant, and is expected back some time next month. It is thought she will bring down a full cargo. Most of these consignments were sold before arrival and this is the case with those to arrive in the next two months. Little is known of the probable pack from Alaskan waters this season. The quantity has been estimated at 300,000 cases. The receipts of Alaska canned salmon for the past five years have been as follows:

In 1883, cs	36,000
In 1884	45,000
In 1885	74,800
In 1886	120,700
In 1887	190,200
In 1888 to August 24	34,963

Several new canneries were put in operation this year, and the instructions to all were to pack all that could be secured. But the loss of one vessel with supplies for one of the canneries and the destruction by fire of another cannery will cut down the expectations somewhat.—S. F. Bulletin, 24.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

It Paid $37,500 In Debts.

As an incident in business and to show how a little money well circulated helps to make times lively, we mention the following: Some weeks ago a prominent real estate dealer in Los Angeles handed a gentleman a check for $2,500 in a deal. The recipient of it having some little obligations outstanding as the result of too much boom, quietly endorsed it, and handed it to a creditor, and thus it started on its mission of charity, love and business. In due course of time it turned up in the hands of the original drawer of it, with no less than fifteen indorsements on the back. It had paid $37,500 of debts, made fifteen men happy, and returned to its drawer. That's the way to do business. Let those who can pay up their little obligations, and all act equally honest and just with their creditors, and no one will ever have reason to complain of dull times or a scarcity of money. There are millions of money in the country if the people who have it will only put it in circulation and not hoard it like misers.—Santa Ana Standard.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

Coffee and cake, ten cents, at the Central Restaurant.

FROM THE CANNERIES.

Solomon's cannery began operations yesterday. The first lot of 160 fish were caught Tuesday night. Fish are running lively in the river. The price paid for them averages from 35 cents to 60 cents each.—Chehalis Vidette, 24.

The fishermen and the canneries on Coquille have failed to come to a satisfactory agreement and the former have sent for salt and intend to dispose of the catch themselves.—Coast Mail, 23.

Frenchy, the man who counted fish at Hume's cannery last season, fell from Pegert's pile driver a distance of thirty feet on Saturday. He was alive at last accounts but Dr. Sponogle, the attending physicians, says he will have a close call. The doctor removed several pieces of bone from his hip, which is badly crushed.—Coquille Herald.

The barkentine Quickstep arrived yesterday afternoon, nineteen days from Kodiak, Alaska, with 18,000 cases salmon for the Karluk Packing company. Captain Jacobsen said that he brought down no news from the north and had no report to make. S. F. Call, 24.

Although salmon have been running for the past two weeks, canning operations have not yet been commenced on the bay this season. The price set by the fishermen's union, 40 and 60 cents, is said by the canners to be more than they can afford to pay, and consequently the few boats at present fishing are salting their catch.—Coos Bay News, 22.

The following is given as the Frazer river pack up to the 13th inst: Phœnix, 1,200 cases; British American, 4,000; Wadhams, 2,400; Wellington, 2,400; Harlock, 2,000; Delta, 2,200; Findlay, D. & B., 1,300; Ewing, 4,500; Richmond, 5,000; Laidlaw, 2,000; Bon Accord, 3,000; British Columbia, 1,660. Total, 31,660 cases.

The Contra Costa Gazette, August 18, says: Salmon are running in large numbers, some 700 being taken Wednesday by the fishermen. Lively times as a result is predicted among the Italian fishermen.

Of Alaska fish we have to report sale by Delafield, Morgan, Kissel & Co., of 8,000 cases "Kodiac" an private terms, but thought to be at $1.37½ export; 5,000 cases "Ice King" brand by D. L. Beck & Sons, on private terms, both for England. One outside river pack, probably 7,000 to 10,000 cases was sold on Tuesday at $1.37½ export for England.—S. F. Grocer and Country Merchant.

Advance Wages not to be Paid to Seamen—Assignment of pay to Wife or Mother.

SEC. 10. That it shall be, and is hereby, made unlawful in any case to pay any seaman wages before leaving the port at which such seaman may be engaged in advance of the time when he has actually earned the same, or to pay such advance wages to any other person, or to pay any person, other than an officer authorized by act of Congress to collect fees for such service, any remuneration for the shipment of seamen. Any person paying such advance wages or such remuneration shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine not less than four times the amount of the wages so advanced or remuneration so paid, and may be also imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court. The payment of such advance wages or remuneration shall in no case, except as herein provided, absolve the vessel, or the master or owner thereof, from full payment of wages after the same shall have been actually earned, and shall be no defense to a libel, suit, or action for the recovery of such wages: Provided, That this section shall not apply to whaling vessels; And Provided further, That it shall be lawful for any seaman to stipulate in his shipping agreement for an allotment of any portion of the wages which he may earn to his wife, mother, or other relative, but to no other person or corporation. And any person who shall falsely claim such relationship to any seaman in order to obtain wages so allotted shall, for every such offense, be punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court. This section shall apply as well to foreign vessels as to vessels of the United States; and any foreign vessel the master, owner, consignee, or agent of which has violated this section, or induced or connived at its violation, shall be refused a clearance from any port of the United States.

Vessels of the United States Must Have Slop-chest, &c.

SEC. 11. That every vessel mentioned in section forty-five hundred and sixty-nine of the Revised Statutes shall also be provided with a slop-chest, which shall contain a complement of clothing for the intended voyage for each seaman employed, including boots or shoes, hats or caps, under clothing and outer clothing, oiled clothing and everything necessary for the wear of a seaman; also a full supply of tobacco and blankets. Any of the contents of the slop-chest shall be sold, from time to time, to any or every seaman applying therefor, for his own use, at a profit not exceeding ten per centum of the reasonable wholesale value of the same at the port at which the voyage commenced. And if any such vessel is not provided, before sailing, as herein required, the owner shall be liable to a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars. The provisions of this section shall not apply to vessels plying between the United States and the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, the Bermuda Islands, the Bahama Islands, the West Indies, Mexico and Central America.

Pumpkins, big yellow fellows, are in the market. "When de frost is on de punkin an' de corn is in de shock," they make fine pies.

W. S. Ladd has bought 5,000 acres timber land near Tillamook for $4 an acre. The government timber inspector, Williams, was the seller.

Some time ago C. H. McIsaacs, of unsavory fame, got up a "Haut Ton" Portland directory and sold the same for $2. The book now sells for four bits.

The Anamba and Falstaff came into the O. R. & N. dock yesterday, the former to lighter railroad iron and the latter to finish with wheat and salmon.

Elk meat is worth eight cents a pound at the Seaside. A buck elk is worth $40 to the hunter, but it takes three days to get it from the mountains to the beach.

'Tis but seventy days till the presidential election. Thus far "the campaign" has been a dull one, though after the 1st of the month both parties will begin to "whoop it up."

Over eight thousand cans of apricots, nectarines and blackberries were spoiled at a Pomona, Cala., cannery last week, by the can makers failing to make the cans perfectly air tight.

It is understood says the News, that the steamer T. J. Potter will be taken to the Sound and placed on the Tacoma-Victoria route in place of the Alaskan as soon as the summer traffic to the seaside is over.

The Astoria & South Coast Railroad company have rented rooms 1 and 2, Odd Fellows' building, for their offices, and will take possession to-day. Of the capital stock $59,300 has, so far, been subscribed.

The Royal Hungarian military band and specialty company will appear at Ross' opera house next Monday and Tuesday evenings. The sale of reserved seats begins next Thursday at the New York Novelty Store.

Mon. Spedden brought down with him some good ore specimens from two claims in Elk river, Idaho, giving promise of valuable mines. Col. Spedden has a claim in the the vicinity, which is also expected to turn out well.

Mr. W. T. Burney, register of the United States land office at Oregon City states that the records in his office will not be accessible during this week owing to repairs being made in the building in which his office is located.

While the Silsby and the grays were taking a morning constitutional yesterday, a loose plank on Benton street ripped off the connecting pipe, necessitating repairs to the engine, during which time the horses were hitched to the Amoskeag at No. One's headquarters.

The Anamba is at the O. R. & N. dock, and will lighter to 17 feet. Capt. Siedmann reports that from April 17th, the day of leaving port, to May 27th he had light winds. From that date for a month he encountered very heavy weather, the vessel a part of the time being in a heavy gale.

While working at the new works of the Astoria Gaslight company yesterday, riveting-plates, an employe named Kasdel fell a distance of sixteen feet, striking on his temple and sustaining a concussion of the brain. He was still unconscious last evening and the result of his fall could not be ascertained.

The Oregon Alpine club is endeavoring to suppress the wanton destruction of deer in southern Oregon. It is said that near Grant's Pass 1,500 deer have been killed during the month of July. The club has decided to appoint a committee to solicit names for a petition to be presented to the next legislature asking that killing deer out of season be made a felony.

In the U. S. circuit court J. B. Montgomery has begun suit against the United States government for title to a quarter section of timber land, situated in Washington territory. Plaintiff claims that he located the land and made valuable improvements, rendering the whole worth in the neighborhood of $6,000, and as the authorities have refused him a title under ordinary forms of procedure, he is compelled to force the issuance of a deed.

There was an appreciative audience at the Congregational church to hear a remarkable lecture by Rev. Rob't Nourse, his subject being "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," illustrating the dual nature of all humanity, and the fearful effect of allowing the baser elements of our nature to master and overthrow the moral and ennobling part of our intellectual being.

A well-known sea captain who has made numerous voyages to Chinese ports, referring to the lepers recently shipped from here to their native land, informs a Telegram reporter that he doubts very much whether the Chinese authorities will permit them to land. At Hong Kong they certainly would be denied a land footing. The Chinese fear leprosy more than the whites do, and the bark Kitty may be compelled to discharge her living cargo of putridity elsewhere if the unfortunate wretches do not die on the voyage.

The president has not yet given any directions to the secretary of war relative to the expenditure of the items in the river and harbor bill. It is unofficially stated there will be five or six weeks before the engineer's office will be ready to work. Gen. Casey, chief of the engineers, has followed the usual course on the passage of the river and harbor bill, and has notified the engineers at different points of the amounts appropriated. These officers send in their projects of improvement and work is begun after they have received the approval of the secretary of war. This can hardly be done before the first of October. Gen. Casey is pushing the work as rapidly as possible, but the bill passed late and he has to take the usual precautions to insure the expenditure of the money according to intelligent plans.

Another through line to the Pacific coast is in progress. This is the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba system, which already embraces 2,685 miles of main line. An unknown company is now at work surveying and grading a line into Spokane Falls from the east. They are working near the Cœur d'Alene mining district, and it is more than likely that they are laboring in the interest of the Manitoba line to complete its extension from Butte City to Spokane. The Montana Central, which is an extension of the Manitoba system, has just reached Butte City, and is pushing westward. Among railroad men the Manitoba company has gained great credit for enterprise and pushing qualities. It is generally believed that its projectors will not cease their labors in the railway construction line until they have reached the Pacific coast.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Capt. Dick Lemon is in the city.

M. J. Kinney has returned to the city.

Dr. Aug. C. Kinney is in San Francisco.

Miss Nellie Carnahan has returned from Newport.

Capt. Jos. Harriman returned from the seaside yesterday.

Judge E. C. Bronaugh came up from the beach yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Morden returned to Portland last Saturday.

J. W. Stoneman and R. A. Foster came up from Ft. Stevens yesterday.

Jos. Surprenant went to Ilwaco yesterday to figure on some buildings there.

Rev. O. B. Whitmore goes to Eugene City to-day to attend the M. E. conference there.

Mr. J. M. Baltimore, a gentleman of ability and a thorough newspaper man, is city editor of the Oregonian.

Likely to Get Into Broils.

THE ASTORIAN tells of a new political party being formed in that city, which is neither Republican, Democrat or prohi; but a mixture. As we have but eight presidential candidates in the field, there is room for a few more. This party is composed of but one person at present, who calls himself a "philopolemic"—a lover of disputes. Such a person is sure to get into broils, and before we know it there will be many out of one. This philopolemic should take up the tariff for his subject of discussion; he has but to harp on this for awhile to get everybody in a wrangle.—Salem Journal.

Alleged Intentions of Mr. Adams.

Mr. Adams, however, is perfectly cognizant of the bar service, and the wants of the deep sea commerce of this port, and his company is determined to float cargoes off the Columbia river bar as cheap as any port north of San Francisco. The towage and bar service of the O. R. & N. Co. will be complete and efficient in all respects, and in the future as in the past the bulk of the wheat of the inland empire will continue to float down its natural channel—the Columbia river—to the sea.—Portland News.

FROM BOTH CONTINENTS.

Fire, Pestilence, Famine and Arson.

DENVER, Aug. 27.—Messrs. Maxwell and Grant last night swore out a warrant for the arrest of sixteen men who participated in the trouble at Stonewell, on a charge of riots. Writs of ejectment against one hundred others were also served. The United States marshal leaves to-day to serve them. It is feared bloodshed will result.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Advices from Jacksonville, Florida, state that there are under treatment sixty-four cases of yellow fever, a total to date of one hundred. Dr. Deal Mitchell telegraphs that many people in Jacksonville desire to go to camp Perry. Dr. Hamilton says the report that no one is allowed to leave Jacksonville is incorrect; that a special train has been chartered by the Marine hospital bureau to run daily between Jacksonville and camp Perry, to allow all desiring to leave Jacksonville to do so by that route; that the railroad companies are having extreme difficulty in running trains owing to conflicting local health regulations which prevent them stopping when they carry passengers, thus delaying the work.

Seven refugees were received into camp Perry, Friday and twenty-eight Saturday. One case of yellow fever arrived from Jacksonville Saturday and returned to that city next day.

FOREST FIRES.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., Aug. 27.—From the difficulty to get reports about the forest fires near Nevada it is believed they are worse than at first reported. Several buildings burned last night and the village is going by piecemeal. A number of families living on farms near the village escaped with nothing but their clothes and are now being cared for at Powers. Owing to the flames and smoke it is impossible to tell whether the people living farther back from the settlements lost their lives or not. A family of seven are reported missing from Mumford and have not been heard from.

MORE ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—The police of Wexford to-day arrested John Redmond, his brother William Redmond, member parliament, and Edward Walshe, editor of Wexford, people charged with offense under the crimes act.

BIG FIRE.

HAMBURG, Aug. 27.—Seven wooden ware houses at Steinwarde, containing cotton, rice, sugar and saltpetre valued at a million marks, burned today. Six persons perished in the flames.

SHORT CROP.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 27.—Reports have been received showing that the Egyptian corn crop has seriously suffered. Reports also say it will be impossible to grow wheat in upper Egypt in 1889, and that the greater portion of other crops can only be cultivated at increased expense.

FUNERAL SERMON.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The funeral sermon of the late bishop Harris of Michigan, was preached at Westminster abbey yesterday by the bishop of Minnesota.

WOULDN'T TALK.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Joseph Chamberlain declines to speak in relation to the rejection of the fisheries treaty, which he says he has long foreseen.

A CLERGYMAN ARRESTED.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—Father Kennedy has been arrested for holding a meeting of a suppressed branch of the national league at Duhallow.

PENSIONS INCREASED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The president has approved the act authorizing an increase of pensions in cases of deafness.

Grain Going Overland to San Francisco.

For the first time in the history of Oregon the entire shipment of grain from south of Lane county will, this season, go to San Francisco. Southern Oregon shippers say they can realize 15 cents more per bushel for wheat in that city than in Portland. The difference in cost of shipping is 5 cents in favor of this city, which still leaves a margin of 10 cents in favor of the bay city.—Mercury.

News Specials Over the Ocean Wires.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Emperor William has promised Professor Neumayer, director of the marine observatory at Hamburg, that the government will supply him with naval material for the proposed expedition to investigate the physical and meteorological phenomena in the antarctic regions. Henry Villard also offers a large sum to assist the expedition.

BAVARIA'S INSANE KING.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says he has heard from Munich that king Otto, of Bavaria, is sinking fast, his fits of insanity having become much more frequent.

AN ARBITRARY PROCEEDING.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Advices from Zanzibar say an armed force landed from a German gunboat, cut down the sultan's flagstaff and removed the flags. Armed parties also landed at other points and acted in a similar arbitrary manner.

CRISPI'S VISIT.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—It is reported that the result of Crispi's visit to Bismarck was to prevent Italy from undertaking the Abyssinian campaign.

CROWDED OUT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Mercantile Fire Insurance company of this city retires after thirty-seven years of business. The reason assigned is the company is crowded out by larger companies. The policies are taken up by the German-American Insurance company.

BUSINESS BOOMING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The receipts of the Western Union Telegraph company are going ahead of last year at the rate of over 20 per cent. The gain for the first week, being nearly 25 per cent., makes an approximate gain of nearly $3,000,000 per annum in the gross receipts.

THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—The congressional immigration investigation committee have begun to gather evidence relative to the alleged violation of the contract labor law by Boston firms. The hearing will last three days. About 47,000 immigrants land here annually. The committee will then discontinue their work until after the election, when they will go to San Francisco.

HARD TO PREPARE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Senator Jones of Nevada is hard at work with the sub-committee of the senate finance committee in the preparation of the tariff bill. He says that the difficulties in the way of the preparation of a tariff bill could not be understood by any person who was ignorant of the relations which one industry of the country bears to another industry. The committee on finance, senator Jones said, was working every day upon the bill, but he did not think any bill would be reported to the senate any earlier than September 10th, but it might be later even than that day. He thinks congress will be in session all the fall. There is some gossip respecting a recess of congress for four weeks, covering election time, but there seems to be no foundation for the rumor.

Some Affecting Reminiscences.

The Albany Times wants to know what was the price of whiskey per drink when it was free. Well, in those days, and that was before the editor of the Albany Times served a term in the penitentiary, whiskey was 3 cents a drink.—S. F. Alta, 24.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT rubbed in saves many a valuable Horse and Mule's limbs.

During a recent heavy thunder storm at Wolverhampton, England, a collier named Bates, who had lost his sight through an accident, was being led home, when a flash of lightning was reflected on the spectacles he wore to conceal his disfigurement. After the peal of thunder which followed he complained of pain in his head. The next moment to his surprise he found that he had regained possession of his eyesight.

A man made mad by sea sickness is such a novelty that the case of Michael Walter, who crossed the Atlantic in the steamer Servia, is worth telling about. He was taken violently ill on the voyage and finally became deranged. His conduct was so singular that he was locked up for safe keeping until the steamer's arrival in New York. Now he is a bit better, but he is still in care of a doctor.

A colored man, who has turned up at Indianapolis, must have a good appetite if it be true that he "eats anything, live hens, beer glasses, necks of wine bottles, etc., and claims to have eaten ninety-eight boiled eggs at one sitting."

A Georgia baby not quite two years old, "has fallen over the foot of the bed 111 times by actual count," besides mashing both hands rather badly, and having the surgeon called about twice a week to sew up cuts in his scalp.

A man down in Dickson county, Tenn., planted watermelons just at the edge of his farm and the vines ran over into a neighbor's field and produced so many and such large melons that the neighbor is about to sue for tresspass.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure. — H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family. — Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers. — Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

THE STEAMBOAT RAILWAY.

Meeting of The Special Board of U. S. Engineers.

The special board of engineers, appointed by the secretary of war to investigate the matter of a steamboat railway around The Dalles of the Columbia, held a meeting at the office of Maj. Handbury in Union block yesterday, pursuant to announcement.

Capt. J. T. Troup was present and was asked a number of questions concerning the navigation of the Columbia.

In reply to these questions he said he had considered the matter of transporting loaded boats around the rapids and considered it perfectly feasible, and would not require any great change from the style of boats now in use, as he thought the boats now in use could be safely carried in a properly constructed cradle.

He then stated the size of boats now in use on the Columbia and Snake rivers, and explained that the reason that they were all stern wheelers was because this kind of boat handled much better in swift water. In regard to barging on the upper Columbia, he said if the rapids were improved he thought a boat could handle three barges 150 feet long by thirty feet broad, which would carry nearly 300 tons each down stream. If he were intending to use barges he would build a steamer not so long as those now in use but as powerful as she could be made.

Capt. Troup said there was a very general misunderstanding in regard to the amount of territory tributary to the Columbia river. The country along the river is not wheat producing.

When asked what he called country tributary to the river, he said any section from which farmers could haul wheat to the river in one day, returning home the next; this would be sixteen to twenty miles. If the river were opened narrow gauge roads would probably be built from many places to it, to carry wheat to the boats.

A map of the inland empire was then produced and Capt. Troup pointed out where the wheat belts are.

It was asked whether in case the obstructions of The Dalles and Cascades were removed barges could carry wheat from the upper river to Astoria, to which he replied that barges which could come as far as Portland would hardly be safe to go to Astoria.

Capt. Troup said it was his opinion that in case the river was opened, the greater part of the wheat shipped down it would be carried in barges. There would, however, be no trouble in building a steamer which could carry 1,000 tons from Wallula to Astoria if the river were improved.

In reference to using large barges on the upper Columbia, Capt. Troup said it was impracticable, as the turns were too short, and there were several bad places. Squally rapids in particular would have to be improved a great deal.

He then explained that if the wheat came to market between April and August all the wheat along the Columbia could be transported on barges, but at this season no one cared to ship wheat.

As to a railroad around The Dalles, he said it would be very well if the Cascades were opened, but it would not pay to handle wheat many times. If it had to be trans-shipped at The Dalles large 1,000 ton barges could be used between Portland and The Dalles and lighter, smaller ones above.

Captain Troup stated that the largest amount of wheat tributary to the Columbia came out of the Snake river. There was plenty of water in this river to make it navigable in the eighty miles from Riparia to the Columbia. There were several rapids not navigable at low stages of water.

He was next asked what he thought the dimensions of the lock at the Cascades should be, to which he replied as large as the the money at command would allow of. If by making it smaller it could be finished several years sooner, he would favor reducing the size. It should certainly not be less than seventy-five feet wide and 300 feet long.

If it could be built ninety feet wide it would do for the future, and 300 feet in length, to be lengthened when circumstances required it. The commission expressed their gratification at the very intelligent manner in which Capt. Troup had answered their questions and their obligations for his coming before them.—Oregonian, 28.

Flowing Up Hill.

A correspondent of the Journal of Education writes that paper that he has a pupil with a bright father who likes to ask his boy questions with which to disturb his teacher's peace of mind. His latest was; "How do you explain the fact that the Mississippi flows up hill?" The puzzled teacher writes to the editor for a more definite answer than he himself was able to give, and gets the following answer: All long rivers that flow towards the equator have the mouth higher, theoretically, than the source. The polar diameter of the earth is 7,899 miles, while the equatorial diameter is nearly 7,924 miles. Thus it is thirteen miles further from the center of the earth to the equator than it is to either pole, so that it is steadily "up hill," theoretically, from the poles to the equator. The mouth of the Mississippi is more than four miles further from the center of the earth than the source, or four miles "up hill." The explanation is that the same force—the centrifugal force of the earth—which caused the earth to "bulge out" thirteen miles at the equator, causes the waters of the oceans and rivers to tend toward the equator, so that the ocean, though it has a straight down grade of thirteen miles from the equator to the poles, has no tendency to run down hill, but merely keeps its apparent level surface. The rotation of the earth, therefore, makes the real "level of the sea" an inclined surface from the equator to the pole. If the earth did not rotate, the water would all flow the other way.

For cleansing and healing foul and indolent Ulcers, Sores and Abscesses and removing the bad odors arising therefrom, and for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, Darbys Prophylactic Fluid is unequalled.

"I have used Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in hospital and private practice for ten years and know of nothing better for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, foul and indolent ulcers and as a disinfectant."—J. F. HEUSTIS, Professor Mobile Med. College.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY..................AUGUST 29, 1888.

THE greenback party will hold its national convention at Cincinnati September 12th.

IT has cost Uncle Sam $21,000 to buy 11,000,000 envelopes for the circulation of tariff speeches.

CHINA is to have a modern navy. Heretofore her fleet has been like that of the United States, mainly old junk.

SIXTY-FIVE thousand applications have been received at Columbus for quarters during the G. A. R. encampment in that city.

A MICHIGAN man heard that his grandfather had left him a portion of his fortune, and at the appointed time went to the postoffice to get his check. It was for 17 cents.

AN interesting innovation is proposed in billiards. In order to abolish absolutely the possibility of rail play, the plan is to play with two balls only, the count being made by a kiss after the first contact of object and cue balls.

IT is impossible to avoid the belief that only an unjust social condition can have produced the present condition of things in Ireland. Over 3,000,000 acres of land are now lying idle, while nearly 1,000,000 of pauperized inhabitants are annually relieved out of the poor rates.

STOCK in the Astoria Street Railroad company cannot be bought now, since the enterprise is on a good footing. The construction of the road was at first ridiculed by parties who now desire to invest in it. Truly nothing succeeds like success.—Yesterday's Oregonian.

IT will be the same way with the Astoria and South Coast railroad. Once in operation all the doubting Thomases will want a slice of so good a thing.

A BAKER in Bloomsbury, England, sued a man for $12.50 for bread furnished. The man entered a counter claim for $45 for the value of a dog. The evidence was that the baker's boy leaving the bread left the gate of the customer open, and the dog ran out and was lost. The court held that if the man could not take care of the dog himself, he ought not to expect the baker's boy to do it, and judgment was for the baker.

Court Week in Ilwaco.

OYSTERVILLE, Aug. 27, 1888.

There is nothing more exciting to the average dweller than court week. There is nothing that will arouse a slumbering town to sudden life and activity like the rapid influx of visitors, jurymen, witnesses, lawyers and judges. Heretofore it was generally understood that there were three taverns in this place, the Pacific hotel, Wirts, and the Swan restaurant; and all popular places. The latter succumbed to dull times, and Wirts was closed as an hotel on account of the death of the landlady; but the Pacific is still alive, well kept and doing a lively business under the management of S. A. Mathews. Just previous to supper your correspondent was enlivened with wonderful stories of the artistic manner Mr. Winton handled the ribbons of the mail stage and of the frantic efforts Geo. Noland made over the sand bluff to beat the stage time. Noland won in an exhausted state, while Mr. Winton was suddenly aroused from a peaceful slumber by the stage's abrupt stop at the usual landing place. The question of the hour appears to be, "Where shall I find a bed?" Several persons slept in hay lofts last night. A bed on a first-class billiard table commands as high a price as a good bedroom. The best table at the hotel is reserved for the circuit judge and attorneys. There is quite a crowd of people expected here to-morrow. Most of the private houses have let out their spare beds and lounges.

A concert was given at the church this evening in aid of Prof. Dobbins and the church. It met with gratifying success. The building was crowded; the music excellent, cultivated, and executed with unexpected accuracy and volume. It may be safely stated that there is more musical ability in this town than any place in this county. The Clark family are experts.

THE PRESIDENT GOES FISHING.

Republican New York Convention.

Savage Reprisals On The Barbary Coast.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Cleveland has gone on a three days' fishing trip in the vicinity of Clifton Forge, Blue Ridge mountains. He has been confined closely to official duties many months and does not expect to be able to get any recreation except as he clears off his desk in advance of congress and takes a day or two at a time, piece meal, as congress lingers and promises to stay until after election.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

SARATOGA, Aug. 28.—The Republican state convention met this afternoon. Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy was elected temporary chairman and addressed the convention at considerable length. Gen. Tracy said not since '64 when the Democracy in national convention solemnly declared, in its platform, that the war for the Union was a failure and demanded that it should be brought to a speedy end, has a more important political issue been presented to the American people than that presented by president Cleveland's free trade message and the Mills bill. The issue of '64 involved the existence of the nation; the issue of '88 involves the continued existence of our manufacturing industries and our commercial prosperity.

After the appointment of the usual committees a recess was taken. The delegations of New York city and Brooklyn have decided to unite in support of Conger for lieutenant governor.

BARBARY COAST VENGEANCE.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Tangier says the emperor of Morrocco has determined to wreak quick and fierce vengeance on the rebels who massacred prince Muley and his 200 followers recently. The troops sent against the insurgents have been given free license to butcher, ravage and burn. Neither children nor aged are spared. Women are being outraged and enslaved. The emperor has penetrated the disaffected districts and it is reported he is surrounded by besieged insurgents. The European powers are being urged to send ships to Morocco to protect Christians and Jews in the coast towns.

RAILROAD COLLISION.

LIMA, Ohio, Aug. 28.—A collision occurred on the Dayton & Michigan road near here this afternoon, between a freight and special from Ottawa with a military company on the way to Columbus. One or two cars were broken up and two passengers, one engineer and conductor received slight injuries.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 28.—The official yellow fever report for yesterday records ten new cases, nine recoveries and three deaths: O. H. Pollard, Albert Fisher, Burton Mays (colored.) Total, 110 cases, 17 deaths and 62 under treatment.

A RUNAWAY CAR.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—A motor and car on south side electric railway ran away this morning and was completely wrecked. Seven persons were seriously injured; one probably fatally.

Don't be a clam.

The Astoria Gaslight Co. expects to have the new works in operation in about a month.

Arrivals from Portland report very warm weather there. The temperature here is delightful.

The quarterly examination for teachers begins at one o'clock this afternoon at the school house in district No. One.

At the fair at Spokane Falls, which begins next Monday, $8,000 will be given in premiums and purses. Some of the best trotting and running horses on the coast are entered.

The Columbia river cable has at last arrived, at Portland, where it will be transferred from the cars onto a barge, brought down by the Walluski, and put in place as speedily as possible.

The steamer Bertha of the Alaska Commercial company, and the bark Malay arrived at San Francisco with cargoes of Alaska salmon last Monday. The former had 9,770 cs, and 315 barrels salmon. The latter also had a full cargo.

There has been a good deal of surmise as to the reason or cause of the recent visit of Prest. Adams and other railroad magnates to Astoria. In confidence THE ASTORIAN is informed and in confidence it informs its readers that the intention was to come on the Potter to Astoria. To go back to Boston without seeing Astoria (by moonlight) would be like playing Hamlet with Ham left out.

Capt. Richardson was down on the Manzanita yesterday taking soundings in the new middle channel, finding 19 feet at low water. So soon as he returns from the north he will buoy out the channel for the convenience of steamers which can thus take a straight shoot when desired, in preference to the main ship channel. This gives three well defined channels, which are constantly improving, thanks to the jetty at the mouth of the river.

The Columbia is due from San Francisco to-day with the following passengers: P. Gomez, W. Q. Brown, J. A. Strenbach, W. T. Blyesey, Miss A. M. Bates, Miss M. Gray, D. W. Carson, M. O. Carson, Ella J. Carson, F. E. Vaughn, C. Harper, Miss E. Lane, Robert Whittaker and wife, Miss Wizilich, W. S. French, K. A. Giese, A. P. Golstein, J. L. Guedy, J. N. Jackson, H. S. Weil, William Van Ostendorf, Gusta Wilson, R. V. Pearce, S. Miller, Miss B. Hecht, Miss E. J. Dougherty, Col. A. W. Von Schmidt, Nellie McDonald, Miss E. Jones, Miss K. Ryan, F. B. Parse, Mrs. Parse, F. Parse, N. Strauss, D. A. Biggs, G. Bodlea, H. Graham, W. M. Cadzow, Mrs. H. C. Back and sister, Dr. Castaquette, J. McCausland.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Geo. H. Durham is in the city.

Capt. Flavel is reported much better.

John Elligan, of the Occident, bought a $4,000 saloon at Spokane Falls yesterday and will take charge on the first of next month of his handsome new property.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

The city council met in regular session last evening, Mayor Page in the chair. Councilmen Welch, Robb, Bergman and Sherman present; deputy city attorney C. R. Thomson, chief of police Barry, city auditor Jewett and street superintendent Clinton in attendance.

A petition from C. W. Shively regarding lot 1, blk 116, Shively's Astoria, stating that the work had been completed on that lot, was referred to city attorney with instructions to report.

A petition from Chas. Korpela asking rebate of saloon license was, on motion, referred to city attorney.

A communication was read from the mayor vetoing the ordinance for the improvement of Cedar street, deeming it not equitable and unjust to the general public, and forming a bad precedent for future action. The mayor's veto was sustained.

The report of the standing committee on the street superintendent's report, was, on motion, adopted.

The report of the committee regarding sewers on Washington street, was, on motion, adopted.

The reports of the chief of police, street superintendent, and city auditor for July were reported correct.

The committee on public property reported on the condition of the cemetery, and asked for further time.

An ordinance granting a franchise to the Astoria and South Coast railway company the right to lay track along Water street, in McClure's Astoria, from its west end to its intersection with the east line of Washington street, was read first and second times. On motion the ordinance was referred to street committee, to report next Thursday evening, at an adjourned meeting of the council.

An ordinance ordering the auditor and police judge to issue warrants for the collection of delinquent assessments on Concomly street improvement was passed under suspension of the rules.

The following claims were ordered paid: J. G. Ross, $18,87; Jas. Gardiner, $10; Arndt & Ferchen, $14.06; W. B. Headington, $50; West Shore Mills, $19.18; Griffin & Reed, $15.75; Clatsop Mill Co. $4.96; $20; McLean & Freeman, $3.

The following claims were referred: Jas. Gardiner, $16; J. F. Halloran & Co., $19.64; J. P. Dickinson, $450; motion to refer bill was carried.

A resolution that the sureties of C. P. Moffett be served with a demand for $479, was adopted.

The usual debate about the roadway was indulged in, pro forma, and after that painful but necessary duty was gone through with, the bad condition of sundry other streets was sadly cited. The street superintendent was instructed to improve the crossing on West 6th street. The council then adjourned, to meet tomorrow evening.

A Woman's Despair.

"Death would be preferable to this awful, dragging-down sensation and aching back," despairingly complained a suffering mother. "And the worst of it is," she added, "there seems no cure for it." "You are mistaken," replied the sympathising neighbor to whom the sufferer complained. 'I suffered for years just as you do, and found no relief till my physician finally prescribed Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me, and I have ever since been well, and the wealth of India would not induce me to be without the remedy, if a like affliction should return." "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Praised In Portland.

The Hungarian Specialty company, or more properly speaking, the Hungarian band, gave its first performance at the New Park, last night. With the exception of the clever fifteen minute oil painting by Lig Curlo, it was a concert pure and refined. Those who were unable to attend missed one of the rarest and most finished musical treats that it has ever been our fortune to attend. The playing was simply perfect, the precision marked, and the concert of rhythm and time absolutely faultless. —News, 28.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

THE FIRES IN SWEDEN.

An Appeal to The Charitably Disposed.

A calamity, whose consequences are likely to be more lasting than those of the floods of central Europe, the earthquakes of Italy, or the great Chicago fire, has befallen Sweden. The vast northern forests of the country, its glory and its chief means of wealth, were attacked by fire in June, long stretches of valuable timber land were laid bare by the flames, and several hamlets, towns and cities destroyed. Prominent among the latter were Sundsvall and Umea, located on arms of the gulf of Bothnia, cities that obtained their charters from Gustav II. Adolf, the one 1624, the other in 1622, and which depended mainly on their well built up traffic in lumber, iron and fish. Sundsvall, with a population of 11,000, was known as the most active lumber market in Europe, and from its busy wharves were shipped a considerable share of the 1,150,000,000 cubic feet of wood annually felled for exportation in the forests of Sweden. In this city the blaze burst out suddenly at noon of June 25. A severe north-westerly storm prevailed, firebrands were hurled onward with terrific speed, and within a few hours the merry saw mills, the quaint and tasteful dwellings and public buildings were a smoldering mass of ruins. Umea met with a similar fate.

The loss of property is estimated at 50,000,000 crowns, and no less than 14,000 people have been made wanderers on the face of the earth. It is said that the number of those who perished in the flames is not great, but the misery among the living victims of the disaster is almost beyond estimate. Without homes to shelter them, without food and clothing, deprived of every comfort and necessity of life, they will die by the score if speedy relief be not afforded them. The case is a desperate one. Insurance companies are powerless to meet the demands made upon them, the lumber trade of the vicinity is hopelessly destroyed for the present, the results of two centuries of toil were swept away in a day, the rich have become poor, and the people are utterly without hope that the immediate future can restore the prosperity of the past.

King Oscar of Sweden and Norway and the king of Denmark immediately headed subsciriptions for the aid of the sufferers, which by latest advices amounted to some few hundred thousand crowns, but under the pressure of the hard times prevailing in these countries, it is not to be expected that a very considerable sum can be raised. It is a most curious fact that as yet but little has been written or said in America concerning a tragedy which would have filled columns of our newspapers had it been enacted in Ireland or Germany, but when the sorrowful story becomes fully known a liberal helping hand will unquestionably be extended from the new world to the stricken inhabitants of the burned regions of the old.

The following is a vivid pen picture by an eye witness, after the last fires in Sweden:

"It is a dark and singular sight. Thousands of chimneys show where the city had been situated. Ruins all around. Here and there in the middle of the summer one sees numberless leafless trees, where they have not been burned to the ground. A gravelike silence rests over the place. Not a human voice, not a twitter of the birds always else so numerous in this part of the country, is heard; only the silent murmur from the river sounds like a funeral song through the former lively valley.

"Here and there stands a group of men, women and children looking with despair on the place where yesterday their happy homes stood. One is almost moved to tears to see this fearful destruction of human happiness, and the future must indeed be a gloomy one. For the present the unfortunates are lodged in outhouses and such buildings that are partly saved. It seems as if the finger of Providence had interposed in saving a couple of school houses. These are also used as lodging places. Where all this mass of human beings will be housed before the winter sets in is a problem to be solved, and to be solved by charity. Can the world be silent before these scenes of destruction and despair?"

To the above little need be added. Those of our readers who can spare a trifle to aid the distressed in the old country, can leave their contribution with AUGUST DANIELSON, who is authorized to receive it, and who will promptly forward it to the official agency for aid to the unfortunate people who so sorely need it.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind cholic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A FRIGHTFUL SKIN DISEASE.

Sufferings Intense. Head nearly raw Body covered with Sores. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies

MESSRS. STEVENS & BRUNER, Monroe, N. C.

Dear Sirs,—About two months ago, on your recommendation, I bought a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA SALVE and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, for my son, aged thirteen years, who has been afflicted with eczema for a long time, and I am pleased to say that I believe the remedies have cured him. His sufferings were intense, his head being nearly raw, his ears being gone except the gristle, and his body was covered with sores. His condition was frightful to behold. The sores have now all disappeared, his skin is healthy, eyes bright, cheerful in disposition, and is working every day. My neighbors are witnesses to this remarkable cure, and the doubting ones are requested to call or write me, or any of my neighbors.

WM. S. STEPHENSON,

MONROE, N. C., Oct. 29, 1887.

THE POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO:

Gentlemen—Mr. William S. Stephenson of this county brought his boy to town to-day to let us see him, and to show us what CUTICURA REMEDIES had done for him. This is the case referred to in our letter to you some time ago. To look at the boy now, one would suppose that there had never been anything the matter with him—seems to be in perfect health. We have written and herewith inclose what his father has to say about the matter,—wrote it just as he dictated.

We are selling quite a quantity of CUTICURA REMEDIES and hear nothing but praises for them. We regard the CUTICURA REMEDIES the best in the market and shall do all we can to promote their sale. Yours Truly,

STEVENS & BRUNER,
Druggists and Pharmacists.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, prepared from it, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are a positive cure for every form of Skin and Blood Disease from Pimples to Scrofula.

Sold everywhere. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; SOAP, 25 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

PIMPLES, black-heads, red, rough, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT and an IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

"REAL LIVE JOURNALISM."

The Arizona "Kicker" Getting in Its Work

Old Steve Bridgeman, who has several times been alluded to in these columns as the meanest white man in Arizona, has stopped his paper because we did not have a column editorial on the Fourth of July. He says we are no patriot, and a man that can't whoop'er up for Independence Day is a cussed rebel.

We have scratched his name off the list and if he don't quit lying about us we'll scratch his carcass off the face of the earth.

As to the Fourth of July, we were born on that day. As to patriotism, we've got more in our heels than old Steve could hold in his whole body. The man who intimates that we don't take off our hat every time we hear the name of Washington is a liar and a horse thief. Our editorial on the Fourth was a solid chunk of patriotism weighing twenty-five pounds, but was crowded out by an advertisement headed "How to Cure a Bad Breath." We know our gait and we think we know the great need of our towns people. As to old Steve Bridgeman, we are expecting two or three of his six or seven wives to drop in on us any day and furnish us some powerful good reading matter. Don't be uneasy, Stephen—we'll get to you in a few days.—Arizona Kicker.

NOT FOR SALE.

We have received visits from several of our leading politicians to inquire why the Kicker doesn't take a decided political stand in favor of one party or the other. It is a question easily answered. We are not publishing a newspaper for fun. Our convictions all run to publishing a dictionary or almanac, thus leaving us neutral in politics.

If the Kicker flies the Democratic flag and hustles for Cleveland and Thurman it must have solid assurance that after election the editor will receive a call. A call with a salary of about $3,000 hitched to it would just about fit our shape.

If the Kicker puts up the Republican ticket and blows for its success it must have something in writing to fall back on after election. We think we could fall back on a postoffice of the second class and not fracture our anatomy.

We set up all night to wait for a committee of Prohibitionists to come along and get down to facts, but the bridges were down and they didn't come. We don't say that it all depends on the Kicker which party rules for the next four years, but we do solemnly affirm that the editor will keep clear of the whole mob and publish nothing but poetry and local news unless some pretty solid promises are held out to arouse his slumbering convictions. We are not for sale, but we do banker for office.—Arizona Kicker.

"The World Moves,"

Maintained Galileo, when his tormentors racked him for advocating the true system of Copernicus. Certain follies hold out, however, against the illumination of discovery and experience. There are hosts of people who, because they have adopted certain principles, continue to swallow them to their dying day in defiance of the laws of common sense. Mercury, drastic purgatives, super-potent narcotics and sedatives, though they have been ground before the irresistible progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a national, painless remedy for disorders of the liver, the stomach and the bowels, still continue to make ambulating apothecaries shops of many stomachs. The symptoms of liver trouble are easily remediable without any abdominable disturbance with this beneficent alterative. So also are constipation, sick headache, heartburn and an inability to digest satisfactorily. It cures fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

Gentleman—What's the matter, Uncle Rastus, you look sick? Uncle Rastus—Yes, sah, I ate er whole watermelyun larst night jess 'fore I went ter bed, an' I ain't feelin' berry well dis mawnin. Gentleman—Are you going to see a doctor? Uncle Rastus—No, sah; Ise gwine fo' anudder melyun.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Hours, 10 to 5 and 7 to 9: Sunday, 8 to 11 A. M., only.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

How Eleven Little Pickaninnies Disappeared.

The alligator, when a mere baby saurin, was pulled by a savage dog from the sinkhole in the swamp, rescued by the darkey, and taken home to the cabin as a playfellow for the pickaninnies. The little darkies took kindly to the young reptile and, after it had recovered from its first disposition to nip hungrily at small black legs and arms, it became one of the greatest pets possible, waddling about the cabin and yard in vain pursuit of the chickens, and ridden, as soon as it was big enough, by two naked youngsters at a time. The wife of the darkey who owned the cabin was one of the class of colored ladies with a heart full of good will toward the census man, and there was no less than eleven of the little fifteenth amendments, as nearly of the same age as possible in the natural order of things, several pairs of twins making the age of the youngsters more closely approximate. They were a jolly brood, these eleven little darkies, and the young alligator, basking in the sun, rolling about in the mud and playing high jinks generally. Months passed by; the proprietor of the cabin laid in abundant meal for hoecake, and from henroosts and smokehouses in the region provided all dainties of the modest larder abundantly, the pickaninnies waxing sleek and fat, and their playmate, the alligator, attaining length and breadth, at a tremendous rate. The alligator, however, grew much faster than the little darkies, and after a time familiarities with the intelligent reptile became less frequent. The family cat was not to be found one day, and subsequently the family dog also mysteriOusly disappeared; while, though wildcats from the swamps were supposed to have been the invaders, one of the little darkies had occasion to remark, after each disappearance of a domestic animal: "'Pears like dat ar 'gator looks mity brite 'bout de eyes and smilin' round de mouf terday, somehow." Dogs and cats can be replaced, and the old father of the family paid little attention to the mysterious disappearance until one night at hoecake time only ten little darkies put in an appearance. "Whah's yer brudder? Whah's Wendell Philips Henry Watterson Smif?" demanded the alarmed colored parent anxiously. "Dunno; he was pokin' sticks at de 'gator last we seed him," piped the pickaninnies in chorus. "Oh, de Lawd of hebing!" yelled the old darkey; "mebbe de 'gator's gobbled 'im" and he dashed out doors, drove the reptile into the yard with a rail, pried his mouth open with the same instrument and examined the two rows of sharp teeth for wool. There was no wool there. "De chile's drowned in the slough for sartain," mourned the father, and so accepted the burden, though a search of the slough revealed nothing.

A few days later another little darkey went. There was the same search of the alligator's teeth and of the slough, but the mystery was not solved and the old darkey and his wife began to turn gray. Then, of the nine little darkies left, one after another went rapidly. Horace Greeley Stevens Smith, Sarcophagus Alexander Smith, Whitelaw Dickinson Reid Smith, and so on, they disappeared until but one little solitary amendment remained to roll about the cabin and bask chuckingly in the sunlight. The hearts of the old darkey and his wife were nearly broken, and they went about listlessly, humming no longer the cheerful old plantation airs, but crooning only the familiar but melancholy song of the race beginning "I'se a mournin'." One evening the darkey and his wife were sitting watching the antics of the remaining child and reflecting upon the mysterious fate of the ten who had disappeared, when the youngster ran around behind the cabin for something. The sound of a brief scuffling immediately after led the father and mother to rush upon the scene. The child was gone! The water of the slough showed no ripple. The negro darted around to the back of an old cypress stump in the search, and there, in a moment the whole sad mystery was solved. Propped up, with its back against the stump, in order to give the freedom to its forelegs, the alligator set, clinching between its fore claws a rusty table fork with but a single tine and picking its teeth hastily. The desperated darkey seized an ax and after a fierce struggle slew the monster. Between the alligator's teeth were tufts of kinky wool which it had not had time to remove, and an unscientific, but thorough dissection with an ax made it clearly evident where the last of the eleven little darkies had gone. The alligator devoured all the brood, but the intelligence of the reptile was such that it had in each case, after eating up a pickaninny, promptly removed all evidence of the crime by picking the wool from its teeth.

The First Advertisement.

An English antiquarian has been delving among old newspaper files and has discovered what he says is the first commercial advertisement ever printed in a newspaper. It appeared in the Mercurius Politicus, of London, dated September 30, 1658. It runs as follows: "That excellent, and by all physicians approved, China Drink, called by all Chineans Tcha, by other Nations Tay, alias Tee, is sold at the Sultaness Head Cophee House, in Sweeting's Rents, by the Royal Exchange, London." At the date of this advertisement tea had been used in England about forty years, but the price was awful high, often reaching £20 per pound.

"I have used Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in hospital and private practice for ten years and know of nothing better for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, foul and indolent ulcers and as a disinfectant."—J. F. HEUSTIS, Professor Mobile Med. College.

BAR PILOTAGE.

The Oregonian in its editorial leader yesterday takes positive ground regarding bar pilotage and towage. It thinks that bar pilot charges should be reduced one-half and that licensed river pilots should be done away with. It abandons its former position that the towage and pilotage service should be kept separate, which it long urged, and is now of the opinion that the master of the tug that tows the vessel should and could act as pilot also. There will be a strong effort in the next legislature to bring these changes about, when the matter will be fully, and, let us hope fairly, discussed.

On this matter The Astorian has this to say: It is believed by many that there are too many bar pilots. One thing is, however, evident, viz.: that no tug company, not even the O. R. & N. Co., can afford to entirely dispense with the services of a pilot on board of a vessel going in or out. This is not a mere matter of economy. It is a question of insurance. The pilot in a measure represents the underwriters. In case of disaster to the tug, the hawser breaking, or other untoward accident, the master of the tug has all he can do to attend to his own vessel. In that case what becomes of the vessel? True, the presence of a pilot on a ship's deck does not insure immunity from disaster, but if a pilot be there the responsibility in case of loss is not on the owners of the tugs.

The whole thing forms an interesting question, and one that needs thorough discussion. Whatever is done in the matter in the legislature or out of it should be done only upon mature deliberation, and with no other purpose than the general good and the mutual prosperity of the river.

The famous question that in antebellum days so agitated political circles in Philadelphia, as to "who struck Billy Patterson," promises to be entirely eclipsed during the present political campaign by the controversy that has sprung up between the president and the senate over the identity and character of a certain Mary Ann Dougherty. A person bearing that name obtained a pension some years ago, upon proof that her husband had died of injuries received in the military service. After she had enjoyed the pension for awhile the husband had the bad taste to apply for a pension in his own behalf. Mrs. Dougherty's pension was thereupon cancelled and it appearing that the husband had not been injured in service, his application was denied. Mrs. Dougherty then applied to congress, stating that she had been blown up into the air and dreadfully injured while making cartridges for the government, that her elder son had been killed by machinery while working for the government in a navy yard, and that her younger son had been stolen away by an officer of the government. A pension bill was thereupon passed for her through both houses, but was vetoed by the president on the ground that the only sure thing about Mrs Dougherty was that she was utterly unworthy of belief and had been nine times arrested by the Washington police for quite a variety of breaches of the law. Upon that veto party lines have been drawn, and perspiring senators are spending part of the dog days in respectively asserting and denying that she was blown up, and had a son killed and a son stolen, and that she was insane at the times she was "run in" by the police. One hot point of debate is over the exact number of times she has been arrested, and another whether a certain George Bancroft who certifies to the character and credibility of the lady is the eminent historian and statesman, or a pension attorney of the same name, likewise residing in Washington. Unless some new matter comes up shortly to displace this one, we may look for any number of false Mary Anns at the dime museums and possibly on the stump. The comic feature in the Dougherty case is that the facts could all be settled in a day to anybody's satisfaction, if so many on both sides of politics were not concerned to keep them unsettled till near the middle of next November.

Within a radius of sixty miles of Nashville, Tenn., there is found a tree that is said to be the shittim wood of ark fame. Celebrated botanists from all over the country have examined the trees and agree that they grow nowhere else on the globe. They have decided that it is the shittim wood of which Noah's ark was constructed, mention of which is made several times in the Bible. The tree is medium sized, with very dark, smooth bark, and the wood is of a bright gold color. In early spring the trees are laden with long, white blossoms, closely resembling great ostrich plumes. There seems to be no doubt about the identity of the trees, and it is remarkable that they are found only in this small area and so few at that. What is said to be the same species grows abundantly in Coos county, in this state.

It is interesting to notice that while in the United States people are considering the means of restricting immigration, in Mexico they are considering means of attracting it. A number of Mexican journals have lately devoted considerable attention to the matter. Among these is the Mexican Financier, which declared in a recent issue that to fulfill her destiny and make the most of her resources Mexico must add to her working population by immigration and colonization. The journal quoted does not look for immigration from the United States, where the inhabitants are well contented with their lot. It looks to Europe, and particularly to Germany, Italy and Spain, to supply the want. With proper effort it thinks the amount of Italian immigration into Mexico might be made to equal that which Brazil receives.

There is said to be more American silver than Canadian silver in circulation in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Recently the Winnipeg bankers decided to accept American dollars at only 95 cents, half dollars at 45 cents and quarters at 20 cents, but the people refused to indorse the regulation and our coin passes there at par.

During the securing of the right of way for the Ilwaco railroad, judge Briscoe, of Pacific county, was the recipient of many uncomplimentary remarks, being charged with being an obstructionist, and asking money for what would manifestly benefit him. Have we any Judge Briscoes in Astoria? It is to be hoped not.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

NOTICE is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by the Auditor and Police Judge of the City of Astoria, in accordance with an order made by the Common Council of the City of Astoria, by Ordinance No. 1047, entitled an Ordinance ordering the Auditor to issue warrants for the collection of assessments remaining unpaid on West-9th street between Water street and Berry street, approved July 25, 1888. Said warrant bearing date the 25th day of July, 1888, commanding me to levy upon lot No. 6, in block No. 118, in the City of Astoria as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively to collect an assessment of two hundred and six dollars, which assessment was made for the improvement of West-9th street between Water street and Berry street by Ordinance No. 1045, entitled an Ordinance declaring the probable cost of improving West-9th street from the south side of Water street to the south side of Berry street, approved June 29th, 1888. I have this day levied upon lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, and on Friday, the 14th day of September, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day in front of the Court house door in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, will proceed to sell lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, to the highest bidder therefor, to pay said assessment, costs and expenses of sale. Said sale to be for U. S. gold coin.

The Columbia arrived in yesterday with freight and passengers for Astoria and interior points.

The season at the beach is about over, and some of the family skeletons are returning to the closets.

The seaside sojourners who returned to the heated interior now realize that they went back too soon.

The Court street school house is being put in trim for the fall session of school, which begins next Monday.

The weather yesterday was warm enough to make light clothing and the shady side of the street be in demand.

Quite a number of applicants for certificates are attending the teachers' examination at the Court street school house.

Fishing matters on Gray's harbor are reported at a standstill, the deadlock still continuing between the canners and the fishermen.

Subscribers to the Clatsop Road & Construction company are requested to call on secretary Thomson and pony up the second assessment.

Lieut. Swift, of the U. S. signal corps is in the city to superintend the placing of the Columbia cable from Ft. Stevens to Scarborough head.

City attorney Noland returned from Oysterville yesterday. From him it is learned that the Johnson murder trial has been changed to Clarke county.

There will be a meeting of the chamber of commerce this evening at 7 30 to discuss matters relative to the portage and steamboat transfer at Celilo and the Cascades.

The widow of Clement Orteig, who who died from his injuries at the Coquille, gets $2,000 from Seaside Lodge No. 12, A. O. U. W., of which her husband was a member.

A letter from Gray's harbor says that the residents there propose to take matters in their own hands as to fishing, and that it is not improbable that a collision may ensue.

The Real Estate Journal of Tacoma comes asking an X. So soon as our Astoria and South Coast road gets going there will be a chance for a real estate journal here. Speed the day.

In his newspaper rounds at 3.30 yesterday morning, Frank Surprenant found a fire on the approach to the O. R. & N. dock, which was just bursting into a blaze. It had been apparently smouldering for some hours.

A celebrated historian once wrote a work on snakes in Ireland. Here is the entire volume: "There are no snakes in Ireland." A work on police court items in Astoria at present would be equally brief for similar reasons.

Reports from Tillamook are to the effect that the strike is over there, and that the fishermen have begun work. A compromise has been effected on the Sound, and the canneries over there will start work next Monday.

A telegram from the Hungarian Band states that owing to the intense heat in Portland the troupe has canceled dates and will be here to-morrow night. The Portland press praises the company, and they will, doubtless, have a good house here.

The general health of the city is [illegible] at present. There are a few sickly children seen on the streets, but they are new arrivals from the heated interior brought here to regain health and plumpness by a brief sojourn by the shore of the sounding sea.

The schooner Michigan, which went below with a large cargo of spruce lumber, had her machinery put in place in San Francisco and now a steam schooner. She was built at Skamokawa and is a handsome vessel. She put off her Astoria freight yesterday and proceeded up [illegible]

[illegible] advance in the protect[illegible] imported cablegrams of [illegible] a word is not the reason

THE ASTORIAN has no dispatches this morning. The line is busted in the brush somewhere. Perhaps it's just as well Whenever the wire breaks it makes one rustle for local items all the harder.

A Tacoma man named F. F. Schwartz was declared crazy last Monday and sent to Steilacoom. The poor fellow fancies himself to be a newspaper man. The Ledger says "he seems to be an educated man and used to good society." That lets him out. He made a mistake in his choice of residence.

There is only one man in Astoria who can correctly name and locate all the streets, and if he should up and die, the other 5,999 would be in a deuce of a fix. People living here lo these many years don't know the name of the street they live on, such knowledge not being necessary to the proper enjoyment of life.

The Columbia cable is loaded on a framework built on the fora'd deck of the Walluski and will be brought down here from Portland to-day. P. J. McGowan has given permission to have the cable landed at his wharf, and on the Washington territory side it will be run to Scarborough head via his place, thus avoiding chafing on the rocks as before

A Bulgarian monk who speaks 32 languages is heading this way on a lecturing tour and has Astoria on his list. Great Cæsar! what have we done. Can't some one coax him on board a ship at Portland. The Oregonian says the ships don't have to stop at Astoria any more, but can put straight out to sea. In this case such facilities would be fine

The News represents president Adams, of the Union Pacific, as saying, in a conversation with a prominent railroad man: "I am strongly opposed to entering into a joint lease with the Northern Pacific, and nothing would induce me to consent to such an alliance. The position of the Union Pacific, under the present condition of affairs, is a very strong one, and an alliance with the Northern Pacific would weaken instead of strengthening it."

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Astoria and South Coast railway company has not passed the city council yet, but it probably will at the adjourned council meeting to be held this evening. The officers and directors are working energetically to make the matter move on satisfactorily and need the hearty co-operation and assistance of every one in Astoria in furthering an object that is so manifestly for the public good and common prosperity.

Dell Baker was working in the harvest field, says the Columbia Chronicle, and about ten days ago tied a piece of sacking twine tightly around his arm to keep his shirt sleeve in its proper place. The string retarded the flow of blood in the arm, producing a blood clot, which brought on erysipelas, resulting in gangrene. Drs. Pietrzycki and Bores were sent for Saturday evening to amputate the arm, but the patient was too far gone when they arrived, and died shortly after.

The editor—we beg her pardon—the editress, with the accent on the tress, of the Davenport, W. T., Times is a woman. Some one in Tacoma has been making snoots at the editor-ess of the Times and that journal rises to remark that "There isn't money enough in Tacoma to buy the Times, and there isn't a man there - unless it be Col. Steele heavy enough to handle the female democratic editor hereof." That's the kind of a hairpin the boss of the Times is.

An Astoria fruit cannery in operation is a pleasant sight to one who likes to see the town develop manufacturing industries, and one that can be seen at George & Barker's where about forty employes, chiefly women and girls, are deftly and neatly putting up pears and plums. The operation is a simple one, the pears after peeling and halving, being put into two-and a-half-pound cans, sirruped, soldered and cooked. There are 60 2½ lb cans in each case. So far about 1,000 cases fine fruit have been packed; the calculation is to pack about 1,000 cases more this season The brand is the same as on the firm's salmon—"The Epicure."

The grounds about the custom house are now almost raised to the level intended The programme now is after leveling the new deposit, to scatter fertilizer and then sow grass seeds The next move should be to put an additional story on the building, or at least fix the roof so that it won't leak, for the leak gets through and cracks the plaster and runs on to the floor and spoils the carpet, and trickles onto the lower floor and percolates through the ceiling and drips on the government papers and things, and in time will cause the massive masonry to crack and give way. To save all this Uncle Sam ought to fix the roof before it is too eternally late.

The proverb "It never rains but it pours was exemplified at the Clatsop mill yesterday. About eleven o'clock yesterday morning an employe named John Munson got his hand onto a planer which tore it in a terrible manner, necessitating surgical aid. At one o'clock P. E. Linn was working near a lathe bolter when a board flew back and struck him in the eye, inflicting an ugly gash. At two o'clock J. McKenna met with the third and most serious accident, losing two of the fingers of his left hand by contact with a shingle saw. The rest of the day the employes handled things very gingerly, but after the third accident there's rarely any likelihood of a recurrence.

"Whoever told you that about president Adams and the Potter was off," said a steamboat man yesterday. "Now, I'll give you the true business. He and his party, which numbered seventy-five, came down to speed the Potter and find out just what time she could make." "Hey there," said a well known resident, an hour after, "I see you are dead wrong on that Potter excursion of Adams and the railroad tycos. If you want to know I'll tell you. They came down here on the Potter to hold a director's meeting, without the bother of interruption." Why they came down here is getting to be the boss conundrum. Everyone knows, and no one really knows. Probably they wanted to get a few shares of Astoria and South Coast railroad stock.

There is big tarvel everywhere: to Ilwaco, Shoalwater bay, Gray's harbor, Tillamook, Portland and San Francisco. Every boat is crowded. As for the night boats, the Telephone and the Potter, their passengers are legion. The passenger travel to and from Astoria, is something unusual this season. A Walla Walla man in the office yesterday, said, "I'm heartily glad you folks have taken hold of this matter yourselves and made up your minds to build a railroad to the Seaside. That's the way to do. Astoria by right should be the center of all this seaside business, and if the matter is put in the right shape, you ought to have 30,000 people here from eastern Oregon and Washington every year." It is a fact that with the Astoria and South Coast railroad built it is reasonable to expect that 25,000 people would make this their home four months of the year. We have a bigger bonanza than the Comstock in this magnificent ocean beach at our gates, and nothing will develop it in so marked a degree as the construction of the railroad to the seaside.

THE BOARD OF ENGINEERS

Will Report On The 15th Of December.

At Tuesday's session of the board of engineers: to hear the views of those interested in removing obstructions to navigation in the Columbia river, C. H. Dodd gave it as his opinion that the problem at Celilo could best be solved by the construction of a portage railway for boats around the falls there, this portage railway to be so constructed as to [illegible] cradle large enough to hold a[illegible] of vessel, steam or otherwise [illegible] capacity of 500 tons. This c[illegible] to be so constructed as to also carry barges of 300 tons capacity. This, he claimed, was necessary on account of the two stages of water at different seasons of the year—to wit: low and high. These conditions are frequently met with in the Snake and Columbia rivers.

It was further stated by Mr. Dodd that the board of trade had given the matter of the improvement of the rivers a great deal of thoughtful attention during the past seven years. That innumerable plans and devices had been submitted and considered for overcoming the physical difficulties at Celilo. That after all these had been carefully considered the plan of Major W. A. Jones, United States engineer, for a portage railway at Celilo, had been adopted by the board of trade by resolution, as being by far the most feasible and expeditious.

In relation to the Cascade rapids, Mr. Dodd thought that the canal and locks should be completed as soon as possible. That the canal should be fifty feet wide, and it would be still better if it was sixty feet wide, and that it should be so arranged that a vessel 240 feet long could be taken through.

Col. Mendell assured Mr. Dodd that the Cascade locks would be completed as soon as possible. The matter of the portage railway would be carefully looked into, and on December 15 the report which the board will make will be opened. The investigation which the board had begun will not be finished by the original board in person, but they will send competent men to finish the work.

Ex-Senator Grover also appeared before the board of engineers, and gave his views in regard to how the obstructions to navigation should be removed.

Col. Mendell left on last night's steamer for San Francisco. News, 29.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown, to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of [illegible] the word [illegible] our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off thro[illegible] system, causing nervous [illegible] Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

Bank Financial Items.

The date side of a coin is always the head.

A Cape Cod, Mass., man, now a Bostonian, is a director in fifty-seven national banks.

The most ancient known coins are the fifth century, B. C., and are Macedonian.

During the last seven years the number of national banks has increased upward of 1,000.

A few shares of the Chemical National bank, New York city, were sold recently at $3,500 per share.

Portland has a banking capital of $5,375,000, with surplus and profits of nearly $2,00,000 more.

The decrease in national bank note circulation for five years ending June 30, 1888, has exceeded, $175,000,000.

Under his sentence, Harper, of the Fidelity National bank, Cincinnati, is not required to work. His punishment is simply confinement.

The new $20 silver certificate, just issued by the treasury department, is a pretty note, and so finely executed it will be difficult to counterfeit.

It is reported that Charles M. Kittredge, a private banker and broker of Denver, Col., was recently robbed of $10,000 by his confidential clerk, a youth of only nineteen years.

The legal rate of interest in England is 5 per cent., but the law formerly in force against usury has been repealed and any rate of interest stipulated in a contract will be enforced by the courts.

Not long since a cowboy walked into the bank of La Junta, Col., and drew out $28,000 without the formality of a check. He simply laid a bag upon the counter, put the end of his pistol in cashier Phillips' face with the suggestion that the latter place the bank's funds in the bag. The cashier responded with alacrity and then the cowboy rode rapidly away.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Simpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

A Louisville colored woman recently paid a local doctor $10 for a dead man's finger, which she wished to use as a charm. The woman claimed to be a voudoo doctor, and said the finger would be a sure mascot for any one wishing to bet on the races.

In the library of Dr. Williams in London is a copy of the bible in shorthand. It is exquisitely written, and is said to have belonged to an apprentice of the time of James II., who feared that the bible was about to be prohibited, and so wrote this copy.

English shoemakers always cut a V in the bench leather for luck. Swedish carpenters mark a cross on their tools for the same purpose and many painters mark a cross and triangle on a high scaffolding before they feel perfectly comfortable upon it.

A new saddle that had been invented was thought worthy of introduction into the German army. As a final trial a squadron of fifty cavalrymen are now taking a four weeks' ride through Prussia under the personal command of a general. They ride forty-five miles a day.

Six-Killer is the name of an Indian who lives in the Indian territory. The other day a reporter, curious as to the redskin's name, asked him if he had killed six men, to which he replied that he had killed seven, but one of them was a newspaper reporter, which didn't count.

It is found that nearly every kind of glass, especially that containing manganese, is liable to a change of color by the action of sunlight, but can be restored to its original color by heat. Stained glass in windows that has changed tint through solar action can thus be restored by heat.

The health of New York compares very unfavorably with that of London. The annual mortality in the British metropolis is about 20 in 1,000, while in New York it is 26 in 1,000. The population of New York is much more crowded, there being an average of 16 persons to a dwelling, while in London the average is only seven.

Russia imports annually 300,000,000 pounds of cotton, chiefly from America and Egypt, but it is believed that recent acquisitions of the czar in central Asia are excellently adapted for cotton raising. Some has already been grown at Khiva and Bokhara, and an extensive system of irrigation is being created to develop other land for this crop.

Railway companies in Australia, after experimenting with various kinds of "quick fencing for railways, especially with a view to keeping out snow drifts," have settled upon hedges of the "rose of Providence." It is said that a fence six and a half feet high and three and a half feet thick will check snow drifts. The blossoms are salable and so the fence is profitable.

A wire rope half a mile long, six and one-fourth inches in circumference, and weighing seven and a half tons, has been manufactured at Gateshead, England. There are six strands of nineteen wires each in it, the breaking strain of the whole being 175 tons, and that of each wire in the rope 120 tons to the square inch. This immense rope is to be used in a colliery in North Wales.

At Buda Pesth a well which has been bored to a depth not previously reached now yields daily 176,000 gallons of water at 158° Fahrenheit. The attempt will be made to bore until the temperature of the water reached shall be 176°. Whether it will be possible in this manner to heat dwellings, churches, conservatories, and, indeed gardens, is still an open question.

English magistrates have sent to jail for thirteen days an old man who was convicted of having trundled an empty barrow along the gravel footpath of a country road where he would have interfered with foot possengers if there had been any anywhere about to be interfered with, which the evidence showed there was not. The regular roadway had just been new'y laid with broken rock.

About two weeks ago Henry Goetz gave James K. Mosser of Hanover a large farm dog which was immediately shipped by rail from Phillipsburg, N. J., to Williamsport, 140 miles away. Yesterday the dog walked into his former master's house in a starved and worn out condition. It was learned that he had walked the entire distance. How he found his way back is the wonder of the story.

A restaurant keeper at the London Zoo ordered an employe to take two barrels of buns to the bear-pit. The man took him at his word and dumped the buns to the bears. The animals were knee deep in them, when the restaurant keeper found out what had been done, and ordered the employe to go down into the pit and get the buns back. The man handed in his resignation.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY AUGUST 31, 1888.

A GREAT ERROR.

The river and harbor bill which became a law without the president's signature was supposed to aggregate in appropriation the sum of $22,750,000, but [illegible] aggregate nearly $2,000,000 more. One item was $25,000 for the improvement of Black Cove, Portland harbor, Maine. But the bill as enrolled and signed by speaker Carlisle, and president pro tem of the senate Ingalls, says "twenty-five thousand thousand dollars." The supreme court has decided that there is no license in construing acts; that they must stand as they are passed by congress and sent to the state department. In 1873 a bill intended to admit among other things fruit-plants free of duty should have had a hyphen between the words this way "fruit plants." Leaving that little hyphen out in the enrolling put foreign fruit on the free list, and millions of dollars had to be refunded to importers of fruit as the supreme court decided it was entitled under the act to come in free.

But it is probable that the secretary of war will not allow more than $25,000 to be spent in improving Black Cove, Portland harbor, Maine.

The sea-serpent of the St. Lawrence, the appearance of which to two reliable young men of Kingston was published recently, has again been seen, this time in broad daylight, and by at least a dozen witnesses. There is little doubt that one of those ocean monsters is spending a few weeks at the Thousand Islands for his health.

The gambling at Saratoga this season is heavier than ever before. From 11 o'clock until 2, hundreds of thousands change hands at the races, and then both the lucky and unlucky investors in tickets give the faro banks a whirl.

Thomas B. Barry, of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor, says the country was never so free from strikes as at the present time. The board has no strikes to settle at all.

Five per cent. is getting to be the regular rate for good real estate mortgages in Montreal. Last month one-half of the mortgages registered in Montreal West were at that rate.

A Political Speech Factory.

An impecunious young man, who at one time was in great demand as an orator at local political meetings, but whose fondness for fiery drink has made him unpresentable on state occasions, has hired an office on Park Row and sent out cards to every political organization in the city, stating that he is ready to write

ANY POLITICAL SPEECH IN TEN MINUTES.

When a Telegram reporter called at his den this morning he was engaged in writing a speech for one of the city fathers, who will deliver it at the next meeting of the board. It was not of a political nature, but that made no difference to the former orator. He got the idea of what the alderman wanted to say, and in a few minutes put the ideas in proper shape.

"This is a great scheme," he said, "and I'll make lots of money. There are hundreds of men whom I know who want to speak at public meetings but they don't know how to express their ideas. I write it out for them, and if they have any intellect at all they can commit the sense of the speech to memory and then speak their little piece."—N. Y. Telegram.

CRIME BY TELEPHONE

Strange Story Told by Inspector Bonfield of the Chicago Police.

A "Hello" That Disturbed a Member of the Board of Trade, and Finally Forced Him to Pay Over $20,000.

"It is a well known fact [illegible] the latest triumphs of [illegible] yesterday. [illegible] But I don't recall a case in which this truth was more brilliantly demonstrated than the Maxwell case."

"What case was that?" queried an old newspaper man present. "I don't recollect of ever hearing of it before?"

"No, I suppose you don't," said Mr. Bonfield, musingly. "The fact of the matter is, it never was a case that properly belonged to the department, but I can speak of it now. You see it was at the time when the telephone had just been introduced into business and private use. George Maxwell—that's not the real name, but it will do as well—was at that time one of the most successful speculators on the board of trade, and was currently reported to have some time ago tipped the scale which marked the million. He was a young and handsome man, and he just married a charming woman. It was an out-and-out love match. A score of [illegible] were dispatched every day during business hours. They contained such important messages as 'How are you, my own love?' And repeated [illegible] I sigh for you. How is my sweetest?' Well, to save expenses and to increase the facilities of communication, Mr. Maxwell connected his office with his home on Ashland avenue by private telephone wire. He was one of the first men in Chicago to do so. About five out of six business hours were now spent by him at the

"One day, just before the close of business, there was a ring at the telephone. The devoted husband, with a jump, was there. 'What does my sweet pet wish?' he murmured.

"'I'm no pet. You mistake me, sir!' came the reply, in an unmistakably masculine voice, a voice gruff and rasping but very distinct.

"'Who are you, then?' asked the astonished millionaire.

"'I'm Thomas Jefferson Odell, the accomplished burglar, if you want to know.'

"'Repeat, please,' gasped the other.

"'Odell, the burglar,' came the answer over the wire.

"'The devil!' exclaimed Mr. Maxwell.

"'No, only one of his faithful servants. But now listen. I have no time to fool away. I and two of my pals have gained access to your house. The cook, the chambermaid and your wife are lying here bound and gagged. The nigger coachman has been disposed of. Some bundles of oily rags have been judiciously distributed about the house, ready to be ignited.'

"'You bloody scoundrel!' shouted the agonized husband, whose eyes were bulging during the recital.

"'Don't excite yourself. Now, sir, here is my proposal. If you should disappear from the telephone without acceding to it I shall set fire to the house. It is no use applying to the police, for we'd be too quick for them. You will see, Mr. Maxwell, that you are completely in my power. The only sensible thing you can do is to listen to my proposal and to agree to it.'

"'Oh, I wish I had my hand at your throat, you infernal villain!' shouted the millionaire, mad with rage.

"'But you know you haven't, so what's the use of talking that way! Let us talk business instead. I need a loan of $20,000 cash. I need it at once. If you are inclined to lend me that sum without guarantee I shall leave your house with my pals in exactly the same condition in which I found it.'

"'You are ruining me,' groaned Maxwell. 'And I don't think I have that much money in cash in the office safe.'

"'You'll force me to commit an atrocious deed,' came the remorseless reply.

ALL RIGHT.

"'All right, then—Yes, I'll pay, but to whom?'

"'It is now 5:15 o'clock exactly. At this very moment my pal has entered your office to receive the money. You will pay him and he will tell you the watch word agreed to between us, which you will telephone to me at once.'

"Mr. Maxwell turned around. A stranger of pleasant mien, dressed in the height of fashion, stood before him. Said the visitor: 'I have called to collect a little matter of $20,000 for a friend of mine, Thomas Jefferson Odell.'

"'Correct!' replied Mr. Maxwell, who went to the safe, took from it two bundles containing $10,000 each, and handed the money to the stranger. The latter ascertained that the amount was correct, then placed the money inside his two breast pockets.

"'And the watchword?' queried Mr. Maxwell.

"'Do right and interfere not!' replied the burglar's confederate with a great deal of dignity, and strode out of the office with all the grandezza of a Spanish hidalgo.

"'Do right and interfere not!' joyfully shouted Mr. Maxwell through the telephone. 'And now you'll leave my premises, Mr. Odell, won't you? And as for my wife——'

"'Have no fear Mr. Maxwell,' replied the man at the other end. 'You have to deal with a burglar and a gentleman.'

"Mr. Maxwell locked his office, got into his buggy and drove out to his house at a Maud S. pace. The more closely he approached, the keener his fear of a catastrophe became. But as he stopped at the gate he noticed nothing out of the way. He sprang up the stairs, two at a time and entered the pretty boudoir of his prettier wife. She was quietly reading.

"'How you must have suffered, my angel!' he cried, and a sob shook his voice.

"The young wife looked up astonished. 'Suffered? I?'

"'That burglar, you know—it must have been awful. Oh, you poor darling!'

"'Why George, dear, what is the matter? You speak in riddles.'

"'But didn't he gag you?' he asked.

"'Now, see here, George, I wish you would talk sense. What do you mean?'

SOMEBODY WAS HERE.

"After Mr. Maxwell had finished the recital of his adventure he asked, 'Wasn't there somebody here using my telephone?'

"'Why, yes, there was,' replied Mrs. Maxwell. 'A young and well dressed man, looking like a successful business man, came in, introduced himself to me as 'Mr. Thomas Jefferson Odell, a speculator,' and requested permission to make use of your private telephone to send you a message. Of course I gave him permission. He used the telephone but a couple of minutes and then came back into the parlor, thanked me for the favor I had done him and went away, saying the telephone was a very useful invention—it facilitated business so much.'

"'And that was all?' asked Mr. Maxwell. 'He didn't gag you and the servants? He didn't offer violence to you?'

"'Why no. He was very polite and [illegible] George.'

"'Oh, the devil!' exclaimed George, with a wild outburst. 'What an infernal ass I've made of myself. Excuse me, pet, but I can't help it. I'll drive over and tell the police about it.'

"That's what he did," concluded Bonfield, "and that's the way I came to know about it. But after talking the thing over with me, and after consulting with the smartest detectives we had at the time, we came to the conclusion that there was no chance of recovering the money. The pair were too slick. And in spite of all we've done since then we've heard nothing more of the $20,000, nor of Mr. Thomas Jefferson Odell and his pal."—Chicago Herald.

An amended ordinance, differing in some degree from the one which was passed to third reading last Tuesday evening, was then read, it being an ordinance authorizing the Astoria and South Coast railway company to lay railway tracks and run cars over the same within the limits of McClure's Astoria, and was [illegible] the rules.

The following claims were ordered paid Astoria Gaslight Co., $104.40, and $11.55; Electric Light Co., $144; J. P. Dickinson, $462. On motion council adjourned.

A Loud Call For Revenue.

The Corvallis Times publishes the following:

CORVALLIS, Or., Aug. 23, 1888.

I have worked for the Republican party for thirty years and never received a cent. Now I stand in need of a little help. I want some two men to go my bond for two hundred and fifty dollars; or, to get that amount of money I will pay a ten dollar bonus for the use of the money, on the 20th day of November next. Now come up you wooley headed Republicans, for if you don't I will vote for Grover. Old Roman and the wooly horse. That money or bonds has got to come within twenty days from date of this article.

Yours respectfully,
LOO MCVAY.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the [illegible] proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with [illegible] Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Short Grain Crops in The Old World.

The Day's Doings in The Eastern States.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.

CALDWELL, O., Aug. 30.—A month ago a mysterious disease appeared here. It had some of the characteristics of typhoid fever and some of malaria. Whole families ware attacked. In the course of a fortnight nearly every family was affected. The death rate became alarming and many families have left town. Business is almost paralyzed. Funeral processions are almost constantly in the streets, the physicans are nearly worn out and medicine seems to do no good. The disease does not appear to be infectious except to residents here, for outsiders are not affected. It is believed that the disease germs are in the water. The town has no system of drainage. The number of deaths is now 25. The population is 1,800.

SHORT CROPS.

NEW YORK, Aug 30.—The Times has a long cable dispatch which estimates the old world needs from seventy to eighty million bushels of wheat more than the harvest of the year will produce. To put it in another way, the countries which always have to buy wheat, this year must buy three hundred million bushels, while the countries raising more than they can consume will have 295 million to sell. The storms of the past week have greatly damaged wheat in England and the great producing country of France, which was thought a week ago would import sixty-eight million bushels will now have, it is estimated to import, eighty million to ninety-five million. Algiers cannot supply much of this on account of grasshoppers. The best estimates put the surplus of the United States and Canada at 103 million, Russia ninety million, India thirty-five million; but all sorts of stories are coming from Russia, and latterly these are unfavorable. In London bread has gone up one penny per loaf.

The potato crop in England and Ireland is a partial failure, and great distress is believed to be certain.

The Times is summarizing the reports from all parts of the United Kingdom and says there will be enough wheat for home consumption, but not a great deal to spare.

A MINORITY REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. Representative Gallinger has completed the minority report upon the result of the investigation of the printing committee in the administration of the government printing office. The report is bitterly critical of public printer Benedict and a majority of the committee; it defends Round's administration as honorable and able, and declares that enough violations of law and evidence of incompetency have been shown by the testimony to warrant the immediate removal from office of Benedict.

HIGH LICENSE IN MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 30.—The Pioneer Press reviews the first year of high license in Minnesota, and finds the system has proved all its friends claimed for it. The state has only 1,597 saloons against 2,806 when the law went into effect. There is a decreased consumption of liquor in [illegible] have been closed and there is better police supervision. The cost of a license before this law was enacted averaged $300; the total income furnished $850,000. It is now $650 and the income is $1,100,000.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

DENVER, Aug. 30. A. G. Throckmorton, nephew of governor Throckmorton, of Texas, committed suicide this morning at a ten-cent lodging house, by an overdose of morphine. The act was induced by despondency and whisky. It is supposed that he [illegible] had in sickness.

CHICAGO FOOTPADS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30. This morning footpads waylaid Fred Schuneman, a well known young man of this city, and when he attempted to defend himself [illegible] killed him and escaped. The pockets of the murdered man were rifled and besides his money, a gold watch, diamond ring, stud and scarf pin were taken. Three men ran away after. There is no clue.

SHREVEPORT, Miss., Aug. 30 At [illegible] yesterday, Dr M. W. Arnold was shot and killed by W. J. McMoth, as the result of a quarrel. Both are well connected.

AT EAGLE ROCK.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. [illegible] been received from Eagle Rock, Va., to the effect that the president will not return until Saturday.

A BOSS POULTRY RANCH

How Sol. Hirsch Tells What He Saw Down at the Coast.

"If you want a first class item about a chicken ranch on a large scale," said a person just up from the seaside to a reporter yesterday, "just hunt up Mr. Sol. Hirsch. He is loaded to the muzzle with information on the subject."

Now, since we have been importing so many eggs from Iowa, and are about to import chickens by the car load from Illinois, the chicken and egg question is one of great interest to the people of Oregon, especially any information as to how hens can be kept in large numbers successfully. So the reporter hied away to Mr. Hirsch's office and requested him to tell all he knew about chicken ranches.

"The problem of running a chicken ranch on a large scale is solved," he said. "I have seen a successful one. While at the seaside a few days since I met an old friend, Mr. S. K. Stanley, who used to keep the Seaside house. He informed me that he was engaged in the business of raising eggs for the Astoria market. He told me such fish stories about his ranch, as I thought, that I determined to go and see it.

"His place is on Ohanna creek, about two and a half miles from the Seaside hotel, where he and his wife own and attend to 2,000 laying hens, which produce 1,600 dozen eggs per month on an average. It is a cold day when they do not gather from 600 to 800 eggs, and keep this up every day in the year. They warrant all the eggs they sell to be fresh, and have never had one sent back to them yet.

"Near the place is a creek and a lake where the tide rises and falls every day and along the shores of these the fowls find plenty of insects. The soil is sandy and the hens have plenty of room to roam around. They are fed a sack of wheat a day, and when necessary fresh meat is furnished.

There has never been any sickness among the fowls, such as is so common where large numbers of fowls are kept together. Many chickens are raised, but none are marketed except young roosters. Mr. Stanley keeps increasing the number of his hens, and expects to be able to successfully manage 4,000.

"Mrs. Stanley stated that she had found that keeping a large number of hens on a piece of ground was the [illegible] being entirely destroyed from the chicken yards."

Mr. Hirsch could not say what varieties of hens Mr. Stanley kept, but he knew that they imported some fine cocks and hens which cost large sums. He was very enthusiastic about this chicken ranch and said he would sooner have it than a dry goods store. "Why," said he, "an industrious couple can get a hundred acres of land and make $20,000 in ten years."

Here is a pointer for poultry raisers. If they cannot make a success inland let them fly to the shore where the chickens can roll in the sand and catch clams and oysters and [illegible] ozone, and keep their lungs [illegible] gestive apparatus in good order, [illegible] furnish a plentiful supply of eggs [illegible] year round, and redeem our state [illegible] to say nothing of chicken [illegible] some poultry raiser can g[illegible] formation in regard to the desirability of seaside property for chicken raising. Oregonian, 30.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

Anchovies are so plentiful at Trebizond that they are sold for 27 cents a hundred weight for food for paupers and for fertilizing purposes, and during the first part of the season each year so many are thrown away that the whole city is pervaded with the smell of their rottenness. Porpoises are also very plentiful, about 40,000 hundred weight a year being caught, according to the British consul, which yield about half that weight of oil.

A French journal published for the purpose of giving curious information has been investigating the story that during the Reign of Terror Mlle. de Sombreuil was made to drink a glass of human blood as the price of her life and asserts that this honored legend is untrue. All the foundation there could be for it, the paper says, is that she probably was asked to drink a glass of wine to the health of the republic and the hand of the man who gave it to her might have been dripping with blood,

A peer who had always ordered his coats through his valet stepped into his tailor's on Piccadilly to order one himself. When he gave the address the tailor, supposing him to be a new valet, slipped a little packet into his hand, with "Here's your commission, and it's your own fault if you don't earn more. Just you take this brush and give the old man's clothes a good wipe down with it every morning. He doesn't wear half as many coats as he should." It was a steel wire brush. The peer took the money and his custom with him.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Simpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

MUST ISSUE A PATENT.

The Noted Case of Carrie Jones Against the Government.

In the somewhat celebrated case of Carrie Jones against the United States, the first suit brought to compel the government to issue a patent to a quarter section of land, bought and paid for under the timber act, Judge Deady, yesterday, says the Oregonian, in the U. S. district court, overruled the demurrer to the amended petition and gave judgment for plaintiff.

THE ORDER.

On consideration, whereof, it is ordered that said demurrer be and the same is hereby overruled: Wherefore said plaintiff moves the court for a decree herein upon the pleadings, and said defendant declining to further plead, but electing to stand upon its demurrer to said amended petition. It is therefore adjudged and decreed that the plaintiff is the lawful purchaser of the lands described in the said amended petition as the southeast quarter of section 30 in township 7 north, of range 3 west of the Willamet meridian, in Columbia county, Oregon, by virtue of a certain sale, assignment and conveyance from one John R. Frierson to said plaintiff.

It is further adjudged and decreed that the defendant, the United States, do issue and deliver, or cause to be issued and delivered, in accordance with law a patent granting and conveying said lands to said John R. Frierson; and it is further adjudged and decreed that the title conveyed by said patent to said John R. Frierson, and all his rights and interests thereunder do enure to the benefit of the plaintiff by virtue of and pursuant to said sale, assignment and conveyance from said John R. Frierson to said plaintiff; and it is further adjudged and decreed that said plaintiff do have and recover off and from the defendant her costs and disbursements herein.

District attorney McArthur will appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States, where it will be heard on the briefs, and it is hoped a decision will be given in sixty days. The decision in this case will be watched for with great interest by a large number of people who have purchased and paid for timber land, but have not been able to secure their patents.

For cleansing and healing foul and indolent Ulcers, Sores and Abscesses and removing the bad odors arising therefrom, and for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, Darbys Prophylactic Fluid is unequalled.

"I have used Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in hospital and private practice for ten years and know of nothing better for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, foul and indolent ulcers and as a disinfectant."—J. F. HEUSTIS, Professor Mobile Med. College.

Cause of Numbers On Thread.

Everybody knows the sizes of thread. Every seamstress knows whether she wants No. 30, or 60 or 120, and knows when she hears the number about what is the size of the strand referred to; but how the numbers happen to be what they are, and just what they mean, not one person in a thousand knows. And yet it is a simple matter to explain, was the information accorded a reporter by an employe of one of the largest spool cotton manufactories in the United States. When 840 yards of yarn weigh 7,000 grains, a pound of cotton, the yarn is No. 1. If 1,680 yards weigh a pound, it will be No. 2 yarn. For No. 50 yarn it will take 50 multiplied by 840 yards to weigh a pound. This is the whole of yarn measurement. The early manufactured thread was three-cord, and the thread took its number from the number of the yarn from which it was made. No. 60 yarn made No. 60 thread, though in point of fact the actual caliber of No. 60 thread would equal No. 20 yarn, being three 60 strands.

When the sewing machine came into the market as the great consumer, unreasoning in its work and inexorable in its demands for mechanical accuracy, six-cord cotton had to be made as a smoother product. As thread numbers were already established they were not altered for the new article, and No. 60 six-cord and No. 60 three-cord are identical in size as well as in number. To effect this the six-cord has been made of yarn twice as firm as that demanded by the three-cord. The No. 60 six-cord would be six strands of No. 120 yarn. Three-cord spool cotton is made of a yarn that is double its number. As simple a thing as thread is, there are two thousand different kinds made.

A Choice of Candidates.

The list of presidential candidates is not yet complete. The national greenback party meet in convention on the 12th of September and propose to nominate candidates for president and vice-president. There will then be nine tickets in the field. Probably few of our readers can name off hand the heads of tickets now before the public. The list so far as completed is as follows:

Party.	For President.
Republican	Benj. Harrison, Ind.
Democrat	Grover Cleveland, N. Y.
Prohibition	Clinton B. Fisk, N. J.
United Labor	R. H. Crowder, Ill.
Union Labor	A. J. Streeter, Ill.
In. R'm	A. E. Redstone, Cal.
Equal Rights	B. A. Lockwood, D. C.
American	J. L. Curtis, N. Y.

Party.	For Vice-President
Republican	L. P. Morton, N. Y.
Democrat	A. G. Thurman, O.
Prohibition	J. A. Brooks, Mo.
United Labor	W. H. T. Wakefield, K.
Union Labor	C. F. Cunningham, Ark.
In. R'm	John Colvin, Kans
Equal Rights	A. H. Love, Pa.
American	—

All but two of these candidates present ideas that are expected by their advocates to become dominant in the future. The Republican and Democrats are of course the real contestants, and all the other parties can do this year is to help to elect or defeat one of the two. The mission of the greenback party is not fully understood. The industrial reform party, for which California furnishes the head, is organized in the interests of labor as are the two labor parties, though each work on different principles. When the time to vote comes the great mass of voters will be found for or against protection to American labor.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 1, 1888.

[illegible]

In a retrospect of eight years' editorial work on the Portland Pacific Christian Advocate, one of the most [illegible] of our many esteemed contemporaries, Rev. H. K. Hines, D. D., editor of that paper, indulges in some personal recollections, relative to his steady work. To be editor of a weekly paper for eight years involves considerable hard work. In an article over a column in length, he speaks of his unremitting cares, his efforts at success and the financial result. One paragraph is worth extracting. Our Methodist brother in the newspaper field, says:

> There is one view of the editorial work of the paper that we feel free to discuss. It is this. During the eight years that we have been its editor we have put into the paper original matter of our own enough to make twelve large volumes of five hundred pages each. This shows that the place is no sinecure. In fact it has required the most sustained and unremitting effort of any work we have ever done: so sustained that, while pastors and presiding elders and church members have found some time for "recreation;" for camping in the mountains or stopping by the sea or for journeys of pleasure, we have not seen it possible to take time for anything of that kind during the entire eight years of our service as editor of this paper. We are glad they have had privileges in these directions we could not enjoy.

There isn't much chance for holidays or fun for the editor of a weekly paper, and during the year he writes a good deal or a bad deal of original matter. It may be observed en passant, that if the just remarks of the editor of a weekly paper be multiplied by six, they will come near expressing the facts in the case of the editor of a daily paper.

It is but simple justice to the reverend gentleman who so ably conducts the Christian Advocate to say that he weekly displays judgment and business sense, in his paper, and to hope that he may for years continue in his pulpit to allure to brighter worlds and lead the way.

The reduction of the rate of interest is beginning to affect some of the insurance companies of the United States. To companies with enormous investments it makes all the difference in the world whether the average yield is five per cent., or four, which latter is rather more than can now be obtained with safety on secure investments speedily convertible. The companies recognize the changed state of affairs and see that their safety lies in the reduction of expenses, for to increase life insurance premiums at a time when the price of other things are falling would be simply to reduce the amount of insurance taken.

As illustrating the rapid movement of the recent flood in the mountain counties of West Virginia, it is related that Robert Muirhead, of Brantsburg got up from his breakfast table and looking out, saw a small stream creeping through a field above his home. In less than twenty minutes he had to take his family out on horseback, and his entire farm was submerged.

Oregon is fortunate in getting a high price for her staple products. The world wants her wheat, salmon and lumber at the highest figures. The fact that her wheat, salmon and lumber are unequaled in excellence of quality makes them always in demand, and in times of scarcity of unusual though deserved value.

Farmers within a radius of three miles of Perham, Minn., during fourteen days recently caught and killed six thousand bushels of grasshoppers, for which the county paid a bounty of $1 a bushel.

The Canadian Agreement Ratified.

The K. of L. Secretary's Resignation.

Newport, Aug. 31.—Admiral Porter's son authorizes the statement that the crisis in his father's case is passed. He is now out of danger.

"MR. CROWLEY" DEAD.

New York, Aug. 31—The famous educated chimpanzee, known as Mr. Crowley, in Central Park, died this morning.

HARRISON'S MOVEMENTS.

Middle Bass, Ohio, Aug. 31.—General Harrison will leave here Monday afternoon, remaining over night in Toledo, and going to Indianapolis Tuesday morning.

THE AGREEMENT RATIFIED.

Winnepeg, Aug. 31.—The government last night ratified an agreement with the Northern Pacific railroad company, by a vote of twenty-seven to ten, five supporters of the government being among the minority. The Northern Pacific people will push its work with all possible speed.

TO WELCOME HARRISON

Put-in-Bay, Aug. 31.—Great crowds are here from Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and other points to welcome Gen. Harrison on his return from Middle Bass this afternoon.

COMING TO TIME.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—It is believed that at to-morrow's cabinet meeting the privilege of purchasing supplies and trans-shipping cargoes in Canadian ports will be granted American fishing vessels of both countries in order to avoid threatened retaliation.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS

Cheboygan, Mich., Aug. 31.—There is no telegraphic communication with Presque, Isle county, where alleged cases of cholera appeared, and no further advices have been received. The only paper published in the county says the disease is undoubtedly contagious, but all means of its spreading will be prevented. Many persons have died and many are hovering between life and death. Late facts, however, lend encouragement.

A GAS EXPLOSION.

Scranton, Penn., Aug. 31.—A terrific explosion of gas occurred at the colliery of the Mount Pleasant Coal company this afternoon, wreaking ruin and destruction in the mine and causing the death and injury of a number of employes. It is impossible to learn any particulars. Exploring parties are hindered from entering until the danger from afterdamp is over.

CONFERENCE OF FRUIT MEN.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 31.—It is learned that a few days ago a secret conference of fruit men from all parts of the country was held at New Orleans, at which a tropical fruit trust was formed, with an aggregate capital of $19,000,000. The trust will purchase the entire offerings of tropical fruits. Steamers and consumers will be unable to get a single banana or plantain save through this trust.

THE WINE CROP.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Henry Cruse, partner in the Bordeaux wine house of Cruse & Filo, is in this city on his way to California. He was interviewed by W. Z. Main, and says the wine crop of France promises to be excellent, although it has been injured somewhat by the cold weather of August. Cruse is bound for California. "They do things so different there," said he, "the idea seems to be to turn your wine into money as fast as possible, while in France we want to keep it eight or ten years anyway."

AN EXPECTED STRIKE.

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—A general strike of flint glass workers is expected to-morrow when a new scale for engravers will go into effect. Engravers demand not less than 18 cents for engraving, and manufacturers say they cannot pay the advance, which is about 50 per cent on the cheapest grades of glassware. Suspension of work in nearly all the factories in the country is probable. About 2,000 men will be effected.

HAS RESIGNED.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31. General Sec'y Litchman of the Knights of Labor, has resigned, to take effect September 8. He says he resigned in order to be free to take part in the present campaign. His resignation was accepted by Powderly, who has appointed Jno. W. Hayes to fill the vacancy until the general assembly in November.

A TREASURER'S EMBEZZLEMENT.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—Timothy Sullivan has been arrested upon a warrant charging him with embezzlement. About two years ago Sullivan was treasurer of the 'Longshoremen's Protective Association, and admits having appropriated $750 of that society's money. No criminal prosecution was then instituted against him, as he repaid about $200 of the amount, and promised to liquidate the balance within a year. Sullivan failed to do this, and the association began a civil suit to recover the balance. A judgment for $564 was obtained, which it was sought to satisfy by levying upon his wagon and team. Sullivan immediately retaliated by suing the society for damages, claiming that the property seized was exempt from execution as he earned his livelihood by their means. He recovered a verdict of $964. The complaint is sworn to by August Pearson of the association. In default of $2,000 bail Sullivan was locked up.

The First Man Has No Chance.

In the early days Kline's ranch, in southwestern Colorado, was a famous stopping place for the stage coaches, and there was always a goodly and somewhat diversified assemblage of passengers around the fireside every evening. One evening a tourist, who had been devoting the summer to trout fishing in the Cimarron, was telling some pretty good sized fish stories to a long-haired frontiersman, who while listening was evidently studying how he might "see" the tourist and "raise him" on the size of his yarn. The tourist ended. The frontiersman shifted his quid of tobacco to the other cheek and said: "Well, mister, them was pretty good size trout ye caught, but, Lord! ye should ha' been with me up at the mouth of the Columby, in Oregon. Why, we used to catch salmon there every mornin' that would run all the way from 90 to 150 pounds." For a moment the tourist was silent; then, looking sadly at the triumphant frontiersman, he said: "My friend, I don't doubt your story in the least. On the contrary, I believe it fully and implicitly. I will only remark that my experience has taught me that in Colorado the man who tells the first story has a darned poor show."—Harper's Magazine.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted

NEW TO-DAY.

Notice to Members of the C. R. F. P. Union.

The English Flag and Mt. Hood Packing Co., of Coquille, having agreed to pay to the Coquille River Fishermen's Protective Union, the sum of 40 and 60 cents for salmon, have now repudiated their contract, and now only offer 25 and 40 cents. They are now trying to engage men to work for them on traps and seines, thus doing away with all gill nets.

No Union men should work for them!

By request of the Coquille River Fishermen's Protective Union.

A new theory is that shaving the beard, if long continued, tends to weaken the hair of the head, and cause it to fall out. The increasing number of bald heads has to be accounted for in some way or other.

From the materialistic, what-difference-does-it-make, point of view, it is probably of no consequence, but all the same the condition of the hillside cemetery is not very creditable to those who are yet walking around on the surface.

It cost the owners of the British bark Nith $3,996.50 damages in a suit brought by Thompson, DeHart & Co., of Portland, to find out that salt cannot be loaded on steel anvils in the hold of a vessel without injury to the anvils.

Judge Hastings is reported as expressing willingness, if a suitable site can be secured, of erecting an observatory with a telescope, equalling in power the celebrated Lick telescope; in fact it would lick that famous eyepiece.

Do you know an item? Bring or send it to THE ASTORIAN. The only usual reason a newspaper does not notice or make mention of arrivals, occurrences, etc., is that the local don't know it. Items are always welcome at this office.

Of the steam fleet now plying in Puget sound waters, with the exception of the Alaskan and Olympian, which were built at Philadelphia by John Roach, and brought around the Horn, there are eighty-one steamers built on Puget sound, fifteen in Oregon, seven in California, one in New York and one in Sitka, Alaska.

There was a haze of Indian summer in the air yesterday afternoon; the hills seemed withdrawn afar in Time's remotest blue; all scenes were softened and all sounds subdued; above Tongue Point hung a vail of smoke and toward the mouth of the river the sun sank in a golden yellow sky, deepening to blood red by 6 P. M.

The Walluski arrived down yesterday with about 30 tons of cable on her bow. The cable is coiled, each coil being separated by a piece of plank. There are four miles of it. It is an inch in diameter. Lieut. Swift, sergeant Griffin, H. A. Storrs and twelve men go on the Walluski at five this morning to Fort Stevens; the cable will be paid out to the Washington side of the river, to connect with the shore lines running to the cape.

A newly elected member of the Oregon legislature says that the longest word in the English language is "smiles," as there is a "mile" between the first and last letter. He says the longest word in the German language is "Constantinopolitanischeelfunfundeinhalbprocentizedadelsackmachergesellenherbergasctienever s icherrungsgesellschaft. Probably it is. The translation of this word will be published in to-morrow's issue. Now is the time to subscribe.

Talking of Joaquin Miller, it is a pretty well known fact that his daughter, Miss Myrtle, does not hold her gifted father in that admiration with which the world regards him. He left her among the Indians too long. It spoiled her temper and dwarfed her appreciation of genius. A few years ago Joaquin got out an edition de luxe of his poems, which he embellished with likenesses of himself in various picturesque costumes and attitudes—"Mr. Miller among the Sierras;" "Mr. Miller on Mount Shasta;" "Mr. Miller shaking hands with the Filibuster Chief;" "Back view of Mr. Miller on horseback," and so on. One plate he generously reserved for his daughter, Miss Myrtle Miller. She had the post of honor in the middle of the book, and was seated on a prancing mustang, her hair flying toward the top of the page and a lurid-light effect behind her. Joaquin sent a copy to Miss Miller with his distinguished autograph on the fly leaf. She glanced through the book, appreciated its contents, ran a pencil through her own name beneath the wild and [illegible] female and writing beneath it "Mr. Miller when he was a girl," sent it back to him.

A Woman's Despair.

"Death would be preferable to this awful, dragging-down sensation and aching back," despairingly complained a suffering mother. "And the worst of it is," she added, "there seems no cure for it." "You are mistaken," replied the sympathising neighbor to whom the sufferer complained. "I suffered for years just as you do, and found no relief till my physician finally prescribed Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me, and I have ever since been well, and the wealth of India would not induce me to be without the remedy, if a like affliction should return." "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

A FEW FIGURES REGARDING SALMON.

An Industry that Yearly Disburses Millions of Dollars.

The importance of the salmon industry to Astoria, Clatsop county, and the lower Columbia generally, is tersely illustrated by the following figures, being a republished estimate of the amount of money expended for one season:

COST OF MATERIAL.
Tin plate, 74,000 boxes at say $5.25 average	$ [illegible]
Salmon twine	[illegible]
Cotton "	[illegible]
Lines	[illegible]

Floats	4,000
Boats, wear and tear, paint, repairs, etc	38,000
Tan bark for nets	1,900
Pig tin for making solder	50,122
Lead " " "	10,450
Salt, Liverpool and coarse	[illegible]
Lacquer	[illegible]
Turpentine	6,460
Cordwood	19,760
Hard coal	1,862
Charcoal	1,200
Acid and zinc	4,000
Oils of various kinds	4,000
Improvements and necessary repairs	38,000
Copper and making up	2,000
Insurance	32,376
Hauling	12,540
Freight	5,000
Labels	32,400
Boxes	67,500
Taxes	11,400
Total	$1,020,320
COST OF LABOR.
Knitting nets, 228,000 fathoms at 22½c	$ 128,250
Catching salmon with cannery nets	400,000
Catching salmon with private nets	300,000
Salvage and hire of detectives	5,700
White labor outside of fishing	93,956
Other labor outside of fishing	142,000
Total	$1,069,906
PAID TO UNCLE SAM.

Duty on amount of salmon twine	20,520
Total	$ 108,432

Here we have an aggregate of annual disbursements to the amount of $2,198,658. Including every detail of the work it is a safe estimate to say that the lower Columbia salmon canneries expend annually $2,500,000, the greatest part of which goes into circulation in this immediate vicinity.

Chamber of Commerce.

A special meeting of the chamber of commerce was held last evening, pursuant to adjournment, president Bowlby in the chair, E. C. Holden, secretary.

The chairman stated that the meeting was convened to take such action as the members might deem necessary on a communication received from Col. Mendell, president of the board of U. S. engineers. The secretary then read the following:

UNITED STATES ENGINEER OFFICE,
PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 28, 1888.

J. Q. A. Bowlby, Esq., President Astoria Chamber of Commerce, Astoria, Oregon:

SIR:—The board of U. S. Engineers, considering the proposed improvement of the Columbia river at and between The Dalles and Celilo is desiring to obtain as much information as possible concerning the commerce to be benefited thereby and requests you to furnish such statistics in that direction as may be in your possession or readily procurable to be presented within sixty days

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
G. H. MENDELL,
Colonel, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.,
President of Board.

On motion the communication was ordered filed and referred to the following special committee: Capt. Gray, M. J. Kinney and W. W. Parker.

The chamber then adjourned.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

The Hungarian Band.

There was a fine performance and an appreciative audience at Ross opera house last night. The Hungarian Military band in picturesque uniform appeared in a rendition of some exquisite melody, every number being given with artistic skill and perfect rhythm. Seldom if ever has better music been heard in Astoria, there being no dummies or sticks in the company, each one being a capable performer.

Signor Carlo painted a beautiful landscape in twelve minutes amid great applause.

To-night the band will again give a performance with an entire change of programme. Those who want to hear fine music skillfully played can be assured of an enjoyable evening.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the [illegible] and I was in a hopeless [illegible] I was completely cured. My flesh was purified and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the [illegible] every vital force [illegible] those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the [illegible] ration of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. [illegible] taneous in affording relief in all [illegible] sneezing, snuffling and obstructed [illegible] and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease [illegible] lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER.

An Interesting Occasion

A cynical man says that there are two occasions when he would like to be present. One is when the gas company pays its water bill; and the other is when the water company pays its gas bill.—Texas Siftings.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. Electric Bitters has been put to the front, its merits passed upon, has been indorsed, and unanimously given the first place among remedies peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Diseases of Kidneys, Liver and Stomach. Electric Bitters, being guaranteed, is a safe investment. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."

VON MOLTKE.

How The Old Soldier Appeared to an American Newswaper Man.

But one of the most notable of the wonderful old men of Germany is Von Moltke. We could learn a lesson or two from the Germans concerning the value of men. In the United States a man is shelved at 70. When he has reached that age in the German empire it is assumed that his faculties have reached their fullest development, and that his wisdom will then be of the highest value to the state. At all events he is lifted to power and importance, and the reins of the government lie in his hands to the very last. Although Von Moltke is nearly 84 years of age, he is as active as though but 40. Very often in Berlin, I walked up to the war office after breakfast, just for the pleasure of seeing the old marshal go to work.

There was always a little crowd around the door waiting for a glance at the famous commander, and when he jumped out of his carriage and walked briskly into the big building that is known as the brain of the army, because all the planning of that great organization goes on there, he usually walked between two lines of people. He smiled with invariable good nature at the crowd and occasionally stopped to kiss the ruddy cheek of a child if the mother pushed it forward for the honor. Then he trotted into the office, and half an hour later could be seen hurrying along the corridor with his hands full of huge official looking papers, as hard at work as though he had not earned a rest by so many years of toil. Like the sturdy Bismarck, Blumenthal and the rest of those wonderful old men, Von Moltke rises at 7 in the morning, retires early at night, sleeps on a hard camp bedstead, eats little ard drinks less. This military regimen undoubtedly has much to do with the amazing vigor which they all show. To speak of a man of 80 as "old," in Berlin, is to cause a general sensation of surprise, pity and indignation.—Blakely Hall in N. Y. Sun.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life. — Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure. — H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family. — Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers. — Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class. — J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††

Something to Eat.

For the approaching encampment at Columbus, Ohio, the preparations for feeding the veterans are proceeding upon a scale so enormous that it is astounding to consider. For example one camp is being fitted out for 50,000 men and the firm having the contract for supplying the meals has made the following calculation of the quantity of food required for one meal: 16,572 pounds of bacon, 28,211 pounds of ham, 57,571 pounds of fresh beef, 16,572 pounds mutton, 18,572 pounds of bread, 18,572 pounds corn bread, 700 bushels potatoes, 100,000 roasting ears, 8,000 pounds beans, 293 bushels tomatoes, 350 bushels turnips, 10,000 heads cabbage, 350 bushels beets, 350 bushels onions, 3,000 pounds hominy, 3,000 pounds rice, 3,125 pounds cheese, 100,000 eggs, 12,500 pounds apple sauce, 3,000 pounds crackers, 100,000 assorted cakes, 20 barrels pickles, and 3,125 pounds butter.

In addition to the foregoing there must be provided the following necessary articles, besides the building or restaurant in which these men will dine: 11,380 feet table, 11,380 feet cloth, 50,000 tumblers, 50,000 dinner plates, 50,000 knives and forks, 2,500 water pitchers, 2,500 sugar bowls, 2,500 meat dishes, 12,598 other dishes, 4,299 tablespoons, 234 2½ gallon coffeepots—making a total weight of 40 tons; 5 25 horse power steam boilers, 500 feet steam cooking ranges, 500 feet steam tables, 100,000 teaspoons and 2,000 waiters, cooks, etc.

The food furnished by the contractors is to be of the best quality, and will be served in good style. All food supplies and provisions are to be inspected by an officer appointed by the general council. The bill of fare will be selected from day to day by the Grand Army of the Republic committee on camps.

SPEAKING of the Times and Mr. Parnell before a commission, the World says: There are endless accounts and surmises as to the amount of evidence the Times has; but it seems little doubt that it has got the check of £100 which Mr. Parnell gave Byrne to enable him to leave the country after the Phœnix Park murders.

IT is estimated that the life insurance policies now in force in the United States amount to the enormous sum of $2,000,000,000. Mr. Hostetter, of patent medicine fame, carries life policies amounting to $750,000. Wanamaker, the great Philadelphia merchant and philanthropist, carries $[illegible],000, and Chauncey Depew has policies for a like amount.

SOME time ago it was reported that the senate finance committee was making progress with its tariff bill, but nothing very definite appears to be known yet as to when a report may be looked for. It is understood that the committee has been delayed in reporting by the existence of certain differences of opinion among senators regarding the disposition to be made of certain articles, including lumber and wool and woolens, and its time has been more or less taken up in hearing the claims of manufacturers and producers for protection. In any event, of course, the bill will get no farther than its passage in the senate. There is no more likelihood that the house will concur in the senate's view of tariff policy than that the senate will concur in the views of the house.

FASHIONABLE cruelty can go no further than it did at a recent dinner given in New York, where a mound of flowers ornamented the table, and over the flowers hovered gorgeously colored butterflies, living, but dying in agony. Long pins were run through their bodies and they were fastened to the flowers to die slowly. It seems incredible that human beings could have sat enjoying a dinner with such a spectacle before them.

THE COLONEL'S REPLY.

The [illegible] that called forth the poem was the death of a southern poet, [illegible] Col. W. S. Hawkins, [illegible] that he was [illegible] at Nashville, Tenn., did not write to him. A letter from her arrived just after his death, in which the lady curtly broke the engagement. Col. Hawkins had been requested to open any letter which might come for him after his death. Upon reading the letter [illegible] the lady the following versified answer.

Your letter, lady, came too late,
For Heaven had claimed its own;
Ah! sudden change—from prison bars
Unto the great white throne.
And yet I think he would have stayed
To live for his disdain,
Could he have read the careless words
Which you have sent in vain.

So full of patience did he wait
Through many a weary hour
That o'er his simple soldier faith
Not even death had power;
And you—did others whisper low
Their homage in your ear,
Asthough amongst their shallow throng
His spirit had a peer.

I would that you were by me now,
To draw the sheet aside,
And see how pure that look he wore,
The moment when he died.
The sorrow that you gave to him
Had left its weary trace,
As 'twere the shadow of the cross
Upon his pallid face.

Her love," he said, "could change for him
The winter's cold to spring."
Ah! trust a fickle maiden's love,
Thou art a bitter thing;
For when these valleys, bright in May,
Once more with blossoms wave,
The northern violets shall blow

Your dole of scanty words had been
But one more pang to bear,
For him who kissed unto the last
Your tress of golden hair.
I did not put it where he said,
For, when the angels come,
I would not have them find the sign
Of falsehood in the tomb.

I have read your letter, and I know
The wiles that you had wrought
To win that noble heart of his,
And gained it—cruel thought!
What lavish wealth men sometimes give
For what is worthless all;
What manly bosoms beat for truth
In folly's false faith fall.

You shall not pity him, for now
His sorrow has an end;
Yet would that you could stand with me,
Beside my fallen friend.
And I forgive you for his sake,
As he—if it be given
May e'en be pleading grace for you
Before the court of Heaven.

To-night the cold winds whistle by,
As I my vigil keep,
Within the prison dead house, where
Few mourners come to weep.
A rude plank coffin holds his form,
Yet death exalts his face
And I would rather see him thus
Than clasped in your embrace.

To-night your home may shine with lights
And ring with merry songs,
And you, yet smiling, as your soul
Had done no deadly wrong;
Your hand so fair that none would think
It penned those words of pain;
Your skin so white—would to God your heart
Were half as free from stain.

I'd rather be my comrade dead,
Than you in life supreme;
For you the sinner's waking dread,
And his the martyr's dream.
Whom serve we in this life we serve
In that which is to come;
He chose his way, you yours. Let God
Pronounce the fitting doom.

A BIG WATERMELON BOOM

Girls With Freckles Buying the Fruit to Remove Beauty's Blemishes.

There is an enormous increase in the demand for watermelons. A new use has been found for the juicy product of the Jersey sands, and prices are ranging a shade higher in consequence. It is the seashore belle, the maid who spends her days on the mountain and the beauty whose complexion suffers from the sun's reflection from the water on a summer's yacting who have found in the watermelon its latest utility.

A Philadelphia commission merchant said yesterday that he had been asked to supply half a dozen young ladies with a watermelon each every day during the rest of the season, and his curiosity led him to ask what they were for. "I found out," said he, "that the women have discovered that the use of the juice of the watermelon on the face will remove freckles, and all of the girls who are coming home from the summer trips are using this simple remedy. If this thing continues" he added, "I should not be surprised to find that the melon market will be unable to supply the demand. There are probably 50,000 young ladies in and about the city who have been sunning somewhere, and have had their faces tanned and the freckles brought out. Fifty thousand melons a day, you see, would make a big difference in the market. We hope the cure will be found infallible."—Philadelphia Record.

NOTICE is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by the Auditor and Police Judge of the City of Astoria, in accordance with an order made by the Common Council of the City of Astoria, by Ordinance No. 1047, entitled an Ordinance ordering the Auditor to issue warrants for the collection of assessments remaining unpaid on West-9th street, between Water street and Berry street, approved July 25, 1888. Said warrant bearing date the 25th day of July, 1888, commanding me to levy upon lot No. 6 in block No. 115, in the City of Astoria as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively to collect an assessment of eighty-seven and 50-100 dollars, which assessment was made for the improvement of West-9th street between Water street and Berry street by Ordinance No. 1045, entitled an Ordinance declaring the probable cost of improving West-9th street from the south side of Water street to the south side of Berry street, approved June 29th, 1888, I have this day levied upon lot No. 6 in block No. 115, in Shively's Astoria, and on Friday, the 14th day of September, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day in front of the Court house door in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, will proceed to sell lot No. 6 in block No. 115, in Shively's Astoria, to the highest bidder therefor, to pay said assessment, costs and expenses of sale. Said sale to be for U. S. gold coin.

Astoria, August 14, 1888.

The State arrived down yesterday. The Oregon is due from San Francisco to-day.

Capt. Rehfeld's steamer, the O. K., is having a new house built thereon at Arndt & Ferchen's wharf.

Messrs. Pratt & Sullivan yesterday opened the "Manchester," on Concomly street, west of Benton.

The steamer Michigan will run opposition carrying freight and passengers between here and San Francisco.

Steamers are still bringing down perspiring mortals from the interior who are able to get away and come down where they can cool off.

The Dolphin arrived in yesterday with 350 cases salmon from Seaborg's cannery on Shoalwater bay. Fish are reported running very light.

A forty pound watermelon received with Mr. N. Clinton's compliments was demolished in this office at a late hour last night amid general applause and an encore.

The translation of that long German word in yesterday's issue, is "a stock company of bag-pipe manufacturers in Constantinople paying 5½ per cent. dividends."

Over seven years ago F. C. Reed sustained a slight injury to his eye by a small piece of steel flying into it. It occasioned but little annoyance and after a week or so ceased to trouble him till quite recently, when it has occasioned a severe and painful inflammation of the eye.

The Walluski assisted by the Tom Morris quickly and successfully laid the cable from Ft. Stevens to Scarborough head yesterday morning. There is about three-quarters of a mile to build from McGowan's wharf, and then the line will be ready for business. It is satisfactory in every respect.

Olof Boberg of Clatsop mills, Astoria, who is successfully engaged in collecting money to aid his countrymen in Sweden, who are suffering from the terrible fire in June last, yesterday sent a P. O order to the Rev. J. Nygnist of Socken, Umea, Sweden for the sum of thirty-five dollars.

J. E. McLaughlin, a Milwaukee timber man possessed of considerable means, has been here for a considerable time looking around for opportunities of investment. He left yesterday intending to return on the 20th. It is understood that if he can get a suitable location for a saw mill he will build one in this vicinity.

The Astoria Sangerbund is now regularly organized, and has rooms in the Odd Fellows building where the members meet to practice vocal music; the officers are John Hahn president, John Kopp treasurer, G. Markle, secretary. The society now numbers 42 members and is rapidly growing, the object is to cultivate a love of vocal music. Prof. Yost has been engaged for the season.

As a specimen of the long timbers sawed in this country, the Columbia Lumber and Manufacturing company this week, says the Oregonian, sawed out for the bridge now being built at Oregon City eight pieces 80 feet long, 14x14 inches at the large end and 12x12 at the small end; also eight pieces of the same sizes, only they were ninety feet long. This same mill sawed recently a log out of which they made 12,295 feet of good merchantable lumber.

The British ship Abercorn was wrecked off the Quinault coast on the 30th of last January. Three lives were saved from the wreck. The British government has sent through the Portland vice consul, $35 each, to Sampson Johns, Tony Johns, Johnnie Johns, and Jonas Johns, Indians and wards of the Quinault Indian agency; and the same amount to Chas. McIntyre and S. K. Grover, and $20 to Frank Axtell, three white men living near the scene of the wreck, in recognition of their humane services on that dreadful occasion.

The Polar Bear which left for Bristol Bay, Alaska, May 5th, arrived in yesterday afternoon. She left Bristol Bay, on her return on August 17th, towing the Annie Johnson out, that vessel having 33,000 cases of salmon aboard, 28,000 for the Alaska Commercial Co., and 5,000 for Astoria parties. The Polar Bear waited two days at Oonamak Pass for the Annie Johnson to get that far on her downward trip, and they there parted company, the Bear continuing on her way to this city. Walter Mudge, the engineer, and others aboard caught some codfish ten days out and dressed them. Cape Hancock was the first land they sighted from the time they left Bristol Bay, 2,500 miles away. A copy of yesterday's ASTORIAN was the first newspaper seen since leaving here four months ago. The season's pack in Bristol Bay is reported very good.

This Morning's Fire.

At 12:30 this morning the loud clang of the fire bell awoke the town; a bright light was seen in the rear of the Catholic church, and toward that spot the entire department made all possible speed, both engines being stationed and the hose extended as far as Mayor Page's residence.

The fire proved to be in a chicken house on the corner of Berry and west 8th street, 178 feet four inches south of the Catholic church. The chicken coop was completely destroyed, loss $11 75; no insurance.

FROM FAR AND NEAR.

Latest From Both Old and New Worlds.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The report that a trust had been organized by the tropical fruit men of New Orleans did not create much concern among the banana importers of this city. Geo. H. Richardson, selling agent of the Atlas steamers, which bring to this port an average of eight cargoes of bananas per month, stated that he was aware of the attempt on the part of certain English firms to organize a big trust for the control of tropical fruit trade, but he did not believe it could succeed because of fruit being perishable. If bananas crated could be stored like sugar, or goods of that character, the trust might cruse some alarm.

APPOINTED ADMIRAL.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Emperor William has been appointed admiral of the Swedish navy. The Rech Sanzieger publishes the following imperial decree: "Testamentary notes of the late Emperor William afford evidence of lofty greatness of soul and noble and devout mind, knowledge of which I am unwilling to keep from the nation, therefore on this day, so important to my house, I have decided to publish abstracts from these memorials to the departed, and an example to my house and people." The abstracts are dated April 10, 1857, December 31, 1866, December 31, 1872, and December 31, 1878.

CRISPI ADVISED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sep. 1.—It is stated that the government has received a formal assurance that Bismarck advised Crispi to use circumspection in the Masowah difficulty, in order to avoid a conflict with France.

SUAKIM.

Reports come from Khartoum that Elmahdi has sent three expeditions against white men in Bahr El Gazel province, and that all have been repulsed.

COTTON DAMAGED.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1.—Reports from Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, indicate damage of 25 per cent to cotton by storms and rains.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

CHEYENNE, Sept. 1.—Trouble is brewing on the Shoshone reservation in Fremont county. The government issues rations to 899 Arapahoes and 100 Shoshones at this agency. The Sioux visitors of the Arapahoes are at the bottom of the trouble. A special dispatch to the Cheyenne Leader says that two white men were found dead near Rattlesnake mountains on the reservation, and were doubtlessly murdered by Sioux, who donned their war-paint after being ordered off the Shoshone reservation. Half-breed hunters report the presence of a band of 150 hostile Indians within seventy miles of the reservation. They are fully armed, have plenty of ammunition, extra guns and no women and children along.

Five Sioux on the reservation have been arrested by the Indian agent. There is but one company of soldiers at Fort Washakie, and the rest of the garrison being in summer camp many miles distant. If the Sioux make war in that section they will eventually be defeated, as the Shoshones will fight with the whites to the bitter end, but in the meantime the marauders will mercilessly slaughter ranchmen in isolated localities.

At the town of Lander, near the agency, the citizens are calmy awaiting an outbreak. The Arapahoes will join the Sioux if an opportunity offers.

PUBLIC FUNDS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Senator Sherman yesterday referred to the course of the secretary of the treasury in making large deposits of public funds in national banks He said the system by which the government deposits over $1,100,000 with banks on their deposit of $1,000,000 in bonds enables the banks to deposit in the treasury greenbacks as security for their notes, and, withdrawing the bonds, get $1.10 on the dollar instead of ninety cents, which they got when the bonds were deposited for national bank circulation. He thought this was dangerous If a financial panic came the government would be obliged to withdraw its deposits from the banks, which in turn must withdraw their loans, with the result of great financial distress.

VALUABLE CARGO.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The steamer Nevarro, from Havana and Mazanaz, brings 29,000 bags of centrifugal sugar weighing 9,500,000 pounds. This is the most valuable cargo of sugar ever brought to the United States. It is worth nearly $600,000, and the duty on it is $200,000.

AN UNPLEASANT IMPRESSION.

EL PASO, Sept. 1.—A very unpleasant impression has been made in Mexican official circles by the failure of the Congressional conferees to agree on an appropriation of $100,000 to rectify and define the boundary between the two republics. Mexico has felt the necessity of this step for a long time past, and has the money to use at a moment's notice. The boundary commissioners were selected from the ablest officers in the army There are constantly questions arising connected with the location of mining claims, grazing herds, spring water and other matters which cannot be correctly adjusted because nobody knows where the boundary really is, and frequent unpleasantness is the result.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitters and rely upon this great remedy in all troubles of Liver, Stomach and kidneys. For all Malarial Fevers and diseases caused by Malarial Poisons, Electric Bitters cannot be too highly recommended. Also cures Headache and Constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. THE BAR AT ST. HELENS.

Interview With Capt. Jenks of the United States Engineer Corps.

An Oregonian reporter found Capt. Jenks of the government corps of engineers hard at work yesterday afternoon, with an assistant, upon plats of projects for the work on the St. Helens bar. The captain has just returned from the bar, where he has been engaged in measuring the water and providing data for making his plats.

He says the condition of the bar is much better than he anticipated, and that there is enough water there now to permit all vessels which are in the habit of frequenting this port to enter with safety.

"I found," he said, "the steamer State of California, which left Portland last Tuesday night, lodged on the upper end of the bar, at quite a distance from the best water. As soon as I saw her I asked for the captain, and told him he was not in the usual channel. He replied that if I knew of better water he would like to know where it was, and that he would like me to show his pilot also where it was.

"We got into my boat, and within a ship's length of the grounded steamer cast a line, which showed the water at that point to be twenty feet deep. The State was lying in sand bottom, and can be got away without any damage either to the vessel or her cargo. A steamer and lighter were both lying alongside of here, and were, I suppose engaged in lightering her."

"If the State had kept in the proper channel she would have gone through in safety, and I was able to convince the captain of the fact."

In making my survey I discovered a new channel, which has been formed by the action of the jetty. I established a new range at once, and it has been adopted by all the pilots. In consequence of my finding the new channel the following official information has been issued:

Notice is hereby given that the St. Helens bar range lights have been moved down the river about one quarter of a mile, to mark the channel across the bar, near the end of the jetty. The range is E. N. E. ¼ E. By order of the lighthouse board.

U. SEBREE.
Inspector Thirteenth L. H. Dist.

"I do not think the pilot can be properly blamed for the grounding of the State, as they really have not the time to look up the changes in the channels.

"When the Columbia came up the river Wednesday she passed the State. The former is a much larger ship than the latter, and draws more water, yet, being in the proper course, she found no difficulty whatever in passing the bar. In my examination the shoalest water I found was seventeen feet. To do all the sluicing necessary it will not require more than four days' time.

"The tide guage reads now about four feet above the lowest water, and when the river becomes very low, the current being naturally swifter, cuts out the channel so rapidly that a fair depth of water is maintained.

"The jetty is doing excellent service. About 4,000 feet of it is done and when the remaining 4,000 feet is built there will be no such thing as a bar at St Helens.

"At Martin's and Walker's islands I found good water. All the obstructions there are very light, being mere lumps which any ship or sea going vessel would knock right over. I am going down to Swan island and Postoffice bar to make examinations. At the former I expect to find less water than I have yet seen on the river. I understand there is considerable difficulty experienced there When these bars are sluiced out the river will be as clear as a whistle to its mouth. Operations will commence with the propeller Walla Walla as soon as the projects are completed and approved."—Oregonian, 1.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these [illegible] upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

THE AGED HOUSEWIFE'S PRAYER.

I pray that, risen from the dead,
  I may in glory stand,
A crown, perhaps, upon my head -
  But a needle in my hand.

I've had no time to learn to play-
  So let no harp be mine;
Through all my life, by night and day,
  Plain sewing's been my line.

Therefore, accustomed, to the end,
  To plying useful stitches;
I'll be content if asked to mend
  The little angel's breeches.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

A cow, in the mountains, was bitten about two months ago by a rattlesnake. Some time during this week she had a calf, which does not differ from other calves, with the exception that its tail is finished off with fourteen rattles and a button. At the slightest alarm, the animal endeavors to coil, its tail stands up as rigid as a pick-handle and rattles away like a whole den of snakes. Each of the rattles is as large as a hen's egg. – Weston Leader.

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well. — Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored. — C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health. — P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing. — Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health. — John Lazarus, St. John, N. B. ††

The Century's Rise of Wages.

Discussing wages in one of his lectures before the students of Harvard university, Professor Thompson gives many facts of curious interest. In 1793 the Schuylkill and Susquehanna Canal company advertised for workmen, offering $5 a month for the winter months, and $4 for summer with board and lodging. Next year there was a debate in the house of representatives which brought out the fact that soldiers got but $3 a month. A Vermont member discussing the proposal to raise it to $4, said that in his state men were hired for $18 a year, or $4 a month with board and clothing. Mr. Wadsworth, of Pennsylvania, said: "In the states north of Penusylvania the wages of the common laborer are not upon the whole superior to those of the common soldier." In 1797 a Rhode Island farmer hired a good farm hand at $3 a month, and $5 a month was paid to those who got employment for the eight busy months of the farmer's year. A strong boy could be hired at that time in Connecticut for $1 a month through these months, and he earned it by working from daybreak until eight or nine o'clock at night. He could buy a coarse cotton shirt with the earnings of three such months. The farmer could pay no better, for the price they got for produce was wretched. Butter sold at 8 cents a pound, and when it rose suddenly to 10 cents several farmers' wives and daughters went out of their minds with excitement. Women picked the wool off the bushes and briers where the sheep had left it, and spun and knit it into mittens to earn $1 a year by this toilsome business. They hired out as help for 25 cents a month and their board. By a day's hard work at the spinning wheel a woman and a girl together could earn 12 cents. As late as 1821 the best farm hands could be had for 25 cents a day, or twice as much in mowing time. Matthew Carey, in his letters on the charities of Philadelphia (1827), gives a painful picture of the working class at that time. Every avenue to employment was choked with applicants. Men left the cities to find work on the canals at from 60 to 75 cents a day and to encounter the malaria, which laid them low in numbers. The highest wages paid to women was 25 cents a day, and even the women who made clothes for the arsenal was paid by the government at no higher rates. When the ladies of the city begged for an improvement of this rate the secretary hesitated lest it should disarrange the relations of capital and labor throughout the city. Poor people died of cold and want every winter in the city, and the facts seem to have made an impression only on benevolently disposed persons like Mr. Carey.

Ladies will find relief from headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, indigestion, constant or periodical headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency by taking Simmons Liver Regulator. It is not unpleasant, is purely vegetable, and is not injurious to the most delicate constitution.

The Pope to Move.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 1.—Rev. Father Shuck, pastor of St. Mary's church at Millhausenn, Ind., who was in the city to-day, has just returned from Rome where he had audience with the pope.

He says in an interview: "I have positive information that the pope will not remain in Rome more than two years more, and I expect he will have to leave here in the next few months. He will go to Spain where he is invited, and is sure of a cordial reception. The headquarters of the Catholic church will then be located at Madrid. Even now preparations are being made for his departure, that is liable to take place at any moment."

For bilious fever and malarial disorders, use Ayer's Ague Cure. Its success is guaranteed if taken according to directions.

Ignatius Donnelly, who went to London to get his book on the Bacon-Shakespeare cipher theory copyrighted, claims to have converted John Bright and other famous Englishmen to his theory.

Back From the War at Last.

Miles Kennedy, who left here for the war as a confederate soldier June 11th, 1861, returned to Americus this morning, bringing with him a wife and eight children. Two were left in Virginia, where he married the girl who nursed him in 1866, and where he has lived ever since. He came through from Orange court house, Virginia, with his family in an ox cart. He was met by a brass band and a procession formed and marched from the edge of the city to the old court house square, where a tent had been erected. Col. Cutts made a speech of welcome and presented a roll of money from the people of Americus. A pair of twins, six years old, but as yet nameless, were named Jackson and Lee by Mrs. J. E. Hall. Kennedy probably is the last confederate soldier to return from the war, having been gone twenty-seven years.—Atlanta Constitution, August 1

THE seal fishers of the United States have more confidence in their case in the discussion with the British government now that Russia has become a party to the negotiations. The claim made by the Canadians that they have a right to catch seals in the waters of Behring sea is denied by Russia as well as the United States. It was from Russia that this country took its title to Alaska and the adjacent waters, and Russia feels that it must defend the title which it granted Moreover, it has still some islands of its own in these waters, and it insists upon a right of fishing for seals equivalent to our own convention.

MRS. SHERIDAN is partly of Cherokee blood. Her father, general Rucker, then lieutenant Rucker, while stationed at Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation, married a Miss Coody, whose mother was a daughter of a sister of the Cherokee chief, John Ross, who ruled over the nation for a period of forty years. The establishment of this Cherokee right by blood, which is required of all Cherokees who have severed their connection with the nation beyond a year, would entitle her to one eighteenth thousandth undivided share in 14,000,000 acres of land, and a like share in $3,000,000 of funds held in trust by the United States, of which an annual interest of $140,000 is paid to the Cherokees.

The Brennan-Ward Fight.

TACOMA, Sept. 2.—The fight to-day between Brennan and Ward was declared in favor of Ward on a foul in the ninth round. Several fouls were claimed by Ward's friends previously, but not allowed by the referee. In the ninth round, when the men were clinched, and upon the call of time, the order to break away was not obeyed. The referee went in to separate the men when Brennan is reported to have made a vicious blow at the referee, who immediately declared the fight in favor of Ward.

THE GRAVE OF SUTTER.

The Burying-Ground at Lititz—Discovery of Gold in California.

In a corner of the [illegible] Moravian burying ground at [illegible] Lancaster [illegible] All the [illegible] graves are exactly like each other. Little parallelograms of [illegible] about two feet by four and raised [illegible] above the [illegible] mark the resting places [illegible] Winding walks nor open bits of lawn to soften the look of prim precision and economy of space which pervades the place. The graves are ranged in straight lines with painful accuracy and they are so close together that the dead can touch fraternal elbows at the resurrection.

The graves are precisely the same size, whether of man or woman, elder or infant, and on each lies a flat square slab of marble, about the size of a family Bible. One stone is just like another, except in the inscriptions and the distinctions time and weather and the moss have made. On many the names and pious texts and dates running far back toward the beginning of the last century can still be traced. On many others the inscriptions are illegible and formless as the features of the dead beneath.

There is no difficulty, however, in identifying the solitary grave in the corner. The mound above it is twice as big as any of the others and a large marble also covers it entirely. The inscription tells that he who sleeps here was "Born February 28, 1803, at Kandern Baden. Died June 18, 1880, at Washington, D. C. Requiescat in Pacem."

There is a long story of an eventful life between those two dates. The name inscribed above them is the name of Gen. John Augustus Sutter, whose mill-race on the bank of the Sacramento was the source of all the mighty stream of gold that has flowed from California. Once in possession of land now worth $100,000,000 he lived the last sixteen years of his life dependent on an allowance from the state of California. He made millionaires and died a pensioner.

He was always a wanderer. Born in Baden in 1803, he graduated from the military college at Berne at the age of 20 and enlisted in the Swiss Guard of the French army, the successors of that famous band of mercenaries who were so faithfully butchered in the marble halls of Versailles thirty years before After seven years' service he changed his colors and entered the Swiss army, where he served four years. Then he put off his uniform and shortly came to this country. In 1838, with six companions, he went across the plains to Oregon and down Columbia river to Vancouver, whence he sailed to the Sandwich islands. There he got an interest in a trading vessel, with which he sailed to Sitka and the Seal islands up toward Behring's sea. Turning southward after some profitable trading he arrived in the bay of San Francisco July 2, 1839. The appearance of the country pleased him and he decided to remain.

He made a settlement some distance up the Sacramento river, built a gristmill, a tannery and a fort, founded a colony and called it, for the sake of having an Alpine murmur in his ears, New Helvetia. His restless energy was still unsatisfied. He took a commission as captain in the Mexican service, and afterward served as a magistrate under the same government. He took no active part in the war against this country, and after the annexation he was Alcalde, Indian commissioner and member of the California constitutional convention.

In 1848 came the discovery that enriched the world and impoverished him. Marshall, a laborer digging out a new race to Sutter's mill, picked a curious lump of something yellow, which Sutter at once recognized as gold. The mill race was never finished. The laborer turned his pick to a more ambitious purpose and set out to dig himself a fortune. The miller bought himself a shovel and went forth to take toll of the yellow sand. The stream that was to turn the mill wheel became suddenly worth more than any grist that it could grind. The sequel is well known. The rushing tide of Argonauts overwhelmed the little colony of New Helvetia and washed away Sutter's imperfect title to his land.

He made a brave fight and a long one. He laid claim to thirty three [illegible] leagues of land, including that on which the cities of Sacramento and Marysville now stand. After long delay the commissioner of public lands allowed the claim and after more delay the supreme court of the United States [illegible] decision. Then Gen. Sutter carried his claim before congress, to go through the tedious experience of most people who take claims there. He was still prosecuting it in 1871, when he happened to come to Lititz to drink the wholesome waters of its spring. The quiet of the place and the peaceful life of its people appealed to the restless old man, who was beginning to get tired of his long battle, and he made his home there "until I get my claim through," he said.

He was at Washington, still getting his claim through when death overtook him, in 1880. His Moravian neighbors made room for him in a corner of their burying ground, although, as he was not a member of their congregation, he could not be buried with the trombone. When a Moravian dies, at whatever hour of the day or night, a man mounts the tower of the quaint, squat church and blows a doleful signal on the trombone. The trombone player also marches at the head of the funeral procession, playing solemn music.—Lancaster (Pa.) Cor. Philadelphia Times.

MR. JONES' DOG.

There's lots of happy folks on earth
  And lots that ain't that way.
There's some that laughs throughout their work
  And some will cry at play.
But look the matter o'er with care
  As through the world you jog,
You'll find the happiest of them all
  Is Jones' yaller dog.

He doesn't have to toil or spin,
  He never wants to fuss;
He never minds the things that make
  Us folks get mad and cuss.
He's happy all the livelong day,
  Without a care to clog
The course of quiet sweet content—
  Is Jones' yaller dog.

I'd like to be an emperor
  And wear a golden crown.
I'd like to be a president
  Or mayor of the town.
But when I think of mis'ry's mire
  And disappointment's bog,
I must confess, I'd rather be
  Bill Jones' yaller dog.

The Alliance sails for Tillamook to-day.

Good judges estimate the Alaska salmon pack at 300,000 cases.

School begins in district No. one to day; in district No. 18 next Monday

California weather sharps predict a wet winter. It's likely to be showery up this way, too.

The British ship Falstaff took on 4500 cases salmon yesterday, and will finish with 2,000 more to-day

The Canadian Pacific Steamer Danube from China and Japan, via Victoria, arrived in last Sunday to load flour for the Orient.

The slack wiah man and the troupe of dogs attracted considerable attention yesterday afternoon. The juveniles seemed particularly interested in the dogs.

People on the Sound are interested in the stage of water on the upper Columbia. They expect to have wheat brought from that region to the Sound via Pasco

Dr. Robert Morris, who recently died at La Grange, Ky., was one of the two poet Laureates which Freemasonry has had in all its history Robert Burns was the first.

The Olive S. Southard gets £1 17s 6d for wheat to U. K., considered low the way the freight rates are booming. Fifty-two shillings, six pence is [illegible]—from Portland.

Co. "H," O. N. G., is in receipt of a small amount $278 -from the state militia clothing fund in lieu of uniforms, which the members provided at their own expense some months ago.

In the police court the total arrests during the month of August were 73; larceny, 2, assault to kill, 3, forgery, 1, lewdness, 2, violation city ordinances, 65; amount of fines paid, $ 44.50.

The Vidette says that if timber claims are taken as rapidly the coming six months as they have been the last few months, there will not be a desirable claim left in Chehalis county by that time.

There was a $25,000 fire at The Dalles last Sunday morning, two business blocks being consumed. The town narrowly escaped destruction and was only saved by the hardest kind of work.

Even the little collier Jeanie, has to put off a lot of her load of dusky diamonds in order to get to Portland. The night boats and river steamers generally are still able to go up and down in entire safety

At Tillamook a compromise on prices has been effected, the ruling rates being 25 and 40. Everyone is at work, and the run is reported fair. No change is reported in the situation at Gray's harbor.

On foggy or cloudy nights the electric lights of this city create strange illuminating effects for miles on every side, the shifting banks of cloud locating imaginary fires in various directions, and sometimes lighting the horizon as far as Knappa.

George & Barker are at work on plums at their fruit cannery. The plums are fine ones and the process of canning is so clean and deftly done that they will no doubt meet with ready sale. Messrs. George & Barker are developing a paying industry and one that will grow to good dimensions.

And now it happily appears that the report of Clement Orteig's death was without foundation. Mrs. J. G. Charters received a letter yesterday from Mrs. Orteig, saying that her husband was not dead, which news will be learned with pleasure. It is thought probable that he may recover.

The slack wire man gave a second performance at One's engine house corner last evening, and at its close, his manager, in removing the supports was struck on the head by one, a piece of iron pipe, weighing about fifty pounds. It struck him square on top of the head, inflicting a severe wound.

Chas. Root, who logged for sheriff Ross last spring, has struck it rich at Lake Chelan in the big bend country. He has a ledge that yields almost pure galena and some good chloride silver. He has sent four tons of it to W. C. Parsons, at San Francisco for refining, and will doubtless get good returns.

The telegraph line, which has not been working very well of late, is all right again, the disturbance having been partly occasioned by the building of a line of railroad from Portland to Vancouver on the route occupied by the telegraph poles. The line used between Portland and Astoria crosses the Columbia river twice, once at Vancouver and again to the Oregon shore at Kalama

The county court met yesterday and granted county assessor Sinnott till October 1st to complete the county tax roll for the current year, read Lewis and Clarke and Walluski road notices first and second times, transacted some probate business, granted a liquor license to Chas. Lundblad, and adjourned till this morning. All having claims are requested to present them. A warrant was issued for Jos. Sinnott for $100. Miss Lulu L. Hughes and Geo. Welch were granted state scholarships

A unique feature of the laying of the Columbia river cable between Fort Stevens and Scarborough head last Saturday, was the fact that while it was being paid out, Sergeant Griffin, at Fort Stevens, was in constant telegraphic communication with Lieut. Swift, who had a relay instrument on board the Walluski. So soon as the land line is completed to the Cape, messages can be sent instantly to Fort Stevens, and then telegraphed or telephoned to the signal service office in this city.

Two boys, one the son of Capt. J. H. D Gray, the other the son of Mrs. Hall, met with an accident yesterday afternoon that fortunately resulted in nothing more serious than torn clothes and numerous slight cuts and scratches. They were on the top of a load of wood which was being hauled on the hillside. The wood tipped over and so did the boys, they being underneath. Luckily they were not crushed, and a little later they were able to show up at the doctor's office and get their wounds dressed.

PERSONAL MENTION.

E. D. McKee is in the city.

Capt. Al. Harris starts east this morning on a six week's visit to New York.

Geo. Taylor, of the firm of Taylor, Young & Co, came down yesterday morning.

Major. T. J. Blakeney gave the Cape Hancock life crew a thorough drill inspection yesterday. He goes to Shoalwater bay to-day

Miss Daisy Goodell is busily engaged on a crayon portrait of the venerable Allan G. Thurman, Democratic candidate for vice-president.

Mr. H. W. Scott, editor of the Oregonian, came down from Portland last Sunday evening. Mr. Scott is accompanied by his wife and infant daughter, the latter being ill. Mrs. Scott wll probabty remain here several weeks.

CANINE PARADOX.

Prof. C. Norris and his wonderful troupe of performing dogs, will give an entertainment at Ross' opera house to-night. He comes very highly recommended and has, no doubt, the finest exhibition of the kind ever witnessed on the American stage. The Portland Oregonian says: "Two performances, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, were given yesterday by Prof. Norris with his troupe of trained dogs at the New Park theater. At the matinee there was a crowded house, composed principally of women and children. In the evening they were greeted by another large house. It was the unanimous verdict that this was one of the best exhibitions of canine intelligence ever witnessed in this city. The performances certainly substantiated every claim made for these dogs. Such acting, tumbling and almost human understanding as is displayed by these dogs is something not to be witnessed often, and the professor who has had the patience and perseverance to undertake such a training deserves great credit. Fritz, the king of dogs, is deserving of special mention. The three clown dogs kept the audience in a roar of laughter. All the rest of the dogs acted their parts equally well. The entire entertainment gave thorough satisfaction, as the large and appreciative audience testified."

Prices of admission fifty and seventy-five cents. Children twenty-five cents. Reserved seats, $1. To be had at the New York Novelty Store.

Jury List.

Sheriff Ross and county clerk Trenchard yesterday drew the list of petit jurers for the term of the circuit court beginning on the 17th instant:

Wm. Edgar, Wm. Bock, I. Cohen, E. D. Brock, J. W. Bottom, R. L. Boyle, (non-resident), P. Gorman, J. O. Bozorth, (non-resident), Fred Sherman, S. T. McKean, J. W. Gearhart, J. G. Ross, B. Gallagher, Thos. Grange, Astoria; J F. Bender, Jas. Brown, John Ellison, C. W. Lough ery, Knappa; M. Devereux, A. B. McMillan, John Casey, Young's river; Thos. Cahill, G. W. LABOR DAY IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Labor day today is being appropriately observed here and elsewhere throughout the state. Business is partially suspended, exchanges and banks are all closed. The great feature of the day is the labor parade. There are games of all kinds and festivals in many parks.

IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Labor parades and picnics are in progress here; one by the Knights of Labor and one by the trades unions; both were followed by picnics. The former laid the corner stone of the bricklayers' temple.

ADJUSTING THE DIFFICULTY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The transcontinental railroads having removed the cause of complaint by Lincoln, Nebraska, of discrimination in favor of Omaha by charging rate sheets on freight from the Pacific coast so as to make both points equal, the interstate commerce commission has given Lincoln merchants leave to withdraw the complaints made by them last spring and subsequently investigated by the commission.

RENO ARRESTED.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 3.—Major Marcus A. Reno, a famous Indian fighter, was arrested last night on a charge of non maintenance, preferred by his wife.

THE OLD STORY.

QUEBEC, Sept. 3.—Receiving teller Audy, of the Bank National, has absconded. His accounts are $12,000 short.

CURTAILING THE WORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Congressman Ford, chairman of the house committee which has been investigating immigration, says the developments in regard to rejection of the treaty by China may make it unnecessary for the committee to go to San Francisco as originally intended.

NO OFFICIAL KNOWLEDGE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The state department is still officially ignorant of the refusal of the Chinese government to ratify the treaty.

MERELY INCIDENTAL.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Illness of Cardinal Manning is merely incidental to advanced age.

Fire Department Elections.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous

But Perhaps She Won't.

The fact is that the Oregon ran aground on St. Helens bar, and after some little trouble was backed off into deep water. It was foggy and dark, and the captain of the Oregon did not like to take chances of running aground again, and so he remained where he was and sent up the passengers on the T. J. Potter, which arrived up at an early hour this morning. The Oregon will come up the river this forenoon.—News, 3.

FROM THE CANNERIES.

The fisherman's union are perfecting arrangements to barrel their catch, and have salt ordered from below. So large a number of our home people depend on the fishing season for the means wherewith to [illegible] winter supplies and square their respective store accounts that it is to be hoped there will be close and careful management of their affairs, and that the price of barreled salmon will remain firm and remunerative. Bandon Recorder.

J. B. Upton is busily engaged in refitting and repairing his fishery on the Little Nestucca river, and will commence to fish as soon as the salmon run.

The Bandon Recorder publishes the fishermen's union reply to an article in a previous issue. The union maintains that the price asked for fish is not too high; it doubts the statement in regard to the canneries on the river losing the amounts stated; it answers Johnny Hume by returning the compliment and will ignore him in future, but will treat with the English Flag Packing Co., and stands firm for the price demanded.—Coos Bay News.

Hume's trap on the Coquille has already commenced to take in salmon. —News.

The limited number of boats fishing on the bay continue to make fair catches.—News.

There seems to be trouble brewing among the fishermen on the Coquille. It is reported that Mr. J. W. Hume telegraphed on Monday night to the sheriff, stating that his men had been assaulted and his property stolen, and asking for deputies to be sent over at once for his protection.—Coast Mail, Aug. 30.

The differences between the canneries and the fishermen on the Coquille are not yet adjusted. Some of the cannery men drove piles and arranged a fish trap which worked well one day, but the fishermen drove piles just below it and started a trap on their own hook.—Coast Mail, 30.

Fishermen have been catching from two to four hundred salmon per day during the week. The fall run has not yet set in, and those caught are genuine spring salmon. They average about double the size of the Klamath river salmon.—Curry Co. Gazette.

Bids On Lighthouse Work.

Proposals for furnishing the material and labor necessary for the erection of a lighthouse at Cape Meares were opened on the 30th ult., at the office of Major F. H. Handbury, U. S. engineer, and engineer of the thirteenth lighthouse district.

Bids received for street improvements in this city frequently exhibit a difference of ideas on the part of contractors as to the cost of the work which is quite startling, but seldom show such wide variance as the bids for this lighthouse, which were as follows:

For metal work of lighthouse tower: Phœnix Iron Company, Trenton, N. J., $9,750; W. E. Wilson & Co., Seattle, W. T., $24,500; Colwell Iron Works, New York, $8,500; John Vernon, Mount Vernon, Ohio, $9,822; Calvin Nutting & Son, San Francisco, Cal., $9,300, Willamette Iron Works, $7,800

Erection of Tower: M. & J. S. Carkeek, $9,450; Wilson & Nixon, $16,000; R. Leaman, $12,200; Chas. B Durhkoop, $2,900.

Keepers' dwellings, etc.: M. & J. S. Carkeek, $27,500; Wilson & Nixon, $40,725; Holt & McCurtrie, of Astoria, $27,445; R. Leaman, Portland, $26,000; C. B. Durhkoop, $33,500 Oregonian, 3.

Withdrawal of Steamers.

The Times has it on good authority that before the end of September the steamers [illegible] will be withdrawn from the present route and placed on the Columbia river Their bottoms are said to be very dirty and the object in taking them to the fresh water is to clean them They will be replaced temporarily by the T. J. Potter and North Pacific. Next year either the large boats will return or new and fast steamers take their place. It is understood that although very expensive boats to run the Alaskan and Olympian have paid since they were put on.—Victoria Times.

Reducing the Surplus.

The [illegible] of the Surplus in the [illegible] ge the attention of [illegible] Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions [illegible] de Pain. Taken thus early [illegible] is guaranteed. [illegible] bottles free at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT cures all ailments of HORSES, MULES and CATTLE. Rub in 1

A Goose Story From The South.

The Atlanta Journal tells the following story: "When I was in Alabama, between Porter's gap and Millerville," said a gentleman living in Atlanta, "I came to a country place where a man was driving ten or twelve geese from a branch to a cotton patch. 'For heaven's sake,' said I, 'what is it you have on the necks of those geese?' 'Those are gourds full of water. I drive these geese into that cotton patch and keep them there all day weeding out the cotton. There is no water in the cotton patch, and I have to give them water in this way to keep them there.' But how do they get the water out of those gourds under their necks?" 'They drink out of each other's gourds. Each gourd has an opening in the side so that another goose can put his bill into the gourd and drink. If you stay here long enough you will see it yourself.' I waited there half a day to see that performance, and I finally saw it. The geese did just as the man said they would. When a goose got thirsty he walked up to his neighbor and coolly drank out of the gourd on his neck."

Over 600 shoemakers are reported to be out of work in New York. General depression is the cause assigned.

[illegible]-Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well. — Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored. — C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health. — P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing. — Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health. — John Lazarus, St. John, N. B. ††

A LIVELY SCENE.

Attempt to Assassinate a California Judge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—While Justice Field, of the United States supreme court, was rendering a decision adverse to Sarah Althea in the celebrated Sharon case in the circuit court this morning, the latter drew a pistol and fired at the justice, but without effect. She is now under arrest.

Sarah Althea's husband, Judge Terry, drew a knife and attempted to stab one of the marshals. He was, after a stubborn resistance, deprived of the weapon, and fought like a maniac. It took the combined efforts of all the marshals to handcuff him. His wife, still struggling and raving, got one hand free, and before any one could stop her aimed her pistol and fired. No one was hurt, but one of the deputies had a narrow escape. Before she could aim again the weapon was wrenched from her and she was handcuffed.

The celebrated Sharon case came up in the circuit court this morning in its most sensational form. The decision which was rendered by Justice Field, of the United States supreme bench, was a revival of the old decision which prevented Sarah Althea (now Mrs. Terry) from claiming to be the wife of Wm. Sharon, and declared fraudulent the marriage contract and ordered it canceled.

When it was apparent that Justice Field's decision was going against Sarah Althea, the latter arose from her seat and exclaimed, "Judge Field, how much have you been paid for that decision? You have been bought, and you know it."

The judge ordered her removed from the court room, when she drew a pistol, and would have fired at the justice but for the timely interference of several deputy marshals, who dragged her out fighting like a tigress.

Deputy marshal Dean, who took the knife away from Terry, had a narrow escape with his life. He nor anyone else was expecting such an attack, and before they were aware Terry had drawn a dirk about eight inches long and made a vicious thrust at the deputy. Had his foot not slipped, or rather had he not been opportunely tripped up by marshal Franks, deputy Dean would now be resting on one of the slabs at the morgue or a bed in the receiving hospital.

The pistol used by Sarah was a British bulldog, six chambers, loaded in every chamber and evidently brought with the intention of using it if justice Field's decision was adverse.

As she faced the judge, when she made her first speech, there was murder in her eye, but in all her appearances in the various courts, she never looked to so great an advantage from a picturesque standpoint as when she stood up and defied the judge. Her eyes flashed fire, wrinkles disappeared, and her face flushed blood red, the veins stood out on her forehead like whip cord, and as she hurled the words, "How much were you paid for that decision?" she looked like an Amazon defying her enemies. As soon, however, as the hand of the marshal was placed upon her, she collapsed. She lost all her dignity, and at once became a mere virago.

Judge Terry, as his wife first addressed the bench, did not move, but as justice Field issued the order, "Marshal, arrest that woman," he arose and barred the way. His usually florid face was pallid, his eyes sank into his head and he wore the appearance of a man just awakening from a crushing blow. As the lust of battle, however, came over him, the blood leaped back to his face and the look of hate and passion that settled there made him look like a fiend incarnate. He was a desperate man, and nothing but his speedy disarmment saved bloodshed.

This afternoon justice Field adjudged Sarah Althea and judge Terry guilty of contempt of court, and sentenced the former to six months and the latter to thirty days imprisonment in the county jail.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla will cure your catarrh, and remove that sickening odor of the breath.

An Overtasked Congressman.

Those who consider that a congressman's life is all play should listen to the lament of Hon. Frank Lawler. When asked what he had been doing during the day, the congressman replied: "I got up at five o'clock and answered forty letters before leaving my room. I spent two hours chasing about the departments trying to find places for three of my constituents. Then I rushed to the capitol to attend a committee meeting and when that was finished I called at the dentist's and had two teeth filled. I was nearly dead when I dropped into the chair and when the man of forceps and mallets got through with me I was too exhausted to stand. I returned to my desk to find twenty-five letters had arrived in my absence, and before the day closes I will get twenty-five more. All these must be answered before I go to bed, and I'm so sleepy now that my eyes close in spite of me. To add to my troubles a persistent old woman who wants a place in the treasury is waiting for me in the corridor nearest my seat, and I'm afraid to go back in the house."

Ladies will find relief from headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, indigestion, constant or periodical headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency by taking Simmons Liver Regulator. It is not unpleasant, is purely vegetable, and is not injurious to the most delicate constitution.

Gustave Gunderson, steward of the steamer Thingvalla, survived six ocean disasters prior to the recent one between his vessel and the Geiser. Beginning in 1866 he was shipwrecked on the coast of Norway. The next vessel on which he served foundered off cape St. Vincent in 1868; the third was wrecked off Australia in 1872; the fourth was dismasted off the cape of Good Hope in 1873; the fifth was lost in a great gale on a voyage from New Zealand to Australia in 1874, and the sixth was run down and sank off port Adelaide in 1878

The Biting Tongue.

Slander attacks is from behind. The bite is rarely felt unless unless it is magnified and persistent. Disease, too, often steals upon us through a vital channel. The air we breathe affects the lungs; if it be malarious it enters the blood, if it [illegible] too quickly in the temperature, it produces disease of the throat, etc. Whether Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is taken to prevent or to remedy the various forms of disease produced by miasma, such as intermittent fever [illegible] or bilious remittent, it is [illegible] has proved to be an effective and thorough remedy, one which does not only ameliorate the symptoms of the maladies of this type, but eradicates their [illegible]. Dyspepsia, liver complaint, [illegible] bladder and kidney troubles [illegible] troubles [illegible] and ultimately removes.

In the Madrid prison prisoners are allowed out at night occasionally. One, Varela, joined his accomplices outside, engaged in the murder of his mother, divided her money with his pals, and then returned to his cell.

For bilious fever and malarial disorders, use Ayer's Ague Cure. Its success is guaranteed if taken according to directions.

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 5, 1888.

A BIDDEFORD, Me., family had beef-steak for supper the other night, and while sawing away on a piece that seemed tougher than usual one of the family found an army and navy cent firmly imbedded in the meat. It is supposed that the cent was shot into the ox, and that the wound had afterward healed.

THE total area under cultivation in corn, wheat, rye and oats in the United States this year is about 140,000,000 acres, or nearly 219,000 square miles. This is less than half the 322,000,000 acres of public lands which have not yet been surveyed, much of which is well adapted to the cultivation of the cereals. The crop possibilities of this country are far from having reached their maximum.

AN OLD SHIP SOLD.

The Highlander Disposed of at a Good Price.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The ship Highlander that for three years lay in San Francisco harbor waiting orders and for nearly two years has been lying idle near Wall street ferry has been sold. The ancient ship was owned by the Stone family of Salem, Mass., great merchants in their day. But one by one their ships became unseaworthy or were lost. While the Highlander has been for sale the old seaman, who regarded her as an heirloom of the family, set the price of $30,000 on her. This figure was laughed at, for until two months ago ships equally good were going begging at half that price but the recent rise in oil freights generally enhanced the value of appropriate shipping at this port. Many offers were made for the vessel through the ship agents, and to-day news comes of her sale at Stone's price, $30,000. The Highlander is twenty years old, but well preserved and a good carrier. Several thousand dollars' worth of repairs will have to be put on her before the insurance people will take risks, and the wharfage bill will amount to over $5000.

The Highlander has been on many trips for the Stone brothers, carrying their own cargo. They would send her from here to China laden with dried apples and clothespins and Yankee notions, which were peddled out from port to port in the Celestial empire. This disposed of, the captain would proceed to Manila, in the Philippine islands, where he would remain a week or so perhaps awaiting orders from Salem. The news would finally come, together with all the necessary cash. At some favorable stage of the market the captain would go ashore and buy a cargo of the best Manila hemp, about 8000 bales, at bottom rate for cash, and clap on his sails for New York.

As soon as the Highlander would arrive the Stones stored the cargo, set their own price and would not sell until the market reach that figure, sometimes having to wait as long as four years. These large blocks of hemp were usually a thorn in the sides of the regular hemp men, and matters generally ended by their combination buying the lots at Stone's price. The last cargo, bought in 1886, remained in store until last June, when the hemp trust was forced to purchase it. The result was a profit to Stone of $75,000.

Great Railroad Activity.

REDDING, Sept. 3.—There is great railroad activity in southern Oregon at present. The Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line have several surveying parties working south of Lakeview. Last Wednesday a large party of Union Pacific engineers and surveyors passed through to the mouth of Pitt river, up which stream they are now at work pushing north.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

FRESH FASHION FANCIES.

Corded silks will be in high favor this autumn.

Dark rich failles in wallflower shades are imported.

There is less and less bustle in the world of fashion.

Directoire gowns and bonnets are becoming to tall, stately women.

A novelty in underwear is the skirt of striped lawn woven to imitate drawn-work.

The bow at the top of the parasol cannot be too flamboyant for fashion, and the richer and costlier the ribbon composing it, the better the style.

The old fashioned corded and cross-barred organdy muslin is again in high favor, as well as lace striped batiste, and chambray and Scotch ginghams as well.

Dark green rough straw hats faced with a shirring of dark green net and trimmed with drooping pink gladioli and grasses are pretty for wear during the autumn.

A very new and French fancy for waist trimming is a corselet of wide ribbons, not fitted, but held in place by pins, and ending in a knot and long end to fall over the skirt.

Waists run to extremes, either under the armpits, or as long as the moral law. But the same bodice may be made to answer for both styles by means of the wide, softly folded, empire sash.

In skirts elegant simplicity is now the effect most sought, though many with elaborate drapery and all manner of folds and frillings are still seen on those whose hearts are still deceived by ornament.

Short petticoats coming just below the knee are worn by many ladies in place of the chemise, and are trimmed with tucks and lace, or [illegible] embroidered ruffle.

Among flower bonnets lately seen, one especially notable was of realistic red clover, and another of thistle and 4-o'clocks upon a foundation of twisted grasses.

Mention must be made of the handsome new mohairs and French poplins that are scarcely to be distinguished from the soft-ribbed bengalines and other colored silks.

India pongee grows more and more the rage, and is used indifferently for gowns, hats, wraps or blouses, which are usually trimmed with a sharply contrasting darker hue.

Many of the latest toilets for bridesmaids are quaint and old-fashioned in effect, and many toilets of this discription made by London modistes are modeled after dresses popular in the sixteenth century.

Palest rose pink, several delicate shades of green, rosy lilac, and yellow are the tints in high vogue for summer toilets at the various fashionable resorts. Some of these have short skirts and others demi-trains.

Habitues of the theater will mourn the intelligence that the Alpine and Spanish hats with high-peaked crowns and standing brims threaten to be popular this winter.

French walking skirts are two and one-half yards round the bottom with fitted front and side gores and yoke at the back breadth is gathered, and have either a hem with trimming put full below it or lace trimmed flounce set upon the skirt.

There is still a rage for plaids, and their reign is likely to prove a longer one than was at first prophesied extending at least through the fall and winter seasons. Plaided surahs combined with cashmere or Henrietta cloth are made up in many stylish ways, long effects being particularly popular.

There are any number of fancy straw bonnets for the coming autumn, made in colors, mixed or not, to tone with the new tweeds and bright cheviots which are made into tailor walking and traveling costumes. The shape of these bonnets is rather small.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitters and rely upon it as great remedy in all troubles of Liver, Stomach and kidneys. For all Malarial Fevers and diseases caused by Malarial Poisons, Electric Bitters cannot be too highly recommended. Also cures Headache and Constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. Price 50 cts. and $1 at John C. Dement's Drug Store.

OUR GLORIOUS CLIMATE.

Delightful August Weather in Astoria.

Every month THE ASTORIAN publishes a meteorological summary of the weather of the preceding thirty days kindly furnished by Sergeant Griffin in charge of the signal service station at this point, and the genial pleasantness of our climate is so [illegible] matter of course to us who have the good fortune to live here and enjoy it, that sometimes unnoticed are the blessings that we in this regard, enjoy.

For instance, in the official report we find that during the month of August, 1888, when heat, misery and positive discomfort were the unhappy lot of inland dwellers, when 108 and even 110 degrees was the marking of the thermometer in eastern Oregon and Washington, the highest temperature recorded in Astoria was SEVENTY FOUR degrees. This simple fact speaks volumes for the delightful climate of western Oregon and the mouth of the Columbia river. No summer resort on the Atlantic coast, few places on even the favored Pacific coast, has so fine a record for equable temperature as Astoria, and to the weary thousands weakened by heat and summer discomforts this city is a sanitary refuge.

Nor is this all: next winter, when the Astorian reads of heavy snowfall and the blizzards that sweep with Arctic chill through the country to the east, he can only pity the sad dwellers in a land where the thermemeter goes down below zero, and picking from the flowers in his front yard a fresh bouquet for his buttonhole, thank his stars that his lines are cast in pleasant places and that neither the torrid heats of summer nor the frigid winds of winter can mar the serenity of his joy.

As for the people east of the Rockies, it is incredible to them that we on this north Pacific slope enjoy such equable and happy temperature.

If you who read this, know of a friend in the land of sun-strokes, mad dogs, malaria and misery, send him or her the following official summary of August weather in Astoria in the year of our Lord, 1888.

Mean temperature for month, 63.2 degrees; highest temperature, 74 degrees on the 7th; lowest, 54 degrees on the 5th, 13th, 16th, 25th and 23th, monthly daily range of temperature, 20 degrees; greatest daily range, 17 degrees; least daily range, 8 degrees; mean daily range, 12 degrees; prevailing direction of wind, west; highest velocity, 22 miles per hour; total rainfall for month, .74 of one inch, in August, 1884, the rainfall was 1.83 inches; '85, .02 inches; '86, .56; '87, .49; '88, .74; number of foggy days, none; number of clear days, 14; fair, 6; cloudy, 11; lightning, none; thunder-storms, none.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Gustav Hansen returned from Portland yesterday morning.

Capt. Geo. Flavel has so far recovered as to be again able to be on the street.

Prof. W. E. Johnson and wife go to Portland to-night, where they will make their future residence.

The "Telephone" and "Potter."

There was no race between the Potter and Telephone yesterday, but there was a mighty lively "gittin' thar," and the progress of the two boats was watched with interest from the time the steamers came flying across the bay.

Both boats left Portland on their usual time, the Telephone making twenty-three landings. The Potter came along while the Telephone was lying at Brookfield, and when she pulled out, her side wheel rival was coughing down the river well in advance. Neither boat was in trim for any great spurt of speed, the Telephone being especially handicapped by a large quantity of freight and about 30 tons of water in her tank, the Potter's tank being reported comparatively lighter. The two boats presented a pretty sight as they rounded Tongue Point, streaking through the lapping water, and volumes of white steam issuing in curling masses from their smoke stacks. At 1:17 the Potter blew her whistle; 93 seconds after the Telephone blew here a little above the same spot, and both glided into their landing places, the lines being cast off and made fast at a lively rate.

Capt Scott and Capt Pease have both showed good sense in steadily refusing to race this summer. They both have good boats and are justly proud of them. All the same no one who has never had his hand on the wheel of a fast boat knows how strong the temptation is to have the engineer "let her out," when he has an idea he can leave the other boat in his wake.

It is a matter of just pride to know that both those boats built on the river are the peers in swiftness of any on the coast. Men who saw the two coming down yesterday afternoon say they were making twenty miles an hour.

A Case of Necessity.

The fact of the Northern Pacific building boats to run on the upper [illegible] the O. [illegible] N. Co. to lessen their freight [illegible] from The Dalles to the sea board. Without the company makes some movement in this direction, the wheat crop of eastern Oregon will seek tide water on the Sound.—Dalles Times-Mountaineer, 1.

NEWS FROM PORTLAND.

Capt. Jenks' Optimistic Opinions.

Interesting News From Various Points.

PORTLAND, Sept. 4.—Charlotte I Hood to-day was granted a divorce from Thos. B. Hood, given one-third interest in 120 acres in Multnomah county and $2,500 alimony. They were married in Walla Walla, March 30, 1872. The cause for the divorce was desertion.

The grand jury is at work to-day investigating the charges against Jno. D. Wilcox and Harvey McIsaacs, charged with attempting to blackmail Mrs. Dr Murray. Several days will be consumed in the investigation.

The Y. M. C. A. have extended a call to C. W. Beers, of Santa Barbara, Cal., to become general secretary here.

Edmund Tupper, a Warm Spring Indian, charged with deadly assault on another Indian, was allowed by Judge Deady to plead guilty to simple assault and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

The North Shore Transportation company filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk to-day; the incorporators are John A. Brown, R. H. Buddy and Jas. Good; capital stock, object of the corporation to carry freight and passengers, and to do towing upon the Willamette river between Oregon City and the mouth of said river.

Capt. Jenks, U. S. engineer still insists there is plenty water for vessels in the new channel in St. Helens bar, and pilots declare as positively that there is not. The pilots want Capt. Jenks to accompany them and show the pilots the new channel, but Mr. Jenks retorts that it is not his business to teach pilots.

When sluicing can be done is not known as the Walla Walla which had been depended upon to do the work is undergoing repairs which will not be completed till December, and it is not known to a certainty whether this steamer will be had at all.

A RACE WAR.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—The American workmen in the rolling mill at Conshockken began a crusade against Italians and Hungarians by sending a notice to them to leave. Several collisions have occurred and a number of Italians have left.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Death of Newton Scott.

Newton Scott, the well-known engineer on the Telephone, died in Portland yesterday morning. His uncle, Capt U. B. Scott, sat with him until it was time to leave on the down trip yesterday morning, and when he left his nephew's bedside it was evident he would soon close his eyes on all things earthly. He was in the 34th year of his age, a faithful, obliging man, liked by all. He leaves a wife and child, resident in Portland.

About five years ago he met with an accident on the City of Salem, whereby his spine was injured. Since then he has never been well, the disease finally developing into congestion of the brain, which proved fatal.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished [illegible] and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, [illegible] to be seen.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. [illegible] yield to its destructive influence. The [illegible] it distributes throughout the system [illegible] every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER, price, $1.00.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

JOHN HAHN.

The Public Domain.

The report of the general land office at Washington tells the story of the increasing demand for cheap land. During the year ending June 30, 1888, no less than 225,112 entries of public land were made, embracing over 24,000,000 acres, an area exceeding the area of the state of Indiana, and nearly equal to that of Ohio or Kentucky. It is evident that this cannot go on long. The United States has no such land area left that it can sell a tract bigger than Indiana every year.

The same story is told by the selection of 6,525,000 acres by land grant railroads, and by 24,472 timber culture entries. It seems startling to hear that now, when land is getting so scarce, the land grant railroads should be able to locate 6,500,000—especially as these companies are almost without exception prosperous, and are able to sell for real money securities which represent the cost of the roads. The timber culture entries will require close watching.

The king of Denmark will celebrate the twenty-fifth year of his reign on the 15th of November next. A subscription was being raised to purchase for him an estate in Jutland, but he declined to receive any gift in the present poor state of the country.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Hours, 10 to 5 and 7 to 9. Sunday, 8 to 11 A. M., only.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our [illegible] doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite

my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

THE ALFRED D. SNOW.

A Strange Story About the Ill-Fated Vessel.

New York Correspondence Globe-Democrat.

About a year ago one of the finest clipper ships that ever sailed out of New York harbor went ashore at Cork, on the Irish coast. She was the Alfred D. Snow, and belonged to the well-known firm of Snow & Burgess, of South street, in this city. Her master was Captain Willey, a Maine man, and one of the most careful seamen. He had followed the sea, man and boy, for half a century. The Snow had on board, besides the captain and officers, a crew of twenty-six men—thirty-two men all told. Every one perished.

It is supposed that Captain Willey was sailing by dead reckoning and had thus gone a mile too far to leeward. The weather was heavy, and the fog such that to see a cable's length ahead was impossible. However, all were lost and just within sight of safety, and none returned to tell the tale. There is a strange story connected with the Snow, which was told to a Globe-Democrat correspondent by Mrs. Sofa Clough, an intimate friend of the widow of Captain Willey, and which has been partly verified by a statement published at the time of the accident in the New York Herald.

When the Snow left New York on her last trip, which was around the Horn to San Francisco, thence with grain to Liverpool, a strange fatality occurred on board. She was towed down in the afternoon to her anchorage at Sandy Hook, inside the Horse Shoe, where, like all sailing ships leaving this port, she was required to cast anchor over night. Captain Willey was aboard, but he need not have been until the next morning. That night at about 1 A. M., an old sailor came to his cabin and insisted on seeing him. After parleying awhile the man was admitted to the cabin.

"Captain Willey," he said, "I have had a dream. I dreamed I saw the Snow lying at the bottom of the English channel, and all of us—you included—scattered around her, stark and stiff."

"Nonsense, you are drunk," said Willey; "go back to your bunk and sleep it off, man; you'll laugh at it to-morrow."

"Captain," said the fellow, "I've sailed with you many's the time afore now, and ye know I'se not the salt to be skeered of DavyJones, but I can't go with you this time; good-night." With that the fellow started for the forecastle. The third mate followed him, but before either reached there a tumult was heard within. Thinking the sailors were having a drunken caroute, which had been strictly prohibited, the mate forgot about the superstitious sailor and entered the forecastle with the intention of disciplining the crew. But a strange and horrible sight met his eyes. In one of the bunks about which gathered the horror-stricken crew, was the very man whom he had followed from the captain's cabin. He had cut his throat from ear to ear, and then, as though to make death doubly sure, had plunged the knife into his heart. He was dead.

On investigation it was found that he had not left his bunk that night. Was it a ghost that the captain saw—or what? He had killed himself just a few minutes before the mate entered, it is said; no one being awake at the time but one sailor, who awoke the rest to stop his desperate act. However, he was dead now, and the police authorities had to be signaled. The coroner took charge of the ship next morning and held an inquest, the verdict being suicide.

While in San Francisco, before the Alfred D. Snow started on her voyage to Liverpool, which she was destined never to reach, one of the officers wrote to Mrs. Clough that the ghost or spirit, if such it were, of the suicide, had several times been seen during the voyage out, and that the entire crew fled the ship as soon as the vessel touched at San Francisco. At one time, on a dim moonlight night, when she was almost becalmed right under the equator, a ghostly form came from the forecastle and was seen by the captain and watch to go to the main-mast shrouds, up which he slowly climbed, singing a weird sea song, until at last he disappeared above the masthead. In about an hour one of the most severe white squalls came up that they had ever seen, and in which all their strength and ability was taxed to keep the ship together.

The strange truth of the man's prediction, which was so terribly fulfilled on the Irish coast, and the ghostliness of it all, make it evident that there was a strange spiritual materialization which hung to the vessel from the time of the suicide's death until she went to pieces on the rocks.

Early last week there was a stream of oil started at Lima, Ohio, for South Chicago, by way of the National Transit company's new pipe-line, which will reach its destination some day next week; going a distance of 206 miles with a maximum fall of 300 feet. At Lima are pumps, which force the oil over a rise in the line at Laketon, Indiana, which is ten feet higher than Lima. Under this impetus 8,000 barrels can be delivered daily; but with pumping works at an intermediate point the delivery can be more than doubled. This pipe is eight inches in diameter, and contains 65,000 barrels, in which "Ts" have been put every fifty miles.

There are already eight presidential tickets in the field, and there will be nine after the greenback party has held its convention. A game of base ball between the nine candidates and some professional team, the New York World suggests, might be made a great success. Such a match would be a graceful recognition of the importance of our national game.

The most valuable real estate in the world is said to be in the vicinity of Wall and Broad streets, New York. In 1882, 508 square feet, or less than one-fifth the size of an ordinary city lot, sold for $168,000, which was at the rate of $330 a square foot, or nearly $14,300,000 an acre. This is the highest price, it is believed, ever paid for a piece of land in the civilized world.

The London Times, referring to this country, uses the plural number. "The United States are." It cost many lives and billions of treasure, fighting against confederate and Anglican foes, to establish and make perpetual the idea of national unity expressed in the singular form, and one of these days John Bull and the rest of mankind will recognize that the United States is.

As illustrating the part that labor plays in enhancing the value of raw materials, it is estimated that from 75 cents worth of iron ore may be developed $5.50 worth of bar iron, $10 worth of horse shoes, $180 worth of table knives, $6,800 worth of fine needles, $29,480 worth of shirt buttons, $200,000 worth of watch springs, or $2,500,000 worth of pallet arbors (used in watches).

The dugong, a species of whale taken in large numbers in Queensland, has probably furnished the slender basis on which mermaid stories are based. It is about eight to twenty feet in length, lives upon submarine beds of seaweed, breathes by means of lungs, has a human-like head, with hair resembling a man's beard. The flesh of the animal is eaten, and is said to have the flavor of beef, veal or bacon, according to the part of the body from which the meat is taken.

It is stated that a compositor on the New York World set up 2,000 ems from the dictation of Edison's new phonograph. The small tubes were fitted to his ears and connected by a large tube with a phonograph. The latter was run by a small electric motor and regulated by a pedal attachment by which it could be started and stopped at the compositor's pleasure. The phonograph would talk off a sentence into the printer's listening ear and then be stopped until he had put the words in type.

A London paper recently made some extravagant statements as to the weight of women's dresses. The fact is that the ordinary costume worn by a woman of medium stature is remarkably light. Very few weigh over nine pounds, dresses of silk and jet being the heaviest. A dress of cloth and jet averages about six pounds, a long velvet dress for evening wear about five, a cloth winter dress five, a tailor made dress about six pounds, and a wrap of solid jet three pounds, while dress of a surah silk weighs somewhere in the neighborhood of three and one-half pounds only. Summer dresses weigh from half a pound to two pounds.

SALMON HEADS.

The catch of salmon along the straits and in the rivers during the past few weeks has been something immense, and on an average of 2000 a day have been shipped to Mr. Story at the Black Diamond cannery. On Monday evening from all points on the Sacramento river and straits of Carquinez over 40,000 salmon were received, and many of the men refusing to work, the cannery was unable to handle the immense mass of fish being landed by barges, schooners and sloops. A telegram was sent to Martinez Tuesday morning to Mr. Hodapp, instructing him to cease buying fish, and some 800 lying in the fishhouse at that time were unable to find a market next day. Over 2000 were thrown overboard at the cannery, and they are endeavoring to handle the balance.—Martinez Gazette.

Last Saturday night, while Dennis De Ford, of Cosmopolis, was fishing with a gill net for salmon, his boat was surrounded by a gang made up of striking fishermen, roughly disguised, who took possession of his boat and destroyed 35 salmon which he had caught. He was then told to never drift another net in the harbor or river under penalty of being severely dealt with. DeFord was fishing to salt for his own use. It is a burning shame that these toughs should thus be allowed to play the dog in the manger act; they themselves will not fish, and they stand ready at any time to do violence to others who attempt to do so. We are glad to say that the better class of fishermen express themselves as being bitterly opposed to any such policy, and disclaim any connection with the outrage in question.—Aberdeen Herald.

The difficulty between the fishermen and the canneries still remains unsettled, neither side apparently showing any inclination to give way. As near as we can get at it, the difference is about this: The cannerymen offer, to those who furnish their own fishing gear and board, 60 cents for black salmon and 30 cents for silver sides; or they will furnish gear and board and pay 30 cents for the large fish and 20 cents for the small ones. The fishermen demand, when they furnish gear and board themselves, 75 cents for black salmon and 40 cents for silver sides; or 40 cents and 20 cents, respectively for the fish, when board and gear is furnished. The Gray's Harbor Fishermen's Union held a meeting here yesterday afternoon, and appointed a committee to wait upon the cannerymen and inform them that unless they see fit to accede to the price which they demand, within one week, union fishermen will not fish for them at any price, but will work independent of the canneries and salt their fish. We do not claim a sufficient acquaintance with the salmon business to enable us to express an opinion in [illegible] gust 30

Advices from Alaska warrant the assertion that the pack will be all of twice as large as last year's. This is ba[illegible] the following: Mr. Sloss, of Loui[illegible] & Co., says that the pack on the Kod[illegible] river will aggregate [illegible] of 200,000 cases this season. This estimate he bases on his latest returns. As there are only five canneries on that river and fully fifteen on the other rivers and inlets in Alaska it is only reasonable to conclude that the other canneries will average 12,000 cases each. Last year the pack of the entire territory aggregated only 190,000 cases. Late mail advices from Chilcat river, Alaska, are as follows: The salmon run had exceeded expectations and in some instances the canneries had to discharge their Indian fishermen as it was impossible for them to can all the fish captured. Before the departure of the Ancon the canneries had about filled all the cans they had taken up and w[illegible] preparations to close for the [illegible] F. Herald of Trade, Aug. 3

J. J. Moore & Co. report that their advices from Fraser river give the output on that river of spring salmon at 35,000 cases against 98,000 cases last year [illegible] fall salmon pack averages about [illegible] which if realized this year will give the total pack 60,000 against 128,000 cases in 1887, but as the output on the other rivers and inlets in British Columbia this year aggregate fully 30,000 cases more than in 1887, the shortage in 1888 will only be about 38,000 compared with last year. Our adv[illegible]es from the coast fisheries, [illegible] the S. F. Herald of Trade, report that the outlook is favorable for a larger pack than in 1887. The Rogue river pack with the usual fall run will be about 1,000 cases more than last year. From the other streams and rivers a thoroughly correct idea cannot be formed as yet but as the preparations outside of Eel river, which packed 7,000 cases in [illegible] upon a larger scale it is reaso[illegible] conclu[illegible] that with a fair average [illegible] fish late advices give the runs large, [illegible] output will be all of 200,000 cases this year not including Puget Sound and Eel river against 182,000 cases in 1887 including the Eel river pack. In 1887 there was packed on Puget Sound 13,400 cases but this year it is claimed that this will be more than doubled. The pack on the Sacramento river in 1887, spring and fall, aggregated 36,500 cases, up to August 26th of this year the aggregate is over 47,000 cases with the fall season in full blast. The pack this year will probably be about 60,000 cases, perhaps more. All present indications point to the following

Ducks are coming in in small numbers, mostly mallards.

The British bark Areola, from San Pedro, is in the river to load wheat.

The uniform rank, K. of P., meet at their lodge room at eight o'clock this evening.

The schooner Norma and the barkentine Ella sailed yesterday. The Idaho arrived in.

The Dolphin goes to Shoalwater bay this morning, the Gen. Miles goes to Gray's harbor to-morrow.

When school began in district No. One last Tuesday there were 230 pupils; yesterday there were 245.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Republican county league at Armory hall, at 8 o'clock next Saturday evening.

The river boats had their flags at half-mast yesterday, in respect to the memory of the late Newt. Scott, engineer on the Telephone.

A San Francisco dispatch says the total pack of salmon in British Columbia this season will be 135,600 cases, a falling off from last year's pack of 20,400.

Steamboatmen say that the T. J. Potter is not going to the Sound. After Tuesday she will take the place of the R. R. Thompson on the night route, while that boat goes off for repairs.

While the Gen. Miles was crossing in from Gray's harbor yesterday afternoon, a fishing boat in tow belonging to "Black" Johnson, was lost, with the net which was in the boat at the time.

Rev. C. C. McLaughlin, of Freeport, W. T., has unaccountably disappeared. He started for this city on the Telephone on the 4th ult., since which time he has not been heard from.

The secretary of the Astoria and South Coast railway company has issued a notification to the stockholders that there will be a meeting on the 17th inst., to authorize the directors to increase the capital stock.

A being erect upon two legs and wearing the form and semblance of a man was arrested on Cass street last night, charged with indecent exposure of his person. He gave his name as Burns and will have a trial this afternoon.

The British ship Carnarvonshire, from Cape Town to San Francisco, reports the death of Capt. Jones, of that vessel, at Cape Town. Trying to board his ship at night he fell between his vessel and the wharf and was killed, his skull being fractured.

The Gen. Miles arrived in yesterday and reports a blue look out at Gray's harbor, no agreement between the canners and fishermen and very little prospect of doing anything this season. The Peerless and Novelty arrived there yesterday, and the Catharine Sudden was outside when the Miles left.

The last act of the dogs of the dog [illegible]w was a unique one. The whole pack was going on board the steamer when one of them darted into Wherry's butcher shop, seized a rib roast and bore it off in triumph. His master only allows the dogs meat twice a week, but this particular dog was determined to fare better than his fellows.

In the justice court yesterday Ben Klein, a waiter at the Telephone restaurant, was fined $25 and costs for [illegible]ult on a cook. NEWS FROM THE EAST.

Happenings East of the Rockies.

[Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 5. The chairman of the Republican state committee, states according to his figures, 136 towns from which returns have been received gave Dillingham 31,378, Shurtleff and scattering 13,655; a Republican majority of 17,000. The remaining towns will probably make the state majority 27,000. The prohibition vote is less than 4,500.

A RECORD BREAKER.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5. -Frank McGurrin of Salt Lake, broke the typewriters record here last night, writing 108 2-15 words in a minute and 107 words a minute blindfolded.

A FLORIDA CYCLONE.

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 5.—A cyclone passed here to the eastward last night. No damage is reported in this vicinity. It was probably much stronger in Cuba. Reports from Havana state that houses were unroofed and trees blown down.

YELLOW FEVER IN FLORIDA.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A telegram has been received at the marine hospital from Dr. Wall, at Tampa, saying that there are seven new cases of yellow fever within the last two days.

Dr. Murray reports by telegraph that he has arrived at Tampa and that he found one case at Manatee and another at Palmetto. The river villages are healthy.

A WYOMING MURDER.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Information has been received here from Rock Springs, Wyoming, of the murder by an unknown person of S. M. Wall of this city and C. L. Strong of New York. Both were wealthy young men, who had been spending the summer hunting. It is supposed they were robbed by the guilty party or parties.

A STRAY MAIL SACK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A mail sack that mail robbers had taken between Albany and Chicago on the west-bound mail train, was dropped in the postoffice at New York Friday that contained many valuable packages, including notes for $15,000 issued by Blake Bros. & Co.

SERVED HER RIGHT.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Pierrepont Morgan of New York, and friends, while out among the Thousand Islands yesterday, were thrown into the water by capsizing of the boat. Mrs. Morgan lost jewelry valued at $15,000. Expert divers are searching for the valuables in twenty feet of water.

MAKING FAST TIME.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Sept. 5. Thurman intended to slip through to New York without letting the outside world know it. His car was attached to a Pennsylvania special, but at Altoona word was received that a reception would be tendered him at Harrisburg. The judge passed a pleasant night though the train was behind time and ran fast, making thirty miles in 27 minutes at one time. Over 2,000 people, preceded by the central Democratic club, crowded around the train as it reached the depot.

Thurman came out and made a brief speech, commending the administration of Cleveland, after which the train pulled out.

CAN THIS BE REALLY SO!

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—A Washington special says a great scare has been caused in the war department over information to the effect that a young British officer, who has been in this country, has penetrated the secret of operating our torpedoes, upon which we mainly depend for coast defences, and that he has secured complete drawings and forwarded them to England.

No Flies on That Dinner.

A good story is told by congressman "Tim" Campbell as to his pet phrase, "There's no flies on me." It seems that the congressman was invited to dinner by a lady in Washington who wished to secure his political influence for some person or bill. "Tim" went to the dinner and enjoyed himself greatly, his hostess making himself most agreeable. As he was about to leave in the evening she expressed the hope that the congressman had enjoyed his dinner. "An elegant dinner, ma'am," said Tim. "No flies on that dinner." "No, indeed, Mr. Congressman," returned the hostess, all unconcious of his meaning, "I had the kitchen windows kept shut for two days."—New York Evening Sun.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRACY.

The Platform Adopted Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 5. The department of state has received from Gen. Denny, U. S. minister to China, in response to inquiry from Washington, a telegram to the effect that he has no positive information in regard to the action of the Chinese authorities respecting the treaty.

TO SOLICIT FUNDS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.- Thos. McNaught, secretary of the Scottish home rule association, has arrived in this country to solicit funds for the cause. He will make a tour of the United States and Canada, going first to Salt Lake and San Francisco.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 5. The Democratic state convention met here to-day. The platform commends the administration of president Cleveland and endorses his administration and the nomination of Judge Thurman as vice president, and the reduction of the present war tariff to such point as will leave in the pockets of the people over $100,000,000, now locked up in the treasury vaults at Washington. It approves the Mills bill, denounces the proposed abolition of internal revenue on liquors and tobacco by the Republican party, demands such legislation by congress as will curb the power and arrest the growth of trusts, approves the recent retaliation message sent to congress, sends greeting to Gladstone, Parnell and their co-workers in the cause of Irish home rule and recommends the enactment by congress of more stringent measures for the protection of the wage earners of the United States against foriegn contract labor.

The convention was called to order by Hon. P. A. Collins. Hon. J. J. Donovan, of Lowell, was made permanent chairman. After speeches and the appointment of committees, Hon. W. E. Russell was nominated for governor by acclamation.

A FIENDISH DEED.

AGENDA, Kans., Sept. 5.- A horrible affair is reported from the neighborhood of Guide Rock, a small town over the Nebraska line. John Baker, while feeding a threshing machine on the farm of John Weeks, was accidentally cut on the hand by the band-cutter, a boy. He grasped the youth and deliberately fed him into the machine feet first. The boy's screams attracted the attention of the other hands, but before they could interfere the boy's body had half disappeared. The enraged men seized Baker and hanged him to the straw carrier.

A FAMILY FEUD.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 5. A family feud between Captain Richard Hogan and the Huffmans, of Blythewood, Fairfield county, terminated last night in Huffman's assassination. Huffman was one of the most distinguished scouts in Gen. Lee's army. He was over 50 years of age.

An Explanation

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown, -to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

An Early Riser

"Young man," he said, sonorously, "are you ever abroad in the early morning when the great orb of day rises in all its majestic and brilliant glory?"

"Well, er yes, sir, sometimes," replied the young man, "but I generally try to get to bed earlier than that." —Ex.

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,

Shively, to collect an assessment of seven hundred and forty-five and 25-100 dollars, which assessment was made for the improvement of West 9th street, between Water street and Berry street, by Ordinance No. 1045, entitled an Ordinance declaring the probable cost of improving West 9th street, from the South side of Water street to the South side of Berry street, approved June 29th, 1888, I have this day levied upon lot No. 6, in block No. 55, in Shively's Astoria, and on Friday, the 14th day of September, at 10 o'clock A. M., of said day, in front of the Court House door in the City of Astoria, Clatsop County, Oregon, will proceed to sell lot No. 6, in block No. 55, in Shively's Astoria, to the highest bidder therefor, to pay said assessment, costs and expenses of sale. Said sale to be for U. S. gold coin.

Considerably Married.

A freshly appointed, yet ambitious, justice of the peace, in one of south Idaho's rural precincts, was suddenly called upon to marry a couple when he was called away from his office and without book prompting. He had studied the statutory forms, however, and decided to risk the ceremony. John Jones and Eliza Cook were the applicants, and, after directing them to "toe the mark," the squire said: "Mr. Jones! repeat your name, age, residence, occupation and date of naturalization, if any. You do solemnly swear or affirm, as the case may be, that you are a free, white and male citizen of the U. S., or will be, on the 6th day of November next. That, to the best of your knowledge and belief, you are not a—a—big—a—that is to say, a marriage free trader; and that you never will be if in your power to prevent it. That in the case now pending, wherein you are plaintiff and Eliza Cook defendant, You will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, except as to matters stated on information and belief, so help you God."

Turning to Eliza the judge said: "You do solemnly swear that you will answer such questions as are put to you regarding your qualification to—to become the wife of John Jones. That you know Jones to be the identical person who—who—now confronts you. That you have had full and complete satisfaction, of said Jones, of all just demands; the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged and the grantor, forever, released therefrom. That you do this freely and voluntarily and separate and apart from your husband.

Know all by these presents that I, John Texas, a magistrate, with malice toward none and charity for all, in the name of the territory of Idaho and in consideration of $2 to me in hand paid, do now proclaim you man and wife, until death does you part; subject to the decision of the Democratic territorial convention to be held at Boise city on the 18th day of August, Ananias and Sapphira 1888.

A good authority on our American forests writes that he has seen over $1,000,000 worth of lumber burned by the careless fire of a gang of railroad workmen.

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion would do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B. ††

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE.

A Young Mother Forced to See Her Baby Dissected.

"That is a most remarkable patient," said one of the attaches of Longview insane asylum to a reporter for the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Lunatics of all ages and of various degrees of madness were grouped about. He was pointing toward the window, where a woman was seated, leaning forward in the attitude of one who is observing something intently. She was clad in a simple black gown. The graceful lines of her form and the shape of her slender hands, which were clasped loosely in her lap, showed plainly her youth. Yet her hair was white as snow. Her face was one never to be forgotten. It was not fresh and white, as one would expect in a young woman, but a dead and lifeless ashen gray that contrasted strangely with her snow-white hair. But this was not what made it remarkable.

The range of expression of the human features is almost unlimited. But the expression of this face seemed to transcend the power of even human features. In every line, in every swollen vein and muscle, in the great staring, distended eyes, whose pupils were expanded until only a nerve line of gray iris could be distinguished, in the dilated nostrils, in the compressed and pallid lips that seemed to be ever suppressing a cry of anguish that ever rose to them, horror, absolute and unutterable horror was written. Agony, terror, misery too profound for fears, were there also, but high above them all could be read this frightful horror that seemed to only faintly express itself.

At first one would think it was a mask that some marvelous genius had carved. But then the humanness of the expression was too apparent. The soul that was thus giving vent to itself was too near at hand. Terrible indeed was the picture presented by that quiet, patient, almost girlish form, and then, as it were, frozen."

In his private office he told the story of how the young woman become thus transformed into a living and breathing statute of horror.

"I think when I have finished," said he, you will agree with me that hers is the saddest, and at the same time the most frightful story you ever heard.

"She was brought here about two years ago by her older brother, who related all the particulars to me. I told him then that her case was probably incurable. She was left with us with the instructions that no expense should be spared in making her comfortable. That was two years ago. She was nineteen then. When not quite eighteen she was married to a young physician of her native town, who, by skill and attention, had gained an extensive practice. In every way they seemed happily mated. She was beautiful, of a happy disposition, and had been engaged to him since early childhood.

"He had sufficient wealth to make the match desirable from a worldly point of view. Yet her relatives had always looked on the engagement with disfavor. They warned her that there was insanity in the family, and that he himself was subject to fits of melancholy, but she laughed at their warnings and married the man she loved. Nothing could have been happier than the first year of their married life. He was no longer melancholy, and seemed to be more devoted with each passing day. In June the young wife became a mother and there was new joy in the little family. The young physician loved his child passionately, for its own sake and because she was its mother.

"As the first anniversary of the wedding come round they determined to celebrate it with especial rejoicing, as it marked an era in their happiness. The evening before—it was the evening of the 26th of August—the young physician for the first time since his marriage seemed melancholy and depressed. The summer had been hot and the demands upon his services many. His wife asked him some questions and he censured her impatiently, almost harshly. The tears came to her eyes. He instantly repented, and all was sunshine again. Presently she said: "I am going to mother's a few minutes to tell her to come over early to-morrow morning. Take care of baby while I'm gone. You need not come after me, as I shall be home long before dark." She spent an hour with her mother, then started home through the dark. The walk was short and the neighbors soon saw her pass in at her own door with a light, happy step. Exactly what happened in the physician's house that night will never be known. The next morning early the mother, according to promise, came over. Knocking at the door and finding it unlatched she walked in. "Annie! Annie!" she called. Her daughter did not reply, and the mother went up the stairs thinking to find her in her bedroom. She opened the door. The room was brilliantly lighted with gas, and the blinds were closed. The horrified woman almost fell over the body of her son-in-law, sprawled upon the floor in a great pool of blood, with his handsome face set white and ghastly. A fearful gash across his throat and a dissecting knife in his right hand told the story of suicide. The mother screamed and looked wildly round, expecting to see the dead body of her daughter also. Tied to the bedpost, with her hands behind her back and a gag across her mouth, was Annie, while her face was just as you saw it to-day. The wide, staring eyes were gazing at something. The

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER [illegible] 1888

AMERICAN canned foods are cheaper than imported canned foods of the same kind, and are just as good in quality. This discovery of keeping foods, which is due to a French chemist in 1807, really belongs to the vegetable and fruit seasons throughout the whole year and gives distant climes an exchange of foods. Europeans can compete with Americans in this industry only in the canning of delicacies. The canning process is now used in preserving about all the desirable animal and vegetable foods. One singular fact is that canned goods are in some cases cheaper than they are when bought fresh in the market; the reason being that the canning is done when the foods are the cheapest, and that there are no wastes. The first canning was done for meat for sailors, but the industry was of little account till tomatoes and oysters were canned in this country for local trade about 1865. The business expanded in the California gold excitement and grew to immense proportions during the civil war. At this time milk was canned, and so was meat and fruits and vegetables. After the war lobster and salmon were canned, and still later the canning of corned beef grew to immense proportions, largely to supply foreign governments with a reserve of food to be used in case of war. It is nothing but newspaper sensationalism that has led people into believing that canned foods are dangerous to health. The tin plate is not acted upon by any ordinary acids or gasses of decomposition. The only poisoning that has been caused by these foods is due to the ignorance of the consumers. They open a can, let the contents begin the process of fermentation or putrefaction, by which the ptoneaine poisons are developed, and these are of deadly character. These foods are perfectly safe in the hands of a person of ordinary care and intelligence.

FAIR AND UNFAIR COMPARISONS.

The Tacoma Ledger of the 4th inst., to hand last evening, gives some statistics about the weather on the Sound, which are reliable.

But it unfairly goes on to say that in response to a demand by visitors of a comparison of the climate of Puget Sound and the "Columbia river regions," it gives a table wherein the climate of Tacoma and of Portland is compared.

While THE ASTORIAN has no objection to the Ledger making any comparison between Tacoma and Portland that it sees fit, this journal strongly objects to the daily temperature of Portland being taken as indicative or an exponent of the climate of the "Columbia river regions."

Here is the mean temperature at Tacoma, and at Astoria for August, taken from the official reports of the signal service in both cities.

The Arctic Whaling Fleet Wrecked.

The Torpedo Charts to be Rearranged.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 6.—On the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs road yesterday, two freight trains collided six miles from this city. Both were running at a high rate of speed. Both crews jumped. Each train was loaded with merchandise and nearly the entire cargo lost; damage, $100,000.

THE CREWS WERE SAVED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The United States revenue cutter Bear, Capt. Healy, arrived from Behring sea this morning. She brings information that on August 3d the whole whaling fleet was anchored between cape Smythe and point Barrow. A furious storm occurred and the following vessels were wrecked: The barks Mary and Susan, Young, Phœnix, Fleetwing, and the schooners Jane Gray and Ina. The crews of the lost vessels, 100 in number, were rescued by the Bear and brought to this city.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—The platform submitted to the Republican state convention this morning endorses the national ticket, points with pride to the results achieved under the state high license law, declares uncompromisingly in favor of American protection, but adheres to the repeated declaration of state and national platforms in favor of modification, readjustment and reduction of the tariff; reiterates the views of the Republican presidents Garfield and Arthur upon the same subject, as well as the recommendation of the commission appointed under the last Republican administration; declares these reductions should be made with care not to injure existing treaties by putting on the free list articles of prime necessity which enter into ordinary consumption of the people; favors civil service; demands the enforcement of the interstate commerce law; denounces the attempt of the Democrats to force the senate into ratification of the fisheries treaty; denounces Cleveland's foreign policy as vacillating; declares delay in the admission of Dakota selfish and dishonest; favors liberal treatment of the war veterans; declares hostility to trusts; recommends the Australian system of voting; demands the revision of the immigration and naturalization laws and stricter enforcement of the contract labor law; welcomes those disfranchised in the south on account of race to homes in Minnesota, and sympathizes with the Irish home rule movement.

THE TORPEDO SCARE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Inquiry into the report that the English army officer had secured the complete plans of our coast defenses and copies of our submerged torpedo charts, has brought out the statement that the young officer came here for that purpose but left disgusted, being unable to learn anything. Nevertheless, in view of this and our strained relations with Canada, it is said our torpedo charts will at once be overhauled and rearranged.

DEATH OF LESTER WALLACK.

The N. P. Express Robbers Arraigned.

From the Leading European Capitals.

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 6.—Lester Wallack, the theatrical manager, died this morning. Yesterday he was working and, without the slightest warning, was stricken with apoplexy and remained unconscious till he died. During the day Wallack was seized with eighteen or twenty convulsions, some very severe. The doctors were amazed at the manner in which he pulled through them all, and said that nothing but his iron constitution kept him alive.

Telegrams of condolence are pouring in from all parts of the country.

THE ROBBERS ARRAIGNED.

PORTLAND, Sept. 6.—Frank Anderson and Ben King, the express robbers, were arraigned to-day. Their case was the $10,000 robbery from the Northern Pacific Express company last July. Anderson looked very thoughtful, the expression of his face indicating great mental anxiety. King feels hopeful. Anderson plead guilty. King, however, did not plead at that time and asked till Saturday to make up his mind what to do, which was granted. "He has an idea," so a lawyer says, "there is a possibility of escaping on a flimsy technicality."

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND HIS MOTHER.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—During the lifetime of emperor Frederick the present emperor was undoubtedly on bad terms with his parents, but since his accession to the throne his demeanor toward his mother, both in public and private, has been all that could be asked. The question is whether emperor William has sufficient force of character and conviction to resist the baneful pressure of the war party and anti-liberal sections, and adopt entirely the liberal policy his father intended to pursue. Various changes in the German army and the appointment of Herr Von Bennigsen are undoubtedly part of the government programme, which emperor Frederick intended carrying out. The retirement of General Von Moltke is an event of peculiar personal, political and military interest, affecting as it does the affairs of Europe by reminding the friends and enemies of Germany that of the three great men who made the empire the statesman alone now remains at work.

GETTING MAD.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Standard, in a savage leader on the fisheries question, says: It will be well for the president and government of the United States to remember that Canada is a dependency of Great Britain and that if the necessity should unfortunately arise she has behind her the guns of English ironclads. If our American cousins fail to understand this allusion; if in deference to the tone of coarse brutality, which seems to be a distinguishing feature of their domestic politics, they invite us to reply to their insults in a strain they will comprehend, perhaps we may be allowed to remind them of the Trent affair. The Standard further says: If we have to deal with a nation of filibusters let us at least know it. We will tell our American cousins frankly that we have not advanced so far toward ideal Christianity that we are prepared to turn our cheek to the transatlantic smiter.

The Tranchant is the name of a paper received, published at Townsend, Montana. The editor of the "Tranchant" evidently believes spelling to be a matter of private judgment

"Grandfather's Clock" is the name of a new play which will be brought out the present season. If it will only "go" as did the one which has been so much sung about, there's money in it.

At last Wednesday's meeting of the Astoria Building and Loan association, the sum of $9,000 was loaned, $1,200 at 72 months, $3,000 at 62 months, $1,200 at 66 months and $3,600 at 61 months.

Taking warning by two fires the town of Aberdeen, on Gray's harbor, has bought a hand engine and hose cart in Salem for $425 and will organize a fire department to battle with the lurid leveler.

In the police court yesterday Jos. Burns got off very light 15 days or $30, judge Jewett, not desiring to bring little girls into court to give testimony, simply fined him on a convicted charge of drunkenness.

The clerk and recorder of the Supreme court at Salem is believed to be the best paid official in the state. Before the business so greatly increased the place was worth $8,000 a year, and it is, doubtless, worth more now

Joggles was in for a minute yesterday and said he'd seen a man painting the gable end of a house three colors, and added that that was a gablending of colors. Joggles seems to grow worse that way as he grows older.

That was a great game of baseball at New York last Monday, between the New Yorks and Philadelphias. The game was called at the eleventh inning on account of darkness. The score then stood: New Yorks, 0; Philadelphias, 0.

Mr. Kindred yesterday filed a plat of a new town he has laid out between the military reservation east of Fort Stevens and the site for the new life saving station. Several lots are already purchased. He thinks he will call the new town Cornersville.

A $250,000 fire burned the business center of Baker City last Wednesday morning. This, with McMinnville and The Dalles, makes three big fires in the state inside of a week. There is a warning in this to Astoria to exert the utmost vigilance, which is the price of safety.

The whole of the Pacific states and territories can, no doubt, produce six to seven million tons of sugar, enough to supply 50 per cent. more than the present consumption of all the civilized countries. That consumption, though, is increasing very rapidly, and it doubles in the United States in about twenty years. Thus in that time it would absorb all the possible production of the state. The value of 3,110,000 tons of sugar would, at five cents per pound, be close on three hundred and fifty million dollars per annum.

The State of California is due from San Francisco to-day with the following passengers: C. Baker and wife, J. C. Garrett, T. S. Garrett, Mrs. Lester, Lucy S. Merwin, Nellie Dence, J. A. Schuller and wife, Jas. Call and wife, J. W. Todd, F. Moore, W. Weir, J. G. McBride, C. P. Hughman, Miss. B. Wagenblast, Mary Collinson, Mrs. Brastow and son, Laura Weinech, A. L. Stone, F. Gumbiner, Miss M. F. Lawrence, H. Dorris, H. Y. Riss, Miss L. Saygea, F. F. Gallagher, Leo. S. Rowe, John Bartman, J. Sullivan and wife, Miss Bitely, Miss H. Bitely, J. Ellis, M. Campbell and wife, John Maney and wife, Robert Keppler, H. Curran and wife, J. Schriber, F. M. Vails, O. P. Graham, Mrs. V. J. Phalon, G. Egan, J. A. Harvey, A. A. Andrews.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Leo. Mansur goes to Gray's harbor on the Gen. Miles this morning.

Messrs. A. Knapp and A. H. Stone of Knappa, were in the city yesterday.

Miss M. F. Lawrence, principal of the Cedar street school, returns from California to-day.

Past Grand Master of California A. O. U. W., will pay Seaside lodge No. 12 a visit to-morrow night.

Engineer Thielsen, in charge of the Astoria and South Coast railway company's line, is in the city and will shortly begin preliminary work on the proposed route.

Dr. A. C. Kinney and wife, of Astoria, came here last week, on a visit to his wife's brother, Dr. J. E. Payton. On receiving a dispatch that his sister was dangerously ill in San Francisco, Dr. Kinney left Thursday night, on the Southern Pacific train for that city.—Drain Echo.

SALMON ITEMS.

A gentleman from Yaquina states that the fall run of salmon has commenced in earnest, and the canneries are in active operation. The salmon are large this year, many of them weighing as high as fifty pounds. The boats of Allen Parker's cannery brought in Sunday night about fifty fish. A large run is expected this week, and the catch of the season, it is thought, will be much larger than last year. The run has commenced about two weeks earlier than usual.—Albany Herald.

The Skeena river canneries are full. The fish are still running, but there are no tins to pack them in. At the river's inlet, Shotbolt, Hart and Draney's canneries have secured 12,000 cases of fish and are still running, boats averaging 200 fish per day. The run is unusual, continuing later than any year since 1882.

The fishermen at Tillamook bay have organized a union located at Lincoln, Tillamook county.—Vidette.

The salmon run so far this season has been very light, and none of the canneries are running more than half time. Many of the Indian fishermen have become disgusted at the scarcity of fish and have gone to the hop fields. Jack Simmons, who two years ago made $500 in two weeks' fishing, left for the hop fields yesterday. He said he was willing to remain and fish, but he could not get a crew, as the Indians would not work unless he could promise them $3 per day each, and he could not do that the way fish are running at present, and so he joined the hop brigade. Cannerymen are not discouraged, for they know that if they do not run now, they will run later. In the meantime they are getting their traps and seines ready, to reap a big harvest when the fish do come Seattle Post-Intelligencer,

"TIME, EIGHT SECONDS."

Lively Hitch Up At No. 2's Engine House.

Who does not enjoy at the theater a well set scene! It is more than half the play to have harmonious surroundings on the stage, to have the scenic accessories fit the dialogue, and stage fittings in accordance with the play. Not even to a good actor is applause more heartily or spontaneously awarded than to finely arranged and artistic stage fittings.

What the setting is to the gem, or the frame to the picture, or the handsome dress to the handsome woman, or the neat expression to the clever thought, is the stage to the actor.

There is a fine stage and a clever performance daily in this city. So good is the stage and so excellent the performance that a good many gather to see it. The only difference is that this is not in a play, it is a bit of real life, business, regular order.

The time is close on to 6 P.M., the place is Rescue No. 2's engine house. Everything is scrupulously neat and clean, the Silsby in all the glory of gleaming nickel and polished brass is glistening in the light; "Nick" and "Charley," the two glossy grays, are champing in their stalls; the two kangaroo hounds, "Rescue" and "Mollie," are dozing lazily by the engine; Frank Stewart, the driver, and Jas. Hare, the engineer, are close by. Over the tongue of the engine, suspended by cords from the ceiling, hangs the swinging harness. Everything indicates order, but a casual passer by would presume that five minutes would be required to lead the horses out, hitch them up, gather up the lines, get on the seat, take off the brake, the engineer to get on, and should a fire break out, ten or fifteen minutes more to get steam up sufficient to pump.

SOME LIGHTNING CHANGES.

The minute and hour hands on the clock dial are on a straight line, clang! goes the gong; the electric wires that radiate all over the stalls are doing their work; quick as thought can reach the stars the electric current unhitches the horses, the same impulse opens the circuit, closes all the points of contact; the whips at the rear of the stalls fall across the flanks of the grays, they are at the tongue, in place, almost as soon; "click" go the collars around their necks, two or three snaps of springs, Frank Stewart is in his seat, the lines in his hand, Jimmy Hare is up behind, flames shoot from the smoke stack, the horses are champing their bits and tremulous with excitement, "all ready." Time—eight seconds.

Pretty work, and cleverly done. Like a flash of lightning the whole thing is over before one has time to mentally photograph it; there is no lost time, no false motion, every move counts, and if there is a fire, away they go tearing down the street, the horses on the gallop, great spurts of red flame shooting up in the air, a coil of smoke above, a trail of sparks from the fire box below, and by the time the engine is located, there is 25 pounds of steam and the suction being placed all is ready to throw water.

It is a triumph of ingenuity; a marvel of swiftness and skill. All that money can buy or science can devise, is there.

This is not an isolated case; the thing is daily done in every city in the country, perhaps just as good, certainly no better.

This has its useful aspect, as well as its spectacular effect.

One may say "What's the good? What difference does a few seconds make?"

Let a fire break out, and time is worth $1,000 a second; when the flames are crackling and properties and values are being licked up by the red destroyer, no angel of the Lord was ever more welcome than the engines and the saving streams of water.

That which we have faintly depicted above is a vigorous phase of man's duty, and is deserving of newspaper notice and popular applause.

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the Surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

IT IS A CRIME IN IOWA

To Make Cider for Your Own Family.

A Terrible State of Affairs in Florida.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 6. The Democratic state convention to-day nominated Chas. Amsden for governor

HOW IS THIS?

WATERLOO, Iowa, Sept. 6.—Judge Ney, under the Iowa prohibitory law, has decided that a man cannot lawfully manufacture cider for use in his own family.

AN APPEAL FOR AID.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Mayor Hewitt presented an appeal to the public today for aid for the yellow fever sufferers of Jacksonville, Florida.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

SEYMOUR Ind., Sept. 6.—By the explosion of a steam thresher to-day, W. A. Bennett was instantly killed and two other men terribly crushed and scalded and will die. Five other employes were bruised and scalded, but none seriously.

A CRAZY MAN'S DEED.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Sept. 6.—Last night Jas. Ford, a farmer, while crazy, sprang from his bed and made an attack upon his wife and two children. He seized a chair and knocked down the baby, killing it, and fatally injured his wife and 10-year-old son. It required eight men to manage the delirious man.

A HARD CONDITION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A refugee from Gainesville, Florida, makes the following statement: While Jacksonville alone of the hundred Florida towns is battling with the epidemic of yellow fever, the whole state is suffering almost as badly from isolation of quarantine, and the cost to her citizens will reach into the millions.

The first few days presented sights that made the bravest despondent. The first panic lasted about a week and carried off fully thirty thousand people flying without means, and scarcely a change of clothing, from the scourge. Every county has its own board of health and quarantine officers are stationed at every point where any kind of a road enters the county lines. No person can pass without a satisfactory bill of health. Some towns have as many as seven quarantine stations on the same line of road within one county's limit.

Florida is a charming resort in the winter, but life among her fragrant groves is not as delectable now as then.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that every one, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

At a Great Disadvantage.

The salvation army of this city is still sadly in need of some girls. Until a lass or two is sent here the barracks will be located under the city hay scales. Salem Vidette,

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

mother turned to see what it was. She saw a sight that made her bury her face in her hands, and reel, sick and faint to a chair. The table had been drawn close to the woman bound to the bed. On it was the body of her little child, and, horror of horrors, the father had been dissecting it before its mother's eyes. Its head was severed from its body; its eyes gouged out and hung down upon its waxen cheeks. The brain had been taken from the skull. The clothing had been torn from its body, and with the skill and nicety of a physician's hand, the father had removed the entrails, heart and lungs, and laid them in a heap at one side.

"This was the scene that the gas lighted upon the anniversary day of their wedding. Through all the hours of the night the mother had gazed on that sight. With fascinated eyes she had watched the maniac father at his hellish work. With hideous interest her eyes had been glued on the spectacle while she was powerless and dumb. Probably she had seen him recover his senses, and, realizing what he had done, take his own life and spare hers. Then, with not a soul to comfort her, she stood there hour after hour with her dead. Do you wonder that the horror of it is branded on her face?

"From that day to this she has not spoken to anyone. Whether she hears, or thinks, or understands cannot be said. She submits passively to her attendant, following where she is led and eating what is forced through her lips. There is one time when she speaks, however. It is in the evening before her wedding anniversary. That has come around twice since she has been here. The first time her attendant called me, and we stood outside her door. I never heard anything like it, and hope I never will again. The lips that had been closed on that awful night were opened. The pleadings, the entreaties, the anguish, the wild despair of her utterance would have moved a heart of stone. Suddenly there was a wild scream of concentrated awe and horror, and all was still. We rushed in, expecting to find her features relaxed, and, perhaps, her pillow tear-stained. But no; there she lay, quiet and still, with set and rigid horror in her face.

"Such is the history of our strangest patient."

As the reporter and superintendent left the office a female attendant passed with the unfortunate woman. She walked with the slow, hesitating step of the blind, her gaze fixed on something in front of her. And her face wore that awful expression it will wear until death moulders it away. She was soon out of sight, but the memory of that pallid mask of horror will remain indelibly stamped on our mind until the end of time.

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

WINE TO ORDER.

How an English Landlord Satisfied His Guests.

London Table

In Poole's tales the reader gets an insight into how wines are made at some hotels.

The author, meeting a stranger in a country churchyard, recognizes Burley, the former landlord of an inn he used to frequent near Cambridge, now, it appears, retired to enjoy the fruits of his industry. Falling into a confidential discourse about the way in which this worthy conducted his business, the author receives from him a most luminous and satisfactory account of his wines.

"You can't deny it, your wines were detestable—port, Maderia, claret, champagne—"

"There, now, sir; to prove how much gentlemen may be mistaken, I assure you, sir, as I'm an honest man, I never had but two sorts of wine in my cellar—port and sherry."

"How? when I myself have tried your claret, your——"

"Yes sir, my claret, sir. Gentlemen who pay their money, sir, have a right to be served with whatever they may please to order sir. I never would have any wines in my house, sir, but port and sherry. But to explain the thing at once, sir. This was my plan, sir. If any one ordered Maderia: From one bottle of sherry take two glasses of wine, which replace by two glasses of brandy, and add thereto a slight squeeze of lemon, and this I found to give general satisfaction. As to the pale and brown sherry, sir, a couple of glasses of nice, pure water, in place of the same quantity of wine, made what I used to call my delicate pale (by-the-by, a squeeze of lemon added to that made a very fair Bucellas), and for my old brown sherry, a little brown sugar was the thing. It looked very much like sherry that had been twice to the East Indies sir, and, indeed, to my customers, who were very particular about their wines, I used to serve it as such."

"But my port was the wine which gave me the most trouble. One gentleman would say, 'Burley, I don't like this wine; it is too heavy!' 'Is it, sir? I think I can find you a lighter.' Out went a glass of wine and in went a glass of water. 'Well, sir,' I'd say, 'how do you approve of that?' 'Why—um—no; I can't say——' 'I understand, sir: you like an older wine—softer. I think I can please you, sir.' Pump again, sir. 'Now, sir,' says I, (wiping the decanter with a napkin and triumphantly holding it up to the light,) 'try this, if you please.' 'That's it, Burley—that's the very wine, bring another bottle of the same.' But one can't please every body the same way, sir. Some gentlemen would complain of my port as being poor—without body. In went one glass of brandy. If that didn't answer. 'Aye, gentlemen, says I, 'I know what will please you; you like a fuller-bodied, rougher wine.' Out went two glasses of wine, and in went two or three glasses of brandy. This used to be a very favorite wine."

"And your claret?"

"My good wholesome port again, sir. Three wines out, three waters in, one pinch of tartaric acid, two ditto orris powder. for a fuller claret, a little brandy; for a lighter claret, more water."

"But how do you contrive about Burgundy?"

"That was my claret, sir, with from three to six drops of bergamot, according as gentlemen liked a full flavor or a delicate flavor. As for champagne, sir, that I make myself, of course."

"How do you mean 'of course' Burley?"

"Oh, sir," he said, with an innocent, yet waggish look, "surely everybody makes his own champagne, else what can become of all the gooseberries?"

Ladies will find relief from headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, indigestion, constant or periodical headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency by taking Simmons Liver Regulator. It is not unpleasant, is purely vegetable, and is not injurious to the most delicate constitution.

He Could Fight.

Peters, the colored pugilist, took a little trip into the country last month for a vacation, and, as has oftened happened to white men under the same circumstances, he got dead broke fifty miles from home and started back by the king's highway. One day, when he had reached the thirtieth milepost west of Detroit, he met a wagon load of people going to a picnic. There was a smart Aleck on the wagon, and he ordered a halt and said:

"I've got to lick this nigger or we won't catch any fish to-day."

Several of the people protested and argued, but the young man was bound to show off, and he jumped down, pulled off his coat and replied:

"Nigger, can you fight?"

"No, sah," replied Peters, as he backed away.

"I'm sorry for you, but I've got to do it. I'll be as easy as I can, though."

He put up his dukes and made a rush. Then the heavens and the earth seemed to come together, and all the powder mills in the country exploded at once.

"You've killed him!" shouted the occupants of the wagon in a chorus.

"No, I heven't. I jist reached fur de pint of his jaw, an' he'll cum to in about a minit."

He was a true prophet. Aleck opened his eyes after a bit, sat up, rubbed his jaw, and then suddenly dashed for the wagon and climbed in.

"How about de fish, sah?" asked Peters, as the wagon was about to go on.

"Fish! fish!" shouted Aleck, as he got a fresh brace on his jaw. "Durn your black hide, but do you suppose I want the whole earth?"—Detroit Free Press.

THIS will be one of the shortest campaigns in our history. Less than two months more before election, and the letters of acceptance not out yet. When old Tippecanoe was the Whig candidate he was nominated in December, 1839. But it took a long time in those days of stage coaches and weekly mails to present national issues to the people at their homes.

THE crop reports in this country are losing a great part of the credit that formerly attached to them. If these statements are not prepared and put forth in the direct interest of certain speculative cliques, then the best informed observers are wofully mistaken. We have had within six months the grain crop of this country practically wiped out of existence, on two separate occasions, and as a sort of offset we have had the reported growth, in a fair way for harvesting, of the largest grain crop that this country has ever seen. These crop reporters do nothing by halves. The harvest is either an astonishingly bountiful one, or every blade of grain is blighted beyond the hope of restoration. But, as we said above, these statements have been of late so obviously fictitious that public confidence in them has been practically destroyed.

A FRIEND traveling in Canada sends us a copy of the Montreal Herald of August 28th. It talks plainly on a topic that our northern friends are discussing a good deal. It says:

The Herald has no desire to part company with England. We have a sincere love and veneration for our parent country, but we feel that Canada is in its present state neither fish, flesh nor good red herring. And it should not be forgotten that of the five million inhabitants of Canada, one million and a half have no sentimental attachment to Great Britain. The French of lower Canada have recognized in the English sovereign a just and liberal ruler, under whom they have enjoyed at least as large a measure of freedom as they could have found elsewhere, but to them Canada is of infinitely greater importance than the convenience of England's foreign office. They are content to belong to the British empire so long as the empire recognizes that one portion of its domain is as precious to it as the other. If this is not the feeling of England then let the truth be told and Canada can set her house in order and take counsel about the future. But to be told on every occasion that Canada must submit to what is required of her because the trade of the united kingdom demands it and to be lectured and chidden by the English press when our complaints are inconvenient to attend to, is a state of things inconsistent with the dignity of Canada or the rights of a free people.

He May Not Get The Girl

"She would indeed, sir," replied the young man, with a ghastly attempt to appear at ease. "As the men who start newspapers sometimes say in their prospectuses, she would fill a long went fault -I mean, of course, a weng lont loss—or rather a fong lent wait—no a wong font welt indeed she would, Mr. Kajones," persisted the bewildered youth, "though I should have said, of course, a feng [illegible]."

"No, sir; I thought I ought to speak to you first."

THE GREATEST STEAMBOAT RACE.

More Than a Million Dollars Said to Have Been Staked Upon the Result.

The greatest steamboat race that was ever run in the world was that which occurred in June, 1870, from New Orleans to St. Louis, between the Robert E. Lee and the Natchez. The latter was built at Cincinnati, was commanded by Captain T. P. Leathers, and in June of the above year made the fastest time on record from New Orleans to St. Louis, 1,278 miles in three days, twenty-one hours and fifty-eight minutes. The Robert E. Lee was built at New Albany during the war, and was towed across the river to the Kentucky side to have her name painted on her wheelhouses, a matter that was deemed prudent in those exciting times. She was commanded by Captain John W. Cannon, who died at Frankfort, Ky., in 1882.

There was great rivalry between the boats, and when the Natchez made her great run Captain Cannon determined to beat it. He stripped the Lee for the race—removed all parts of her upper works which were calculated to catch the wind; removed all rigging and outfit that could be dispensed with to lighten her; engaged the steamer Frank Pargoud to precede her a hundred miles up the river to supply coal; arranged with coal yards to have fuel flats awaiting her in the middle of the river at given points, to be taken in tow under way until the coal could be transferred to the deck of the Lee, and then to be cut loose and float back. He refused all business of every kind, and would receive no passengers. The Natchez returned to New Orleans and received a few hundred tons of freight and a few passengers, and was advertised to leave for St. Louis June 30th.

In the afternoon the Robert E. Lee backed out from the levee, and five minutes later the Natchez followed her. The whole country watched the race with breathless interest, as it had been extensively advertised by the press, and the telegraph attended its progress along the river at every point. At all the principal cities—Natchez, Vicksburg, Helena and Memphis—people from many miles were present to see the racers pass, and the time of passing was cabled to Europe. When Cairo was reached the race was virtually ended, but the Lee proceeded to St. Louis, arriving there in three days eighteen hours and fourteen minutes from the time she left New Orleans, beating by thirty-three minutes the previous record of the Natchez. The latter steamer had run into a fog and grounded between Memphis and Cairo, which delayed her more than six hours. It is said that 30,000 people crowded the wharf, the windows and the housetops to welcome the Lee on her arrival at St. Louis. Captain Cannon was tendered a banquet by the business men of the city, and was generally lionized while he remained here.

It is estimated that more than $1,000,000 changed hands on the result of the great race. Many of the bets were withdrawn, however, on the ground that the Lee had been assisted the first hundred miles of the trip by the power of the Frank Pargourd added to her own, and many steamboat men have ever since regarded the Natchez as the faster boat of the two, but think she was outgeneraled in the race by the Lee. There was so much adverse comment afterward by the press that there has been no attempt since to repeat such a performance.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

NOTICE is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by the Auditor and Police Judge of the City of Astoria in accordance with an order made by the Common Council of the City of Astoria, by Ordinance No. 1047, entitled an Ordinance ordering the Auditor to issue warrants for the collection of assessments remaining unpaid on West-9th street between Water street and Berry street, approved July 25, 1888. Said warrant bearing date the 25th day of July, 1888, commanding me to levy upon lot No. 6, in block No. 118, in the City of Astoria as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively to collect an assessment of two hundred and six dollars, which assessment was made for the improvement of West-9th street between Water street and Berry street by Ordinance No. 1045 entitled an Ordinance declaring the probable cost of improving West 9th street from the south side of Water street to the south side of Berry street, approved June 29th, 1888. I have this day levied upon lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, and on Friday, the 14th day of September, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day in front of the Court house door in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, will proceed to sell lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, to the highest bidder therefor, to pay said assessment, costs and expenses of sale. Said sale to be for U. S. gold coin.

The State arrived yesterday; the Geo. W. Elder sailed.

Houses are being [illegible] on the east side of Benton street.

The Clara Parker comes down to-day with a load of brick.

All the transcontinental tariffs previously announced go into effect at once.

A good many Astorians are out of town, hunting and fishing and having a good time generally.

The side shows, the summer games and the fakes are nearly all gone. The salvation army still abides.

The Main street troughs stink horribly. In front of the Y. M. C. A building the smell is most offensive. The town needs sewers badly.

At the Congregational church to-morrow morning theme, "Brotherly Love." Y. M. C. A. union meeting in the evening, addressed by Mr. Harding.

Everybody, or most everybody, seems to be suffering from the epluribusunum this week, and blackberry cordial is in demand. What are you laughing at?

An O. P. railroad employe named Stearns kissed a young lady while the train was going through a tunnel last Tuesday, and upon complaint got the grand bounce.

The new postal law, which went into effect the first of August, reduces the postage on plants, seeds, bulbs, and cuttings from one cent per ounce to one cent for two ounces.

Past G. M. W., Danforth of California, is expected to be in the city to-day, and will pay Seaside Lodge, No. 12, A. O. U. W., a visit at their regular meeting this evening.

A. L. Thielsen, the engineer employed by the Astoria and South Coast railway company, went to Portland yesterday evening. He will return to-morrow, and will begin preliminary work the next day.

Supervisor Chance is collecting road tax in this yere district, and is surprising some folks by asking for the amount regardless of age, sex, or previous immunity from such payment. The list of delinquents will probably be a short one this time.

A boat and net were picked up on the weather beach yesterday morning, believed to be the boat and net that got away from the Miles a few days ago. It is a white boat, two boards broken in the starboard side; there are 200 fathoms net, newly hung, no marks.

Parties from Oysterville complain with apparent justice of attempted charges for transportation. One man who wanted to go to North Cove, 14 miles, was asked $15 for a boat, which to him looked pretty steep. A little modification of such rates would be more satisfactory all round.

A Salem paper says Curran & Monteith, of Albany, have $1,000 to bet on Cleveland's election. The Herald of Albany, says that's a no such thing: that Curran & Monteith want to bet that $1,000 on Harrison's election. Election bets are reported lively in this vicinity, some coin and a good deal of wind being put up.

Chas. Cameron left Oak Point on the 15th of last December for Portland with $500 in his inside pocket. On the 18th he was celebrating his arrival in the metropolis, and on the 19th he was on board an English vessel, a weeping and a wailing and for the cove of Cork sailed he, having been shanghaied by some bold, bad men in Portland. He is coming back, Charles is, and he says the next time he goes to Portland he isn't going to get drunk. Good idea.

Fish commissioner E. P. Thompson returned yesterday from the Clackamas fish hatchery, says the News of the 7th. From 300,000 to 400,000 eggs are in the hatchery troughs. The fish eggs put in the hatchery will come out about thirty days from date. Everything is in apple pie order at the hatchery and an immense number of young salmon will be turned out. At the McCloud hatchery between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 will be hatched out this season. Of these some 3,000,000 will be distributed to stock Oregon waters. Those desiring to stock rivers will address [illegible] commissioner Thompson at the St. Charles hotel.

Adjt.-Gen. J. C. Shofner, O. N. G., has just received 165 of the latest pattern Springfield rifles from the ordnance department at Benicia, Cal. They are Oregon's quota of arms under the law which provides for arming [illegible] Gen. Shofner will give forty-five of the rifles to the first regiment, forty to the second and eighty to the third. At first it was intended not to give any to the first regiment, but Col. Beebe [illegible] number in order [illegible] the sights are a great improvement on those of the old guns. Forty five of the guns now held by the first will be sent to the third to make up for the [illegible]

Orders have been received on the Sound from the San Francisco head quarters of the Pacific Coast Lumber Trust requiring all mills in the association to cut down to eight hours a day. The reason assigned is that the demand from southern California has fallen off. The real purpose is to keep up prices, for the local demand is still far in excess of the supply. Members of the trust refuse to sell to local dealers except in ship load lots and will not sell at all to ship owners for coastwise trade. The price of logs has been reduced from $7.50 to $5.50 on the same plea. The mills in the trust in the territory are those at Tacoma, ports Blakeley, Madison, Discovery, Gamble, Hadlock and Utsalady on Puget sound and the Gray's harbor mills.

Brother Flagg, of the Mist, kicks in yesterday's issue. He thinks because he has a family to support and spends his money in Columbia county and pays taxes there that he ought to have a show at the county printing instead of having it sent to Portland, especially as he does it cheaper and just as well as the county authorities can get it done in Portland. What a ridiculous idea! He also says he has published all official reports for nothing, and tried to treat every one in a courteous manner. He further alleges that he has as far as possible built up and aided the best interests of the county, encouraged immigration, etc. Yes, but look at the fun you've had. Virtue is its own reward. Such is life in a journalistic career, but it is a darned shame, all the same, and Mr. Flagg has both right, justice and fair play on his side.

PERSONAL MENTION.

I. E. Selig is running the auditor's office at present.

Mrs. Geo. McLean and family returned yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Scott returned to Portland last evening.

J. F. Flynn, the Fulton Park man, was in the city yesterday.

J. G. Ross, the genial proprietor of the Astor house, returned from Oysterville yesterday.

Ben Campbell and wife, of Santa Clara, Cal., are in the city, visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rucker.

Miss Lou Root, who has been visiting friends in the city for some weeks, left for her home in Seattle last evening.

C. A. McGuire was in the city yesterday. He has heard of a party of surveyors heading from Tanzy Point and is desirous of further information on the subject.

Foreign Salmon Shipments, '88.

The British bark Falstaff cleared for Liverpool, England, yesterday, carrying 58,202 bushels wheat, worth $44,462, 612 lbs flour worth $2,458, 25 kits salmon, valued at $118, and 12,869 cs. salmon, worth $90,856, a total value of $138,884. The salmon shippers were J. O. Hanthorn, 227 cases; Ocean Canning Co., 2,921 cases; Badollet & Co., 1,000 cs.; P. J. McGowan & Sons, 700; Astoria Packing Co., 1,900; Pillar Rock Packing Co., 945; Eureka Packing Co., 5,176. This is the last shipment of salmon foreign direct from the Columbia this season. The American ship Jas. Drummond cleared for Liverpool August 14th, with 15,921 cases salmon. The American ship Standard, cleared for the same port on August 26th, with 7,226 cases; the British ship Borrowdale, for Liverpool, on the 17th with 38,079 cases. This makes a total of 74,095 cases.

In 1884 there were 317,000 cases shipped direct to England from the Columbia river; in 1885, 213,900 cases; in 1886, 162,536 cases; in 1887, 120,036 cases, in 1888, 74,095 cases. This year's shipments represents a cash value of $518,665.

FROM OUR OWN LAND.

The Day's Record in Eastern States.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

GLASGOW, Pa., Sept. 7.—Miss Ada Flynn, a handsome and accomplished young lady, was mysteriously murdered in her home near here yesterday, during the absence of the rest of the family. It is supposed the deed is that of a robber.

PROTESTED AGAINST.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 7. -The Minnesota grain and warehouse commissioners to-day promulgated a rule admitting wheat damaged from five to ten per cent. by frost to grade as No. one, hard. This decision caused a sensation among dealers who vigorously protested. It will hurt the sale of Minnesota wheat.

THURMAN ALL RIGHT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Senator Thurman awoke shortly after ten o'clock this morning much refreshed, after nearly thirteen hours of almost unbroken sleep. His physicians say he is much better and will suffer no ill effects from his slight illness. Judge Thurman is all right and his only regret is that he was unable to speak last night. He arose at noon and expressed himself as feeling well except for limb weakness. He is very grateful to the people for their interest in him and wishes it to be explained to them that there is nothing in his condition to excite alarm. He has simply suffered from an attack such as the strongest are liable to and is now all right.

HAVE BEEN POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Minister Denby telegraphs that the treaty negotiations have been postponed for futher deliberations.

NO OFFICIAL REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The department of state has received no information in regard to the reported riotous demonstrations in China and an attack on the American official residence at Canton. The department has received nothing further in relation to the reported rejection of the Chinese treaty.

TROUBLE IN TEXAS.

RICHMOND, Texas, Sept. 7.—Negroes ordered to leave Fort Bend county for the murder of H. H. Frost, will resist. A committee of six citizens went out to Jack and Tom Taylor's place, fifteen miles from Richmond, a stronghold of five hundred negroes, to notify them that they had ten hours in which to leave the county. They declined to leave, and defied the whites. One of the committee returned to town and reported the decision of Taylors' while the others remained on guard. Forty men armed with Winchesters have gone out to enforce order. C. M. Ferguson, an offensive negro district clerk, has gone to the Taylor neighbood. Matters have assumed a serious phase and two local military companies have been called into service. Governor Ross has ordered the state rangers to Fort Bend county.

WILL STAND TRIAL.

PORTLAND, Sept. 7.—Ben King, Frank Anderson's confederate in the ten thousand dollar robbery from the Northern Pacific Express Co., will not plead guilty when he comes before Judge Stearns to-morrow morning, but he purposes standing trial. It is intimated that Frank Anderson will receive a comparatively light sentence.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Official Rejection of the Chinese Treaty.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. -The Herald's Washington special says: "It may be authoritatively stated that the rejection of the Chinese treaty was officially received at the White house from Pekin during the meeting of the cabinet Thursday afternoon."

Reducing the Surplus

The disposition of the Surplus in the [illegible] Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest or Side Pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no [illegible] whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was [illegible] After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months [illegible] My flesh was purified [illegible] which had been exposed for [illegible] got sound. Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attack every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and h[illegible] method adopted by Dr. Sanford [illegible] ration of his RADICAL CURE [illegible] hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most [illegible] symptoms clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER, price, $1.00.

This Won't Do, Belva

Belva Lockwood is candidate for president, but she might as well withdraw. In a speech she made the other day she destroyed her chances entirely. Among other things she said this:

"If elected, I propose to do as other presidents do."

This settles Belva, and the sooner she quits the giddy whirl of politics the better. Her assertion means a great deal. Among other things it means that if elected president, Belva Lockwood will Put her feet on the table sometimes

Chew tobacco.

Miss the cuspidor nine shots in ten.

Swear at the office seekers.

Let the wind blow through her whiskers.

Ride horseback without a side saddle.

Wear suspenders and a plug hat

Go fishing with Dan Lamont.

Do the American people want to see a female president do these things? No! A thousand times. No!

Nehalem Coal

A test of the Nehalem coal was made on the motor line, East Portland, yesterday. About a dozen of men holding claims in the Nehalem district brought down samples with them, and departed highly satisfied with the result of the test. At present there are about 200 claims taken up in the Nehalem district, and as soon as the result of the test becomes known it is expected that there will be a great rush for the coal fields.

A company has already been incorporated in Astoria to build a road to these regions. It is thought that the work of construction will be commenced shortly.

The coal is of first-class quality, and makes a hot fire with but little residue of ashes. News, 7.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have indorsed Electric Bitters and rely upon this great remedy in all trouble of Liver, Stomach and kidneys. For all Malarial [illegible] Malarial Poisons, Electric Bitters [illegible] highly recommended. [illegible] refunded. [illegible] John C. Dement, Drug Store.

A common practice with rural horse owners is to hang the harness back of the stalls. The harness will not last one half as long with the ammonical fumes arising from the manure and saturating the leather. There should be a room or closet set apart for the harness and robes.

Recent milk tests made at the English dairy show proves that the evening milk contains more solid matter than morning milk. The average test of four breeds show that morning milk contains 13.4 and the evening milk 14.3 of solid mater.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin whitish hue, again changing to a dark [illegible] appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite

my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but give me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

LEAD HILL, MO., July [illegible], 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: Our little girl when but three weeks old broke out with eczema. I was so debilitated that I almost despaired of ever feeling well again. All that the physicians done for me brought no permanent relief. Friends insisted that I should give S. S. S. a fair trial, although I thought it would be throwing away money. After taking a thorough course, my health and strength returned, and I must say that S. S. A Sailor's Little Joke.

Recently a reporter for the Mail and Express dropped in an East Side restaurant before going to bed and took a seat very near the door. While waiting for his order his attention was directed to two sailors who had followed him in and taken seats on the opposite side of the room. Both of them were more or less tipsy, but while one was in a condition bordering on the paralytic, the other was just full enough to be cute. An evidence of these two degrees of drunkenness was had during their stay in the place, and afforded much amusement to the people who sat at the adjoining tables. The men ordered clams. The drunkest of the two asked for little necks on the shell, and after giving his order lapsed into that somnolent state that the writer has been told by those who have experienced it is little short of heavenly. The other sailor called for a clam stew. The first one's order was brought and placed before him, but the stew had to be made. He who had ordered the raw moved not, and his chum quietly drew the clams across the table and devoured them, which done, he pushed the empty shells and plate back to its place in front of the sleeping tar. By this time the stew was ready, and this, too, was soon dispatched, but just as No. 5. was eating the last of it he who had called for the raw woke up. He looked enquiringly at his friend getting away with the stew and then at the empty shells. Then he smacked his lips and wiped his mouth with the back of his hand, and was just about to say something, when No. 2 asked:

"Well, Tom, you through?"

The sleeper was uncertain as to whether he had eaten the clams or not, but he made a wry face and replied, "I guess so," and picking up the check, went up to the cashier, paid it and departed. As the two went out, however, he who had kept awake turned aside, and putting his finger to the side of his nose, said to the waiter:

"Are you on? That's the second time I've done him to-night."

Dyspepsia and indigestion are killing more people than rum, ten times over. When a man has dyspepsia his stomach is always with him and he is always conscious of it. He can't sleep, his food doesn't taste right, he's morbid. Your stomach ought to be your best friend, and it will be if after eating you will take a little Simmons Liver Regulator to assist digestion and allay all irritation.

"After eating a hearty supper, if I take about a teaspoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten."—OVID G. SPARKS, ex-Mayor of Macon, Ga.

A Virginia orator demands that the government replace all its paper currency with a supply of "coined notes"—that is, a paper note not promising to pay a dollar in coin, but bearing the statement, "This is a dollar." How would the orator like to quench his thirst after his speech with an empty glass labeled, "This is whisky?"

An old time king of France is credited with saying: "A woman changes oft; who trusts her is the softest of the soft." But Elizabeth, queen of Romania, gave the sterner sex a scorcher in the following: "Often the virtue of a woman must be very great, since it has to suffice for both."—Hillsboro Independent.

The Biting Tongue.

Slander attcks is from behind. The bite is rarely felt unless unless it is maglignant and persistent. Disease, too, often steals upon us through a vital channel. The air we breathe affects the lungs—if it be malarious it enters the blood, if it change too quickly in the temperature, it produces disease of the throat, &c. Whether Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is taken to prevent or to remedy the various forms of disease produced by miasma, such as intermittent fever, dumb ague, ague cake or billous remittent, it is and ever has proved to be an effective and and thorough remedy one which does not only ameliorate the symptoms of the maladies of this type, but eradicates their cause. Dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, bladder and kidney troubles are among the humanity afflicting troubles which it promptly relieves and ultimately removes.

It is reported that sweeping changes are to take place in the command of the German army. A large number of generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals will retire, and the leading commands will be given to younger men, but they are soldiers of wide experience.

For scrofulous disorders, and mercurial diseases, the best remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Indiana Campaign.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. [illegible].—The outside public may gain some faint idea of the magnitude of the great political battle that is just getting under way in every township and county in Indiana when it is learned that the Democracy has 2,500 local speakers throughout the state, who have already canvassed their own counties and are now exchanging with adjoining counties. A majority of this army of orators is assigned for speeches every night in the week for two and three weeks ahead, when new assignments will be made. The democratic state committee facilitates the work by arranging assignments for local speakers through the district and county committees. The list of local speakers on the books of the Republican state committee is not complete. As yet but 1,500 names are listed, which is an average of nearly fifteen to each of the ninety-two counties. The work of assigning dates and places for this host of speakers is largely done by the state committee.

Both committees have large document rooms where campaign congressional literature may be seen by the ton. These documents arrive and depart almost daily by the wagon load. It is expected that Judge Thurman will attend about a dozen meetings in Indiana.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY ... SEPTEMBER 9, 1888.

MAINE votes to-morrow.

AN "infant industry"—eating.

CALIFORNIA to-day celebrates her 38th anniversary as a state.

A COLORADO judge has held that a man is obliged to tell his wife where he has been when he comes home late.

THE printer girls in the United States are to have an organ entitled the Printer Girl, run by their order in Topeka, Kan.

FIFTY-THREE notices have been given from as many senators who intend to make tariff speeches when that debate opens.

IT is predicted that when Dom Pedro dies an effort will be made to overthrow the Brazilian throne and establish a republic.

KING MILAN lost $120,000 at a gambling house in Vienna not long ago. He has paid dear for the knowledge, but he has undoubtedly learned that even two little deuces can beat one king.

IN the last nine presidential elections Indiana has been carried five times by the Republicans and four times by the Democrats. At the state election in 1886 the Republican majority was 3,324.

A TELEPHONE line has been put up by private enterprise at Faulkton, D. T. "The thing doesn't work," says a citizen of that place, "but the general appearance of the poles lends quite a metropolitan appearance to our town."

MRS. BURLINGAME, widow of Anson Burlingame, who negotiated a treaty between this country and China, died on Saturday week at her home on Long Island. Her son is the editor of Scribner's Magazine.

ACCORDING to M. de Beaumont, the average number of words used by a cultivated person in conversation is 10,000. Some orators in their campaign speeches find that this is about nine thousand five hundred too many for them.

THE railroad companies all over the country are busily engaged preparing the first annual statement to the interstate commerce commision. This voluminous statement has to be handed to the commission by the fifteenth of this month, and involves considerable work.

AND now the national greenback party is going to hold a convention and put a ticket in the field. This will make the eighth separate and distinct organization that will appeal to the voters in this campaign. The man who roosts on the fence this year must be mighty hard to suit.

ROBERT HARDING, a young English socialist, when he wants to make a speech on the streets or public squares, padlocks himself with a chain to an iron fence or similar fixture. Then when the police come to take him in they have to spend a long time in getting him unfastened, and he can make a pretty long speech before he is carried off.

MRS. BELVA LOCKWOOD, presidential candidate of the equal rights party, has returned to Washington. "I am the only bona fide candidate now in the field," Mrs Lockwood remarked to a New York World correspondent. "You see Cleveland hasn't accepted yet; Blaine has accepted for Harrison, but the latter has not signified his acceptance. My letter is out, and everybody knows just where I stand."

IN an article on the emancipation of slaves in Brazil in the last number of the Nineteenth Century we are told of the establishment of a newspaper for the purpose of rousing public sentiment in behalf of the slaves. The editors finally crowned their work by the republication in cheap form of Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and it was this book of Mrs. Stowe's which helped to finally arouse sentiment that overthrew slavery in Brazil.

SOME progress towards agreement upon the provisions of the senate tariff bill appears to have been made during the week. The bill has been considered in caucus, apparently with satisfactory results, and the announcement has been informally made that the bill will be reported on the 10th or 11th inst. The subjects in reference to which it has been most difficult to reach an agreement are the sugar, wool and lumber schedules. It appears to be settled that the bill in process of preparation will cut the sugar tax down 50 per cent., will leave the lumber duties as at present, and will increase the duties on the finer grades of wool 1c. per pound.

CENTRAL Africa is a land of mystery, from which in years past the most incredible stories have found their way. As there is no reason to suppose that the imagination of the average African has diminished of late years, one should accept with a great many qualifications the assertions that are cabled now and then across the Atlantic to the effect that a white pasha has organized an immense force somewhere around the headwaters of the Nile, and is on his way to take Khartoum from the hands of the Arab tribesmen. It is easier to credit the improbable story that Mr. Stanley is dead than the one that in the short space of a few months he has been able not only to cover thousands of miles of trackless wilderness but recruit, organize and equip a negro army of tens of thousands of men.

SALMON ITEMS.

The fishermen have resumed labor at prices agreeable to all parties concerned, and war is at an end. The boys say the grease run out, and they were afraid the machinery would get rusty.—Tillamook Headlight.

The two fish canneries in this county will pay out this year, in labor, something near $30,000, quite an item in itself and one we should look after and encourage that a repetition may be had year after year.—Tillamook Headlight.

The fishermen held another meeting Saturday afternoon, and a vote resulted in favor of the old prices 40 and 60.—Coos Bay News, 5.

The Coquille Fishermen's Union purchased the Mt. Hood cannery, and on Monday last commenced putting up fish. —Coos Bay News, 5.

A party from the Coquille informs us that Hume's trap, near the mouth of the river, although not completed yet, has been making a good record. The fishermen are building another trap just below Hume's, and our informant is of the opinion that the latter will get away with the salmon.—Coos Bay News, 5.

The differences between the union and cannerymen have not been adjusted, nor, apparently, is there any purpose on the part of either to withdraw from the positions assumed last week, viz: the one side demanding and the other refusing to give forty and sixty cents a piece for salmon.—Bandon Recorder.

A crowd of union fishermen came down the river last Sunday night and scared off several of Hume's fishermen, who abandoned the boats and nets and took to the woods, fearing bodily injury. Neither nets nor boats were destroyed, however, as has been stated on the streets, and things have been quiet since.—Bandon Recorder.

The union has been engaged several days driving piles for a fish trap just below Hume's, and it is expected that it will be in operation by to-night, if all goes well.—Bandon Recorder.

Some excitement prevails at Yaquina bay over a difficulty among union fishermen and the canneries. A gentleman from there stated that 100 union men have set the price of salmon at 3½ cents per pound. The canneries refuse to pay over 2¼ cents and have been paying 2 cents. As a result there is a standstill. Only three boats went out Friday night—all non-union boats. One brought in forty-seven salmon, and the other two twenty each; but only part of them were disposed of. The union men, it is understood, will endeavor to put a stop to fishing unless their terms are agreed to. The run has begun to improve, and unless the matter is settled the canneries will put up few fish.

NEW TO-DAY.

A STATEMENT.

EDITOR ASTORIAN.

The Pioneer of yesterday morning was made up largely of matter taken bodily without credit from the columns of the Transcript, a copy of which it had surreptitiously gotten hold of before the regular hour for its delivery. To the profits of this bit of piracy the Pioneer is welcome, if it derives any credit by it; but when it appropriates a column editorial and with brazen dishonesty credits it to another paper, thereby casting upon the Transcript the implication of its plagiarism, it is time for us to enter a protest. A parallel to this case, morally speaking, would be the larceny of goods from a merchant and then adding to the meanness of the crime by an attempt to lay the theft on somebody else. A [illegible] this piece of petty [illegible] we [illegible] never [illegible] of twenty years. It is [illegible] tion and not ill temper that we say this, while reflecting upon the unfortunate condition of a community that is subject to the whims and tricks and the flippant jugglery of an institution that displays not the least excuse for honesty, moral responsibility or truth.

Yours respectfully,

SNYDER BROS.,
Pub. Transcript.

CHIEF OF POLICE SALE.

NOTICE is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by the Auditor and Police Judge of the City of Astoria, in accordance with an order made by the Common Council of the City of Astoria, by Ordinance No. 1047, entitled an Ordinance ordering the Auditor to issue warrants for the collection of assessments remaining unpaid on West-9th street between Water street and Berry street, approved July 25, 1888. Said warrant bearing date the 25th day of July, 1888, commanding me to levy upon lot No. 6, in block No. 118, in the City of Astoria as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively to collect an assessment of two hundred and six dollars, which assessment was made for the improvement of West-9th street between Water street and Berry street by Ordinance No. 1045, entitled an Ordinance declaring the probable cost of improving West-9th street from the south side of Water street to the south side of Berry street, approved June 29th, 1888. I have this day levied upon lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, and on Friday, the 14th day of September, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day in front of the Court house door in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, will proceed to sell lot No. 6 in block No. 118, in Shively's Astoria, to the highest bidder therefor, to pay said assessment, costs and expenses of sale. Said sale to be for U. S. gold coin.

The Grismer-Davies company will be here on the 17th inst. L. E. Selig received a dispatch yesterday stating that the juvenile opera company would be here on October 2 and 3.

The cost of living is said to have increased of late years in Portland. It is the other way in Astoria, where the cost of living is considerably less than it used to be. It doesn't cost as much to die, either

The Young Men's Christian association song and gospel meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock will be led by Mr. T. A. Harding of Washington, D. C. Music by Y. M. C. A. orchestra which will be led by Prof. Francis.

Wm. Smith, of Douglas county, 58 years old, unmarried, etc., wrote a letter to president Cleveland last week, congratulating him on his successful administration. The next day the Douglas county court sent him to the insane asylum at Salem.

Articles have been filed at Olympia incorporating the Tacoma, Olympia & Chehalis Valley railroad Company. Capital, $1,000,000. The object of the company is to build a line of railroad, commencing at a point on Gray's harbor, to run easterly through the Chehalis and Hannaford valleys to some point on the Columbia.

The Northern Pacific company has purchased the Cœur d'Alene Railway & Navigation company's entire system. This comprises several boats that ply upon lake Cœur d'Alene and the Cœur d'Alene river, and twenty-eight miles of narrow gauge railroad, extending from Cœur d'Alene mission through the Cœur d'Alene mining regions.

From July 1st to the 1st inst., there were 99,069 sacks flour, and 258,888 centals wheat, delivered at San Francisco from the Columbia river. For the season, so far, 333,189 centals wheat have been carried to San Francisco from here. Under other and proper conditions these 33,318,900 pounds of wheat would have been loaded on vessels at the wharves in this city.

There was a Republican meeting at the old armory hall last evening, C. B. Watson president, Frank Patton secretary. Remarks were made by several present, and a general discussion of the "plan of campaign." It was on motion decided to have a large and enthusiastic beginning of the campaign about the first of next month, and the chairman appointed a committee to take charge of the matter.

An attachment suit has been brought by the National Bank of New York against Wm. T. Coleman, Frank S. Johnson and the California Chemical company to recover $9,500 on two bills of exchange for $4,750 each drawn by the defendant company last January. The Merchants' National bank of New York has sued the same defendants to recover $5,000 on a bill of exchange drawn by the same company January 13th last.

The Fire Insurance Association of London, which has over 500 sub-agencies throughout the country, will, it is reported, soon withdraw from business here altogether and transfer to London all its surplus growing out of risks placed here. This surplus amounts to $390,575.37 net, and is in the hands of three trustees. The reason for this action is said to be the heavy losses sustained by this company in [illegible]. Formerly there were nearly 1000 agencies of this concern in this country.

Yesterday a party of thirty-one young men left Indiana for Colville, W. T., where they will form a stock company for the purpose of carrying on a stock ranch. A peculiar feature of their agreement is that no member of the firm can draw his money out of the general fund during the first five years after the date of organization. Any one leaving the business will forfeit his investment of $500, which is the sum put in by each member. The young men will do their own herding, branding and dealing, and will thus be enabled to avoid the expense of cowboys.

Kong Wing, the Chinese pawn broker, whose palatial establishment is opposite the postoffice, is out and injured to the tune of $800. This amount, which is a fortune to a Chinaman, in China, was stolen from him by some brother Mongolian last Friday night. The thief deftly entered the front room, cut a hole underneath a bunk in which two Chinamen were asleep, got into the back room and took $800 out of an unlocked safe, on top of which another Chinaman slept. Kong Wing has kept that safe locked ever since, and slept last night with one eye open, but so far has no clue to the clever rogue who stole his coin.

Every one has heard the joke about "fencing a town in." An old Nevada friend in the office yesterday, tells it as a fact that the town of Bullionville, Nevada, is "fenced in," literally. Some time ago the two principal mining companies put up $400,000 chlorozination works that didn't work. Everything shut down, and neighboring bands of cattle came licking around the pans and settlers, and died from the effects of the chemicals on their innards. So the ranchers got together and hauling lumber, they just naturally "fenced the town in." Time was when Bullionville was a red hot little town with lots of coin and heaps of fun, but so goes the world.

The tugs Donald and Escort towed the Falstaff to sea yesterday afternoon, and brought in a British bark, believed to be the Cumbrian, from Maryport, England, with railroad iron aboard. When inside Clatsop spit, and about half way between buoy No. 6 and Fort Stevens, about six o'clock, the vessel struck, her stern taking ground, the vessel swinging broadside on. There was a strong ebb tide at the time, and the vessel is reported to have grounded lightly. There was a pilot aboard. The Gen. Canby and Dolphin arrived subsequently from the Cape and it is the opinion of those aboard that the vessel would be got off at high water with little if any damage. This is the first accident in that vicinity since the stranding of the Queen of the Pacific September 5th, 1883. LATER:—The tug Donald came up at a quarter past eleven last night, towing the Escort which had a hawser foul in her propeller. The vessel was then where she grounded, about half way between No. 6 and No. 3 buoys, on the edge of the channel, resting easy, and there was little doubt but that she would come safely off at 3 o'clock this morning, having simply sheered in, the tide running strongly out at the time. Captain Howes returned with the Donald shortly after midnight.

A Fight With Congars.

William Lousignont, living 24 miles west of Forest Grove, in this county, but near its boundary line with Columbia county, on the upper Nehalem, had a thrilling mountain experience last week. Wednesday evening he went into the hills after his cows, and in returning found one of his sheep freshly torn open and a cougar near it. It was dark and he had no gun with him. Next morning (Thursday) he went back to the carcass with his dog. A cougar was treed, which he brought down with his Winchester. Saturday morning he passed near the carcass with his three fine dogs, and discovered three cougars feasting upon it. With a wild yell the dogs ran for the big game, and succeeded in stampeding them into trees. Lousignont is the crack shot of the mountains, and quickly dispatched two of the large, ferocious beasts. The third shot was less fortunate, and the beast sprang out of the tree onto his best dog. He hastily threw a cartridge into his gun, but it missed fire. Lousignont then ran to the rescue of the dogs, using his gun as a club. He overreached in striking and the wounded animal turned upon him. Quickly drawing a huge hunter's knife, he plunged it into the cougar's throat, using his left arm as a guard.—Hillsboro Independent.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

General News Notes From Various Points.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Sept. 8.—The authorities have captured a gang of expert counterfeiters, a family named Russell, consisting of mother, two sons and three daughters. A full counterfeiting outfit was captured, together with a bucketful of spurious $5 gold pieces, of which they made a specialty. They worked in connection with counterfeiters of paper money.

IN USUAL HEALTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Judge Thurman slept nearly twelve hours last night, rose refreshed and in his usual good health this morning. He will speak at Newark to-night and return to Columbus.

A FLOODED DISTRICT.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 8.—It has rained daily here for ten days. The Congaree, Broad and Salvador rivers are greatly swollen. Vast tracts of cotton fields are inundated; the loss will be over a million dollars.

GOOD FOR PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Sept. 8.—In the match game of base ball played here to-day the home club got away with the visitors. Willamettes, 7; Salt Lakes, 4.

FROM ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8.—J. L. Palmer, chairman of the Arkansas prohibition state executive committee, says forty counties of Arkansas have gone against license. The returns are carried away from precincts which have large prohibition majorities.

TROUBLE AGAIN.

The election troubles in the Indian territory have broken out afresh in the Chickasaw nation. The election resulted in the return of Gov. Guy by a majority of 14.

Corruption and manipulation of returns are charged on both sides, and the danger of a tribal war has become so great that Indian agent Owens has gone to Tishomongo where the council is in session.

BIZ.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The statement of associated banks shows $11,646,625 in excess of the legal requirement. Bar silver, 92¼.

AGAINST THE GOVERNOR.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., Sept. 8.—The committee by the Day faction of the two headed Democratic territorial convention has completed its work and will send formal charges against Governor Church to the president sometime this month. The governor is charged with caucus packing and illegal methods to secure control of the territorial convention, of the use of his veto power to intimidate the people, appointing persons unfit to hold office, of illegally appropriating notary fees to his own use, of violating the militia law, of squandering proceeds of stock indemnity funds; of bad management of publication of laws of the territory. The charges are supported by affidavits.

A HORRIBLE MURDER.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The horribly mutilated body of a lewd woman was found early this morning in a yard attached to a common lodging house in Spitalfields. Her throat was cut from ear to ear, her body ripped open, her bowels and heart lying on the ground, and a portion of her entrails around her neck.

This is the fourth murder of a similar character committed recently in this neighborhood; all the previous victims were women of the lowest character. The author of these atrocities remains undiscovered. The excitement in the vicinity borders upon a panic.

THE G. A. R. REUNION.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 7.—Arizona posts of the Grand Army of the Republic arrived this morning in time to take part in the reunion. California posts will arrive this afternoon.

TROUBLE IN CHINA.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—While the state department has received no official intelligence of the rumored attack by natives on the American consul at Canton, the assistant secretary of state, Rives, said to-day he saw no reason to doubt the truth of this statement. There has been a feud in Canton growing out of the treaty trouble. Nothing can be said as to the details of the affair, but such things have happened before and are likely to happen again.

RACE TROUBLES OVER.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 7.—Race troubles in Fort Bend country are now over. A number of obnoxious politicians have been ordered to leave the country and have done so.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. M[illegible], Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. C. Dement's Drug Store

A Model Woman.

Mr. Jones came home at an unseemly hour the other night and was surprised to see Mrs. Jones sitting up for him below stairs, with no other light than that of the electric tower on the corner to keep her company.

"M-m-marie," he said huskily, "y-you shouldn't sit up s'late when I'm out on bushiness."

As Mrs. Jones did not answer him he continued in an alarmed voice:

"Shorry, m' dear, but it's lash time tell you I'm shorry—won't shpeak to me?"

At this moment Mrs. Jones called from above stairs:

"Mr. Jones who are you talking to at this hour of the night?"

"Thash what I like to know, m-m-my-self," stammered Jones.

Mrs. Jones hastened down stairs, lamp in hand. When she saw the situation she laughed, in spite of being very angry.

"It's the model," she said. "the model I bought to-day to fit my dress on."

"Yes, thash so," said Jones, tipsily, "model woman don't talk back—make some fellow good wife."—Detroit Free Press.

The Wife Wouldn't Allow It.

Five men, three of them pretty well known here, occupied a back room in a prominent saloon all last night, and judging from the cards strewn upon the floor in the morning many a deck must have been discarded during the nocturnal venture at poker. Two of the players were well-to-do business men and the rest were clerks receiving fair salaries, and who, by the way, had accumulated some money for the inevitable rainy day. One of the clerks lost very heavily, and besides giving his checks for the aggregate sum of $1,300, he even went so far as to risk his little homestead, valued at $1,900, which shelters his wife and two pretty children. Luck was against him, and he also lost that.

Yesterday morning the player who advanced him $1,100 on the property demanded a deed to it, but the desperate and senseless clerk could not deliver "the goods," because his wife declined to sign a conveyance Angry words followed, and it is not at all unlikely that the clerk's creditor will bring the matter into court.—Portland Evening Telegram.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that every-one, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Their Chances Like Sunbeams Passing By.

Something like 300,000,000 feet of lumber are required annually to keep up with the growth of population of Minneapolis and St. Paul. And still there are hundreds of Oregon youths who loiter away their time and see one hundred and sixty acre tracts of the finest timber out of doors grabbed up by eastern capitalists, when they could have it for the asking.—East Portland Vindicator.

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physician of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. Blew Five Dollars In On The Red.

It was down at Long Branch the other day that I saw an instance of what may be called philanthropic audacity. A small fair for a charitable object was going on in one of the connected rooms of the great hotel. One of the promoters was a young and pretty belle. She and her companions ventured out into the office and its vicinity to bring in customers. Our heroine set her roguish eyes on an oldish man, whose white hair and clean shaven face and portly dignity recommended him to her purpose. She thought that if he was not a clergyman or a deacon he was at least a justice or a statesman.

"Won't you please, sir, come in and look at a few of the pretty things we have to sell?" she said in her sweetest tones.

He seemed bewildered for an instant and then he followed her in a dazed way into the fair. There she escorted him around the long tables on which were displayed a variety of things placarded at ridiculously high prices.

"The object of this fair is to provide clothes for some poor children belonging to the congregation of the church here," the girl explained, persuasively, "and if you don't really want any of these things, it will be doing a good thing, just the same, if you will buy some of them."

"Well," said the venerable-looking old gentleman, and he laid a $5 bill down on an infant's knitted pink sacque, "I'll blow that in on the red. No, you needn't roll it up for me. If I have won, let it lie there for a sleeper."

The language may be mysterious to some of my readers. It was to the girl. She watched the man out of the room with wondering eyes.

"What has been done to you," was asked of him.

"They've bunkoed me out of $5 in there," he replied, "but I guess it's all right."

The fact is that the man was the notorious Ike Street, a faro dealer.—N. Y. Letter in S. F. Call.

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. — E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. — W. F. Fowler, M.D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured. — M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured. — Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach. — Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass. ††

FISH AND FISHING.

The Fishing at Celilo Investigated.

Laws Which Do Not Work Together Well.

Recently there were complaints lodged with the fish commissioners that parties were engaged in salmon fishing at Celilo contrary to law. On Friday commissioner E. P. Thompson visited Celilo, and found that the fishing was confined to the Washington territory side of the Columbia river. There was no fishing on the Oregon side of the river, and no evidence that there had been any.

The fishing has been done by Indians, who claim that they have been given authority to do so by generals Gordon and Chapman, United States officers. The Indians have no other means of obtaining a livelihood, and the commissioners are reluctant to deprive them of the privilege. Besides it would be difficult to get a jury to convict an Indian of illegal fishing. If they were stopped they would probably starve to death.

In addition to this the laws of Oregon and Washington territory differ on a material point. The close season for salmon under the Washington territory law ends on August 31, while the Oregon law extends the close season until September 30th. It is legal to fish on one side of the river, but illegal on the other.

Most of the fishing is done with dip nets and the fisherman stands on the shore. If they were in boats they could be arrested as the Oregon law extends clear across the river. It would be next to impossible for Oregon officers to arrest them while they stood on the territory soil and fished.

The territorial legislature at its last session passed a law changing the time of holding the legislature. This was so the legislatures of Oregon and Washington could be in session at the same time. Congress has refused to ratify this bill and so the territorial legislature will not meet simultaneously with the Oregon legislature.

The fish commissioners have hoped for such a consummation as the two legislatures conld frame and pass simultaneously similar fish laws, so that both would be identical in every particular. If this was done many obstacles in the way of the successful operation of the fish laws would be removed. Councilman John R. Thompson, of Vancouver, was seen yesterday, and he said he did not think there would be a session of the territorial legislature this year.

The Oregon state fish commissioners are a very active and energetic body and have done a wonderful amount of work for a small amount of pay. All the entire commission receives from the state is $2,500 per annum. Out of this sum they have to pay their own traveling expenses. For a while they patrolled the Columbia river at an expense of from $20 to $30 per day. For this service they did not get a single cent from the state. The commissioners could do proper patrol work and effectually stop fishing on the Columbia river, if about $8,000 per annum was given to them. Let us look and see if this sum would be out of proportion to the importance of the industry. The canned salmon caught in the Columbia this year was worth $2,500,000. The salmon canned at Yaquina bay, Tillamook, and other points in Oregon, will foot up $50,000. Fully $50,000 worth of fresh salmon is either consumed in Oregon and Washington territory or shipped to the east annually. This makes a grand total of $3,050,000 worth of salmon caught in the Columbia river and in the rivers and harbors of Oregon in a year. The sum of $8,000 bears such an infinitesimal relation to the sum of $3,050,000 that it is scarcely worth considering. When a great industry can be fostered and kept up and protected by such a small expenditure the legislature should not hesitate a moment about making the appropriation.

There is said to be illegal fishing at the cascades, which the commissioners will investigate.—News.

CLEVELAND'S STRATEGY

Something Worth Ten Thousand Votes.

A gentleman, who need be identified only as a member of the New York state committee which the mugwumps selected four years ago to manage their branch of the campaign for Cleveland, told this story to a group of listeners on the veranda at Saratoga, says a correspondent of the Globe-Democrat: "I have never asked anything of the president," said he, "and I have seen him but once since his election four years ago, although I know him very well. The other day I was in Washington on other business, and I went up to see him. We had a pleasant talk, and just as I was about to leave I said to him:

"'Mr. President, you are certainly the luckiest man I ever knew.'

"'Why do you think so?' he asked.

"'Well,' said I, 'in the first place you were lucky in being the first candidate to receive the mugwump vote, for that certainly elected you. In the next place you were lucky to hit the popular chord in your message last December, and thus become the leader of your party. In the third place you were lucky to receive the unanimous nomination of your party for re-election.'

"'And in the fourth place,' said I, 'lastly, but not least, you were lucky in this.' And I laid my hand on a paper weight which rested on his desk and contained the picture of Mrs. Cleveland.

"'In that,' said the president, 'I was indeed lucky.'"

"Now" continued the old gentleman, "I learned something else."

He glanced around to see if there were any ladies within earshot, bent forward and said something.

"Sho! Is that so?" exclaimed one of the listeners.

"It is," said the speaker. "You can rely on it. My wife got it from high authority."

"Well," commented the incredulous one, "I hope it is, for nothing can beat him if that is so. It'll be good news down in Virginia, for, as ex-congressman Hunton says, that is the only thing the Virginians have got against Cleveland, and if what you say i[illegible] will be worth 10,000 votes to him in that state."

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 12, 1888

THE WATERWAY CONVENTION.

THE following was received last evening, it being an official notification from the secretary:

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to instructions from the executive committee, and in accordance with resolution passed August 4th, 1887, I beg to state that the fourth annual session will be held on the 9th day of October next, at the Portland board of trade rooms, situated in Newmarket block, Frst street, opposite Vine, commencing at 10 A. M.

It is the desire of the executive committee and officers that the respective bodies composing the association send delegates, so as to fully represent their interests, also to act upon such new matter as may be brought before it. Very respectfully,

WM. H. BREWSTER, secretary,

The latter part of the secretary's communication is of the utmost importance, viz: that all communities interested send delegates to fully represent their interests. This is imperative if the best procurable results are expected.

The aim, purpose and intent of the Columbia Waterway association is briefly but entirely expressed in its motto, "An open river." An open river is a commercial need for this entire north Pacific slope, and the action of the association is a potent factor in its fruition.

The meeting of the association in this city in August 1887, was a notable one and productive of some satisfactory results, There was present two U. S. senators, the congressional representative, two ex-U. S. senators, the railroad commission, and representative men from many widely separated points.

The result of this meeting is best seen in the securing in the river and harbor bill, now a law, of $500,000 for the Columbia bar, $350,000 for the locks, and a proportionate sum for the middle Columbia and lower Willamette.

The mistake of the convention was its attempt to do too much. In the coming convention it would be well for practical results to have all resolutions bearing on matters that require the raising of money thoroughly discussed and their feasibility foreseen, before being passed upon in the affirmative.

While the idea and intent of the resolutions are good and the desire praiseworthy, the failure to adequately or surely provide money to carry out these plans obviously weakens their probability of fulfillment.

In this regard the executive committee has this season found itself hampered, the intent being far in advance of the performance.

The coming session promises to be an interesting one, and should be represented by every commercial body and considerable community in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

THE brotherhood of carpenters and joiners, which met at Detroit recently, was organized on August 12, 1882, at Chicago. Delegates at the first convention were from Philadelphia, St. Louis, New York, Washington and Chicago, and they represented 3,000 men. The organization now has 62,000 members, scattered in 460 societies. Eight-hour days have been won in twenty-three cities, and nine hours is a day's work in seventy-six other towns. Twenty-three thousand extra carpenters are at work in consequence of the above curtailment of hours. Initiation in the institution costs $1, and the dues are 25 cents per month. Two hundred dollars is paid to the wives of members who die, and $50 on the death of a member's wife. During sickness from $4 to $8 per week is paid, and $300 when a man has been permanently disabled.

IN France very practical use of photography has recently been made. Several persons were imprisoned by the caving in of a well. A hole was bored, and down this a tube with a camera was slid. The photograph showed the faces of some of the deceased, and demonstrated the uselessness of efforts at rescue.

THURMAN'S letter of acceptance was ready four days after his nomination. Now that Cleveland's is out his appears. Harrison and Morton have each to publish theirs, and then the game is made, and from now till election the fur will fly.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 11.—At an early hour the grand army men in uniform, led by a drum corps, began to form for parade, which was one of the grandest ever witnessed on any similar occasion. There were eighteen divisions comprising the Ohio department which was out in full force. All along the line of march the streets were densely packed. The sight of the grizzled and gray boys brought tears and shouts of admiration which were continuous, as a wave of applause rolled up and down the city and veterans marched by, the old soldiers themselves joining in the enthusiasm. They were heartily cheered in response, especially when they passed the reviewing stand on which stood old Tecumseh, and other of their former leaders.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 11.—Official bulletin of yesterday reports only 32 new cases of yellow fever, for the 24 hours that ended at 6 P. M total cases to date 636; total deaths 70. Some regard the reduction of the new cases as the effects of the storm, but physicians see no reason to hope for any abatement of the disease on that account. There is still a great want of physicians and nurses, one hundred more nurses are needed.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT.

PRESCOTT, A. T., Sept. 11.—The west bound express train was stopped by three masked men at [illegible] last night. They did not get anything. A reward of [illegible] offered for their capture, and W[illegible] Fargo will increase the amount.

GAVE IT UP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The dory Dark Secret, which started on a voyage from Boston to Queenstown some weeks ago, was abandoned at sea by captain Anderson, who arrived here this morning in the Norwegian bark Nord.

A ROUGH FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—There was a hotly contested fight at Bay Chester this morning between Jack Grace and Jack Delaney. Grace had the worst of it, and in the sixth round was knocked out, with a split nose, both eyes closed and two teeth knocked out.

FLOODS IN SPAIN.

MADRID, Sept. 11.—The rivers Xenil, Guadalfeo and Granada have outflowed their banks, causing great destruction. Villages have been destroyed and bridges swept away. People have become panic stricken and taken refuge in the mountains and many are drowned; 12 corpses have already been recovered.

AN UNFAITHFUL TRUST

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 11.—It was definitely learned yesterday that the embezzlement of Joseph Breed, assistant cashier of the Hartford National bank, who recently committed suicide, would aggregate $108,500 instead of $22,000 as first reported The estate of Daniel Goodwin loses $86,000. The large Shultas estate, of which Breed was custodian, is intact. The examination of the bank was finished yesterday. Not a dollar is missing. Breed lost the money in stock speculation.

BIG REPUBLICAN MAJORITY.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 11.—The following speech was made by Joseph Manley. Every county has gone Republican; the senate is unanimously Republican; the house four-fifths Republican. The Republican plurality will be fully 22,000. The Republican vote is the largest ever polled in the state. Reed's plurality is the largest he ever received.

RESULTS IN MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—Returns show that the Republicans have probably gained four senators. This makes the senate unanimous, unless one or both of the Democratic nominees in Knox may escape the general slaughter. In the house the Democrats gain two and lose two.

TO-DAY'S CONVENTION.

BUFFALO, Sept. 11.—There is a great rush for room for delegates to the Democratic convention to-morrow. It is believed that Hill will be speedily renominated for governor.

Fires on the south side of the hill, and on the other side of Young's river, sent clouds of smoke drifting northward yesterday, the sun at set looking like a ball of burnished copper.

Engineer Thielsen and a corps of assistants started in yesterday on the survey of the line of the Astoria and South Coast railway. Their point of departure was from the neighborhood of Kinney's cannery.

Bogus lottery tickets in the Louisiana lottery are being, or have been printed by the thousand by a San Francisco printer named Geo. H. Baker. It would be hard to imagine anything more valueless than a bogus lottery ticket.

The Telephone blew her whistle at 1 20 yesterday afternoon. She is said to have made unusual time, taking into consideration the stage of water; her actual running time, exclusive of stops, being reported at five hours and five minutes.

The forthcoming annual report of the general land commissioner will show that during the last fiscal year there were made 59,095 cash land entries of all classes, aggregating 5,907,254 acres, for which the government received $11,203,071.

Chas. Anderson a young man aged 22 was brought over from Gray's harbor on the last trip of the Gen. Miles suffering from heart disease. He was taken to St Mary's hospital where he died yesterday. The funeral will be under the auspices of the C. R. F. P.U.

W. H. Whitcomb was the maddest man in town yesterday afternoon. He had gone up on the morning boat as far as Oak Point to board the Telephone as she came flying down, but that boat went by and left him waving his hat and quoting scripture and he had to come back on the Bonita. Six others were in the same fix.

An exchange says that "the simplest pocket rule is the silver a person can find within his purse. A quarter dollar piece measures nearly an inch, a half-dollar about one inch and a quarter, and a dollar one inch and a half." The paper gives no rule, however, for obtaining the $1.75, which, perhaps, is not so simple as the rest of the recipe.

Diamonds have been discovered in the gizzards of grouse shot on the upper Nehalem. It was hoped for awhile that the usual story would be along about gold nuggets found in the crops of chickens in Josephine county, but as that and the yarn about the gold ring and iron nail imbedded in a two foot tree in Wasco county, are a little behind time, (being due September first,) the diamond dust is flying.

One of the funniest propositions this office has received for a long time came last evening in the shape of an epistle from a New York "journalist," saying that for one dollar each he would send a weekly letter on the tariff. Go to, young man, go to. For half the amount we will send you a daily letter on the same subject. If there is any one thing more than another that Oregonians are posted on it is the tariff. They read up on it last May. The New York man might chase Henry George into a vacant lot and talk tariff to him, but he is carrying coals to Newcastle to send tariff letters [illegible]

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

At a meeting of the city council last evening the committee to whom was referred the graveyard matter was discharged and a new committee appointed, consisting of Councilmen Cleveland, Welch and Bergman

The following was read:

The Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Astoria:

GENTLEMEN:--According to your instructions I made demand of W. G. Ross and M. Schlussel for the sum of $479, and they having refused to pay the same I began action against them in the name of the city for said amount, in circuit court of this county.

In the case of the city vs. W. W. Parker I am of the opinion the city can not prosecute the action successfully and therefore recommend its dismissal. I argued the demurrer on said ordinance at the last term of circuit court, and Defts.' demurrer was overruled.

I have the honor to remain yours,
GEO. NOLAND,
City Att'y.

Councilmen Welch moved that the report be received, placed on file and the city attorney instructed to use his judgment in the matter of dismissal of the case: carried.

City attorney Noland reported recommending that Chas. Korpela's petition for a transfer of liquor license not be allowed: recommendation adopted.

The reports of police judge and street superintendent were read and referred.

An ordinance extending the time for the improvement of West 9th street to June 1st, 1889, was passed under suspension of the rules.

An ordinance extending the time for the improvement of West 6th street to December 7th was read first and second times.

The following claims were ordered paid: F. Sherman, $37; THE ASTORIAN, $19.64; James Gardiner, $16; sundry persons, $50.70; G. A. Stinson, $5.52; West Shore mills, $15.48, $13.92; Caruthers & McTavish, $4.

The following claims were referred: Jas. Gardiner, $8; W. J. Barry, $17.50 (cash advanced); J. A. Rowan, $3.52; Electric Light Co., $144; Telephone company, $3; Astoria Gaslight company, $144; $11.90; J. G. Ross, $13.43.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the auditor give notice regarding the proposed improvement of Washington street, from Squemoqua to Concomly street.

The street superintendent recommended that the crossing of Chenamus and Benton street be raised to the grade of the custom house sidewalk; referred.

Councilman Bergman suggested that the roadway be closed up, whereupon councilman Welch moved that the council adjourn to 7 o'clock this evening, which was carried, and the janitor put the lights out.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The Danes are classed as Scandinavians. In 1397 A. D., Denmark, Sweden and Norway formed a single kingdom, with the capital at Copenhagen, and about this time the Danish queen Margaret, "The Semiramis of the North," was the reigning monarch. The present royal family sprang from Christian I., count of Oldenburg, who ascended the throne of united Scandinavia in 1448. In 1523 Sweden seceded and the kingdom then consisted of Denmark and Norway. In 1814 Norway was annexed to Sweden, and since that time Denmark has been a kingdom by itself.

"The Merry Maiden and the Tar."

She was merriest before she "struck" the tar. Her spirits sank as she beheld her new white gown blackened by the tar. This tar helped a wagon run instead of helping run a ship. Just so a thousand trivial accidents and neglected "small things" take the merriment out of the lives of young girls and maidens. Particularly is this the case with diseases peculiar to their sex which take so much enjoyment and happiness from life. However a remedy is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for all female "weaknesses" or irregularities, nervousness, neuralgia, and uterine troubles. Ask your druggist.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti-bilious Granules, have no equals 25 cents a vial; one a dose. Cure headache, constipation and indigestion.

BILIOUSNESS

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. Oregon Salmon Fishing.

A letter received by the Drs. Moore of Albany, N. Y., from Nestucca, Oregon, says the Sunday Press of that city, illustrates the wonderful abundance of salmon in the waters of the Columbia river and its tributaries as well as the widespread fame of Albany's popular veterenarians. The letter read as follows: "I have lost two dogs by eating salmon. The dog becomes stupid, eyes sore, mouth dry, and has a constant desire for drink. Prefers wading into and drinking running water. The treatment varies, and but few recoveries are reported. Please give the nature of the disease and the treatment. Salmon are so numerous in our streams that it is impossible to keep the dogs from them. The dogs have but one attack, and if they recover, are proof against it afterwards." Assuredly Oregon ought to be just the place for our local sportsmen to go and try their luck. When the fish are so numerous that the dogs easily rush into the water and seize them, our local Waltons could easily capture a few and not be so often compelled to resort to a fish market on their return in order to fill their baskets.

Men and Women's Bones,

Joints and muscles may escape the agonizing tortures of rheumatism if they will but "take time by the forelock," and annihilate the symptoms of the oncoming trouble with the benignant and highly sanctioned blood depurent and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Poisons mostly constitute the ordinary means of battling with this atrocious complaint. Avoid the risk of using these by resorting to the safe as well as effectual anti-phlogistic and preventive. After exposure to damp, through drafts and other causes which encourage a rheumatic tendency, a wineglassful of the Bitters prevents ill effects. No surer preventive of malarial ailments like fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake exists, and it is, besides, a most genial recuperator of strength exhausted by excessive mental or physical effort. Miners, mariners, operatives and others whose avocations involve laborious work in rough weather out of doors, or close application indoors, find it invaluable.

One day last week, a man by the name of John Albright left Huntsville, Columbia county, W. T., taking with him the family of one Mat Peterson, consisting of the wife, Jane Peterson and six children. The elopers took with them five head of cattle, two horses and a quantity of sugar and flour. When last heard from the runaways were near Milton, Oregon, with sheriff Marquiss in hot pursuit. World.

The latest improvement in the logging camps of western Washington is the use of horses in handling the logs, instead of cattle. Horses are so much quicker, more tractable, and possess so much more intelligence than cattle, that it pays to use them. The horses in the camps of the Huron company are magnificent animals and are just as finely harnessed as are the livery animals in the cities.—Washington Farmer

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

SCROFULA

Humors, Erysipelas, Canker, and Catarrh, Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. —E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. —W. F. Fowler, M.D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured. —M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured. —Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach. —Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass. ††

Chicago has 10,000 more men than women.

Congress costs a little over $10,000 per day.

Balloon ascensions are made by moonlight in Cincinnati.

Thirty-one of the ninety-six counties in Tennessee contain no railroads.

The tiniest of screws go in watches. The smallest is 4-1,000 of an inch in diameter.

The Montreal Star reminds us that there are 1,000,000 Canadians in the United States.

The largest cannon in the world is in Ghent, Belgium. The diameter of bore is 2½ feet.

Natural gas has caused in Pennsylvania in three years seventy-three fires, costing $900,000.

The public speaking during a presidential campaign costs about a million dollars. But talk is cheap.

At a depth of forty-five feet underground the temperature of the earth is uniform throughout the year.

Of the 200 gold-beaters in New York not one is a woman; while of the 900 gold-cutters not one is a man.

The railroad bridges in this country, if placed continuously, would reach from San Francisco to New York.

Colorado claims the first monument to Sheridan. It is "Mt. Sheridan," a Peak of the Rockies, 14,000 feet high.

There were in service January 1st on American roads 26,415 locomotives, the estimated value of which was $184,905,000.

A Chicago newspaper makes the statement that a railroad train arrives and departs from that city every minute of the day.

The question whether the Arab or the white man is to rule Africa seems likely soon to force itself upon the world's attention.

The total sum expended by the federal government since its formation in 1789 on the Mississippi river and its tributaries is $55,654,209.

A man who slept with his false teeth in place swallowed them and his throat was cut in order to get them out. He died in consequence.

An Augusta, Ga., citizen only thirty five years boasts of being a grandfather. Both father and son married at the ripe age of seventeen.

On a Florida railroad they have a machine at stations so that passengers can drop a nickel in the slot and see how long they have to wait for the train to come.

A precious collection of ancient newspapers is being formed by a Connecticut literary man. He already possesses 51,000 copies of journals, representing 8,000 different publications.

A large percentage of the men employed as heaters in the iron mills at Pittsburg are more or less troubled with defective sight. The nature of their work compels them to gaze into the dazzling light of metal at white heat.

It is only sixty years ago that the first stage carrying the United States mail westward passed over the Allegheny mountains. The road taken by the stage was from Cumberland, Md., to Wheeling, a distance of 130 miles.

Dyspepsia and indigestion are killing more people than rum, ten times over. When a man has dyspepsia his stomach is always with him and he is always conscious of it. He can't sleep, his food doesn't taste right, he's morbid. Your stomach ought to be your best friend, and it will be if after eating you will take a little Simmons Liver Regulator to assist digestion and allay all irritation.

"After eating a hearty supper, if I take about a teaspoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten."—OVID G. SPARKS, ex-Mayor of Macon, Ga.

It is said that not-one-tenth the quantity of snuff is bought and sold in New York that there was fifteen years ago. The chewing habit is also dying out, but more slowly; but the demand for cigars and the youth destroying cigarettes ever increases.

Not a particle of quinine nor any mineral substance is contained in Ayer's Ague Cure—yet it is a warranted specific for malaria.

The great mistake men make is this: They strive to increase their earnings, but they do not try to increase their earning capacity. They complain of the selfishness of employers, when, if they were wise, they would see that in this selfishness lies their greatest opportunity. The selfish employer is always on the lookout for the man who will serve him best and bring the most money into his treasury. He lies awake at night wondering where he can secure such a man. He is willing to reward capacity and fidelity liberally, not because he is generous, but because it is his interest to secure better service and better returns. Many of our young men have been quick to understand the situation and they have risen in the world.

For scrofulous disorders, and mercurial diseases, the best remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A piece of pumice stone as large as one's fist soaked in coal oil and wired to a pole makes a good torch for burning insect webs out of fruit trees. A piece of soft brick may be used if pummice stone is not at hand.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY . . . . . SEPTEMBER 13, 1888.

PURELY POLITICAL.

THE partisan papers give rose colored accounts of the progress of the presidential "campaign." Numerous eastern exchanges are received at this office, the Republican papers asserting that Harrison and Morton will surely be elected, and the Democratic papers asserting with equal positiveness that Cleveland and Thurman will have a big majority of electoral votes. From present appearances it looks as though the north would give the Republican candidates a solid vote. New York state seems to incline toward Harrison, and well informed men say that the empire state will give its electoral vote to Harrison and Morton. If this is so their election is assured. In 1884 Blaine had 182 votes. With New York's 36, and holding the states that went Republican then, Harrison would have 218, or 17 more than is necessary. So far 153 votes are sure for Cleveland. With New York's 36, he would have 189, lacking 12 of a majority. Democratic journals say he will get these in Indiana's 15. But that appears doubtful. It is Harrison's state; it went Republican by 3,324 majority in 1886. The prohibition craze has had its day there and the claim of the Republicans that they will carry Indiana by 8,000 does not look extravagant. In Connecticut 137,115 votes were cast in '84, of which Cleveland received 67,199, or 1,358 less than a majority. With Indiana and Connecticut the Republicans can let New York state go and still have 203 or two more electoral votes than is required.

The Republican managers seem to have some political sense this year. They are not trying to cover the earth, and are not fooling away time, money and effort in useless attempts to "capture" any southern state. They are concentrating on New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Connecticut. The democratic managers, with considerable sagacity, are doing precisely the same thing, and the four northern states that cast their electoral vote for Mr. Cleveland in 1884 are the battle ground in the campaign of '88.

But 54 days more remain before the final test of strength, during which time both great parties will put forth tremendous effort, the one to retain and the other to regain political control.

It is a grand sight to see 11,000,000 voters in the grandest nation on God's earth peacefully contesting for party supremacy, and during the contest becoming educated as to political creeds and issues. The $20,000,000 spent this fall is money well expended. No better or more direct means of education could be employed. Upon knowledge depends the perpetuity of our nation, and the kind of knowledge now being so extensively circulated in every nook of the country is exactly what is needed to have every voter know what his vote means. Intelligent votes never hurt; it is the ignorant, unthinking votes, and those alone, that America has reason to dread.

THE Chicago Times is doing heroic work in that city by publishing the names of the men who pay girls starvation wages and mistreat them. This may not be considered by some as "good journalism," but it is for the good of the community and it leads the Mail, an opposition paper politically, to say:

> No man is so rich in this country that he may not die poor. No man is so well established in business that he may not fail. No man can tell what his children may be driven to when misfortune comes upon him, or when he is gone. Thousands of girls now working for a living in Chicago were reared in plenty, and thousands were reared in luxury. No man or woman, no father or mother, can afford to sneer at or belittle the fight which the Times is making to secure for the weaker sex the same rights and privileges enjoyed by the stronger. If a girl works as well as a man she should be paid a man's wages. She should not be underpaid nor swindled because she is a girl. She should not be abused nor wantonly insulted because she is weak. She should not be imposed upon because she is poor. She should not be driven into slavery because she has no male protector. She is swindled, ill-treated, overworked and degraded by the grasping and inhuman wretches who are running the sweat mills of Chicago to-day.

HARRISON'S ACCEPTANCE.

A Republican Campaign Document.

Straight Statements On Public Topics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—The following is General Harrison's letter of acceptance:

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11, 1888.

To Hon. M. M. Estee and others, committee—Gentlemen: When your committee visited me on the 4th of July last, and presented the official announcement of my nomination for the Presidency of the United States, by the Republican convention, I promised as soon as practicable to communicate to you a more formal acceptance of the nomination.

Since that time the work of receiving and addressing almost daily large delegations of my fellow citizens, has not only occupied all my time, but has in some measure rendered it unnecessary to use this letter as a medium of communicating to the public my views on the questions involved in the campaign. I appreciate very highly the confidence and respect manifested by the convention and accept the nomination with a feeling of gratitude and full sense of the responsibility which accompanies it. It is a matter of congratulation that the declarations of the Chicago convention on the questions that now attract the interest of our people are so clear and emphatic. There is further cause for congratulation, in the fact that the convention utterances of the Democratic party, which are in any degree uncertain or contradictory, can now be judged and interpreted by executive acts and messages and by definite propositions in legislation. This is especially true of what is popularly known as the tariff question. The issue cannot now be obscured. It is not a contest between schedules, but between wide apart principles. The foreign competitors for our market have with quick instinct seen how one issue of this contest may bring them advantage and our own people are not so dull as to miss or neglect the grave interests that are involved for them. The assault upon our protective system is open and defiant. Protection is assailed as unconstitutional in law as well as in principle, and those who hold such views secretly cannot stop short of absolute elimination from our tariff laws of the principle of protection.

The Mills bill is only a step, but it is toward an object that the leaders of democratic thought and legislation have clearly in mind. The importance of the question is not so much the length of the step, as the direction of it. Judging by the executive message of December last, by the Mills bill, the delegates in congress and by the St. Louis platform, the Democratic party will, if supported by the country, place the tariff laws upon a purely revenue basis. This is practical free trade; free trade in an English sense. The motto upon the banner may not be "Free Trade." It may be the more obscure motto, "Tariff Reform," but neither the banner nor the inscription is conclusive or indeed very important. The assault itself is the important fact. Those who teach that import duty on foreign goods sold in our market is paid by the consumer, and that the price of the domestic competing article is enhanced to the amount of the duty on the imported article, that every mill[illegible] lars collected for cu[illegible] sents many millions which do n[illegible] the treasury but are paid by our citi[illegible] as the increased cost of domestic productions resulting from tariff laws, may not intend to discredit in the minds of others our system of levying duties on competing foreign products, but it is clearly already discredited in their own. We cannot doubt, without impugning their integrity, that if free to act on their convictions, they would so revise our laws as to lay the burden of customs revenue upon articles that are not prod[illegible] this country, and to place upon the fr[illegible] list all competing foreign product[illegible] don't stop to refute this theory as to the effect of tariff duties. Those who advance it are students of maxims and not markets. They may be safely allowed to call their project tariff reform, as the people understand that in the end the argument compels free trade in all competing products. This end may not be reached abruptly, and its approach may be accompanied with some expression of sympathy for our protected industries and our working people, but it will certainly come, if the hearty steps do not [illegible] to effect resist[illegible] party holds that the protective tariff is constitutional, wholesome and necessary. We don't offer a fixed schedule, but as a principle we will revise the schedule and modify rates, but always with intelligence.

As to the effect upon domestic production and the wages of working people, we believe it has been one of the worthy objects of tariff legislation to preserve the American market for American producers, and maintain the American scale of wages by adequate [illegible] duties on foreign competitive products. The effect of lower rates and larger importations upon the public revenue, is contingent and doubtful, but not so the effect upon the American productions and American wages. Less work and lower wages must be accepted, or the inevitable result of the increased offering of foreign labor in our markets. By way of recompense for this reduction in his wages, and the loss of the American, it is suggested the diminished wages of the workingman will have an undiminished purchasing power and that he will be able to make up for the loss from the home markets by an exchanged foreign market. Our workingmen have the settlement of the question in their own hands. They now obtain higher wages and live more comfortably than those of any other country. They will make a choice between the substantial advantages they have in hand and the deceptive promises and forecasts of these theorizing reformers. They will decide for themselves and for the country whether the protective system shall be continued or destroyed.

The fact of a treasury surplus, the amount of which is variously stated, has drawn public attention to the methods by which the national income may best be reduced to the level of a wise and necessary expenditure. This condition has been seized upon by those who are hostile to protective custom entries as an advantageous base of attack upon our tariff laws. They have magnified and nursed the surplus, which they affect to deprecate seemingly for the purpose of exaggerating evil in order to reconcile the people to the remedy they propose. A proper reduction of the revenues does not necessitate and should not suggest the abandonment or impairment of the protective system. The methods suggested by our convention will not need to be exhausted in order to effect the necessary reduction. We are not likely to be called upon, I think, to make a present choice between the surrender of the protective system and the entire repeal of the internal laws. Such a contingency in view of the [illegible] of expenditures to [illegible] The inspection and re[illegible] ufacture and sale of [illegible] important and the rev[illegible] it is not so great that a repeal of the law need enter into any plan of reduction.

The surplus now in the treasury should be used in the purchase of bonds. The law authorizes this use of it, and if not needed for current or deficiency appropriation, the people and not the bank in which it has been deposited, should have the advantage of its use by stopping the interest upon the public debt. At least those who needlessly hoard it should not be allowed to use the fear of a momentary stringency thus produced to coerce public sentiment upon the other questions. Closely connected with the subject of the tariff is that of the importation of foreign laborers under contracts of service to be performed here. The law now in force prohibiting such contracts received my cordial support in the senate. Such amendment as may be found necessary to effectively deliver our workingmen and women from this inequitable form of competition will have my sincere advocacy.

In the earlier years of our history public agencies to promote immigration were common. The pioneer wanted a neighbor with more friendly instincts than the Indian, labor was scarce and fully employed, but the day of the immigration bureau has gone by. While our doors will continue open to proper immigration, we do not need to issue special invitations to inhabitants of other countries to come over to our shores and share our citizenship. Indeed the necessity of some inspection and limitation is obvious. We should resolutely refuse to permit foreign governments to send their paupers and criminals to our ports. We are also clearly under duty to defend our civilization by excluding alien races whose ultimate assimilation with our people is neither possible or desirable.

The [illegible] has been [illegible] last [illegible] home the most potent [illegible] in our [illegible] The objections to Chinese immigration are now so generally accepted as such that the question has passed entirely [illegible] the stage of argument. The laws relating to this subject would, should I be charged with their enforcement, be faithfully executed. Such amendments or further legislation as may be necessary and proper to prevent evasions of the law and stop further Chinese immigration would also meet my approval.

Our civil compact is a government by majorities, and the law loses its sanction and magistrates our respect when this compact is broken. Evil results of election frauds do not expend themselves upon voters who are robbed of their rightful influence in public affairs. The individual, or community, or party that practices or connives at election frauds has suffered irreparable injury, and will sooner or later realize that an exchange of the American system of majority rule for minority control is not only unlawful and unpatriotic but very unsafe for those who have promoted it. The disfranchisement of a single legal elector by fraud or intimidation is a crime too grave to be regarded lightly. The right of every qualified elector to cast a free ballot, and to have it honestly counted, must not be questioned. Every constitutional power should be used to make this right secure [illegible] punish fraud upon the ballot. Our colored people do not ask special legislation in their favor, but only to be made secure in the common right of American citizenship. They will, however, naturally mistrust the sincerity of those party leaders who appeal to their race for support only in those localities where suffrage is free and the election results doubtful, and compass their disfranchisement where their votes would be controlling and their choice cannot be indorsed. The nation not less than the states is dependent for prosperity and security upon the intelligence and morality of the people. This common interest very early suggested national aid in the establishment and endowment of schools and colleges in the new states. There are, I believe, present exigencies that call for still more liberal and direct appropriations in aid of common school education in the states. The territorial form of government is a temporary expedient, not an experiment of civil condition. It is adapted to the exigency that is suggested, but becomes inadequate and even oppressive when applied to fixed and populous communities. Several territories are well able to bear the burden and discharge the duties of free commonwealths in the American union. To exclude them is to deny the just rights of their people and may well excite their indignant protests. No question of political preference of the people of a territory should close against them the hospitable door which has opened to two thirds of the existing states, but admission should be resolutely refused to any territory, a majority of whose people cherish institutions that are repugnant to our civilization or inconstant to a republican form of government.

A declaration against all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens is in harmony with the views entertained and publicly expressed by me long before the assembling of the convention. Ordinarily capital shares the losses of idleness with labor, but under the operation of the trust in some of the forms, the wage worker alone suffers loss, while idle capital receives dividends and forms a trust fund. Producers who refuse to join the combination are destroyed and competition as the element of prices is eliminated. It cannot be doubted that legislative authority can and should find methods of dealing fairly and effectively with these and other abuses connected with this subject.

It can hardly be necessary for me to [illegible] I am heartily in sympathy with the declaration of the convention on the subject of pensions to our soldiers and sailors. What they gave and what they had suffered I had some opportunity to observe and in a small measure to experience. They gave unhesitatingly. It was not a trade but an offering. The [illegible] was heaped up and running [illegible] What they achieved only distant [illegible]ions can adequately tell without attempting to discuss particular portions. I may add that a measure in behalf of surviving veterans of war and of the families of their dead comrades should be conceived and executed in a spirit of justice and of the most grateful liberality, and that in the competition for civil appointment honorable military service should have appropriate recognition. The law regulating appointments to the classified civil service received my support in the senate in the belief that it opened a way to much needed reform. I still think so, and therefore cordially approve the clear and forcible expression of the convention on the subject.

In the appointments to every grade and department, fitness, and not party service should be essential and discriminating test, and fidelity and efficiency the only sure tenure of office. Only the interests of public service should suggest removal from office. I know the practical difficulties attending an attempt to apply the spirit of civil service rules to all appointments and removals. It will, however, be my sincere purpose, if elected, to advance reform.

I notice with pleasure that the convention did not omit its solicitude for the promotion of virtue and temperance of our people. The Republican party has always been friendly to everything that tended to make the home life of our people [illegible] pure and prosperous, and will [illegible] be true to its history in this respect.

Our relation with foreign powers should be characterized by friendliness and respect. The right of our people and our ships to hospitable treatment, should be insisted upon with dignity and firmness. Our nation is too great both in material strength and in moral power to indulge in bluster or be suspected of timorousness. Violation and inconsistency are as incompatible with successful diplomacy, as they are with national dignity. We should especially cultivate and extend our diplomatic and commercial relations with the Central and South American states. Our fisheries should be fostered and protected, the resources of firm [illegible] dignified and consistent diplomacy, are undoubtedly equal to a prompt and peaceful settlement of the difficulties that now exist. Our neighbors will not expect in our commercial ports a hospitality they deny to ours.

I cannot extend this letter by special reference to other subjects to which the convention gave expression. In respect to them as well as those I have noticed I am in the entire agreements of the convention. The resolutions relating to coinage, to the rebuilding of the navy, to coast defenses and public lands, express a conclusion to all of which I gave my support in the senate.

Inviting a calm and thoughtful consideration of these public questions, we submit them to the people. Their intelligence, patriotism, and the good Providence that made and has kept us a nation will lead them to a wise and safe conclusion. Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

FORTY MINUTES IN THE CITY HALL.

General Discussion About "The Roadway."

Messrs. Bergman, Sherman, Cleveland and Welch answered to their names when auditor Jewett called the roll of councilmen yesterday evening. The proceedings opened under the head of "good of the order."

Councilman Bergman said he was desirous of having the roadway fixed. Councilman Sherman thought something ought to be done. Councilman Cleveland said he had seen [illegible] about it, and the governor said if the roadway was built no wider than at present he had no objections. Councilman Robb took his seat, and said he would like to see the roadway fixed. Council. Cleveland said he would like to see the roadway fixed. Councilman Bergman was of the opinion that the roadway ought to be fixed, and suggested that a motion be made authorizing the street superintendent to take up some of the crossings. Mayor Page suggested an inquiry as to how much money the city would be willing to provide for the repair of the roadway, providing the adjacent property owners would sign an agreement to finish such repair. Councilman Cleveland suggested that the adjacent property owners apply to the county for relief. Councilman Sherman suggested that whatever was done should be done by contract.

Mayor Page suggested that the city appoint a special agent to secure a subscription list to circulate among the property owners to see how much they would subscribe. He thought that it would cost about $1,500.

Councilman Welch said that a part of the property owners were willing to do what was believed to be fair; he thought that it would cost the city from $600 to $1,000 to put the roadbed in first rate order; he had not of late given the subject much attention; he was willing to have whatever he [illegible] for whatever was required in the matter; that the notice was still in force and could be put through. Councilman Cleveland wanted to know why the adjacent property owners should ask that that street be repaired by the city any more than any other street. He thought that the roadway ought to be repaired.

He thought that it was a disgrace to Astoria to have property owners act as they do in this and other matters. Councilman Robb agreed with councilman Cleveland [illegible] but thought that the roadway ought to be fixed. Councilman Bergman thought that the roadway should be shut up. Councilman Welch asked where the council had authority to shut it up. Mayor Page said by reason of its being a nuisance. Councilmen Cleveland and Welch recited some ancient history, after which councilman Welch said the property is not worth anything, it is a piece of waste property; nothing but a long bridge to connect two communities; couldn't sell the lots for what it had cost the owners; thought it would be wrong to shut the roadway up; he made a motion that councilman Sherman be appointed a committee of one "to look into the matter." Councilman Robb seconded the motion. So did councilman Bergman. Councilman Cleveland asked if this supposed that any money was to be taken out of the general fund: he also thought that if any piece of that property was sought to be bought the party desiring to buy would soon find that it wasn't "waste property." Councilman Welch then cited what councilman Cleveland had done in the way of voting on an ordinance the night before: he [illegible] Cleveland was a [illegible]

Councilman Welch cited the example of Seattle where he said the city aided the property owners in the building and extension of streets.

Mayor Page gently checked the debate [illegible] personal, between councilmen Welch and Cleveland, and councilman Sherman said he would do what he could in the matter; that he believed the roadway ought to be fixed. Councilman Bergman was willing to wait till the next regular meeting, but no longer.

The motion then passed by a unanimous vote.

An ordinance extending the time for improving West 6th street was read first and second time, and everybody went home.

THE WORLD OF POLITICS.

The Wilcox-McIsaac Trial in Portland.

The Grand Jury Ignores Mrs. Dr. Murray.

Special to THE ASTORIAN.]

COLUMBUS, Sept. 12.—The national encampment began this morning. The Grand Army, Woman's Relief Corps, ladies of the G. A. R. army, of West Virginia, naval veterans' division, brigade and regimental associations, met in various parts of the city with closed doors.

In the course of his annual address commander-in-chief Reay says: On March 31, 1887, the total membership of our order, in good standing, was 320,936. On March 31, 1888, it was 354,216, making a net gain of 32,280. The reports show that on June 30, there were 395,245 comrades borne on the rolls, to which may safely be added a sufficient number out on transfer cards to swell the grand total to 400,000.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The Democratic state convention was called to order at one o'clock by Mayor Murphy, of Troy, chairman of the state committee. George Raines, of Monroe, was made temporary chairman. After the appointment of the usual committees, a recess was taken till this evening.

MASS. REPUBLICANS.

BOSTON Sept. 12 The Republican state convention was called to order shortly after eleven o'clock, by chairman Burden, to nominate a state ticket. The present officers, except the state treasurer, will probably be renominated. Before the recess a ballot for governor was taken, resulting in the renomination of Gov. Ames by a vote of 853, to 280 for W. F. Draper. The result will not be declared till the convention reassembles.

A REPUBLICAN GAIN.

LEWISTON, Maine, Sept. 12. Nearly complete returns from the second congressional district show the election of Dingley (Rep.) by about 5,500 plurality, a Republican gain of 1,750 over two years ago.

MASS. PROHI'S

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 12 The Massachusetts prohibitionists held their state convention here to-day. After temporary officers were elected a recess was taken until 7 P. M.

MUNICH, Sept. 12.—The debts of the late king Ludwig have been almost cleared up. There is a good prospect of rebuilding the royal fortune.

ITALIAN FLOODS.

ROME, Sept 12—Floods in the provinces of Lombardy and Venice have done much damage. Many have been drowned. The waters are subsiding.

WILCOX-M'ISAAC TRIAL.

PORTLAND, Sept. 12.—This morning was the time fixed for John D. Wilcox and C H McIsaac to plead. Both defendants appeared in the courtroom looking fresh and anything but dejected. Mr. Wilcox was represented by Richard Williams, Esq., and Mr. McIsaac by James Gleason, Esq. Mr. Williams stated that the defendant demurred to the indictment, in which he was seconded by Mr. Gleason. The court signified his pleasure to hear the argument on the demurrer on Monday next, when Hon. Joseph Simon will appear as an associate of Mr McGinn in the prosecution.

What promised to be a big court sensation, namely, the indictment of Dr. Frances Murray, charged by J. D. Wilcox and his detectives with manslaughter in causing the death of Mary Schneller, from the effect of unlawful medical practice, has fallen to the ground, perhaps never to be resuscitated. The grand jury ignored the accusation and destroyed all the testimony presented to them, after a careful investigation. This course exonerated the doctor from all blame in connection with Miss Schneller's death.

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. According to a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker the cost of rearing a three year old colt is $84. Such a colt will sell for ordinary farm purposes he says, for $150, thus giving a net profit to the breeder of $66.

By law the person of the young king Alphonso XIII. of Spain can be touched only by duly appointed persons. The other day the little fellow undertook to crawl out of his crib and would have caught a fall, which might have resulted in serious consequences, had not an unauthorized person caught him. But for this act the person had to be punished all the same, though he was rewarded liberally in private.

His modest desires—Young man (to waiter)—Waiter, I want some roast turkey. Give me the outside slice off the breast, a nice large piece of the liver, and as I am hungry, you might bring me both second joints. Waiter—Yes, sir; anything else? Young man (contemplatively)—Yes, there is something more I intended to order. Let—me—see. Waiter—I guess it must be the earth. How'll you have it cooked?—N. Y. Sun.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Hours, 10 to 5 and 7 to 9: Sunday, 8 to 11 A. M., only.

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. —E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. —W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured. —M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured. —Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach. —Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass. ††

MAN AND HIS FUN.

Man that is born of woman is of few days and fond of fun.

In the beginning, when his tumlet is full of milk and his soul of content, he lies upon his back and kicks his heels in the air. He says "ga-ga" and "goo-goo," and that is fun.

Being grown older, he climbs a tree and falls out therof; he goes in swimming, and is well-nigh drowned; he absents himself from school, at the expense of his cuticle, and that is fun.

He grows in size, but not in wisdom for now he is in college. He goes forth by night and steals the signs of poor tradesmen; he marches in processions of fools and burns his books, he gets drunk over nights and reaps headaches in the morning, and that is fun.

He conceives a desire for the company of young women; he follows one girl about and wears her hair; she carries his scalp in her belt, and she rests under the shadow of his ears, and that is fun.

In the end she throws him over, and the sunshine is gone out of his life, and for the space of three months he is as a blighted sycamore and as a wild ass waiting in the desert, and that is fun.

He takes to cynicism and to neglect of his personal appearances, and for that he himself did not make the world, he saith it is but a fortuitous concourse of atoms, and a derned bad concourse at that; he believes that he is old, and he suffers in his heart, seeing that his mustache bears him not out, and that is fun.

He returns to the world on his own invitation; and is now a man of the world. He knows the wickedness of all things and the doctrine of mixed drinks; his trousers are trousers of truth, and his coats are coats of correctness, and that is fun.

He drinks the champagne of the Gaul, and on the morrow the brandy of the Gaul and the soda water that is naught but marble dust and vanity. He goes to the play; he goes also after the daughters of the play house; he saith "my dear" unto the girls; he gives his head to Herodias and pays for the charger, and that is fun.

And having done thus for a space, he is grown old, and his blood is turned to gout in his veins; he sits within the club window in the sun, and he mows and gibbers at women as they go by him; he catches the young men by the skirts of their coats and tells them he hath been a devil in his time, and that is fun.

And in the last day he is cased in rosewood and decked without with silver, and is laid in the earth in Greenwood. And when the young men hear that he is dead, they say to one another: "Let us pour a libation to him, being in the nature of a snifter before dinner, for he was fun."—Puck.

Dyspepsia and indigestion are killing more people than rum, ten times over. When a man has dyspepsia his stomach is always with him and he is always conscious of it. He can't sleep, his food doesn't taste right, he's morbid. Your stomach ought to be your best friend, and it will be if after eating you will take a little Simmons Liver Regulator to assist digestion and allay all irritation.

"After eating a hearty supper, if I take about a teaspoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten."—OVID G. SPARKS, ex-Mayor of Macon, Ga.

A man from down on the Umpqua river tells of a hunter who became lost in the dense forests of that region and who wandered about day after day with only starvation and his faithful dog staring him in the face. Finally driven by hunger he cut off the dog's tail, roasted and ate it. After finishing his feast he observed with sorrow that the poor dog had had nothing, so he gave him the bone.

For scrofulous disorders, and mercurial diseases, the best remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"A man hires me to shoe his horse, agreeing to give me one grain of corn for the first nail, two for the second, four for the third, and so on, doubling it for every nail driven. If I use thirty-one nails how much corn shall I receive?" You will receive 2,147,483,647 grains of corn.

Not a particle of quinine nor any mineral substance is contained in Ayer's Ague Cure—yet it is a warranted specific for malaria.

The Reporter's Vacation.

Metropolitan Editor—Think you need a rest eh? Well, I shouldn't wonder; city life is a hard one, taking it all the year around, and I believe it is several years since you had a vacation. Which do you most enjoy, seashore, mountains or pastoral scene?

Hard-worked Reporter (with enthusiasm)—Oh, the mountains always.

Editor—Well, the Mind and Matter association will hold their sixteen-hour-a-day metaphysical sessions at the Bleak Top this year, and you can go there and report them. Don't miss anything and keep each day's essays down to six or eight columns. The paper has a bill against the hotel keeper at Bleak Top for advertising. I will charge it to your account and let you take it along. Just before leaving hand the bill in payment for your board but be careful to do it politely because he's a retired prize-fighter and the wickedest man east of San Francisco.—Omaha World.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

The mortality among children at Washington D. C., is reported as appalling. Since April 7, over 800 children under three years of age have died, and for the last two weeks, deaths have averaged ten daily. It is charged by a writer on a Sunday paper that impure milk causes the fearful death rate. He boldly avows that not more than fifty gallons of pure milk are daily sold in the city, the balance being adulterated.

NOT "TRUSTS." (?)

"THERE are no trusts in England," shout the free trade newspapers. No, there are no trusts there, but they have some things that look very much like trusts. The London Iron Trade Circular says:

> The largest amalgamation of business firms which has ever taken place has been accomplished, and the prospectus of the company will be issued in the course of a few days. There are eighteen coffin furniture makers in England, Scotland and Ireland, and the whole of these have joined together in one large company with a capital of £400,000, part of which capital will be offered to the public for subscription.

This is not a trust. It is simply an "amalgamation of business firms." Oh dear, no. There are no trusts in England.

The London Iron and Steel Trade Journal says:

> The practice of combination to maintain prices in certain branches of the English iron trade is extending. In the Birmingham district the makers of carriage, cart and wagon axles recently united for the purpose of establishing an advance of 20 per cent., and so far the alliance has succeeded in upholding the higher rates.

This isn't a trust either. Bless you, no. This is simply a "combination to maintain prices." Bear in mind, brethren, "there are no trusts in England." But if the above are not "trusts," what are they?

THE sum of $378,000 was drawn last year from the private purse of the king of the Belgians to support the Congo independent state. Every year since 1879 this remarkable king has contributed a large portion of his income to carry on his chosen work of exploration, territorial acquisition and government in the Congo Basin. He has demonstrated his unwavering faith in the possibility of reclaiming savage Africa by pouring out millions of money in support of the stupendous enterprise which he originated and of which he has borne unaided the entire financial burden. He sees at last capitalists stepping in to survey a railroad and to put trading steamers on the upper Congo, but the entire cost of administration and all the outlay for supplies are still drawn to the last franc from King Leopold's pocket-book. It is a remarkable instance of royal fealty to a purely philanthropic idea. If the enterprise meets the success which its patron expects it will make his name far better known to future ages than those of many other kings of his time.

THE receipts for wheat in Minneapolis for the crop year ending August 31, 1888, were 47,109,490 bushels against 39,278,380 bushels last year. This is the largest quantity of wheat ever received in any primary market in the world. It exceeds the whole wheat crop in Minnesota.

Willing to Try the Experiment.

A man who subscribed to The News for three months writes: "I want to pay for my subscription, but I'm a little short of money, so I send you a half dozen eggs. If yo's put 'em under a settin' hen they'll hatch out enough chickens to pay for a year's subscription." Now, this is a new way to pay debts; but if somebody will give us a hen we'll try the experiment.—Smithville (Ga.) News.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. C. Dement's Drug Store.

GOLDENSON HANGED YESTERDAY

Murder of Major Bartellot in Africa.

Portland Races—Another Ocean Horror.

PORTLAND, Sept. 14.—There was a big crowd and a dusty track at the City View Park to-day. The first race was a half-mile dash: Arthur H., first, Tom O'Hara, second. The second race, half-mile and repeat, running: Ida Glenn, first; Kitty Wells, second. Both races were dumps. For the 2:30 trot there were five entries: Susie S., Maud Rush, Kitty Ham, D. K. W., Lady Don; D. K. W. won, Kitty Ham, second.

A FATAL COLLISION.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Sept. 14.—While the Baltimore and Ohio freight train was passing a passenger train near Ankeny, a town twenty miles south of here, this morning, the engine of the freight train exploded. Several lives were lost.

HANGED AT LAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Goldenson was hanged at 12:05 this afternoon.

Alexander Goldenson spent the last night of his life in a manner fully in accord with his conduct ever since the fatal afternoon nearly two years ago, when he shot and killed little Mamie Kelly.

After his mother had called and said her last farewell to her son, he appeared to break down for a few moments, but quickly regained his composure and received a call from Father Tassenette, who tried to administer spiritual consolation to the condemned man. After the priest had left, Goldenson engaged in a game of cards, keeping up his hilarity all the time. Soon after midnight he called for wine and drank a toast with his jailors, after which he lay down on his cot and soon fell into a fitful slumber. About 3:30 in the morning he sprang out of bed and dressed himself. It was apparent that he was ill at ease, and deep set circles around his eyes contrasted strongly with the deathly pallor of his face. By six o'clock he seemed in a very cheerful mood and walked up and down his cell whistling several popular airs. The priest made another call about 6:30 and Goldenson appeared glad to see him; after he had gone, two prison evangelists called and sang and prayed with the prisoner. While they were in his cell, the deputies tested the gallows and ropes, and found everything secure. Goldenson's spirits appeared to be greatly improved after the evangelists left him.

He talked to his jailors on trivial matters, and soon asked for food which was brought him and he ate heartily. While he was eating the city physician arrived, examined him, and found he was in good condition and not likely to break down. He told the physician he would like to have a little brandy just before execution. When he had finished his breakfast, he was asked if he was ready to go to the cell on the upper floor next to the scaffold. He said in a steady voice, "I am," and quietly put on his coat and vest. He then turned to chief jailor Rogers and walked out into the corridor.

MURDER OF MAJOR BARTELLOT.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A dispatch from St. Paul Deleando states that Major Bartellot was shot July 19 by his manyena carriers. The head Arabs and men of his expedition thereupon ran off to Stanley falls, where Jamison is making arrangements with Tippo Tib for the reorganization of the expedition. He will proceed as quickly as possible.

The news of the murder of Major Bartellot, the leader of the expedition in search of H. M. Stanley, has given rise to speculation regarding the fate of the great explorer himself. The newspapers are unanimous in the opinion that Bartellot was betrayed by Tippo Tip, who organized the native portion of the expedition, and the question is asked [illegible] not Stanley also have been the [illegible] of his treachery.

THE G. A. R. REUNION.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—The G. A. R. reunion will close to-day. National encampment and women's relief corps convention is again in session.

AN OCEAN DISASTER.

MADRID, Sept. 14.—Eighty passengers, mostly emigrants, and six of the crew of the steamer Lud, American, from Monteveido, sunk last evening, are reported lost. The steamer which collided with her is badly damaged.

AN ELK HUNT.

On Saturday, September 1st Mr. E. S. Williams and F. C. Klockner, recent arrivals from Pennsylvania, together with several other young men armed and equipped for the occasion, went down the river to Westport, Clatsop county, to Mr. R. E. Mathewson's ranch to have a hunt. On Monday afternoon they come on to elk signs, which they followed up for three days in succession. About 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Mr. Williams came on his elkship about sixty yards off. He was a noble looking fellow, with magnificent antlers, erect, and looked as proud as a king of the forest. Williams took aim with his Winchester rifle, and though he had never before in any forest beheld such magnificent game, and was very anxious to secure his antlers, he was as cool and deliberate as though it was a common target. The ball struck him just behind the shoulder blade and the elk bounded off and ran about one hundred yards and fell. The young hunters pounced upon him, cut his throat, and after matters quieted down a discussion arose as to its genus: One declared it was a rhinoceros, and another that it was an elephant, but Mr. Williams said that he was elk hunting that day. The animal weighed about 800 pounds. An old gentleman who had accompanied the young men, came upon a large bear and treed him. The old man fired, the bear fell to the ground, stunned, but not killed. The old man rushed upon him, the bear raised up and began to fight. He attacked the old gentleman, when the young men rushed in and with clubbed guns and knives soon dispatched the voracious animal which had badly lacerated the old man's leg. Taking it all in all, it was a grand hunt, but the old gentleman didn't enjoy the last part of it much.

The bullet with which the elk was killed is on exhibition at this office.—Northwest.

Sailors at Port Townsend demanded $40 for the trip to San Francisco. The schooner W[illegible] Renton engaged a crew at $25 per month for the round trip to Australia, and the union threatens bloodshed unless the salary is increased $5. The revenue cutter was guarding the Renton at last accounts.

The interior department having ruled that the state is entitled to lands in lieu of sections 16 and 36 embraced within Indian reservations, the state becomes entitled to about seven thousand acres in lieu of the school sections surveyed in the Siletz and Grand Ronde reservations, which lands can be selected anywhere in the Oregon City land district.

THE WEEKLY ASTORIAN, a 48 column paper, set in type at 50 cents a thousand, paid in Astoria, and printed on a press in Astoria, full of home news, is published this morning. There are two tons of paper on the way to be used in the same manner on successive Saturday mornings. Two dollars sends a copy anywhere in the union one year, postage paid.

The chief of police sales that have been appearing for the last month, no longer grace the columns of the DAILY. Ben Worsley having worked the sale yesterday at the court house. The two columns thus previously occupied are filled with new advertisements received yesterday from fishing twine manufacturers. This paper is found in every cannery from the Sacramento river to Behring sea.

The old "Tiger" fire engine goes to Aberdeen, on Gray's harbor, for the fire defense of that town. It hath a history. It was built in Boston in 1857, and saw twelve years' active service in San Francisco. Then it was taken to Salem and used by Tigers till 1883, and then turned over to Salem Engine Co., and used by them til. 1886, and now after 30 years of use the old veteran in fire fight goes to Gray's harbor.

Our Olney correspondent writes that on last Tuesday, the 11th inst., there was a destructive fire in a tool house, about twenty feet from Alex Normand's new residence, about $100 worth of farmers' and carpenters' tools, together with the tool house, being destroyed. Mrs. Elliott, and Mrs. Sorensen aided Mr. Normand and his wife in saving the residence, which escaped with a slight scorching on the roof.

Yesterday's Portland News devotes ten columns to a report on the recent death of Mary Schneller in Mrs. Dr. Murray's office, and the result of interviews with a large number of physicians whose statements as published indicate that an abortion was committed on the unfortunate girl just previous to her death. The News makes out a strong case, and one that attracts public notice and demands further investigation.

Some big election bets are being made, most of them this way: "I'll bet you a thousand dollars that so and so will be the next president." After a little argument, "Well I've got a hundred dollars that says he'll be elected." Two minutes later: "I'll tell you what I'll do with you, I'll bet you the best hat you can buy in Astoria that he's the next president." After another brief interval: "Let's have something." No bet, but most as much fun as if they'd put up a million.

A sailor, who refused to give his name, went down to the O. R. & N. dock yesterday afternoon and tried to go on board the outgoing Columbia, claiming that Jim Turk was trying to shanghai him. His story was found to be thin, and he was refused passage. Then he drew off his trousers, flung those useful articles in the bay and started to walk down the street in a brief and airy costume of a shirt and a plug of tobacco. Officer Kirby gathered him in and put him in the cooler.

Dr Gibbons, a celebrated California botanist, who is now examining into the flora of Clatsop county, says he finds a marked similarity in the vegetable growth of the two states as regards plants. So far he has found three new species of ferns. The ferns that grow so luxuriantly on the hills are sort of puny descendants of the gigantic ferns of aeons ago, where they grew to be a foot in diameter and forty feet high, and made the deposits of coal that underlie the present surface of the earth.

Before a commission in lunacy yesterday appeared Judson Cole, a well known character, charged with insanity. He was duly pronounced insane and was taken to Salem last evening in charge of his father. His insanity is of a very mild type, he being inoffensive and harmless, but, under the circumstances, probably it is just as well to have him removed. His associates, of the same mental calibre, who loved to converse with him upon the street, will be at a loss for his companionship. It is further asserted that his absence from the streets will be conducive to satisfactory pedestrian increase.

It is amusing to read in a [illegible] contemporary of how harried and overworked and generally used up Geo. W. Cable is because he actually has to write three-quarters of a column every week for an eastern weekly paper. Poor fellow! Just think of it. Three-quarters of a column! And every week too. Why Cabey, old boy, you've got a pudding, if you only knew it. There's lots of folks that furnish three columns (each four quarters long) six times a week to their respective journals, and rustle for ads and such, on the outside, and don't feel particularly "overworked." But then, perhaps it is quality as against quantity.

George & Barker's fruit canning experiment is at an end for this season. They packed 1,300 cases plums and 400 cases pears. It is spoken of as an experiment, for that is really all it is. If it turns out satisfactory they will probably go into the matter on a large scale next year. The advantage this vicinity possesses is that such firms as George & Barker, at the close of the salmon season have all the material and appliances, the disadvantage is that the fruit must be brought from a distance, comparatively. The natural solution of the latter is to raise fruit here. It can be grown of as fine quality and in as great profusion as in any other part of the state or coast. This will solve the problem.

A little after 1 o'clock this morning a man whose name could not be learned, and who was under the influence of sundry libations, and with an evident disregard of the generally admitted fact that "one who is born to be hanged cannot drown himself," jumped overboard just north of the New York Novelty store. But fate was against him, the tide was low and the cobble stones on the beach didn't drown him worth a cent, so he started for deep water, closely followed by officer Olsen, who found he would have to swim for his man unless he got a boat, which he did, and after a desperate struggle got the would-be suicide aboard and landed him in safe quarters in the city jail. The man arrived here yesterday from San Francisco, having lately come from Alaska, it is said.

Last Thursday state senator J. H. D. Gray, telegraphed to United States senator Dolph, requesting that he use his influence to have the U. S. fishing commissioner's steamer Albatross, now at the sound from her northern expedition, detailed to locate the banks of cod and halibut in this vicinity. Last evening he got the following telegram from senator Dolph: "WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept 14. Hon. J. H. D. Gray: I have presented your telegram to the assistant United States commissioner. He has telegraphed to the commissioner, who is at Woodshall, Massachusetts. J. N. DOLPH." This action is timely and called for. That there are valuable banks of food fishes at our gate is a known fact, the definite location is not so clear, and the Albatross, if detailed for that work, can greatly aid in this important matter.

On the Oregon yesterday arrived a youth to fortune and to fame unknown. Fair beauty smiled not on his humble birth and Melancholy marked him for her own. He came from Frisco on a "pleasure trip," but became dreadfully disorganized on the way. The effect of the motion of the vessel on him was similar to that produced on Sut Lovingood when his best girl persuaded him to take a seidlitz powder, and mixing the contents of the blue paper in one glass, and the contents of the white paper in another glass, told him the proper way was to drink the contents of one and in about five minutes swallow the contents of the other. Sut followed directions and sat down in happy contentment, but soon became conscious that there was a most extraordinary commotion going on inside of him. A yearning for the solitude of his own home, where he could sit down and think, seized him and he lit out, depositing as he went, on the parlor floor, veranda, and pathway down to the front gate, a stream of foam, which he afterward declared was a yard wide and a foot deep.

The Pacific Christian Advocate, published in Portland, does something this week that is very unusual for a newspaper to do: it prints an exact statement of its business for the past year. How much money it received, and who from and what for, how many dollars it paid out, and to whom and for what purpose. It is all there, and is sort o' interesting to a newspaper man. From the statements, which are evidently exact, it appears that everybody in that newspaper office worked like sixty for the past year and the profits were $14.60. Lots of newspaper men work like all get out for a year, and if they pay their bills for the material, and pay the people that trust them, don't have even $14.60 left. This is the first time the writer ever saw a statement of a year's business of a newspaper published. The receipts were $6,969.36, the expenditures, $6,954.76. The items show that the business was run honestly. This does not appear in the dollars and cents column, but it is the biggest item in the lot, all the same, and makes up for the meager balance on the profit side. "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

West Sixth Street Assessment Notice

NOTICE is hereby given that the assessment made by Ordinance No. 1,051 of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, and which ordinance passed the Common Council on the 14th day of August, 1888 and was approved on the 15th day of August, 1888, for the improvement of West Sixth street in the city of Astoria as laid out and recorded by J. M. Shively, from the north side of Water street to the south side of Wall street, in the manner provided by Ordinance No. 1,044 of said city, and which ordinance passed the Common Council on the 28th day of June, 1888, and was approved on the 29th day of June, 1888, on each of the following described lots and portion of lots fronting on said portion of said street is now payable at the office of the city treasurer in U. S. gold or silver coin, and unless paid within five days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Monday, September 17th, 1888, the Common Council will order warrants issued for the collection thereof. The assessment is as follows

MUSTANG LINIMENT

SUBSIDIZED.

The New York Sun thinks that the Democratic national committee has made a bad use of money in subsidizing the New York Star. The Sun figures out the weekly deficit of the Star at $2,700, and doubts if it will do the party any real good. The Sun's judgment of the value of subsidized papers is correct. Money paid for the opinions of a newspaper is money thrown away. The public are quick to discover the causes of a change of opinion on the part of a newspaper, and prompt to withdraw from opinions so influenced the consideration that may formerly have been given. The Star has always been a Democratic paper, but of late it has had little popular support. It has been used as a personal organ by one rich man after another, and consequently has not had the influence it might have had if it had depended on the public for its existence. The latest report is that John R. McLean of the Cincinnati Enquirer has taken the Star off the Democratic committee's hands. McLean is said to be emulous of the fame of the proprietor of the World, who resuscitated a journalistic corpse and made it stand on its own financial legs.—S. F. Call.

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, propose to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John McClure, from the south side of Astor street to the north end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

SCROFULA

Humors,

Erysipelas,

Canker, and

Catarrh,

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. — E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. —W. F. Fowler, M.D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured. —M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured. — Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach. — Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

"'Twor in '79 when I left ole Kaintuck an' squat on a good lay o' lan' up on Pine crik, a leetle ther most han'some'st valley in this yar county. I sot the house purty near ther crik, an' a-thinkin' ther crik might git on a rampage in thaw-time, I sot ther house on tree posts, cut along ther crik, 'beout two foot up.

"Wall, then I went ter plantin', an' in June, fer a fac', pertaters 'ud begin to hustle before we got 'em kivered in; an' ther corn, why ye never heered sech a racket! Why we couldn't sleep o' nights, ther corn made sech a noise a-gettin' up! Sech a crackin', bustin' noise! Everythin' a-shootin' an' a-wrastlin' ter grow!

"Howsomever, thet's nothin' ter what I'm goin' ter tell ye. One day, ter dinner, I says to my wife: 'Maria, why can't ye hev ther table sot even? Are ye tryin' fer ter spill ev'rythin'?' an' she says: 'I ain't done nothin' ter ther table; it's settin' squar' on ther floor.'

"Wall, fer weeks that yar house kep' a-gittin' more onev'ner, an' last I says, 'Maria, thet yar north post is a-sinkin' deown!' She went an' looked. ''Tain't no sech thin', Ben, ther other posts is a-risin' up!' Fer a fac' them posts was a growin', 'cep' ther north one, whar 'twas shady. Why, yer cud see ther sprouts a-shootin' out! An' neow ther house begun ter snap an' crack, an' 'twor a-gittin' dang'rons; 'cos yer see, 'twan't goin' even. Ther three posts was was a-keepin' tergether, but ther other, bein' shady, wor a-hangin' back.

"Somethin' had ter be did, an' Maria, she's beout as cute as ye'll find 'em, says: 'Ben, ye'll hev ter water thet north post. Per'ups it'll ketch up.' Wa'n't thet an idee? Wal, we done it, an' ye never see sech a racin' o' posts. Enside o' a month thet north post war up with ther others, an' then ther house went up plumb.

"I tell ye, 'twor a sight, an' afore winter ther house wor up 'beout four foot, an' ther posts a-puttin' eout branches an' a-throwin' 'o them reound ther house, kinder embracin' like! Thet's a-goin' on five year ago, an' them posts trees they be neow—hev bin a growin' ever sence; an' ye'll hev to 'scuse me, gentlemen, fer I hev ter start arly, fer when I get hum, it takes 'beout hef an'n 'our ter climb up ter ther house. I till ye, tha's land up thar wuth ownin'."

Talking to the 200 electricians at their banquet in New York recently mayor Hewitt waxed eloquent. Said he: "We stand upon the borderland of dreams, and you are slowly raising the curtain. I shall not see the drama played out, but there are some in this room who will do so. If this world is happier and more civilized than it was a hundred years ago it is owing to the steam engine and what it has brought with it. Still further developments in the coming century will come from your hands. You will revolutionize the world."

Joints and muscles may escape the agonizing tortures of rheumatism if they will but "take time by the forelock," and annihilate the symptoms of the oncoming trouble with the benignant and highly [illegible] blood depurent and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Poisons mostly constitute the ordinary means of battling with this atrocious complaint. Avoid the risk of using these by resorting to the safe as well as [illegible] anti-phlogistic and preventive. After exposure to [illegible] drafts and other [illegible] the [illegible] of the Bitters [illegible] preventive of malarial [illegible] fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake exists, and it is, besides, a most genial recuperator of strength exhausted by excessive mental or physical effort. Miners, mariners, operatives and others whose avocations involve laborious work in rough weather out of doors, or close application indoors, find it invaluable.

The subject of conversation at an evening entertainment was the intelligence of animals, particularly dogs. said Smith; "There are dogs that have more sense than their masters." "Just so," responded young Jones. "I've got that kind of a dog myself.

Analysis of Nehalem Coal.

Henry G. Hanks, a celebrated mineralogist and chemist of San Francisco, has analyzed Nehalem coal. Here is what he says:

DEAR SIR:—I received your letter February 18th, and in due course of time the samples of coal for analysis. I find the coal to be remarkably good. It has a black streak of powder in which it differs from the common lignites of the Pacific coast. It cokes finely and has but small ash. The 13 per cent of water is an objection, but it may be less as you go down on the vein. I send you samples of the coke and ash by captain of the steamer. There are peculiarities about this coal that lead me to the hope that it is true or carboniferous coal, and I would advise you to look for fossils, and if you find any to send them down to me for examination.

If the coal you have sent me is in large quantities, it cannot fail to be of great commercial and economic value. The following is the analysis of the samples of Nehalem coal you sent me:

Fixed carbon..	[illegible]
Volatile combustible matter	[illegible]
Water.....	[illegible]

SUNDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1888

HINTS FOR CAMPAIGNERS.

The presidential campaign is about to open, and it might be in order to make one suggestion to the orators of both parties, and that is to give their audiences credit for a little common sense and some slight knowledge of facts. The public is not such a fool as it looks. It knows a good deal more than it shows on the surface. It can distinguish falsehood from truth about as well as party speakers, and it can draw an inference from given premises with fair accuracy. Stump speakers who deliver orations full of errors of fact and faults of reasoning pay so poor a compliment to their audiences that it would be better for their cause if they had held their peace.

Modern etiquette in this part of the country does not generally justify the interruption of a speaker. It would be better for both speaker and audience if it did. It would make the former more careful, and it would leave the latter better informed. No stump speaker who makes any pretensions to proficiency as a debater objects to being interrupted. Interruptions are the clash of flint against the speaker's steel. If the steel be true sparks will fly. It is because lawyers are always liable to be interrupted if they wander from the law and the facts that they become effective reasoners; it is because clergymen are not liable to interruption that they are such poor hands at argument. Webster, giving advice to a young man who proposed to enter the lecture field, warned him against presuming on the ignorance of his audience. "You never can tell," said he, "but away back in some corner there may be sitting some old crank who has made an especial study of the very subject of which you assume your audience to know nothing; if you risk any flights of fancy ten to one he will interrupt you and bring you to grief." But, as a rule, as stump speakers are let to ramble on with no interruptions, however sorely they may try the common sense or patience of their hearers.

And they do try them. The writer of this has time and again heard orators and stump speakers, Republican and Democratic, say things that he knew weren't so, and that he knew that they knew that he knew weren't so. And he has during nearly twelve years of reporting these speeches, ignored a great deal of their verbal argument for this reason. What does a Republican orator expect to gain by describing all Democrats as disloyal, or a Democratic orator calculate to make by depicting all Republicans as corrupt? The only effect of such talk is to satisfy the audience that the speaker is an ass. When an orator tells us that the election of Mr. Cleveland will have a serious effect on the Alaska question, in what contempt he must hold the intelligence of his hearers. When another orator vehemently assures us that Gen. Harrison is opposed to the working-man, he must surely assume that his audience is destitute of the reasoning quality.

And here is where they make their mistake. When campaign orators think they can make votes by sophistry and false facts, they labor under a monstrous delusion. The audience see through the sophistry and explode the false facts, and though it sits quiet and says never a word while the Boanerges is bawling, it goes home and concludes that a party must be in pretty bad case when it can only be defended by lying and prevaraicating. We believe that if the state central committees would reverse their action and let loose on the community speakers of the faith opposite to theirs; if Mr. Bush would hire a few fluent Republicans, while Mr. Barin engaged four or five sturdy Democrats, each to address the people from a party standpoint with the staple campaign thunder, they might do more effective work than the present style of canvassing sometimes accomplishes.

Astorians well know that Gov. Pennoyer and John P. Irish and John M. Gearin in their speeches here last May and June made republican votes, and it is open to conjecture that some of the republican speakers did more to aid democracy than republicanism in some of their "speeches."

Political speakers must also bear in mind one fact. The age of oratory has passed. The eye has supplanted the ear in gaining access to the brain. The newspaper is what makes public opinion and influences votes, and the best a speaker can expect is to have the newspaper dress his speech up in readable shape, correct his mistakes, go easy on his lapses and give him audience to his readers in the morning.

The congressional committee which has been investigating the question of immigration in violation of the contract labor law has intrusted the task of framing a bill to deal with the situation disclosed by its inquries to one of its members who has already drafted a bill in outline. One of the leading features of this bill is the committing the inspection of immigrants entirely to the treasury department, instead of leaving it, as at present, divided between federal and state officers. Another feature is the imposition of a head tax of $50 upon the steamship companies with the view of prohibiting the immigration of paupers. Still another feature is a requirement compelling intending immigrants to give notice to the American consuls abroad of their purpose to emigrate, and to make affidavit that they have not been assisted by national or municipal authorities. A point which the author of the bill finds it difficult to deal with is the inducing of immigration by steamship companies and their agents by means of false representations. One remedy proposed is the enhancement of the cost of passage by requiring improved accommodations for steerage passengers. It is not known as as yet that these proposals have the sanction of the committee. The wisdom of the first mentioned provision, however, appears to be established by the results of the committee's investigation.

The congress of the institute of international law was opened at Lausanne on September 3d. There will be discussions upon the conflict of civil laws and of commercial laws, and the conflict of the laws relative to marriage and divorce, joint stock companies and maritime collisions, extradition, international penal law, the occupation of unclaimed territories according to the provisions of the Berlin conference, the international laws concerning railways, telegraphs and telephones in time of war, and the question: "In what manner and within what limits may governments exercise the right to expel foreigners?"

A NEW PORT.

Borax Is Discovered on the Oregon Coast.

Last week the steamer Newsboy anchored in the bay of Lomer Ranch, Curry county, Or., and discharged cargo and took on board the first shipment of borate of lime, the discovery of which by C. E. Fleming of Oakland was mentioned in the Chronicle a few weeks ago.

This borate of lime is superior in quality to any hitherto discovered, according to the analysis of Professor Price. The deposit is volcanic, the borate occurring in boulders varying in size up to 2000 pounds weight, imbedded in volcanic mud. The area of the deposit has been determined to be half a mile in length and 200 yards in width and 30 feet in depth.

The discovery is of importance to the commercial world, for the mine is so close to the coast that an oyster shell can be thrown from it into the water, so that the expensive item of land carriage which has handicapped the borax industry of California and Nevada, as well as Italy, Asia Minor, Chile and Thibet, no longer stands in the way. Vessels drawing three fathoms of water can lie within 300 yards of low-water mark. There is an abundance of wood and water, and by Fleming's new process for manufacturing borax, instituted at the works at Alameda Point, the cost of production can be reduced to one and one-half cents per pound. The bay, which forms a portion of the ranch of 1200 acres is half a mile in width and 700 yards in depth, with good anchorage and protected both from the northwest and southwest. The establishment of a shipping port at this point gives facilities for shipping the tan bark and timber which have hitherto been neglected, as well as the wool, hides, butter, fruit and cereals of the surrounding settlers.

A townsite will be laid out and a wharf built, and mining operations vigorously proceeded with at once.—S. F. Chronicle, 12.

School begins in district No. 9, upper Astoria, to-morrow.

Preaching in the Swedish Lutheran church at 10:30 A. M. to day.

Gure Arnold has brought suit for divorce from J. J. Arnold. Just so.

Have you a seat for to-morrow night's performance at the opera house?

There is a government telegraph office at Ilwaco. Mr. E. L. Philebaum is in charge.

Hops have advanced from 14 cents to 21 cents a pound. The Astoria crop is being picked.

Smallpox is in McMinnville and is said to be in Portland, though this last is unauthenticated.

Owing to the absence of the rector, there will be no service in the Grace Episcopal church to-day.

Reserved seats at the New York Novelty store for the Grismer-Davies performance to-morrow night.

Gustav Hansen has finished an order from Portland, an ingenious piece of work, a closed hand in ivory, grasping a snake.

At the Congregational church, to-day at 11 A. M., theme "Love;" evening theme, "Unjust Judgments and Glass Houses."

[illegible] the town; insurance, $25,000.

It used to be said "you can't raise sweet corn here." J. H. DeForce is one of those who has proved it can be raised and has the genuine article.

The first regular services of the new conference year will be held at the Methodist church to-day Rev. Geo. W. Grannis, pastor officiating.

City treasurer Hustler directs public attention to the fact that city taxes will be delinquent on the 24th inst. Walk up to the captain's office and get a receipt.

[illegible] his name, his communication, which contains important statements, may receive attention. Annonymous letters cannot be published in this paper.

The American ship Wm. H. Starbuck cleared yesterday for Queenstown [illegible] wheat, [illegible] at Astoria. The cargo is valued at $51,964.

W. R. Marion of Bay Center, tells [illegible] fully [illegible] ing $1 a basket now.

Mrs. M. E. Horton, president of this W. C. T. U. district will speak on the [illegible] M. E. church in upper Astoria to-morrow afternoon at half-past three o'clock. A general and cordial invitation is extended to all.

The New York Sunday News says: "The World Against Her, at the People's theater, has scored a great success. Since the first night of its production [illegible] The drama can only be continued during this week." Reserved seats at the New York Novelty store.

Near St. Helens, last Thursday the usual idiocy took place. George Archibald "thought it was a deer," [illegible] illed B. F. Neer, who leaves [illegible]

[illegible] one looks at the streets and [illegible] ks and "sewers" and stink[illegible] and the way those things are [illegible] or sparined, it sometimes seems as though it would be worth while trying an experiment, viz: to disincorporate and run under trustees, and a village government. But it cawn't be done.

Solomon said there was nothing new under the sun, but Sol never lived in Astoria and attended a leap year party such as was held on the [illegible] last night. The ladies did the honors of the occasion and pale Luna [illegible] withdrew behind the [illegible] re is more fun, etc., in [illegible] congress knows anything about.

[illegible] what's the news about the [illegible]

THE ASTORIAN office is almost entirely out of potatoes; the stock of [illegible] as though the sweet corn and turnips were going to give out; but fresh supplies were joyously received yesterday. We regret to note the dearth of cabbage this season, and while we point with pride to the pumpkins, we view with alarm the absence of onions and squash. Some beans with the sweet corn now and then would make excellent succotash, and the chickens, with which we have been kindly remembered, would be even more palatable if served with green peas. But the temporary cessation of thoughtful contributions of this nature could be borne with fortitude if the potatoes were only plentier.

What is said to be a Chinese baby was born in Chinatown yesterday and when the naming of the baby comes there'l be lots of fun. The baby is a boy. No sooner is a Chinese boy born into the world than his father proceeds to write down eight characters or words, each set of two representing respectively the exact hour, day, month and year of his birth. These are handed by the father to a fortune-teller, whose business it is to draw up from them a certain book of fate, generally spoken of as the boy's pat[illegible], or "eight characters." Herein the fortune teller describes the good and evil which the boy is likely to meet with in after life and the means to be adopted to secure the one and avert the other. In order to understand some of the value of this document, we must glance at the Chinese method of reckoning time. There are only twelve Chinese hours to our twenty-four. Beginning with 11 o'clock in the evening to 1 o'clock in the morning, which is their first hour, the names are: Rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, sheep, monkey, cock, dog and pig. As everybody is supposed to partake more or less of the nature of the animal at whose hour he is born, it appears obvious that, e. g., it would never do to send a rabbit boy to the school of a tiger schoolmaster. This partakes of the [illegible] of poultry before they have gone through the process of incubation, but that's the way our Chinese friends work their little baptizing racket.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs Capt Geo Flavel is [illegible] from nervous prostration.

J. W. Crow, of Knappa, while repairing the telegraph line yesterday, gashed his knee severely with a hatchet.

Has Taffy Even For a Chinaman.

On Tuesday last we had a pleasant call from Mr. Bow On, Chinese contractor, from Astoria. Mr. Bow On is one of those intelligent Chinese, who knows his business and attends to his business and is a full fledged American citizen; besides all this, he is a member of the Baptist church. We are always glad to meet men of this stripe, as it shows intelligence and superiority over those superstitions so long buried in the dim vista of the past. If all Chinese would follow Mr. Bow On's example they would soon create a friendly spirit and become Americans among Americans. Call again, Mr. Bow On, and the best chair in our office will await you.—Tillamook Headlight, 11.

Had no Time To Say His Prayers.

If any mortal man ever got out a newspaper under more trying circumstances than we have done this week, we would just like to see the color of his hair. Our folks have all been sick so that besides being [illegible] canvasser, reporter, [illegible] and compositor, we have [illegible] washed dishes, swept, chopped wood, toted water, and have been doctor, nurse and general roustabout—in fact, we've done everything but say our prayers.—[illegible]

Some Complimentary Comment.

A filthy-minded blackguard who was spawned in an East Indian military camp and spewed upon American shores by some unkind fate, has been given an opportunity to vent, through the columns of a public print of this [illegible] the unspeakable vileness that animates him.—S. F. Alta, 11.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL.

[illegible] to British Columbia.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Galveston, Houston and Texas Central railroad, including the main line from Houston to Dennison and various branches, together with all the land franchise, some 40,000 acres and every character of property belonging to the company, which has been for two or three years under a decree of the United States court, the main line and all other branches, except the Waco and Northwestern, was sold to Fred P. Olcott, of New York, president of the Central Trust company, for $10,508,000. The Waco and Northwestern branch was sold to George Downs, of New York, for $25,000,000, subject to a mortgage of $1,140,000. The plan of reorganization is to organize and incorporate issuing bonds for those outstanding interests on new bonds being secured by the Southern Pacific company. The new company is to be organized with a capital stock of $10,000,000. Under the terms of the sale $10,000 had to be paid in cash and deposited with the register of the court.

THE LIQUOR INTEREST.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The National Protective association of wine, beer and spirits dealers has re-elected John M. Atherton president, and also adopted resolutions, one of which declares prohibition a fraud, and says it does not prohibit, but encourages perjury and finally ends in free traffic. Prohibition was opposed, because in the name of morality it approves the destruction of property without adequate compensation. Other resolutions refer to licenses and the powers of excise boards. One declares the association non-partisan. A check for $1,000 was voted for the relief of the Jacksonville sufferers.

THE AUGUSTA FLOOD.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—The flood is subsiding. One of the editors of the Chronicle had to wade to the Western Union office in water breast high to send and receive press dispatches. River steamboats could easily navigate many streets. There is considerable distress in portions of the city, where people are compelled to seek refuge in second stories of buildings, and are cut off from food and supplies by the water. The waters have receded so slowly that boats have been in general use. Bridges are washed away on every hand. The canal is injured considerably, two breaks in the banks being reported.

TEA SHIPMENTS.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The British consul at Yokohama reports a decrease of six thousand tons in tea shipments by the way of the Suez canal, and explains the greater part went via steamer to British Columbia, and thence via the Canadian Pacific to the Atlantic coast for reshipment.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

PHENIX, A. T., Sept. 15.—William Kemp, father of the senior member of H. E. Kemp & Co., has disappeared from his home very mysteriously. Not returning at nightfall a search was instituted and continued all night. He was tracked across Salt river, and two parties of Indian trailers were sent in pursuit. He has not yet returned. Mr. Kemp is about seventy years old and is suffering from sunstroke, which overtook him in Illinois some years ago. His situation on a waterless desert is most precarious.

FAMINE IN EGYPT.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A famine is feared in Egypt. Hopes of a further rise in the Nile are abandoned.

Miners' Cabins in Alaska.

Miners find no difficulty in keeping their cabins warm and comfortable by making use of Russian ovens, which are very simple to build, as they are made of stone, in the shape of a large box stove, from three to four feet long inside, from eighteen to twenty feet inches wide and the same in depth, with an iron plate on top to cook on. The chimney is built of the same material. Miners who wintered here last winter and and the previous winter went out every day to cut their regular firewood, and so far no severe cases of frozen limbs have occurred. Indians travel and live in brush houses all winter. They subsist chiefly on dried moose, cariboo meat and fish.—Juneau Free Press.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

The steamer Lurline, which will relieve the Undine on the Columbia, will come off the ways on Tuesday or Wednesday. As soon as relieved, the Undine, as was reported in the Ledger some time ago, will leave the Columbia and make the outside voyage to the Sound before the rough weather sets in. She has been purchased by the Oregon Steam Navigation company, and will be run on the Sound in connection with the [illegible]

BIZ.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The banks hold $12,323,000 in excess of legal requirements. Bar silver, 96¾.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—A terrific explosion occurred at the mills of the National milling company early this morning. The mill took fire and was destroyed entirely. Loss, $150,000; insurance $75,000. There were eighteen men in the mill at the time. Peter Gierman perished in the flames and four others are seriously burned. Six escaped without injury. The others are unaccounted for. It is thought at least three of them are dead in the ruins.

The following is a revised list of the killed and wounded: Peter Gierman, warehouseman Emil Hinsgen, miller, injured, William Strauss, packer, face and hands seriously burned and thigh badly cut, Jos. Linniel, face and hands burned, Frank Leeby, assistant miller, cut in skull and face and hands burned.

FROM THE FEVER DISTRICT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—A telegram was received to-day from Jacksonville by Miss Clara Barton from which the following are extracts: "I find the relief organizations here and earnest, warmhearted workers, but needing system. Your associates can help largely by sending clothing shoes and blankets, the fever has about destroyed all business. There is and will be much distress. THE CAUSE OF ZESTFUL JOY.

[illegible]
Enshrouded in condiment rare,
And the epicure gleefully rubbeth his paunch
At the sight of the treasure there.
The doctor smileth a sadlike smile,
And giveth a crocodile groan,
And the marble man goeth out the while
And polisheth up a stone.
The undertaker mournfully asks,
"What will his measure be?"
And the sexton marketh a spot "Reserved,"
All under the willow tree.
'Tis hard the times and 'tis scarce the cash,
And so with zestful joy
We welcome waft to the fitful fruit
That giveth the folk employ.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and Beast. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

Live Before You Die.

My son, you may not be missed a great deal by a very wide circle of people when you die. It wont be necessary for you to leave much money for a tombstone. The few people who love you, who tenderly and dearly love you, will know which mound covers your sleeping figure, and they will find it just as well by the ferns and grasses that wave above it; and a monument ninety feet high wont make strangers care for you, or make them love you, or make them remember you. You may not be missed a great deal by very many people when you die my boy; but that isn't what you want to think about. You want to make yourself felt and noticed while you are here. That's what you want to do. And that is more than most men do. Just run your eye over this paragraph again, if you have time, and think over it a little while you are waiting for morning service to begin. Now and then you meet a man who actually rejoices, in a mean, envious sort of way, to think that in a few years his more popular, prosperous, successful neighbor will be dead and forgotten. It may be true. The big, wide world is so busy with the living that she does seem to forget her children when they fall asleep. But you will notice that the man who rejoices in this is usually a man whom she has forgotten while he yet lives, who has not been felt or heard in the world at all.

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, propose to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John McClure, from the south side of Astor street to the north end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded; may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.—Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

WIFE AND HORSE.

Had He Stuck to His Plan He Would Not Have Been Caught.

The following colloquy, which occurred between a convicted horse-thief and Judge Noonan the other day, is vouched for by Texas Siftings:

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon you?" asked judge Noonan of San Antonio of a convicted horse-thief.

"No, Jedge, I've not got anything much to say, It's all my own fault. I brought it on myself."

"I suppose you got into bad company?"

"No, that's not what I mean."

"What did you mean?',

"I mean I deserve all I get because I didn't stick to my campaign plan. As long as I stole horses according to my campaign plan I never was catched. The owner of the hoss never followed me."

"Why how was that?"

"Whenever I stole a man's hoss I made it a rule to run away with his wife, and then he never followed me. Taking his wife off sorter reconciled him to the loss of his hoss, but as soon as I quit taking the woman along I was follered and arrested. Jess sock it to me, Jedge, I deserve all you can give me for being such a darned fool."

"You are a very dangerous man to be at large in this section of the country," assessing the maximum penalty of fifteen years

An Outside Opinion.

It is said that the O. R. & N., company have already overstepped the bounds of their towage agreement by exacting a perquisite amounting to $50 or $100 for what is called outside towage; that is, for towage from sea into the bar. This looks rather oppressive, especially so in the case of a ship which came in as the Dunboyne did Monday, before a breeze that made it difficult for the tug to keep out of her way. It looks very much as though the O. R. & N., company would not release their hold on the best interest of the Columbia river until every particle of wheat shipping has been driven to Puget Sound. And with all this abuse staring them in the face the merchants of Portland are raising $5,000 to dredge out the river so as to enable this monopoly to drag ships up to their doors and still further exact toll from the hapless mariners who come into this river because it is one of the finest and safest seaports on the face of the earth, notwithstanding the fact that the dog-in-the-manger policy of the business men of the city 110 miles inland is rapidly casting odium on its fair name. If the Portlanders would cease dragging ships inland and help to build a railroad to Astoria, the wheat shipping business of the Columbia would increase in proportion to the increasing crop yield of the northwest, instead of decreasing in like ratio, and they would be freed from the monopoly that now exists in regard to towage on the river and bar.—Pacific Journal

An Excellent Medicine.

"My wife and myself were in bad health for some fifteen years. I chanced to be looking over one of Simmons Regulator Almanacs and saw A. H. Stevens and Bishop Pierce's recommendations. I then obtained some of the Regulator, and can heartily recommend the Liver Regulator to my friends as an excellent medicine."

Headaches, biliousness, and liver troubles are promptly cured by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Equally safe for young or old.

She—Senator, you are a protectionist? He—undoubtedly, miss. She—Then why don't you put a tariff on foreign beauties who come out here in droves and crowd us out? He—my dear miss, we never put a tariff on goods when the home product is abundant and above foreign competition.—Time.

A Fatal Plunge.

The common eagle is a bird of wonderfully keen sight. At the height of eighty yards it can see a grass-mouse or a stoat, and having once located its prey it will swoop down with the speed of an arrow and rise with the victim in its claws.

Mr. Samuel Wilmot, the superintendent of the Canadian fish hatcheries at Newcastle, Ontario, Canada, told me the following story about an eagle. A pair of eagles built their nest near our house well up in a large pine tree, year in and year out for many seasons. One autumn the cold weather set in earlier than usual and the smooth parts of the stream that ran by our house were frozen, but the eagles still remained in the big pine, save when they flew abroad for food. One morning as I sat at the window looking in the direction of the pines I noticed one of the birds leave the tree and poise directly above a rough part of the river which was not frozen. Then he went down like a bolt and disappeared under the water. I watched with great interest to see what he would fetch—watched one, two, three, four seconds, but he did not appear. This was something so unusual that I became intensely interested. I stood at the window for half a minute watching where the bird had disappeared, and then, sure that something had happened to him, I snatched my hat and ran down to where lay my little boat. After some difficulty I managed to get it into the open water, and then poled to the spot where the eagle had gone under. Looking down, I saw the bird, his wings partly extended, and held fast to the bottom in some unaccountable way. With a grappling hook I drew him out. Judge of my surprise when there came to the surface, besides the eagle, an enormous salmon. It was for this splendid prize that the eagle had made his plunge. Of course, he had buried his strong, sharp talons in the side of the fish, but when he wanted to rise he could not lift his prey. Neither could he withdraw his talons from the salmon's side, and so had perished. The fish weighed a trifle over thirty pounds.—Harper' Young People.

TUESDAY.................SEPTEMBER 18, 1888.

John P. Irish, editor of the S. F. Alta, has declined a congressional nomination. Sensible man. Why should he want to step down into congress!

The opposition to Powderly is endeavoring to make him commit himself in the present political contest. A series of questions have been sent to him. He is accused of having an eye to the commissionership of the department of labor if Cleveland is elected.

A London preacher placarded the city with notices that he would preach in Spurgeon's tabernacle on the subject: ",—;—:—?—!—." There was a large congregation, to whom he announced the text, "Stand thou still awhile," and then said his subject was "The Pauses of Life."

John McCune, the largest single oil producer in the world, landed at Castle Garden less than twenty-five years ago with scarcely a dollar in his pocket. He drifted into the oil country, became an oil-well driller, and his estate is now worth $10,000,000. There is no chance for a poor man in this country.

The postmaster at Carthage, O., is in a quandary. He is at a loss to know whether he had better pay the assessment made on him or resign. The Carthage postoffice pays the munificent sum of $75 per annum, and the committee have notified the postmaster that he has been assessed $100 for campaign purposes.

The Chinese are peculiarly nerveless people. An observer in China notices that the Chinaman is able to sleep anywhere, upon a brick for a pillow or upon a bed of stalks. "It would be easy to raise in China an army of 1,000,000 men—nay of 10,000,000—tested by competitive examination as to their capacity to go to sleep across three wheelbarrows, head downward like a spider, their mouths wide open, and a fly inside."

Miss Emma Felch, of Danvers, Mass., was taken ill some months ago, and from the fact that her mother died from cancer, she became possessed with the idea that her sickness was from the same cause. Her physicians could find no indication of cancer, but she claimed that she had one, and located it. She refused food saying it distressed her. At her desire after she died, an autopsy was held, and no cancer could be found. It was decided that her disease was purely sympathetic.

Great Goneness.

Ilwaco, Sept. 16, '88.

The turbulent waves beat a solemn requium upon the sandy shores of north beach; gone are the cloudless days, gone are the bright-eyed maidens, whose merry laugh floated on the summer air like chimes of silver bells, gone are the mirth and gladness, the fairy figures, the happy life of youth and beauty. The pale moon shines on the scenes of departed pleasures with a radiance that suits well the melancholy scene. Here beneath this nodding evergreen love's old, old story was told anew—the heart-beats quickening to the lisping words of cupid; here, too, proudest hopes were smothered with a word. Beside yon decaying stump, glistening in the moonlight, lies a mass of broken crockery reminders of former usefulness; near this winding path reposing in pathetic solitude is a tiny boot, well worn and the buttons gone—the arched instep tells of its owner's pride; it perhaps has peeped from the drapery of a wedding gown and carried its lovely wearer o'er the polished floor, impelled by strains of sweet music. Its mission has been performed, and now with the dew glistening upon its shapely form, discarded in this lonesome place it rests, a forgotten and useless thing. The sadness of departed glory has full away; the moon, now sinking in the great beyond, sheds a parting ray on the goneness that everywhere is seen.

Not Gone.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to g[illegible] relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at Jno. C. NEWS AND NEWS.

The sensational press is the result of a misconception of what constitutes news. Charles Dudley Warner says it has grown up by giving notoriety to mean persons and mean events. That is a perfect definition of sensational journalism. Take one day's "news" in one of our local organs: A hysterical woman who pretends to enter heaven in a trance, an elopement, an interrupted bigamy, an actual bigamy, an adultery, another elopement, an abduction and seduction case, a case of marital infidelity, and a dime novel biography of a "bandit chief," all tricked out in turgid and polysyllabic composition and under lickerish lines of display headings, take up seven-eighths of the first page. If necessary to mention any of it as "news," it all should have been put in one-eighth of the space. But it is elaborated, padded, bloated into undue proportions, and told in a style intended to attract by its suggestiveness. Of such is sensational journalism wherever practiced. Its excuse is that it finds readers. If the haunts of vice in its most hideous form were compelled to plead they could make the same excuse, that they have patrons. But if the tastes of the community shall finally fall to the level of those who demand feculent sensationalism in the press, its practices will soon decline to the level of the patrons of vice.

The press has great power. But power is retained only by using it wisely. When a newspaper has the power to compel a business man to patronize it, because if refused it can attack and ruin his business, and it uses that power, it distinctly ranks itself with the thief, the burglar and the pickpocket. These would not steal the property of others if it were voluntarily surrendered on demand. But its owners resist such a demand and so the thieves steal. A business man in this city recently had such an experience with one of our sensational newspapers, and he frankly says that next time a demand for patronage is made he will accede to it or quit business, for this experience cost him between three thousand and five thousand dollars to save his business from ruin, in consequence of sensational publications made about him in the paper which had unsuccessfully solicited his advertising patronage. If a member of the Stock, Produce or Merchants' Exchange were guilty of blackmailing like that, he would be expelled. Then why should it be tolerated in a newspaper which must depend upon mercantile patronage for its support?

In another direction the habit of sensationalism is working a debauchery in journalism. The tendency is strong toward treating every person and every event in the corrupted style that is used in giving notoriety to mean persons and mean events. Depth and elevation are banished, and the fashion is flippancy and the style superficial. Virtuous women and modest, who become properly the subjects of legitimate notice in the press, by reason of participation in educational, religious or other movements, are usually introduced to the reader by some young squirt's comment upon their abundance or their lack of animal charms. His ideas of contour and complexion are either fired or dissatisfied, and his paper demands that the conclusions of his lascivious physical survey shall be set forth in a way to excite the derision or set running the slaver of rheumy rakes or ambitious young men who earnestly aspire to be blackguards. This downward tendency of sectionalism levels all ranks of conduct to the plane of the mean, to the ground floor of ungoverned passion, of lives that are void of a high motive, and where pure thoughts are unthinkable. It is useless to argue that all this is necessary to warn people of the consequences of vice. It allures and is no warning. As well might one say that the hideous realisms of Zola have a purer moral tendency than the poems of Jean Ingelow or the novels of Scott and Dickens.

The common sense of all thoughtful people is in arms against the theory, and the fears and solicitude of every parent war against it.

But, as a final argument, the protester is pointed to success. Sensational journalism succeeds. Yes, sometimes it does. It makes money, occasionally, but, analyzed, its prosperity is based on black mail. We affirm without fear of successful contradiction, that there is not now, and never has been in this country, a sensational journal that was not a blackmailer. The two things go together always and everywhere. Show us the columns of a newspaper and we can tell you the history of its counting room. So, it is a question whether what is called success in these instances, is what should be called success. If a man tomorrow succeeds in robbing the Bank of California, or the sub-treasury, getting criminal possession of all the millions in either place, is he excused from punishment, banqueted at the clubs and declared by resolution in public meetings as a credit to the state? He has as much right to be as sensational and blackmailing journalism has to be called a success. —Alta.

[illegible] pox is epidemic in McMinnville and general alarm is reported to exist there.

The British bark Norcross, 897, has been chartered for salmon from Victoria to London, at 35s.

The state fair began at Salem yesterday. We ought to have a county fair at Astoria next year.

An adjourned regular meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

The British ship Dunboyne cleared yesterday for Liverpool, carrying 23,732 bbls flour, worth $83,067.

The first train from Portland over the Portland and Vancouver railroad to Vancouver, passed over the rails yesterday.

Regular communication of Temple Lodge, No. 7, A. F. and A. M., this evening. Sojourning Master Masons in good standing made welcome.

The lighthouse to be erected at Cape Mears, on the Oregon coast, will be partially constructed by C. B. Buhrkoop and Robert Leaman, of Seattle.

Fishing at Gray's harbor began last Thursday. The first day the fishermen caught from 50 to 100 to the boat and are now making good catches.

J. G. Megler was over from Gray's harbor yesterday. He reports everything running smooth and the prospects good for a fair pack of salmon this fall.

The rain has stopped the smoke and the crystal air is so clear that the hills on the north side of the bay seem to have come closer in the last few days.

An article in yesterday's Oregonian says the Indian name of the Coquille river is "Nasso." Wm. Chance says it is "Skoquell," being Indian for "lamprey eel."

Among the attorneys in attendance at this term of court, in addition to members of the Astoria bar, are Hons. Raleigh Stott, J. G. Chapman and O. W. Yocum.

The Montesano Vidette hears that the fishing strike on Gray's harbor has ended and that all parties have gone to work at 33⅓ cents for silversides and 60 cents for black salmon.

The current number of the Youth's Companion has a long article signed "H. C. Stickney," which purports to be his experience fishing for salmon on the bar with a Chinaman for a captain, a very unlikely yarn.

A force of men is busy on the road around Smith's point; the 1,060 feet of trestle is about finished, and pebbles are being hauled by the wagon load to macadamize the road around the point toward the oil works.

The American ship T. F. Oakes, 1,879, Reed master, 30 days from Acapulco; the British bark County of Forfar, 997, McAlpin master, and the British bark Oberon, 1,194, Schumacher master, arrived in yesterday.

Col. Taylor is putting up a neat two story frame house on Smith's point, at Carruthers & Miller's milk ranch, which is considerable improvement there, and when painted white will be a prominent landmark in that vicinity.

The schooner Ours arrived at San Francisco last Sunday, twenty days from Cook's inlet, Alaska, with a car[illegible] of 4,082 cases of canned salmon. [illegible] Everson reports the catch of [illegible] as the smallest known for many years.

The current number of the New York Clipper contains an advertisement for the sale or lease of the famous mare, Oregon Beauty, which was killed by lightning on Coney Island on June 15th last, and which has been mounted for exhibition.

"What folks want to do is to pull together. If Astorians would stand [illegible] they'll be able to accomplish anything they undertook," was the remark of a prominent Portlander to the writer yesterday afternoon, regarding the railroad, and it is the [illegible] truth.

Chehalis county is agitated over the appearance there of a set of men [illegible] the apparent employment of the Northern Pacific railroad, making a survey for a road and the negotiations for a tract of three thousand acres of land from the Hoquiam Mill company, south of Hoquiam river, on the west side of Gray's harbor.

Capt. Reed has some fine Mexican gravel aboard [illegible] ship, the T. F. Oakes, which would be good for walks [illegible] laid lawns. It is bet[illegible] [illegible] South [illegible] [illegible] specimens from all parts [illegible] earth [illegible] part of our [illegible]

There was a good performance and a very large audience at Ross' opera house last evening, the Grismer-Davies company appearing in their new play "The World Against Her," it being well presented and enthusiastically received. The company is a good one throughout and gave a portraiture of the several characters that was appreciated by all present.

J. V. Watson, who went to Tongas Narrows as foreman for A. W. Berry last spring, arrived back yesterday. He will return on Thursday, operating for the Carter Bay Packing company, of which he is superintendent. Mr. Watson yesterday enriched THE ASTORIAN museum with two fine pairs of antlers from deer, killed at Tongas Narrows. In that part of the world the deer are called "mowich."

The United States steamship Albatross sailed from Seattle yesterday, to definitely locate the halibut banks at cape Flattery. The expedition will be accompanied by Prof. O. B. Johnson, naturalist, well known throughout Oregon as "Bug" Johnson, who is now making a specialty of Puget sound fisheries. It is thought that the Albatross will be subsequently ordered to this vicinity on a similar errand.

A. W. Utzinger has returned from Portland, whither he went to meet his brother, ex-Mayor C. C. Utzinger, of Crookston, Minnesota, who with his family arrived here yesterday morning. Mr. Utzinger came out here on a visit some time ago and immediately upon returning made arrangements for the transfer of himself and family to Astoria, where he will make his future residence. He was in the train immediately following the one delayed by the fires at Hood river, and had an unusual experience on the rail.

Of the 26 men that H. A Smith took with him via Roseburg for J. W. Hume's Coquille cannery, 25 went on. When they left here, 45 and 70 and free transportation were guaranteed them. When they got to Portland they demanded that they be guaranteed free transportation back. J. W. Hume was telegraphed to, and the answer came back agreeing to that. When they got to Roseburg they demanded free board. When this was telegraphed him he sent them word they could go back if they didn't like the terms already acceded to. Then they went on to their destination.

Stockholders of the Astoria and South Coast Railway Co., met at the chamber of commerce rooms at 7:30 last evening to take action regarding increasing the capital stock of the company, but there not being a majority represented of the stock subscribed it was decided to adjourn the meeting to next Monday evening at the same time and place, when it is expected that at least a majority of the number of shares of stock will be represented either in the persons of the subscribers or by proxy, that the directors may be duly authorized to increase the capital stock of the company as proposed.

"Can prunes be grown in Clatsop county?" was asked some time ago. A. A. Cleveland is one of those who has successfully answered the question in the affirmative. He has several large trees on his place loaded with fine prunes, large, egg-shaped, and of a quality that will compare favorably with those grown in any other section of the state. Now that we have had a successful canning of prunes this season, and it is shown that fine prunes can be grown here, it seems that there is an opening here to add another and a profitable industry to Clatsop county's list.

The State is due from San Francisco to-day, with the following passenger list: J. Binkleman, E. E. Freeman, T. Wilhelm, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Harlan, Mrs. C. McConnaha, W. Wolf, Mrs. A. L. Darby, H. Jackson, Miss P. Brown, J. A. Loucks, H. W. Davis, M. Sloss, A. Koshland, M. Blum, W. H. Armstrong, H. Brandenstein, H. D. Smith, Miss Wise, W. H. Armstrong and wife, C. C. Hill, G. Fleischner, E. Rogers, J. L. Donovan, J. A. Wellborn, Mrs. W. Stepp, Mrs. J. A. Marston, A. F. Beasley, D. Waite and wife, W. Paetz, A. Emanuel, E. Olson, J. Johnson, C. Teffit, C. W. Conway, J. C. Donovan.

"Hoboes" is what they call tramps and vags in the Willamette valley. The word first originated with the independent order of tramps, and was used by them as a sort of password. One tramp walking along the street, seeing another, whom by his general appearance he thinks belongs to the order, says 'hobo.' If the party thus addressed recognizes the word, he stops and an acquaintance is struck up. Again, this tramp walking alongside a lot of freight cars stops at one in which he thinks there is a brother and repeats the magic word. It is a sesame and if this surmise is correct, the car door is drawn back and the man outside is received within. From this specific use of the word has côme the general term 'hobo,' which is applied to the vag and beggar as well as the tramp.

Considerable truth is boiled down in the following: The man who says he does not believe in advertising is doing just what he pretends to despise. He hangs coats outside his door, or puts dry goods in his windows—that's advertising. He sends out drummers through the country, [illegible] his name on his wagon—that's advertising. He labels his articles, or manufactures—that's advertising. If he has lost a cow he puts a written notice in the postoffice or tells his sister-in-law—and that's advertising too. He has his name put in gilt letters over his door—and that is also advertising. He paints his shop green, or red, or, if a doctor, he has his boy call him out of church in haste; if an auctioneer, he rings a bell to attract the attention of the passers-by; if a heavy merchant, he keeps a huge pile of boxes on his sidewalk in front of his store, and all for advertising. A man can't do business without advertising, and the question is whether to call to his aid the engine that moves the world—the printing press—with its thousands of messengers working night and day; or, rejecting these, to go back to the time when newspapers, telegraphs and railways were unknown. But advertising costs money? So does everything else that is worth having."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Sam'l Elmore has returned to the city.

E. C. Finch, proprietor Aberdeen Herald is in the city.

Constable Smith has returned from the southern part of the state.

Col. Jno. Adair and Mrs. Dr. Owens-Adair started for the state fair last evening.

Charlton Fox returned yesterday from Alaska, via Port Townsend, looking well. He reports general good luck among the Astorians who went north last spring.

Wm. Allen, a leading business man of Aberdeen, W. T., is in the city, evidently prosperous, and was around yesterday shaking hands with old friends and acquaintances.

25,000 Fish at One Haul.

The bark Nicholas Thayer, which arrived from Alaska a few days ago, is discharging her cargo of salmon at Steuart street wharf. Charles Filank, the chief fisherman for the Arctic Packing company, to which the Thayer's cargo is consigned, tells marvelous stories of the fishing in the Karluk river. The river, he says, is fairly alive with salmon, and when a boat passes through where the channel is narrow, the fish can be seen by the thousands scattering right and left toward the banks. The fishing spot of the company is a place on the river three-quarters of a mile wide. The Nicholas Thayer caught 25,000 fish in one haul during her trip, and brought down with her 22,400 cases of salmon.—S. F. Chronicle, 14.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

The Price Said to be $7.000.

The statement is unqualifiedly made now that the fishermen's union has purchased the Mt. Hood cannery, but upon what terms, for what price, or in what manner is not known definitely on the outside. It has been reported, however, that $7,000 was the price agreed upon; that fishermen are to be paid 40 and 60 cents for salmon, 10 cents on each to be deducted to pay for the cannery, and that Mr. Gilstrap will remain under salary and superintend operations.—Bandon Recorder.

This Is Wrote Sarkastic.

By the way, Robinson Crusoe was the richest man on earth. He had the home market all to himself. Still he was not happy.—S. F. Alta.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

F. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Texas, says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother [illegible] was very low with Malarial fever and jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

A Singular Duel in Kentucky.

The O'Donnel-Times Trial in England.

PORTLAND, Sept. 17.—A trial trip was made to Vancouver yesterday on the newly constructed railroad. The trip was a sucess. The regular schedule of arrivals and departures will be established for different points within the city. The line will terminate for the present at L street, East Portland. It is the intention to take passengers to Vancouver within twenty minutes from starting. A street car system is to be built in Vancouver which will connect with the Portland line. It is confidently expected that the business impulses of East Portland and the country through which the new line passes will be wonderfully stimulated when the road is in active operation.

A COMMISSION OF INQUIRY.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The commission appointed by parliament to examine into charges made by the Times against Parnell and other Irish members of the house of commons, opened this morning. The reporters of the press occupied the bulk of the space. Two hundred reporters representing provincial, London and American newspapers were present. Judges Hannen, Smith and Day composed the commission. Sir Charles Russell and Herbert Henry Aquitt liberal members of parliament, appeared for the Parnellites and Rugg for O'Donnell, while Graham and attorney-general Webster appeared for the Times.

Judge Hannen said the commissioners were instructed to inquire into the charges made against certain members of the house and other persons in conection with the O'Donnell—Times action. The commission would hold an inquiry, and should be restricted to charges that were made the cause of that action. Parliament also gave them an addition to these powers, all powers vested in judges of high courts of justice.

They proposed in the first instance, to make an inquiry, as though it were an issue between O'Donnell and the Times; reserving to themselves power to call anybody who might be able to throw light on the issues involved. The inquiry would be carried on in accordance with the rules of ordinary courts.

A KENTUCKY TRAGEDY

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Sept. 17.—Two men, Steele and Mackabie, both drunk, boarded the train at Mt. Sterling yesterday afternoon and fought all the way to Steepstone, where the conductor, for the safety of the passengers, put the men off and let them fight it out. They drew pistols and exchanged five shots each. The fifth shot from Steele's pistol passed through Macabie's brain, killing him. They were cousins. After the killing Steele boarded the train and proceeded homeward, the train having waited until the duel was over.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 17. Capt. Vongel, who has just returned from the Congo country, states in an interview that he believes that he himself is the man described as the white pasha who is said to have been seen in Bahral gazed district. He said at the beginning of the year he had a number of conflicts with natives in the direction of Bahralgazed.

THE CANADIAN BORDER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—President Cleveland is contemplating a trip by water from Buffalo or Detroit up through the Detroit river, Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair river, Lake Huron, and St. Mary's river to Sault Ste. Marie. No details of the journey have yet been arranged, but it is understood that postmaster general Dickinson is negotiating for a fine steam yacht, now owned in Toledo, but formerly the property of a prominent citizen of Detroit.

Whether the St. Clair ship canal and the channels of the Detroit and Shellaries rivers are in American or Canadian waters, is a question that is attracting much attention just now. A senate resolution calling for information on this point is in the hands of the secretary of war. For some time past the president has wished to make a trip along the Canadian border, and through the great lakes to Duluth and Chicago, and it is not improbable that if the journey now under consideration is taken, it may be extended to these points.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. Sept. [illegible] total number of cases to date [illegible] deaths 117. The weather is still very wet and the outlook is more disheartening. Physicians say a man addicted to the use of liquor is not likely to survive an attack of yellow fever. The announcement made teetotalers by the hundred. The exodus would have made the liquor business dull, but the doctors' pronunciamento has paralyzed it. Three or four bar rooms have closed entirely, and those still open do no business.

TRADE S.S.S. MARK

An Important Announcement

About six weeks ago, while at business I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, [illegible] so severe the attack that I [illegible] had it [illegible], and in two or three days my [illegible] were swollen to almost [illegible] their [illegible] size, and [illegible] was [illegible] from [illegible]. After suffering the most [illegible] pain for [illegible] week using [illegible] various other remedies a friend who sympathized with my helpless condition, said to me:

"Why don't you get Swift's Specific and use it. I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."

I at once secured the S. S. S., and after using it the first day, had a quiet [illegible] refreshing sleep. In a week I felt greatly benefited. In three weeks I could [illegible] up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since [illegible] I have been regularly at my post of duty and stand on my feet from nine to ten hours a day, and am entirely free from pain. These are the plain and simple facts in my case, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries relative thereto, either in person or by mail.

THOMAS MARKILLIE,
11 W. 18th street, New York City.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—I have warded off an severe attack of rheumatism by a timely resort to Swift's Specific. [illegible] as a permanent relief is sought [illegible] recommends itself for a constitutional treatment that thoroughly eradicates the seeds of disease from the system.

REV. W. P. HARRISON, D. D.

NEW YORK, 51 7TH AVE.—After spending $200 to be relieved of Blood Poison without any benefit, a few bottles of Swift's Specific worked a perfect cure. C PORTER.

VIENNA, GA.—My little girl, aged six, and boy, aged four years, had scrofula in the worst aggravated shape. They were puny and sickly. To-day they are healthy and robust, all the result of taking S. S. S.

J. T. C[illegible]

LADY LAKE, SUMTER CO., FLA.—Your S. S. S. has proved a wonderful success in my case. The cancer on my face, no doubt, would have soon hurried me to my grave. I do think it is wonderful, and has no equal.

B. H. BYRD, Postmaster.

WACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1888.

S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Knowing that you appreciate voluntary testimonials, we take pleasure in stating that one of our lady customers has regained her health by the use of four large bottles of your great remedy, after having been an invalid for several years. Senatorial Pants.

The senior senator from Delaware, Mr. Saulsbury, is a gay bachelor of 70, for whose attention half the widows in Washington pine. He is very tall and very thin. He is also very charitable. The other day he sent a box of his cast-off clothing to a committee formed for the relief of sufferers by the western floods. The other day—so at least the story as told by one of his wicked colleagues goes—he received the following communication in his mail:

"The committy man giv me, amongst other things, what he called a pare of pants, and it would make me pant sum to wear them. I found your name and where you live in one of the pockets. My wife laffed so when I showed them to her that I thot she would have a conipshun fit. She wants to know if there lives and breathes a man who has legs no bigger than that. She said if there was, he ort to be taken up for vagrancy for having no visible means of support. I couldn't get them on my oldest boy, so I used them for gun cases. If you have another pare to spare, my wife would like them to hang up by the side of the fire place to keep the tongs in."

A manufaturer of some patent compound or other came into the labratory of an analytical chemist in Providence with a bottle containing an unwholesome looking mixture. "I would give $100," he said, "to know what would make the water and oil in this emulsion separate." The chemist looked at it. "Very well," he said, "write your check." "Check!" the other echoed. "Yes, your check for $100. You say you are willing to give that, and for that price I am willing to tell you what will make the water and oil separate." The visitor hesitated a moment and then wrote his check for the sum named. The chemist carefully deposited it in his pocket book and then quietly dropped into the liquid a pinch of common salt. Instantly the water separated, and whether the client was satisfied or not he had got what he wanted, and he had paid his own price for it.—Providence Journal.

The captain of the British ship McMillan denies that two shanghaed men jumped overboard from his ship at San Diego and swam ashore. He sailed with his crew drunk, but they got sober enough before they got out to sea to demand a full crew, the number being short by two, and he surrendered and got the needed men.

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, propose to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John McClure, from the south side of Astor street to the north end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.

Attest: T. S. JEWETT,
Auditor and Police Judge.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal. —Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff. —Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

PERFECT SAFETY, prompt action, and wonderful curative properties, easily place Ayer's Pills at the head of the list of popular remedies for Sick and Nervous Headaches, Constipation, and all ailments originating in a disordered Liver.

I have been a great sufferer from Headache, and Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the only medicine that has ever given me relief. One dose of these Pills will quickly move my bowels, and free my head from pain. —William L. Page, Richmond, Va.

THE PASSING OF BOAH.

And it came to pass that after four years were expired, at the time that kings go out to battle in the land of the Ammah Rakahns, that Boah, the Gaddite, the son of Agun, rode to and fro in the chariots of the Smashup, Waydown & Breackneck and spake unto all men, and sat in the seat of the scornful, and got in the way of the sinners.

For all the sons of men feared him and fled from before his face; for the staff of his tongue was as the belt of a fly-wheel, and he smote all the coasts of Amma Rekahns with an eight-day chin which he kept by him.

And so it was that about the tenth day of the month Ralaz, after the beginning of the feast of Hoo-Raw, that Boah the Gaddite went into the chariot of the Smo-Kahs, as thou comest to the fords of Har-Lem, by way of Al-Bani, which is by interpretation, Pie.

And Boah, the son of Agun, arose in the chariot, and spake with a loud voice, saying:

"Hear ye me, men of Amer Rekah, and all who dwell in the tents of Grovah, and ye sons of Benjamin, and all ye who dwell by the water Brooks of Prohi-Bishon, go to, let us take a vote."

And certain sons of Belial mocked him and said: "Nay, but rather let us go and take a drink."

But Boah, the son of Agun, would not hearken unto them, but spake all the more vehemently and cried: "Nay, but I will take a vote."

And all the sons of Benjamin, and all the children of Grovah, and all the mighty men of Fisk, which is a pleasant land and a large, where there are palm trees and wells of living water; and all the tribes of Mugwump, which is a goody goody land, a land that floweth with milk and water, rose up and cried:

"Are thy servants dogs and one thing and another, that they should stand this sort of thing more than three or four times a minute all through the campaign?"

And Hadarazzar, the Ethiopian, fell upon him and cut him bad, and the sons of Belial smote him with sandbags, and Gran Paw, the husbandman, struck him with the hinder end of an amberell exceedingly hard and heavy, and all who could reach him got hold of him and gave him one for luck, and spoiled the chariot with him, for there was much spoil in him.

And there was quiet in the land for ten minutes. And all the land of Amma-Rekah rebelled against the house of Boah unto this day. —Burdette in the Brooklyn Eagle.

Crude carbolic acid can be obtained at about $1 per gallon, and it should be freely used on a farm. A tablespoonful in a bucket of water will disinfect a whole stable. It is an excellent agent for preventing lice and insect attack on animals, and, if used frequently, will greatly aid in preventing disease. It can also be used with advantage in the cellar. If mixed with fine, dry lime it can be freely dusted over such places as may require disinfection.

An Excellent Medicine.

"My wife and myself were in bad health for some fifteen years. I chanced to be looking over one of Simmons Regulator Almanacs and saw A. H. Stevens' and Bishop Pierce's names to testimonials. I then obtained some of the Regulator, and can heartily recommend the Liver Regulator to my friends as an excellent medicine."

Z. E. HARRISON, M. D.,
Gordonsville, Va.

The most remarkable figure on the "stump" this fall will be Anna Dickenson. She has been engaged to make four speeches a week for Harrison and Morton. She will receive $200 for each speech and traveling expenses.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, highly concentrated, is the most economical blood purifier that can be used.

The British lion does not now mind having his tail twisted. It has been rejointed with a royal swivel in the middle and can be harmlessly done to a turn, serving at the same time considerable delight to the twister.

Headaches, biliousness, and liver troubles are promptly cured by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Equally safe for young or old.

Some people contrive to get hold of the prickly side of everything; to run against all the sharp corners and disagreeable things. Half the strength spent in growling would often set things right. You may as well make up your mind to begin with, that no one ever found the world quite as he would like it; but you are to take your part of the trouble and bear it bravely. You will be sure to have burdens laid upon you that belong to other people, unless you are a shirker yourself; but don't grumble. If the work needs doing, and you do it, never mind about that other who ought to have done it and didn't. Those workers who fill up the gaps and smooth away the rough spots, and finish up the jobs that others leave undone—they are the true peacemakers, and worth a whole regiment of growlers.

Woman—Have you been a tramp long?

Tramp—Pretty much all my life, ma'am; it runs in the family. My poor father was a professional for twenty-seven year, but the other day he struck big luck.

Woman—Did he come into an immense fortune?

Tramp—Well-er-no, not quite. Some influential friends of his got him into the poor house.

The oat crop is heavy this year, and the price will be low. Therefore, you can afford a little experimenting on your pigs with cheap oats. There is nothing better for growing pigs than a ration of oats. It forms muscle and bone; that gives size and stamina, and when you are ready to feed more fattening grain, you have the very best foundation to build on.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY.........SEPTEMBER 19, 1888.

YOUNG men in Minnesota have no nonsense about them. The rival suitors for a girl's hand were about to fight a duel, when one of them told the other that it was all foolishness and that if he wanted the girl he might have her. The other shook hands with his sensible antagonist and went off to claim the girl. It was found impossible, however, to deliver the goods. The girl kicked up and married a third party.

ACTING secretary of the navy commodore Harmony is convinced that the country could take care of herself in a war with England or any other country. He says: "Our guns are as good as any in the world. From what I can learn England had much difficulty with her guns. We have been on the alert, and where the Europeans have made mistakes in their manufacture of great guns we have profited by their experience and avoided those mistakes."

IT has been found that the essential characteristics of the brain of the New York chimpanzee, the late Mr. Crowley, were human. Its weight was about a third of that of a human brain of ordinary development, and it indicated that the chimpanzee knew more than some idiots. Not many men have enjoyed so much fame as did Mr. Crowley. His gifts were numerous, and the poems and prose written in his honor were many. So much fame was too much for his brain and he was inclined to be savage.

A LADY who last month investigated the treatment of women and girls in the shops of Chicago found at a lace factory a girl who had been making mats and who had been trying to earn $15 at the work since January. She received 60 cents a dozen for the mats, and it took her a week to crochet a dozen. A deposit of $3 was required by the firm, which agreed, however, to refund $1 on the completion of $15 worth of work. Of five women interrogated none was able to earn 20 cents a day. No woman had earned $15 in less than six months. At one establishment, where 120 women work, 37 lunched on dry bread and 23 had no lunch. The wages averaged $4 per week, but many earned only 28 cents a day.

Chinese Laundries and Flannel Shirts.

"Let me tell you," said the proprietor of an American laundry, "that the Chinese washee washee men are appalled by the growing popularity of the flannel shirt. The Mongolians are beginning to squeal already, and I am glad of it.

"You see, the ironing of white shirts has been their source of great income. Numbers of wives and housekeepers used to bring the men's shirts already washed perfectly clean to the Chinese shops to be ironed only. The Chinese use some stuff in washing that rots away the muslin and linen in a short time, and the women, of course, do not like that, They only wanted the ironing done, and for this the Chinamen charged 8 and 10 cents, allowing only 2 cents for the washing.

"Now," he continued, "any woman with the least taste can iron flannel shirts as good, if not better, than a Chinaman, and if the latter kind grows more popular you'll see many of the Chinese shops shut up before long and their tenants hurrying back to the flowery kingdom." —Chicago Herald.

NEWS FROM BOTH CONTINENTS.

The Question of Adjourning Congress.

"Mind Reader" Won Five Thousand Dollars

FAIRMOUNT, Ill., Sept. 18.—The passenger train on the Wabash road was wrecked by a collision with a freight train to-day. An unknown man who was stealing a ride on a brakebeam, was killed, and the engineer and postal clerk are badly injured

AN AFFAIR OF STATE.

BELGRADE, Sept. 18.—The German and Austrian ministers at Belgrade, have gone to Gleichenberg, Austria, where king Milan is staying, for the purpose of conferring with him with reference to a settlement of the trouble between himself and queen Natalie.

BIG RAINFALL.

PORT JARVIS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The heaviest rainfall in years occurred here yesterday and last night. Several streets are torn up and the cellars are flooded. People were taken from houses by boats this morning. Several small houses were carried into the Delaware river. The river is still rising.

THE HOLLAND PARLIAMENT.

THE HAGUE, Holland, Sept. 18.—Parliament opened to-day. In consequence of the sickness of the king he was unable to attend. The speech from the throne was read by prime minister Von Karn. The government intends to present bills for the regulation of labor of children in factories and for modification of the sugar tax.

THE YELLOW FEVER DISTRICT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The secretary of the treasury has received the following telegram from surgeon-general Hamilton at Camp Perry, Florida.

"Mr. Posey has the yellow fever, contracted at McClenny. Three cases are reported at Gainesville, and there are rumors of cases at Melbourne and Fernando. Refugees had great hardships on the special trains, and the whole seaboard is alarmed on account of these refugees breaking the patrol at Hendersonville. I don't think it advisable to send any more special trains."

"The camp is in excellent condition, but needs enlargement. This is being done as rapidly as possible. Those here are comfortable and reasonably happy."

NEWS FROM LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—John Dillon, who is to appear before the Parnell commission, at its next session, has not been released on bail. Preparations are being made for a great demonstration on his arrival at Dublin.

The police have arrested a German named Ludwig on suspicion of being the person who committed the recent mysterious murders in White Chapel.

There was a riot yesterday among inmates of the Irish immigrants' home, at Glasgow. The rioters wrecked the house and fought desperately with the police. Sixty-five arrests have been made and fifty-two rioters were to-day sentenced to one month's imprisonment each. The others were remanded.

FLOODS IN SWITZERLAND

BERNE, Sept. 18.—Inundations in the canton of Saint Gall have caused awful devastation. Fifteen thousand acres of inhabitated and populated land are covered with water. All the crops are ruined and the granaries, barns, houses and farm utensils washed away, while the district is converted into lakes. Thousands of people are forced to fly for their lives. Many villages have been abandoned.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Startling evidence is expected before the Parnell commission. Several Irish conspirators, undergoing imprisonment in England, have offered to make disclosures with the hope of obtaining a remission of sentence. These disclosures would relate to the dynamite conspiracy in America. It is believed these witnesses will be called in Parnell's action against the Times.

A FATAL DRAUGHT.

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—The clerks of the confectionery La Guardia drank poisoned wine to-day with their dinner. Four of them are dead and two others are dying. It is thought the crime was a vendetta.

FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—A prominent Democratic representative who has all along opposed any proposition looking to the passage of an adjournment resolution by the house, said to-day that he had satisfied himself after careful inquiry and actual count that the Democratic caucus to night would favor the passage of a concurrent resolution to adjourn congress on October 1st.

It is gathered from many sources that the members who heretofore opposed any such action have suddenly changed their position as a result of yesterday's proceedings in the house.

Chairman O'Neil, of the labor committee, then secured an overwhelming majority on the proposition to refer to his committee a resolution assigning certain days of the house for consideration of the labor bill. The point of no quorum was raised in time to avoid what members regard as a serious error, for the resolution would undoubtedly have been reported back favorably from the labor committee. An opportunity would thus have been offered to receive the yea and nay vote on the proposition to amend it by setting apart a day for the consideration of the dependent pension bill and other general pension legislation. The impending dilemma is said to be the cause of the change of front on the question of adjournment

FILED AN ANSWER

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. The Universal Interoceanic Panama Canal company filed its answer to-day in the United States circuit court to the suit brought by the Central and South American Telegraph company. The answer makes various admissions, including a total payment of $1,172,445, which on better knowledge is believed to be $637,764 in excess of their liability.

WON FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

MEXICO, Sept. 18.—Washington Irving Bishop, the mind-reader, gave a seance to 200 prominent society people to-day. He made a wager of $5,000 that he could tell the number of a bank note in the hand of minister Mariscal, and won the bet.

CLEARED HALF A MILLION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Commodore Bateman, a close friend of Armour, is reported to have cleared half a million dollars by the recent deal in St. Paul stock.

Smallpox is in McMinnville and is reported in Portland. THE ASTORIAN is no alarmist, but in view of the great amount of travel, it is wise to use precaution. It is easier to keep a disease out or to prevent it, than to dislodge it after it has effected a foothold. By the way, the city has no health officer.

Senator Dolph has been notified by the U. S. fish commissioner that in accordance with his request instructions had been issued by the U. S. fish commissioner to have a survey and location of fishing banks off the Columbia river made. The work will be commenced within a month. The Albatross will make a thorough examination of the coast off Washington territory, Oregon and California.

Maj. T. J. Blakeney, superintendent of the life saving service of this coast, says he is in receipt of news that plans for the new stations proposed on the northwestern coast, and the alterations to the old ones, are at present receiving the attention of the secretary of the treasury. Following are some of the proposed improvements most likely to be favorably considered: Improvement of the station at cape Hancock, removal of the station from the Indian reservation at Neah bay to Wyadda island, and the erection of a new life saving station near fort Stevens.

The requirements demanded by the government from pre-emptors and homesteaders are many, and must be strictly complied with, but even among these there is none of such a nature as that deemed necessary by one party, who in a letter to a prominent official of this city, in reference to his claim, says: "I am trying to hunt a wife who is willing to go with me to the Nehalem woods and stay there for good, in order to prove my good faith regarding my homestead in addition to all the other requirements necessary by law, etc."

From well informed parties the News learns that the thief is known who stole the $10,000 package which was deposited in the postoffice in Portland destined for New York, which place it never reached. It is stated that the only reason the suspected party is not arrested is that the authorities have not all the evidence that they want. It is claimed that Uncle Sam's mail is being systematically robbed by a well organized band of thieves, who have operatives at this end as well as at New York. Who the suspected man is it was impossible to learn, but sufficient was said to lead one to believe that the arrest will soon take place.

By last evening's mail, with the compliments of Senator J. H. Mitchell, was received the finest report on the Columbia river salmon fisheries produced since 1882. It is the report of Major W. A. Jones, made last December, and now officially published. Not the least in value as a part of the report are some very fine engravings, with all the clearness and sharp, distinct outlines of the photograph, giving a lifelike view of Baker's bay, Chinook salmon, blue backs, steelheads, fish traps, pound nets, fish wheels, interior views of canneries, maps of all the salmon canneries location, etc. The last map in the book gives the location of every fish trap in Baker's bay, the depth of water, the scale, etc., at the time the map was drawn. The whole thing is unusually complete, with statistics and tabular statements.

There are twenty-seven fire insurance agencies in Portland, representing about fifty companies doing a fine insurance business, cover $75,000,000 in risks within the corporate limits of that city, on which $750,000 is annually paid in premiums. Proportionately there is even more insurance business done in this city, which [illegible] one of the best insurance towns on the coast. Fire insurance companies have had a bonanza in Astoria, and have worked it for all it is worth. Insurance premiums are one of the biggest drains and heaviest taxes we have, and some of these fine days we will realize the fact and organize a local company, and keep the premiums at home. "Oh, yes," is the ready objection, "you favor organizing a home company and keeping the premiums paid at home, but suppose we have a [illegible] and a hundred thousand dollars go up in smoke, then we'd have all the loss at home." Like Patrick Henry the [illegible] by which our feet are guided is the lamp of experience, and experience shows that we have no big fires here, haven't had anything like one for over five years, and the risk of loss is so little as to justify the starting of a local insurance company at once.

Would Have Been Worth Talking About

Mr. Depew's admirers greeted his return to New York with a tug, a brass band and a pumpkin pie. He boarded the tug, listened to the band and ate the pie. So go the great. Now, if he had boarded the band, listened to the pie and eaten the tug, it would have been worth talking about.—[illegible]

How He Advertised.

A gentleman, living in a small city in the West, had inherited consumption from his father, and the doctor told him he must die. He stopped taking their weakening physic and tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In three months he was strong and well. The gentleman's neighbors knew how sickly he formerly was, and asked him to state in public how he had been cured. He advertised to lecture on a certain evening in the public hall, and there was a large audience present. This was his lecture: a picture of himself, before, and one after, he tried the remedy, and five empty bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. [illegible] Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

"THE POLAR BEAR."

Safe in Port After an Adventurous Trip.

The little steamer Polar Bear, which recently arrived safely after a run of 2,400 miles from Bristol bay, Alaska, left last Monday with cannery supplies for the Coquille. When off Tillamook rock, about four o'clock that afternoon, the after crank, about half way between the propellor and the pin broke, immediately disabling the vessel, which began to drift with the tide and current toward the rock. Capt. Johnson got sail bent as quickly as possible and succeeded in keeping her head off shore, standing out to sea and drifting till daylight yesterday morning, when the incoming State of California heaving in sight, she was signaled and bearing down upon the little craft gave them a line and started to tow the Polar Bear to this city. All went well till on the bar, about a mile in from the whistling buoy, when the hawser parted and the little vessel was again adrift, the State proceeding on her way to this city. There was a heavy swell, but no wind, Capt. Johnson not being able to get sail or make headway, so did the next best thing under the circumstances, putting out both anchors. After a short time the bar tug Donald came along and offered to take the little vessel to Astoria for $500. "You might as well take the vessel," said Capt. Johnson, "I can't pay that." After some delay, the Donald again came alongside, this time offering to tow her up for $250. This offer was accepted, and about noon the Polar Bear was laid alongside Hume's dock for repairs.

Addie Bryce vs. Jno. Bryce, default.

Willoughby vs Brauel, set for trial to-morrow morning.

Adjourned to 9 A. M., Sept. 19th.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without your attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Movements of O. R. & N. Boats

The Potter lies at the boneyard where she will be braced for the Sound trip, and some painting, etc., belonging to the original plans of the boat, completed.

The Sound trade not proving of sufficient volume to justify the continuance of the Alaskan upon that route she will be brought around to Portland and begin to ply as a night boat between this port and Astoria in two or three weeks.—Oregonian, 18.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at Jno. C. Dement's Drug Store. Large bottles $1.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle, the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Terrible Suffering From Skin Diseases

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have had the best of physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me, and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's.

From 145 pounds to 172 pounds.

I have taken several bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT with all the results I could wish for. About this time last year, when commencing its use, I weighed 145 pounds, and to-day I weigh 172 pounds.

GEO. CAMPBELL, Washington, D. C.

NOTE.—The CUTICURA RESOLVENT is beyond all doubt the greatest blood purifier ever compounded.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are a positive cure for every form of Skin and Blood Disease from Pimples to Scrofula.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison [illegible] little [illegible] physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved [illegible] by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease toward the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER [illegible]

KIDNEY PAINS,

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for MAN and BEAST. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

An exchange philosophizes upon the ambition of western farmers as follows: "The average western farmers toil hard, early and late, often depriving himself of needed rest and sleep—for what? To raise wheat. For what? To feed hogs. For what? To get money with which to buy more land. For what? To raise more wheat. For what? To feed more hogs. For what? To buy more land. And what does he want with more land? Why he wishes to raise more wheat—to feed more hogs—to buy more land—to raise more wheat—to feed more hogs.

Old china, broken earthenware and other similar material can be made serviceable by pounding them for hens. The hens prefer them to broken shells or any other gritty material. They are used in the gizzard for grinding the food and are really necessary, as many kinds of gravel are too round and do not answer the purpose. All gritty grinding substances used by poultry should be sharp and cutting.

Sequin bay, a point about thirteen miles distant from Port Townsend and about six miles west of Protection island, is urged as suitable for a government quarantine station by the Puget sound quarantine commission, and recommendations to select that point have been forwarded to the secretary of the treasury.

Mrs. Captain Tern is the name of the richest woman in Alaska. She is worth about $20,000, and lives royally at Sitka, surrounded by slaves. She supported two husbands till lately, having to give up one when she joined the Presbyterian mission. Mrs. Tern is ugly, fat and over 40, and is a shrewd trader.

"Did Col. Yerger treat you politely when you called to see him?" asked uncle Mose of another colored man. "You bet he did. He blowed the smoke ob a cigar in my face whut must hab cost 20 cents. Hit was de finest kind ob a cigar."—Texas Siftings.

Horses that are compelled to perform hand service should not receive a fixed allowance of food, but be given all the hay they can eat with an extra mess of oats at night. They should also be protected from flies and insects, in order to rest well, and be in better condition for service the next day.

Timothy is very injurious in an orchard. It dries up the ground. Clover would furnish more moisture, shade and mulching. Never seed down the orchard until you have planted it with corn or the like for five years.

Saratoga Belle—You would scarcely believe it, Mr. Oldboy, but the lady seated near the window has over two hundred dresses.

Mr. Oldboy—Is it possible? Why doesn't she put one of 'em on?

To enrich land that is poor, we must have manure or its equivalent in vegetable matter, or apply plant food in some shape to induce the growth of vegetation.

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, proposes to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John McClure, from the south side of Astor street to the north end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.

Attest: T. S. JEWETT,
Auditor and Police Judge.

Young Men
Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN
There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

AN IRISH EVICTION.

A Graphic Description of Cruelty Common in Ireland.

London Daily News.

A sharp rap is heard on the barricaded window. It is the sheriff demanding possession. He has his shield in front of him, and well for him he has, for by way of response comes a spout of brown liquid that smells villainously. "There's lime in it, bedad," said an R. G. C., sputtering. "Lime," quotha; "I should think there was and something worse." "Come now, come out at once and give us no more of this nonsense. If you don't it will be all the worse for you." A shrill scream of defiance is the reply, accompanied by a splash of hot water. "Up with the ram," is the order, and while the emergency men are putting "judge Norbery" on his legs a strange scene in this tragic comedy is enacted just outside the line of sentries. It is one of the daughters of the family on her knees in the sweet, long grass, clasping her hands and praying with all her heart to the blessed Jesus and the Holy Virgin and all the saints to parboil the sheriff and his men in the rubbish her dear father was playing upon them. It might or might not have been in answer to her prayers. All I can say is that the sheriff and the rest of them had a pretty good dose of liquid artillery before their work was finished. "Once more, will you come out?" "No, I won't!" "Send out the woman, anyhow: can't you do that?" "No, I won't!" and the women laughed in derision.

"Back, away with them; back, away with them;" and away the battering ram swinging on its ponderous chain, while from the blank windows pours the hot water with the brown liquid upon the shields of the two men who are protecting the swingers: The captain of the gang sways his arms, the woman on the grassy bank wails aloud and the iron head of the ram pounds against the walls. The ninth blow drives a hole through the brickwork, but as yet we can see nothing. We hear, though, plain enough, "In wi' you; I have nothing but my fists. Shoot me if you like; I don't care. Better die here than on the roadside. I would rather die here than any other place." The breach in the wall widens, and louder comes Matt's challenge. "In wi' you, all of you, if you like. I have only my fists; why don't you come on, sir?" This question being apparently addressed to colonel Turner or to the sheriff, both of whom were standing in the hot-water line. At the thirteenth or fourteenth blow the wall showed a gap of about six feet in width, and then all at once Matt Magrath became fully visible, or rather the upper half of him did, for the shattered wall of his dwelling was piled up in front of him. With white, haggard face he rushed about, a wild man at bay, glaring at the armed host in front of him, and shouting hoarsely: "Come on; I have only my fists; shoot me; I don't care; I would rather die here where I was bred and born and my father before me," and springing to the edge of the gap he shook his fists in the reckless defiance of despair.

Wide as the gap was it was not yet wide enough for a rush, so the ram swung again to the gang captain's song. A big fragment of wall toppled over; a cataract of hot water rushed out through the gap. Mat, who looks like a madman, pitches out a stream of brown liquid, but, with the quickness of lightning, and before Matt had time to dip his vessel for a second supply, inspector Hill dashed up to the breach. He slipped, and down he went head over heels right into the heart of Matt's den, with a swarm of royal Irish constables after him, stumbling, slipping and scrambling; and then it all became confusion of dust and falling brickwork, shrieks, shouts and curses. In a few minutes the royal Irish constables rushed out again pell-mell covered from head to foot with dust and filth, and swaying and staggering round Matt Magrath, who, with his white, frantic face dabbled with blood, requires six men to hold him. Matt is immensely strong, besides being desperate, and sturdy as the six royal Irish constables [illegible] really looked as if their [illegible] would succeed in tearing himself from their grasp. After a struggle he was thrown or tripped over on his back right on a ladder which lay at my feet, and there at last they succeeded in forcing his brawny wrists into handcuffs. The doctor then came up and dressed the wound on Matt's head. There was only one wound, and that by no means a serious one. The marvelous thing was that in spite of his desperate resistance Matt escaped with such little hurt.

Customer (to jeweler)—Here's the clock I bought of you the other day. It's of no earthly use to me, for it gains fully fifteen minutes an hour. ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY . . . . . . SEPTEMBER 20, 1888

A NOTEWORTHY REFORM.

The presidential election of 1888 will be remarkable, says an exchange, for the fact that it is preceded by no great "October election." Ohio was the last of the important states to abandon the old system of holding two elections within a few weeks of each other—the first for state officers and the second for federal. Ohio had her "October election" as usual in 1884, but only a year later the people adopted an amendment to the constitution abolishing the system. Indiana had an October election in 1880, but did away with the plan before 1884. Iowa and West Virginia fell in with the tide in 1884. Pennsylvania had led the way in 1873, when the new constitution was adopted. The only northern states which still hold preliminary state elections in the fall of a presidential year are Vermont and Maine, which are too one-sided in politics for the result to carry much weight, and in these, for some time past, there has been a growing agitation for the abolition of the duplex system.

The change which has thus been brought about is a reform of great importance. Under the old policy the elections in the October states lost their true character as controversies over state issues, and became merely the first engagements of the presidential struggle. The question was not as to whether a certain candidate or a policy were better than the candidate or policy on the other side, but how the party might secure the largest possible share of "moral effect" upon voters throughout the Union. "As goes Pennsylvania, so goes the Union," used to be the most familiar of mottoes, and the "floating vote" throughout the country was expected to be carried along with the tide which swept over the Keystone state. Before the war the state was often very close, Harrison carrying it in 1840 over Van Buren by the narrow margin of only 349 plurality. After Pennsylvania dropped out of the October procession, popular interest centered upon Ohio and Indiana, especially the latter, as always a close and doubtful state. The demoralizing fight for its control in October, 1880, was one of the most discreditable incidents in our political history.

There was never anything to be said in favor of the October election, or of a state election at any other time within a few weeks of the presidential election. It was expensive, without rendering any return for the money invested; it changed the issue in the state from the proper basis of state questions to the national controversy; it distracted the attention of the rest of the country; and it exerted an influence beyond the state upon the discussion of the national controversy which was disturbing. Instead of carrying on a reasonable campaign in all the states, the party managers massed their forces in two or three, and the others were expected to be, and too often were, profoundly affected by the result. In 1880 the result of the presidential election was practically decided, and was generally felt to be decided, when the verdict of Indiana upon the state controversy was rendered.

It is in every way a great gain to be rid of the whole October business. Its general elimination is an excellent illustration of the way in which common sense triumphs over tradition. When general Harrison's grandfather ran for president, the people did not vote for president throughout the country on the same day. On the contrary, the balloting began in Pennsylvania and Ohio upon the last Friday in October, and closed in North Carolina upon the second Thursday of November. Such a system was even less defensible than that of preliminary state elections, and it did not long survive. The "October election" folly had more vitality, and a struggle was generally required to put an end to it. The gain to the cause of good politics by its abolition is so great that it is hard to overestimate it.

A SKETCH OF ASTORIA.

As Viewed by a Correspondent of The "Skandinavian."

Some time ago a representative of the Skandinavian, a newspaper published in the Norwegian and Danish language at Chicago and having what is claimed to be the largest circulation of any newspaper in the world printed in that language, was here, and in the issue of that valuable journal of September 12th he writes as follows:

"On the south side of the Columbia river about 15 miles from its entrance is situated the city of Astoria, world renown for its fishing industries. Long before the now existing towns along the Columbia and the coast northward had been named, was Astoria, a depot for the well known Hudson Bay Co., at that time, however, was the place and the immediate surroundings British possessions. The first settlement was in 1808, and where upper Astoria is now can yet be seen some of the houses first built.

The buildings were for a number of years confined to warehouses, custom house and dwelling houses for the population which for some time numbered about 30. The city is named after and in honor of John Jacob Astor, one of the members of the Hudson Bay Co.

Though the fishing on the Columbia river is as old as the city of Astoria itself, it is only since 1864 that Astoria can count its rise as a headquarters for the fishing interests; it is from that time that they commenced to put up the salmon in hermetically sealed cans, and brought this excellent product into the markets of the world on a large scale. Since that time there has developed a life and stirring up about Astoria which but few could have dreamed about 50 years ago. The city has now, counting the suburbs, about 10,000 inhabitants, and this number is increased during the fishing season by [illegible]

A larger part of [illegible] the city [illegible] built on piles [illegible] places in the city [illegible] the water, the rest of the city [illegible] along the beach [illegible] of the city [illegible] Astoria and [illegible] A street car line makes the communication or intercourse between the different points comparatively easy. While Astoria is situated in one of the best lumbering districts on the Pacific coast [illegible] is, however, only the fishing in[illegible] that up to the present time has been the principal pursuit of a majority of the people. Astoria has 28 canneries; the amount of salmon canned inc[illegible] every year up to 1884, when over 600,000 cases were packed, but from that time the fishing has somewhat fallen off and been more variable. This year is packed only about 350,000 cases of 4-dozen 1 lb cans each. It is figured that about three salmon will fill a case; the market value of the salmon h[illegible] per case, but this y[illegible] somewhat higher. The pri[illegible] this year was $1.25 per fish, which [illegible] higher than usual. The fishing season opens the 1st of April and closes the 1st of August. It is prohibited by law to catch salmon during the months of March, August and September. Some fish are caught in the fall, but in less quantities and the salmon then is a great deal poorer. The cost of fishing gear is considerable, yet a great many are earning a fine yearly income during the season. The city has good harbor with safe anchorage and is headquarters for about 20 small steamers plying on the river and coast. Astoria has steamship connection with San Francisco every 3d day and with Portland twice every day, and several steamers have weekly routes along the coast south and north. L[illegible] vessels loading up the Columbia river for Pacific or Atlantic ports must finish loading with a considerable portion of the cargo at Astoria on account of low water above.

They are building a breakwater wall at the mouth of the river to facilitate the entrance and lead the current in a more positive direction out over the bar [illegible] river is about 7 miles wide at Ast[illegible] both above and below it is considerable wider. The great difference between high and low water makes the water in the harbor sometimes salt and sometimes fresh. When it is flooding the current runs in from the ocean and returns with increased force when ebbing. High and low water is noticeable as far up as Portland but the current is not affected more than about 30 miles. Astoria has [illegible] churches, of which 2 are Scandinavian, 2 large school hous[illegible] 2 banks, 4 large hotels, 3 sawmills, 2 planing mills, [illegible] machine shops, 1 foundry and 2 brewe[illegible]

Boarding houses are qui[illegible] numero[illegible] the principal part of them are running only during the fishing season.

The Columbia Water Co. is furnishing excellent water through six miles of mains laid from a fine creek southeast of the city. Two daily and three weekly papers are published in Astoria.

The population of Astoria represents nearly every nationality, and the Chinamen are particularly numerous. Scandinavians are about one-quarter of the inhabitants of the city, and of foreign born citizens they are perhaps the most numerous. Some of the Scandinavians [illegible] owners or part owners in canneries [illegible] others are in different branches of business, among them can be mentioned, G. Hansen, jeweler; Martin Olsen, furniture; Martin Foard, part owner of the largest grocery house in the city; C. A. Han[illegible] general store; Th. Olsen, drugg[illegible] C. Evensen, proprietor Central [illegible] Among other well-known Scandinavians can be mentioned: A. T. Brakke, J. M. Olsen, policeman, M. Jensen, inventor, L. Larson, F. Oberg and Jeldness brothers. A. T. Brakke has been justice of the peace for 7 years in upper Astoria up to the 1st of July last; he has also been connected with different canneries as a president and secretary [illegible]

M. Jensen is the inventor of several useful machines for canneries, and he is undoubtedly a genius in this direction.

What Astoria lacks to compete with the many growing towns on the [illegible] is railroad connection with the interior and the east. This has, however, for a long time occupied the mind and attention of the Astorians. To help up th[illegible] lackage some of the capitalists of Astoria have subscribed a sufficient amount to build a railroad from Astoria to Tillamook, where they expect to connect with the O. & C. R. The company has already organized and elected its officers, and the work will go ahead as soon as possible, and Astoria will thus within a short time have our present time's mightiest lever to promote her property."

Robert Had Overheard His Pappaw

Mrs. Hendricks was entertaining some ladies at a select little 5 o'clock tea, and Bobby, who had been exceptionally well behaved, was in high feather.

"Ma," he said politely, as refreshments were being served, "may I have some tongue, please?"

"There isn't any tongue, Bobby."

"That's funny," commented Bobby, "I heard pa say there would be lots of it."

A FOG SIGNAL SHIP.

The Establishment of One off the Columbia River Bar.

Soon after the establishment of the fog signals at the light-houses of Point Adams and Cape Disappointment, at the mouth of the Columbia river, it was found that their sounds could not be heard over the terrific roar of the surf breaking along the great semicircle of about fifteen or eighteen miles along the outline of the bar. The fog signals were therefore discontinued, and the mouth of this greatest river on the Pacific Coast, was, in a measure, inadequately supplied with the usual aids to navigation.

A report upon the subject was recently made to Superintendent Thorn of the United States coast and geodetic survey, and he, being a member of the light-house board, brought to the notice of the board a proposition to place a fog signal vessel off the bar of the Columbia. The principal object was to afford this valuable aid to navigation in thick weather, when vessels could not see the lights or could not hear the whistling buoy. In addition to the fog signal apparatus, the vessel could also be fitted with a light of moderate power which would be available when the cape or the point is obscured by the early fogs of the evening before they have formed far outside. It is understood that very recently the light-house board determined to take the proper steps to obtain an appropriation for this light and fog signal vessel. It will be of very great service not only to the traffic of the Columbia river but to all vessels bound farther north; It is believed that this is the first case of a vessel being specially fitted with fog-signal apparatus, and the lighthouse board deserve the commendation and thanks of navigators and merchants.

The aids to navigation on this coast are being provided with commendable promptness. The Dominion of Canada has been active in fixing good lights on the shores of Vancouver Island, and on the islands of the Canal de Haro, and propose to put a first-class light and fog-signal at Point Bonilla on the north side of the entrance to the Strait of Fuca. The United States government also proposes lights and fog-signals on Patos and Stuart Islands on the Canal de Haro. At the entrance of that passage the Dominion will add a fog-signal to the light house on Discovery Island.—Call.

(The appropriation of $60,000 made by congress for this purpose, will be shortly available.—Ed. Astorian.)

A San Francisco exchange says that it doesn't cost any more to put up a can of salmon for the American market than for the English market. This is so, but when the can is shipped to the English market the American canner gets the rebate on the tariff on the tin in the can, and when he sells it in this country no rebate is allowed. However, this is made up by the increased price obtainable in the home market.

Now that the U. So far there has been little political stir in this county relative to the coming presidential election. There was a state convention of Republican clubs in Portland yesterday, and there will be a rally there to-night, under the auspices of the League convention. Say there, do you want to beat that "drop-a nickel-in-the-slot-and-see-what-you-weigh" machine at the Occident? Well, if you feel like playing it so low down as to beat a machine out of five cents, do the same as two cuties did last night. They were both slim and slender, and got on the platform together, one of them dropping a nickel in the slot. The hand swung around and quivered in front of "270." Then one jumped off. Then the hand of the dial, with a weary "you've got-me" air, swung back to "144." The other fellow, therefore, weighed 126, and both got weighed for 5 cents. How a little racket like this will tickle those folks who are forever preaching "economy?" Here's a chance for them to actually save five cents, and beat a machine instead of a man.

Did you ever notice, probably you have, that when you go away from home and are strolling in another city how cordial your recognition and hearty your salutation of some townsman that probably you didn't notice, or who didn't notice you, when on the streets of your own burg? And talking about "noticing" people, it is probably one of the most embarrassing things in daily life to meet some one on the street and not know whether you are going to be recognized or not. Yesterday you met him or her and were most cordially saluted. To-day you meet the same individual—there is an averted gaze, an air of preoccupation, a careful studying of the other side of the street. You don't know what to make of it. It is awkward, doncherknow, to meet one of those folks who sometimes knows you, and sometimes doesn't,—you never know which it'll be—and after a little while you don't [illegible]

Regarding the great flocks of birds at the mouth of the river, an Ashland correspondent of the Oregonian says: "The sea pigeons noted in your issue of the 16th as being present in such great numbers in the mouth of the Columbia river, are now on their way from their breeding grounds in Alaska to their winter haunts along the shores of Lower California. I noticed them while in Alaska during the seasons of 1885, 1886 and 1887. They made their first appearance from the south, simultaneous with the anchovies, called stink fish by the siwashes, and herring. Their breeding places are to be found on the small rocky inlets lying off the coast of the larger islands forming the Alexander archipelego. Towards the end of July they begin to congregate in immense flocks along the deltas of the streams emptying into the numerous inlets of that region, and are accompanied by large numbers of their young. At this time they feed upon the shoals of dead salmon that litter the shores in the neighborhood of their spawning streams, and with the cessation of the silver salmon and "cultus" salmon run they begin to wing their way southward. In certain favored localities, for instance, in the lowlands of the mouth of the Unuk river, I have seen them in such immense numbers that they literally seemed to crowd each other."

AS TO FIRE INSURANCE.

What's The Matter With a Home Company?

A brief communication from a valued correspondent relative to a suggestion in yesterday's issue that Astoria organize an insurance company, leads by its tenor to the belief that the aforesaid valued correspondent does not "catch on" to the main idea.

If the writer insures his goods or property for $1,000 he doesn't make a bet with the insurance company at odds of 6½ to 100 that his goods or property will be destroyed by fire. That is not the intent or purpose. His idea in insuring is that recognizing the risk attending fire, he pays a certain sum as a premium to a collection of investors who guarantee to pay him the amount named in the policy. That is, in case of fire the loss is not concentrated. In place of falling on one individual, it is divided among a large number of underwriters.

Again, as to another point, which we believe to be a correct view; it may be said that if we owned six or seven fine buildings in different parts of this city, we would probably not insure any, for the risk would not justify it; it would be cheaper to let one burn up on the law of chances. But only owning one, having all our eggs in one basket, it is business to insure, and keep insured, no matter how onerous the rate, for if that one building should burn we own no toher.

The writer doesn't claim to know all about insurance. That is a degree of proficiency denied to ordinary mortals, but he believes he has a middling tight grip on a handful of practical ideas relative thereto.

There is a lot of money paid out for insurance from fire in this city every year that might just as well be kept in the city as sent away. It is one of the many drains of coin from Astoria, and one of the golden streams AWAY from Astoria that could have its course changed.

It constitutes a big tax, a tax that every business man and property owner feels. It is a tax of from 1½ to 10 per cent per annum.

The business is and has been a very profitable one to the insurance companies. If Astoria were to go up in a sheet of flame to-morrow, the insurance companies would be away ahead of the game, if they had to pay a million dollars insurance.

A local company with say $300,000 capital could do a good, safe, profitable business, and keep some of the money here that is now yearly sent away

Whenever anything is proposed, whether it is a street railway, or gas works, or a road to the seaside, or a building and loan association, or a home insurance company, or anything else, a lot of old grannies of both sexes, chiefly masculine, jump up shrieking, "you can't do it;" and then when the thing is a paying success, go around crying about their fore sights not being equal to their hind sights, and kicking because they didn't get in when they could and gnashing their teeth at those who did invest and have a good thing of it.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Billious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

THE FUTURE.

Be not too sure a future world
  Shall make all plain and clear;
Perhaps we shall be puzzled there
  As we are puzzled here.
That world may be a single step
  In a sublime career,
While still a boundless universe
  Shall beckon, sphere on sphere.

FROM PORTLAND AND SALEM

The Chinese Bill Goes to The President.

Innocent Violation of an Important Law.

PORTLAND, Sept. 19. —Ben King, the youthful express robber, who with Frank Anderson was recently indicted for stealing a package of $10,000 in gold which the Commercial National bank of this city had intr[illegible] Pacific Express company, Ju[illegible] for transportation to I. W. Case, Astoria, was arraigned in judge Stearn's court yesterday morning for the opening of his trial, which continued over for to-day. Ben's testimony was weak. His memory is blank on the robbery question. His invalid mother was in court. The jury went out at 3 o'clock and will convict or disagree.

A large and enthusiastic Republican convention was held to-day in Union hall to prepare for systematic compaign work.

In the criminal court this morning J. D. Wilcox and C. H. McIsaac, charged with attempting to extort $1,500 from Mrs. Dr. Frances Murray were arraigned on revised indictments. Mr. Wilcox requested till Friday to plead and Mr. McIsaac, who came into the court room a few minutes later, asked the same privilege, and no objection being made in either case, it was granted.

TOY MONEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. A large quantity of toy money, consisting of imitation gold eagles, silver dollars, dimes and quarters, together with dies, was seized in the apartments of Francois Abadie, a clothing cutter in this city. Abadie said he expected to realize a fortune from their manufacture and sale to children. He did not know he was violating a law

Specific Education.

Mr. Vanderbilt pays his cook $10,000 a year, my boy, which is a great deal more than you and I earn—or at least it is a great deal more than we get because he can cook. That is all. Presumably because he can cook better than any other man in America. That is all. If Monsieur Sauceaugravi could cook tolerably well and shoot a little, and speak three languages tolerably well, and keep books fairly, and sing some, and understood gardening pretty well, and could preach a pretty fair sort of a sermon, and knew something about horses, and could telegraph a little, and could do light porter's work, and could read proof tolerably, and could do plain house and sign painting, and could help on a threshing-machine, and knew enough law to practice in the justices' courts of Kickapoo township, and had once run for the legislature, and knew how to weigh hay, he wouldn't get $10,000 a year for it. He gets that just because he knows how to cook, and it wouldn't make a cent's worth of difference in his salary if he thought the world was flat and that it went around its orbit on wheels. There's nothing like knowing your business clear through, my boy, from withers to hock, whether you know anything else or not. What's the good of knowing everything? Only the Sophomores are omniscient. Burdett.

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, propose to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John McClure, from the south side of Astor street to the no[illegible] end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.
Attest: T. S. JEWETT,
Auditor and Police Judge
Astoria, Oregon, September 14th, 1888.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Man and Beast. Greatest Curative discovery ever made.

CHASED BY LIGHTNING.

An Engineer Tells of Some Fast Time.

Omaha Herald.

"What was the fastest time you ever made?" asked the talker of Johnnie Byers, one of the best known engineers in the western country.

"Well," he returned, "I reckon a run of forty miles I made on the North Platte end of the division was the slickest. You see, I was sent out from Omaha with a light engine to pull in a special director's car from North Platte, and when I got within about fifty miles of the latter station I was given an order to run regardless of everything—other trains were sidetracked for me.

"I hadn't left the station more'n five minutes when a heavy thunderstorm came up—they do it awful quick out there—and me and my fireman enjoyed the finest display of fireworks you ever see.

"All of a sudden Tom yelled to me:

"Holy Moses! The lightning struck the track! Pull out, Johnnie, or we're done for!"

"I looked back, and sure enough there came a streak of lightning along the right rail, headed for us. It was a kinder whitish-blue sort of a thing, and was humping along like it had a time order.

"I knew if it struck the train we was all gone to the sweet hereafter, and I pulled her wide open.

"Well, the old machine seemed to know something was up, and she gave a jump like a scared antelope and off ahead of that lightning streak. At first the streak seemed to be gaining on us, but after the engine got good and started, my, you ought to see the distance play out between us. But the lightning didn't seem to be discouraged. It just spit on its hands and clawed along after us like a prommissory note after an insolvent debtor.

"Well, I seen something must be done, but couldn't make out how to do it. It was plain that if this thing kept up much longer the water and coal would give out, not to speak of red-hot journals. I says to Tom:

"'Heave away, now, with the coal and we'll fool him,' and although he'd been heaving away since the start of the race, that seemed to help, for I could see the lightning was lagging. Then I turned the machine over to him and crawled back on the tank. I had an idea. There was a siding a few miles ahead and if we could make it—well, you'll see. There was a broken draw-bar on the tank, and when I reckoned we'd got about the right distance I dropped it. I could see it rolling along for quite a distance, then I got back to the engine and slacked up.

"All of a sudden I heard the most outlandish racket you ever heard of behind us. Then the air was full of splinters, and when I rolled back, sure enough, the draw-bar had fallen in the switch I'd calculated on hitting, and had made such a connection with the main track that the lightning had been switched off and had run down on the siding, and into the cars of powder, standing there. I'm sorry I can't give you the exact time of that run, but under the circumstances you couldn't expect a man to hold a watch; now could you?"

The best way when hot grease has been spilled on the floor is to dash cold water on it, so as to harden it quickly and prevent its striking into the boards.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair.—Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.—Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

PERFECT SAFETY, prompt action, and wonderful curative properties, easily place Ayer's Pills at the head of the list of popular remedies for Sick and Nervous Headaches, Constipation, and all ailments originating in a disordered Liver.

I have been a great sufferer from Headache, and Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the only medicine that has ever given me relief. One dose of these Pills will quickly move my bowels, and free my head from pain.—William L. Page, Richmond, Va.

THE ABLE BRITISH EDITOR.

A person does not need to be very old to remember the time when English journals displayed lamentable ignorance on American topics. Even the great newspapers of London made the most absurd mistakes about American affairs. This has been greatly changed of late years, and the leading papers of Great Britain are becoming well posted on current events in the United States. They have shown an especially intelligent grasp of political matters during the last few weeks. As an example, the New York Tribune gives an editorial from the London Daily Universe which is a fair sample of the clear and able discussion of the situation found in the English press:

"The news is received this morning of the nomination for the presidency by the Democrats of Mr. Harrison. This places him in opposition to general Cleveland, nominated by the Republicans at Buffalo, Ohio. It is understood that a crisis is imminent and that general Hays, the present incumbent of the office will retire to his farm in Boston.

"It seems that two other men have also been nominated as substitutes, in case the regular nominee should be killed during the campaign, which will be carried on with vigor. On the Republican ticket it is professor Morton, of Alaska, but at present living in Florida, though it is said that he claims to be a resident of the great agricultural state of Philadelphia. On the Democratic ticket Dr. Thurman, a distinguished Italian, born near Rome in the early part of 1783. He at present conducts a gymnasium in the city of Kentucky, and has a large personal following, who refer to him affectionately as the "Old Roman."

"It is predicted that these nominations will call out a full vote. Mr. Harrison will make a thorough canvass, speaking at Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Lake Erie, Mammoth Cave and Oshkosh. He will then come east and address the people of San Francisco. General Cleveland, who is especially strong with the soldier vote, having a brilliant army record, gained by the gallant capture of a large number of confederate flags, will speak at Dismal Swamp, Montreal and other places. An opposition paper mentions an address which he will deliver in the season at a place called Salt river, but we know nothing of it. Mr. Harrison favors free trade and a strong prohibitive duty on all exports. General Cleveland's enemies charge him with trying to influence votes by favoring a pension for every man who was in the army. Mr. Harrison has been in the legislature of New Orleans, and in 1878 was mayor of Oregon. Much talk is heard about the bloody shirt, dead issues, the red banana (a new variety recently propagated in Dakota), grangers, war taxes, bar'ls, planks, dark-colored horses, the solid south, carpet-baggers, the electoral university, etc., none of which is very clear at this distance, but which our correspondent is investigating. The old mugwump party, founded by Noah Webster, of Tennessee, is said to have joined with the greenback party, the know-nothing party and the federalist party, and if such is the case, and it puts forward a candidate, it will complicate matters still further. This party would control the undivided Chinese vote.

"The report that Mr. Blaine had declared his intention of deserting the mugwump party is shown to be premature by a special telegram published on our fifth page."

An Excellent Medicine.

"My wife and myself were in bad health for some fifteen years. I chanced to be looking over one of Simmons Regulator Almanacs and saw A. H. Stevens' and Bishop Pierce's names to testimonials. I then obtained some of the Regulator, and can heartily recommend the Liver Regulator to my friends as an excellent medicine."

Z. E. HARRISON, M. D.,

The papers in the Washington territory woman suffrage test case was forwarded to the supreme court of the United States at Washington Sept. 12th. If the case is decided, as expected, previous to November 6th, in favor of the women, it will cause a sensation among politicians, as the women will insist on voting.

How A Man Describes A Dress.

The average man usually finds himself at sea when he undertakes a description of a lady's dress. An old farmer, returning from a wedding of his niece in a distant city, was eagerly questioned by his family as to the bride's costume. "Well," said he, "she had on some kind of a dress, with a lot of flub-drubbery of some sort or 'nother down the front of it, a thing-a-mi-jig on the back of it, with a long tail of some stuff—I don't know what it was—dragging out behind, and a lot of flip-flap flounces over the whole thing. There wasn't no arms to it, and she had a lot of white truck, soft and floppy-like on her head, and that's jist all I know about it," all of which must have been very unsatisfactory to the ladies of his household.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Hint to Puny People.

From their arrival on this planet to their usually early departure from it, people of weak constitutions and angular physiques pass a sort of half existence. Like dormice they burrow in their home retreats, afraid of heat, afraid of cold, constantly afraid that the shadow of the dread reaper will materi[illegible] [illegible] forfeit which he demands from all sooner or later. No [illegible] medicinal assurance of comparative [illegible] for the [illegible] Hostetter [illegible] persistence not with spurts and spasms this genial and professionally commended tonic will do much towards infusing strength into a puny system, and rounding off scrawny angles in the human figure. Appetite, nerve tranquility and nightly re[illegible] aged by it, and a malarial [illegible] tendency overcome. It [illegible] tion and prevents kidney troubles.

Wanted To See The Folly Of It.

A youth asked permission of his mother to go to a ball. She told him it was a bad place for little boys. "Why, mother, didn't you and my father use to go to balls when you were young?" "Yes, but we have seen the folly of it," said the mother. "Well, mother," exclaimed the son, "I want to see the folly of it, too!"

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 21, 1888.

ALL Europe is preparing for a war. So is this country. But ours will only last one day, it will be with ballots and not with bullets, and the government will go right on. In Europe it will be horrible carnage, suffering and endless expense, and destruction to some form of government. That is the difference between the American idea and the European idea.

WITHIN forty miles of Rochester, N. Y., there are more than 1,500 fruit evaporators, from the small farm house drier, of a capacity of twenty-five bushels a day, to the large steam evaporators, drying 800 to 1,000 bushels of apples each twenty-four hours. These evaporators give employment during the autumn and early winter months to at least 30,000 hands, who average from $5 to $12 a week, according to experience and usefulness.

AMERICAN evaporated apples are sold largely in Germany. Attempts made to establish the fruit evaporating business in that country have failed. An adequate supply of fruit could not be had to keep the evaporators running, and what was furnished was of poor quality. In none of the northern countries of Europe are apples so plentiful as they always have been in this country. Land in England is too dear to grow apples in competition with the United States.

THERE are special reasons why Americans take a deep interest in the perils and hopes of the French republic. One is the historical reason, that the struggle of the two countries for political liberty took place at nearly the same time, and were in a certain degree, connected and interwoven with each other. The other reason exists in the fact that France is the only European nation of the first rank which has adopted, and is trying to maintain, a foreign government in the main similar to our own.

CAPTAIN WIGGINS has rendered a brilliant service to commerce. Ere long we shall no doubt hear that the commercial world is prepared to do him honor. He has surmounted barriers which have hitherto been regarded as insurmountable, and proved that there is a waterway right into the heart of Siberia. His efforts to this end, in the face of such formidable obstacles, read like a page from romance. When he conceived the idea that it was possible to find a way into the Kara sea and to sail thence by one or other of the great rivers, the Obi and the Yenisei, he was mate of an English brig in the Archangel trade. The Kara had always been regarded as icebound, but he learnt that the word meant "black," and by some process of reasoning concluded that it implied "open water." He determined that if he could find the opportunity he would solve the problem. With his own money he fitted out a small Arctic-built steam yacht in 1874, and succeeded in sailing through the Kara straits (or Iron Gates), then to the mouth of the Obi, and afterwards to the estuary of the Yenisei. In his next expedition he managed to ascend the Yenisei for nearly a thousand miles. Afterwards he met with many disappointments; but at last he has safely navigated an iron steamer of 400 tons, carrying a general cargo, and drawing 11 feet, from the Tyne to Yeniseisk, the first large town on the Yenisei, some two thousand miles from the mouth of the river, and within measurable distance from the Chinese frontier. For a considerable distance up the river the vessel was piloted by a native blind chief, who only required to be told the landmarks in order to act as a safe guide. This discovery of Capt. Wiggins's will no doubt speedily be turned to practical account, for it has given the world a new and valuable market.

Keep On Praying, Old Man.

"Thank God," we said to-day in our mind, as we heard a rumbling noise, which sounded like a rolling thunder, and made us hope for a shower, which we need so much, but in another second, lo, a man passed our office with an old wheelbarrow. The thunder died away as he went along and all our hopes were blasted. Still, it may rain yet, ere we lisp our evening prayer.—Walla Walla Journal.

LARRY JEROME.

His Relations With A Professional.

A Chicago man tells a good story of the late Larry Jerome. Without being a fighter himself, Larry was a great admirer of the manly art, and patronized so many pugilists that he well knew and could cleverly counterfeit their ways and manners. That he loved a practical joke goes without saying. One day Jerome stood with a party of friends upon the rear platform of the rear car of a New York Central passenger train that was pulling out of the station at Rochester. Standing by watching the outgoing train was a big burly fellow with the jaw of a bulldog and the biceps of a prize bull. He looked every inch the fighter.

"Do you see that big slugger?" exclaimed Jerome to his friends; "he is the boss pugilist of Rochester, and I am going to have some fun with him."

And immediately Larry hailed the big man and began abusing him. He shook his fist at the astonished stranger, called him a liar, and a thief, a coward, a sneak, and dared and double dared him to come on and show what he was made of. As soon as he had recovered from his amazement, the ugly-looking fellow did indeed make a few steps toward his enemy, but the train was going so fast that even had he been a sprinter, as well as a pugilist, he could not have overtaken it.

Larry and his friends enjoyed the joke hugely, as long as they could see the discomfited pugilist stood watching the train, with his fists doubled up and lip quivering with anger. Entering the car, the party proceeded to make merry over another bottle

But suddenly consternation seized them. The discovery was made that the train had stopped, switched over to another track, and was now backing into the station. They rushed to the platform again, and beheld the boss pugilist of Rochester standing in eager expectancy. A smile played on his lips, and his right arm was seen to be in gentle motion, as if it were being limbered up.

"Great heavens!" exclaimed Jerome, with blanched face. "That man will eat me up. What shall I do "

And as the Rochester slugger sprang for the now slowly moving train Larry fled from coach to coach till he found a brakeman who agreed to hide him in some safe place till all danger had passed. The pugilist now became a passenger and rode some seventy miles hunting the train from one end to the other for his victim. He found him not, and threatened to wreak his vengeance upon Jerome's companions, who remained meek and lowly, though snickering when they dared, at their friend's predicament. Buffalo was well nigh reached before Larry ventured to emerge from his hiding place, and he did not then come forth till he had been assured over and over again that the man he had been having fun with had left the train.

Not to be Outwitted.

One day as a little urchin was running along the road he saw a quarter lying on the footpath, which he had no sooner picked up than it was claimed by a tramp, who thought to frighten the boy out of his prize. The latter, assuming a terrified air, blubbered out: "Your quarter hain't got a hole in it?" "Oh, yes, it has," shouted the eager urchin. "Then this un arn't he," coolly replied the urchin, and off he walked in triumph.

Would be Small Lumber on the Columbia.

The great timber raft which was successfully towed from Nova Scotia to New York was composed of 22,000 sticks. The average length of the piles was forty feet, and from fourteen to sixteen inches thick at the butts. In other words there was about as much timber in the whole concern as is contained in two good sized redwood trees. They make a great fuss over small matters back east. -*S. F. New Coal Mines.

The O. R. & N. company has purchased a large tract of coal lands near Cle-elum, and has been conducting some interesting tests. The coal vein in that section dips to the south at an angle of fifteen degrees, or nearly so. It is the same as now operated by the Northern Pacific Coal company at Roslyn, and the new mine recently opened and now operated by negroes. The O. R. & N. company has drilled a test hole 285 feet deep in order to determine the dip of the coal vein and the general character of the strata through which a shaft would be sunk. It is generally believed that the O. R. & N. company proposes constructing a railroad to these mines from the Columbia river, probably at the Cascades or at The Dalles, where the river could be bridged with comparative ease.

Logging in Snohomish County.

There are in this county forty-six camps of loggers, employing 670 men, and the output of logs was 108,250,000 feet. In addition to this there were seven camps in King county, on the Snoqualmie fork of the Snohomish river, which floated past Snohomish City 14,000,000 feet of logs. Loggers' wages have always been $40 to $60 per month and board. As logging is the principal industry, the door sills and doors of the hotels and saloons to which the men resort with their spiked boots and shoes are worn out in a year. The floors of some of the saloons are perforated until the boards look almost like cork.

THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

Does your roof leak?

No dispatches this morning.

The state fair and the rain came together.

According to the almanacs we are now in autumn.

The Gen. Miles goes to Gray's harbor this morning.

Trade in umbrellas and rubber goods is reported lively.

Fine for the health of the city: the showers will flush the "sewers."

The Oberon and Villalta went up yesterday. The Willamette arrived in.

There is a right smart chance of oats springing up in the custom house yard.

Washington county is talking of building a wagon road to Tillamook to get that trade.

The Astoria Sangerbund will hold its regular meeting at its rooms at 8 o'clock this evening.

The British bark Dovenby, 833, Fraser master, from Maryport, England, April 7th, arrived in yesterday.

The point has not yet been selected where the Astoria and South Coast railroad bridge will cross Young's river.

C. F. Reed is in jail at Seattle, being unable to get $500 bail, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The latest organization is one to unearth treasure at the mouth of the river. There is no stock for sale in this enterprise.

A north Front street, Portland, business man has trained a mouse to catch flies, thus upsetting all the theories of the naturalists.

Frank P. Martin, of Hollister, Cal., suicided with morphine at the Quimby House, Portland last Wednesday night; no cause ascertainable.

A few election bets, principally for hats, are being made. But little coin has so far been put up in this deestrict on the result of next November's election.

Travel on the boats to and from Astoria continues brisk, on the night boats especially. There is considerable passenger traffic between here and Gray's harbor.

Tacoma hop men will let the hops [illegible]

[illegible] schooner C. H. White, has challenged the America at San Francisco to a race with his schooner for $1,000 a [illegible]

"An inch" of rain fell yesterday. That means a gallon of water spread over a surface of two square feet, or a fall of about one hundred tons of water from the clouds on each acre of surface.

The Prineville News says 50 cents is too much to pay for a watermelon, and wants a railroad right away. So [illegible] kicking worse than ever over some imaginary cinch.

[illegible]

[illegible]

The News says the fisheries dispute at Yaquina bay has been settled without the assistance of shotguns or a president's message. The fishermen and cannerymen have compromised on a price and all is serene once more.

Wiggins, the Ottawa weather crank, has been heard from. He says we [illegible] November.

[illegible]

We wonder if the report is true, remarks the Chicago News' "flat and sharp" man, that Mrs. Cleveland is preparing a campaign document, which, when delivered, will beat every other campaign document in sight. That Chicago man is altogether too fresh.

The steam schooner Michigan leaves San Francisco to-morrow for the Columbia with freight, and is expected here about Tuesday next. She will load wheat at Portland and lumber at Skamokawa for San Francisco. Capt. W. H. Whitcomb will [illegible] between here and Port [illegible]

The Seattle Press tells of a family of father, mother and a little girl who have proved experts in the art of hop picking. They go to work about 6 [illegible] in the morning, quit at 4 in the afternoon, and averaged nine boxes per day during the whole time they have been at work. That means nine dollars per day.

A very handy book of reference has been added to the number at the county clerk's office. It is for reference and by looking at it one can tell the nature of any instrument recorded at the office, the date, the grantor, grantee, fee, etc. It saves innumerable questions and handling of records, and is as handy as a pocket in a shirt.

Capt. [illegible] tells the Seattle [illegible] that the Alaska salmon pack ran far ahead of the expectations of the men engaged in the business, none of whom were prepared for such a catch. The Cutting Packing company alone put up 137,000 cases of salmon at their two canneries at Cook's inlet this season. Most of the canneries ran out of tin before the season was half over.

At the session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., at Los Angeles, Cala., last Wednesday, several amendments to the constitution, proposed at the session of 1887, were considered, and one relating to appeals was adopted. The proposition to admit young men of 18 years to membership was rejected, the vote on roll call standing 100 in favor and 51 against, the necessary three-fourths not being secured.

A committee of the Roslyn miners are in Tacoma to make arrangements with the Northern Pacific Railroad company relative to going to work. The company shut down the mines last week, as it would not brook the dictation of the miners. As winter is approaching and the shut-down was not anticipated, the men are anxious to get to work again. Assistant general manager Buckley says he does not know what the company will do.

The United States fish commission lately sent to California 600 live lobsters, [illegible] of which arrived safely at Sacramento. Several attempts had previously been made to send live lobsters across the North American continent, but had failed. In the present instance Col. McDonald, fish commissioner, personally superintended the packing of the lobsters. A crate or box devised by the late Captain Chester was used. This was placed within another larger, box, the intervening space being filled with pounded ice.

A Canadian Pacific representative now in San Francisco, sums up the new agreement between that company and the Pacific Mail, thus: "We agree to keep out of their territory if they will keep out of ours. In other words we leave them entirely alone at San Francisco, and they are not to interfere with us in Portland and other northern ports. We are handling a percentage of the mill products of California for Chinese export trade, but will now confine our attention to the northwestern trade, [illegible] we are free to handle as much as we choose."

The [illegible] brings information that the schooner Araunah has been seized off Copper island by the Alaska Commercial company's steamer William H., and towed into [illegible], where she is now held. The captain said he had represented the matter to the British consul at St. Petersburg, claiming that he was on the high seas when taken. It will be interesting to know what will become of the unfortunate Indians and crew. The Araunah was brought out from Nova Scotia last year, is 73 tons register, and is owned jointly by Hall, Goepel & Co., and her captain.

"It will surprise you, I dare say," said A. K. Delaney, collector of customs at Sitka, Alaska, to a reporter, "to know that the greatest gold mine in the world is situated at Juneau City, about 150 miles from Sitka. I state it, however, as a fact. It is called the Paris mine, and one of the principal owners is Senator Jones, of Nevada. The mine produces from $[illegible] to $100,000 worth of gold bullion per month, and experts say that enough is in sight to furnish the same for 100 years. If this be true, and I have no reason to doubt it, the mine ought to be worth several hundred million to the syndicate which controls it. One-half of the mine was originally purchased for $650. For the other half a trifle more was paid."

The steamer Mountaineer, plying between Seattle and Port Orchard points, possesses a steam whistle of rather startling qualities. While passing a logging camp situated some distance inland from Port Orchard [illegible] the chopper started on a run for [illegible] "Cougar, boys, a cougar, by the Lord!" The others were undecided, until again the shriek of defiance reverberated through the woods when all joined pell mell in the pursuit. After losing several hours in a fruitless search for the prowler, it was ascertained that the shriek had its origin in the throat of the Mountaineer's whistle.

The Tacoma correspondent of the Mississippi Lumberman says that the effort being put forth to break up the lumber trust of the Puget sound mills is likely to succeed. The order of the association limiting work in all the mills to eight hours per day, went into force on the 5th inst., but the success of the competitive enterprise of the Davises in shipping and selling lumber at San Diego at 30 per cent less than the trust price, together with the increase in the number of mills, will, it thinks, almost certainly break up the combination. The case, as far as the trust is concerned, is that the mills in the trust, and these include all who have been engaged in the export trade, will not pay more than $5.50 per thousand for logs, and insist upon having their own scaler, and refuse to sell any rough lumber at less than $15 per thousand, delivered in San Francisco, and charge from that price upwards to $30, according to the grade.

Senator Dolph presented to the senate last Wednesday a petition from the board of trade of Portland, asking that the waterway improvement at the cascades of the Columbia be begun at once. He called upon the chief engineers and urged that the engineer at the cascades be instructed to begin work immediately. The chief of engineers then telegraphed the engineer at the cascades to begin work at once.

Captain Saxe of the schooner Addie C. Hasseltine, and his crew, had a remarkable experience on their last voyage to San Francisco, arriving last Wednesday, fifty-seven days out from the Marshall islands, with not a single thing edible in the store house. Capt. Saxe did not consider when he started that the voyage would last longer than thirty days, but he took provisions sufficient for forty. The little schooner was becalmed for days together, and finally the provisions gave out, although toward the last everything was carefully hoarded. Luckily the steward discovered a barrel of beans and some lard, and for several weeks the captain and his six men lived on beans and lard cake, relieved by cocoanut. They grew so tired of this that they could eat but little.

Fine Timber on The Wynooche.

Two gentlemen who had crossed from Hood's canal to the Wynooche and followed that stream, arrived in town Tuesday morning [illegible] that they struck the Wynooche river near its source, about fifty miles from Montesano, and nearly due north of us. The river is nearly as large for many miles above the settlement as it is further down. There are three "narrows" or rapids in the stream, from six to eight miles apart. Most of the country they state to be very fine, and when cleared will make as good farms as can be found anywhere. The timber of that region they declared to be even better on the average than that of the surveyed land. In high water logs could be floated down for thirty-five or forty miles, the great difficulty at present being to get supplies up so far. At different points along the route were small open prairies, but most of the land is covered with a fine growth of timber. [illegible]

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

An Important Announcement

About six weeks ago while at business, I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, knees and hands. So severe [illegible] I took to my bed [illegible] and in two or three days my [illegible] were swollen [illegible] [illegible] After suffering the most excruciating pain for a week, using liniments and various other remedies, a friend who sympathized with my helpless condition said to me:

"Why don't you get Swift's Specific and use it. I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."

I at once secured the S. S. S., and after using it the first day, had a quiet night and refreshing sleep. In a week I felt greatly [illegible] In three weeks I could sit up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since then I have been regular [illegible] [illegible] answer [illegible] either in person or by mail.

Thomas Markillie,

Washington Street Improvement Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Astoria Clatsop county, Oregon, propose to order the improvement of that portion of Washington street, in the City of Astoria Clatsop county, Oregon, as laid out and recorded by John M. Clare, from the south side of Astor street to the north end of said Washington street, by cutting and filling with dirt to its established grade, and by planking that portion between Squemoque street and Concomly street to a width of twelve feet on each side of the Astoria Street Railway track now built through the center of said portion of said street, and by planking said street between the south side of Astor street and the south side of Squemoque street and between Concomly street and the north end of said Washington street to a width of fifteen feet on each side of the center thereof, and by raising the plank gutters now upon said street where the grade shall require the same, and by building new gutters where there are none, and by repairing the sidewalks where necessary and building new sidewalks where there are none, on both sides of said street.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of two thirds of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the Auditor and Police Judge within ten days of the final publication of this notice, to wit: on or before Tuesday, October 9th, 1888, the Common Council will order said improvement to be made.

By order of the Common Council.

Attest: T. S. JEWETT
Auditor and Police Judge.

Astoria, Oregon, September 14th, 1888.

Just The Difference.

Gubbins, in one of the rare moments he devotes to the cultivation of his intellect, was reading aloud from a work on natural history:

"The camel is an animal that can work a week without drinking."

"And I," remarked Gubbins, commenting on the text, "I am an animal that can drink a week without working."—Judge

Four children of a family from Chicago, at one of the Saratoga hotels, are known by the names of "One," "Two," "Three" and "Four." The eldest is ten years of age, and they are all fine, handsome children, who would commend themselves to notice even if it were not for their names. The cause is a freak of the father. He explains that having frequently noticed the intense dissatisfaction of children with the names bestowed upon them he resolved to give his children the opportunity of selecting their own name, so he calls them "One," "Two," etc., until they reach the age of 12 years, when they are given the privilege of selecting their own names. The plan, he says, has given much satisfaction to his family.

"Ma," remonstrated Bobby, "when I was at grandma's she let me have two pieces of pie." "Well, she ought not to have done so, Bobby," said his mother. "I think two pieces of pie are too much for little boys. The older you grow, Bobby, the more wisdom you will gain." Bobby was silenced, but only for a moment. "Well, ma," he said, "grandma is a good deal older than you are."

A Waterbury, Conn., girl had a cat of which she was extremely fond and which showed great affection for her. The girl died and the cat got into the room where the body lay, and as soon as it saw the dead face of its mistress fell dead with a groan. This story is said to be well authenticated.

A scientific writer declares that the age at which most suicides take place in this country is 35. It would seem that in early middle life the disappointed hopes are most keen and the effects of an ill-spent youth most disastrous. At 35 many Americans feel the wearisomeness of old age.

A man named Jackson, a resident of Washington county the past sixteen years, and a confirmed drunkard, broke into Mull's saloon at Reedville Monday night of last week, and stole and drank so much liquor that he died before morning.

Clover should be grown more abundantly than it is on many farms. When properly cured it makes very nutritious hay, containing more muscle and milk-making material than ordinary hay.

An old Indian woman in Geo. Marshall's crew at Puyallup, Wash., picks five boxes of hops a day. Three boxes is considered a good day's work.

In marketing any farm produce it should be remembered that the sale is best made when they attract the eye by the neatness in which they are placed for sale.

When a dog growls over his food you may know that he likes it. When a man growls you may know that he doesn't.

DIAMOND DYES

Brilliant! Durable! Economical!

Diamond Dyes excel all others in Strength, Purity, and Fastness. None other are just as good. Beware of imitations, because they are made of cheap and inferior materials and give poor, weak, crocky colors. To be sure of success use only the DIAMOND DYES for coloring Dresses, Stockings, Yarns, Carpets, Feathers, Ribbons, &c., &c. We warrant them to color more goods, package for package, than any other dyes ever made, and to give more brilliant and durable colors. Ask for the DIAMOND, and take no other.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark, torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most cleanly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair. —Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal. —Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

ABOUT AN ASTORIA RAILROAD.

Dr. Kinney Interviews The Southern Pacific People At San Francisco.

A reporter of the Oregonian met at the Holton house last evening, Dr. Aug. Kinney, of Astoria, who has just returned from a trip to San Francisco.

The doctor was called to the Golden Gate by the dangerous illness of a sister, but whose recovery enables him to return. He does not allow the practice of his profession to interfere with his duties regarding public enterprises. Dr. Kinney has always manifested a great interest in the project of a railroad for Astoria, and on being asked if he had any new information on that question replied:

"While I was in San Francisco I took occasion to call on the resident officers of the Southern Pacific railroad, and lay before them the advantages of building a line from Forest Grove or Cornelius through the Nehalem country to Astoria. In my opinion, either the products of the great coal fields or the timber supply of this rich section, unsupported by the other, would guarantee a profitable investment for such a road. These valuable products cannot be marketed without a railroad, and so far as I know, no railroad man who has looked into the matter doubts the judiciousness of such an enterprise.

"What success did your efforts meet?"

"I regret to say that so far as I could judge, little encouragement could be derived from their expressions on the subject. Knowing the taciturn nature of railroad officials, however, I am not disposed to regard my mission as wholly fruitless."

"What efforts are Astoria people making, if any, for a railroad to their place?"

"Their movement, as you know, has taken the direction of a proposed line southward from Astoria along the ocean towards Tillamook and Yaquina bay. The amount raised so far is enough to complete a road as far as Seaside. It is possible that the Oregon Pacific will build northward along the ocean to a junction with the Astoria line. I am informed that this project has met with favor in Oregon Pacific circles."

"Do you think there is any chance of the Northern's building into Astoria?"

"I do not think there is at present. My reason for so thinking is that I am satisfied that there is an agreement between the Oregon Railway & Navigation company and the Northern Pacific, by which the latter is bound to abstain from such an extension. There is no other way of accounting for their neglect to do so; for from Hunter's Point to Astoria is only fifty-five miles, and considering the immense summer travel and the traffic of the lower Columbia which would fall into their hands, there can be no doubt of the profit which the extension would yield."

"Perhaps the Oregon Railway & Navigation company contemplate such a step."

"In my opinion they do not; nor will they as long as the whole island traffic of Astoria is swllowed up by their boats. They filed articles, it is true, some time ago, looking towards such a road, but nothing of a practical nature has come of it yet.

"Probably the only solution of the necessity, then, is an independent road?"

"I think so; and if an independent company, showing evidence of its ability to carry forward its part of the agreement should propose to build a railroad from Astoria to a railroad connection to the eastward—Hunter's point, or near Forest Grove, for instance—it could obtain a well-secured conditional subsidy of $150,000 in less than two weeks' time. There is enough business now in sight for such a road to make it a better paying line than any equal extent of railway line in Oregon."—Oregonian, 21.

An Excellent Medicine

"My wife and myself were in bad health for some fifteen years. I chanced to be looking over one of Simmons Regulator Almanacs and saw A. H. Stevens' and Bishop Pierce's names to testimonials. I then obtained some of the Regulator, and can heartily recommend the Liver Regulator to my friends as an excellent medicine."
Z. E. HARRISON, M. D.,
Gordonsville, Va.

Mothers And Rebellious Boys.

"Maybe you think," says a bachelor cynic, "that mothers break their hearts over children who are holy terrors. But you are wrong. As a matter of fact they are proud of the misdeeds of their small children. They are proud of terrors. They are always afraid their children will be goody-goody milksops. Don't you know that a woman secretly likes a spice of wickedness in her offspring—that is, until they grow up. Of course, she'll spank her boy for fighting with another boy, but she'll spank him twice as hard if he has been licked as she will if he had the best of it. I believe the tenderest mother in the world likes to be rebelled against sometimes. It shows spirit, and a mother's awfully proud of spirited children. If she was sure her boy would not get hurt she would like to go out and see him fight another boy. They're queer things, women."

The proposition that all the world loves a lover probably does not hold good in Jacksonville now. This whole yellow fever business is a love affair. McCormick, the man who brought the yellow fever to Jacksonville, is a lover. His sweetheart was in Tampa, and Tampa was isolated on account of yellow fever. But yellow fever or no yellow fever, McCormick wanted to see his girl; so he managed to pass the cordon and steal an interview with his love. Then he came back to Jacksonville and brought yellow fever with him. Surgeon-General Hamilton is authority for this short history of the spread of yellow fever. It is another confirmation of the wisdom of the sage who once declared there was a woman at the bottom of every mischief.

A good old church deacon in Michigan who was tempted into dabbling a bit in wheat picked up the paper one morning and read: "A more hellish feeling developed in the market yesterday." The editor had written "bullish," but the good old deacon laid the paper right down and went to the telephone and said to his broker: "Sell me out at once for whatever you can get. I have been expecting something like this for a long time, and I don't propose to have old Satan walk in on me."—Wall Street News.

"I saw you again with young Dudely, last evening, Miss Smarte. It begins to look serious." "Oh, not at all. I really don't care anything for him any more than for anybody else; but then it is such a convenience to have him with me when one wants a horse car. He can whistle with his fingers so admirably, you know."—Philadelphia Times.

CHAIRMAN BRICE, of the National Democratic committee, says that President Cleveland has not contributed $10,000 to the campaign fund.

C. A. PILLSBURY & Co., the famous millers of Minneapolis, Monday distributed $40,000 among their employees on the profit-sharing plan. This is the largest distribution of this character ever made in the country.

AFTER January 1st, any paper in New York publishing the details of an execution, will be subject to a fine and imprisonment under a new law. But the managing editors of the Herald, Times, Sun, World, Star, Press and Morning Journal say they will not obey it, but will continue to publish whatever they can get concerning executions as of everything else.

A WOMAN in Marshall county, Kans., has written a letter to the secretary of state, a western exchange relates, claiming a reward of $1,000 which is said to have been offered years ago by the Kansas legislature to the mother who would raise a family of thirteen children, but governor Martin says no such reward was ever offered. The statement that such a reward was ever offered by the legislature turns out to be merely a legend of the Kansas press that has made periodical rounds for a number of years.

THE LOST BARK "GLENAVON."

Thirteen months ago, to-day, the British bark Glenavon sailed from here for Liverpool, carrying a cargo of flour, wheat and salmon worth nearly $200,000.

From the day of her sailing nothing was heard of her and as the months went by and she became due at her home port anxiety deepened into dread and, at last, the vessel was listed at Lloyds as "missing", a brief but ominous verdict.

On the ill-fated vessel there went as a passenger a young man aged 23, a resident of Salem, named Omega Port, a son of Luke A. Port, of that city. Incidentally a townsman of his, Dr. T. H. Parks, learned that some of those on board the bark Villalta, now in the river, knew something of the lost bark.

From the steward and the cabin boy he learned that the Villalta bound from Australia to Liverpool was in about the same waters as the Glenavon; that they sighted her frequently and probably spoke her, though of the latter the narrators are not sure. On December 24th, a terrible storm was raging in that quarter. During tte afternoon it was terrific. A hurricane was blowing at the rate of eighty miles an hour. The two vessels were then about eight hundred miles west of the Feole group of islands. During the storm the Villalta lost two masts, and for a while the captain feared he would have to cut away the third to save his vessel. The Glenavon was in sight of the Villalta during most of the storm. Though several miles apart the vessels were in plain view of each other. The Glenavon had all her masts and rigging carried away and being deeply laden and totally at the mercy of the winds and waves she finally foundered.

Through the storm the crew of the other vessel saw her make the final plunge. It was about six o'clock Christmas eve when the doomed vessel forever sank from sight in the heaving waters of mid-ocean. She went under stern first, a tremendous sea overwhelming her.

The Villalta was about a league to windward at the time, and her horrified crew were helpless spectators of the catastrophe, any human assistance being impossible as the waves were running so high that no boat could live in that sea a minute. Before the unfortunate vessel went down all her boats had been stove in and were of no use. She had been making signals of distress for some time previous to sinking.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. NOT FOR SALE.

He stands six feet, a trifle more
  Broad shouldered, eagle eye,
He bravely swings his line to face
  Life's storm, without a sigh.
His heart is tender as a child's:
  His love, it cannot fail:
He's one of nature's noblemen—
  The man that's not for sale.

They sent him once to represent
  His district, and 'tis said
A lobbyist requested that
  He'd note the bill next read.
He faced the polished gentleman
  With glare that made him quail:
"I pardon the mistake," he said,
  "But, friend, I'm not for sale."

A hundred thousand dollar church,
  Whose pulpit well he filled,
Had an official board who were
  Eccentric and self-willed.
They made a very trite request,
  Which seemed could scarcely fail
To move him; but he kindly said:
  "Brethren, I'm not for sale!"

He's moving grandly on through life,
  And making tracks of white,
His silver hair gleams like a sheaf,
  His scars are few from strife.
He looks the devil in the face
  Until disheartened, pale,
His Majesty, disgusted, says:
  "I've failed; he's not for sale."

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billiousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

BILL NYE ON MATRIMONY

I am sorry to note that within the past few days several people have married for a joke, among them a young lady near Madison, Wis., who was out for a walk and at the suggestion of a party named Foss, married him.

The young lady, whose name was Foster, realizing that she could marry Mr. Foss without changing the initials on the tidy which she had made, preparatory to house-keeping, did not stop to consider the responsibilities she assumed by marrying an unknown man, but boldly launched herself upon the great foamy sea of matrimony.

Miss Foster, it seems, was the daughter of a millionaire who edits a saw-mill in Wisconsin, and who could have boarded her as long as she lived.

To a casual observer it would seem that no temptation could woo a young lady from a home where all day long she could hear the squeal of the complaining saw-mill and the snore of the planing mill, turning out matched flooring, two-by-four scantling and dressed culls, and yet Miss Foster forgot the buzz-saw with which she had been prone to monkey, the gentle skid, the XXX shingles, the moist slab, the gummy joist, the select fencing and its finished lumber, in order to flee to the arms of a stranger.

Matrimony, is in all cases, a serious matter, but it is doubly serious when tampered with in a flippant and trifling manner on the start, only to bring sorrow, chargin, complaint, answer, joinder, rejoinder, butter, rebutter, suttebutter inharmony, parsimony, and alimony at last.

Oh, girl, why do you do so? Why will you forget the sheltering arms of your parents to take up arms against a sea of trouble? Why will you turn your back on the lumber business to marry a man without a change of canes to his back? Why will you weary of the old home and seek out a stranger who will break your North American heart and send you down, perhaps, to a damp and undesirable drunkard's grave?

Try to get acquainted with the man you wed. As you get more acquainted, try to get a whiff of his breath. See that he is temperate. If you find that he loves the flowing bowl, and that his hot breath, as it courses through his clenched teeth, scorches the cotton in your ears, draw yourself up to your full height, crack your heels together twice in succession and go away.

FRESH FASHION FANCIES.

Pleats are once more in high favor and are seen alike on skirts, ruffles, flounces, wide or narrow, as well as in lace or embroidery used for trimming.

Many of the newest autumn woolen gowns have a silk skirt of their own color, full and softly pleated, over which is worn a loose-fronted jacket bodice.

Shoes for the house and carriage wear were never so fanciful as now, but no woman with the least claim to fashion will wear upon the street anything but plain fine kid.

Combinations again appear in the new imported woolen gowns, but oftener of two plain stuffs contrasting in color than of plain and plaid or figured, as was last season's fancy.

Shirring grows more and more the rage; even velvet does not escape—while smocking is really and truly a craze; so much so that it is a relief to find a costume free from any form of it.

Green and brown are much worn together now, as well as gray with blue and mignonette with ruby. The overdress in polonaise form is of the darker tint, and the skirt has rows of ribbon to match around it at the bottom.

Dinner gowns nearly all have trains, but they are much less elaborate than those of past seasons, and in many cases have but the merest apology for drapery in the shape of jelly-bag points falling over the back.

For late summer gowns woolen canvas, either plain or spotted, is in high favor, and is made with straight gathered skirt and blouse waist, finished either with a wide watered sash or silk scarf of contrasting, but harmonious color.

Felt and velvet will be favorite winter stuffs, and nearly all shapes have some hint of the coronet in front. Trimmings are a thought lower, though still towering enough, and the more irregular and rosette-y the bows, the greater their distinction.
